HALLOWEEN HORROR FOR
16 YEAR OLD BOY

HOUSTON - Halloween night, one of the fun nights for the most of us proved to be quite eventful for three Houstonians.

Pariva Gayle Newman of 3517 Audubon and Paul Edward Hamilton of the same address went into downtown Houston area for fun and games and picked up a 16 year old youth on Travis Street resulting in the allegedly abuses beating and sodomizing the youngster.

The youth told police that the men told him they would go to their place and have some drinks and watch some movies. The youth went with the two men to their place of residence in the Montrose section of Houston, known to the most of us as "the colony."

Upon arrival the youth told officers that drinks and movies were both produced for the rubber group and the pair. Gayle Newman and the other two were arrested for the rubbe r group and the pair. Gayle Newman and Hamilton were known to the police as the pair. Gayle Newman and Hamilton were known to the police as the pair. Gayle Newman and Hamilton were known to the police as the pair.

The other officers and performers were both produced for the Rubber Group and the pair. Gayle Newman and Hamilton were known to the police as the pair. The youth stated that he was knocked in the head by one of the men and tied up, beaten with a rubber hose and sexually assaulted by the pair.

At the end of this horror filled halloween evening the youth was told that they were going to take him to the country.

DETROUR SALOON POLICE CHECK NOT ROUTINE!!

DALLAS - Detour Saloon at 3113 Live Oak was checked recently by the police and found to be in violation of the following requirements. No dance license, no bar without a court warrant.

Five customers and the bartender, Ray were taken to jail.

The two minors arrested were not drinking and were released upon having paid fines of $20.00 each for being on the premises where alcohol is sold and consumed.

Not knowing just what this meant after the beatings and sexual abuses the frightened youth said he thought they were going to kill him.

On leaving the front of the building where the two men live the youth broke free and ran across the street where a man sat parked in his car. The man carried the young boy to a telephone where the police were called.

The police came and picked the youth up and with him returned to the Audubon building where a man was seated parked in his car. The man carried the youth to a telephone where the police were called.

No one at the Audubon building where the men were and arrested them. In the residence there were several reels of 8MM film and evidence of a party. The arresting officer said "there were marks all over most of the body where he had been beaten with the rubber hose."

Said Ray, the bartender was fined $500.00. This investigation was brought about by a complaint registered with the police department by an individual or "another bar," said Ray. "This is not police harassment, but merely officers action on a complaint!" This statement was made by Ray as the result of remarks made by one of the arresting officers.

DALLAS - The Swinger, a much fun bar and steadily growing in popularity on the Dallas scene, was burned during the wee hours Friday, October 8th. The bar was located at 4419 Live Oak and was completely gutted by the fire.

Investigators found traces of arson. As of the 4th of this month there was no arrests made in this case.

This is a tremendous loss, not only to the owner, R. L., but also to the gay community of Dallas. A present R. L. is reported to be in search of a new location. Three cheers for R. L. Dallas needs more people such as he and more fun and friendly places such as the Swinger was.

The NUNTIUS wishes R. L. much luck and will look forward to his reopening very soon.

the audience participation as individuals were called to the stand to dance and sing."

"The hotel sound system will definitely be much better with a space so that if a short develops as did this year we will have a stronger next year, we will start with the band playing, then as they take a break, we will run a category of the contest through. This will give the judges more time to debate their votes. The categories will be changed in many ways, such as contestants will pick whether to enter Best Gown or Best Costume, but not allowed to enter both. As it was this year, things seemed repetitious with the same contestants appearing in numerous categories. With sixty contestants there must be some restrictions."

"How was David as the M.C.?" " Astonishing, along with Sonny, the head of the sponsors committee. For the first time, running strictly by ear, one could not have found a better M.C. Nor anyone better than he."

"Ronnie Sue, that really was expected — one thing a body can say if they have ever seen David on the stage, one knows that things are going to be fun. I never miss one of his shows here at RONSE'S or at the RED ROOM in Houston. Who won the different categories?"

"Steve L. won Miss Grand Ball, he wore a 'Forties' outfit that the crowd went wild over. Mr. Cindy, of the Supervisors, won Miss Dallas, Best Gown was won by Larry."

"Larry Who?"

"Big Larry, Mattie Joe, the one who moved from Dallas to Houston and is now head of the show at the Entertainment, also won first prize for the Best Gown, using the same dress, at the Farmhouse in Houston Sunday night; along with making my gown that won the hundred dollar prize and trophy for the most original at the Bayou Lodge here in Dallas Sunday night. Larry always has a beautiful gown and male's quite a few for the other kids around. Miss Tiffany Jones of the RED ROOM had one of his original on at ball."

"Mr. Robert won Best Costume at the Grand Ball, and it was beautiful, reminding me of Marli Gross. Mr. Cindy of the DETOUR won runner-up for best gown and Mr. Shalimar of the MAARS, was runner-up for best costume. Best Couple was won by Marie and friend. Best Comedienne was won by Jerry Vanover of the RED ROOM in Houston. Best Serious Performer was won by Mr. Sheri Powers of RONSE'S."

"Such as?"

"The show at he Entree' he thought two so that even better developed as did this year we with a spare so that the dance will be better along with the bar — on the stage the sound system will never have found a better M.C. Nor anyone better than he."

"How was David as the M.C.?"

"Well, Bill it was a bit rough, but of course we learned many things that will be of help to us for the bigger and even better ball planned for next year."

"Such as?"

A consciousness is developing about how the myths covering up the truth about sexual behavior are linked to the myths covering up the truth about "Vietnamization". Sexual issues are used to sell wars just as much as they are used to sell soap or chewing gum. In America an intense fear of being thought "queer" may partly account for turning so many young men into obedient tools for the military machine. The ideal American male role is built around unquestioning acceptance of authority, especially military authority. In the American guage, the word "honor" linked to military victory, is very nearly the opposite of the word "queer" -- both have distinct sexual connotations. Stand up to the military machine and you're a "queer".

A recent article in the Village Voice (3-11-71) quotes a GI explaining how the army could induce young men to comply even with unpopular orders: "I know guys who completely disagreed with the war but would volunteer for missions as soon as their manhood was questioned. This pattern of linking militarism, masculinity and anti-homosexualism must be broken. It works against the interests of all the people, both gay and straight, both American and Vietnamese. Just think of the "manliness" of the GIs who marched through the hamlet of My Lai.

Gay People have always been active in the anti-war movement, but before we were shut-away in our closets and suffered abuse from straights in the movement just as we did from society as a whole. But now the gay liberation movement is changing all that. The anti-war movement is recognizing the relevancy of the struggle against sexual oppression and supporting our demands for human treatment. A resolution was passed without objection at the last regional anti-war conference completely opposing the oppression of gay people, within the movement and without.

OUT OF YOUR CLOSET & INTO THE STREETS
ONE's Baker Memorial Library. This development occurred quite without recourse to laboratory work of any sort.

For the past few years, others are now doing the laboratory investigations which in scientific fields support or demolish hypothesis which have been advanced. The recent availability of immensely more delicate and accurate instruments than were ever before in use has made possible now and refined laboratory techniques so skilful as to relegate many of those of only a few years ago as if they were from the Middle Ages. These new developments have pushed the study of cell structure, hormones, amino acids and other fundamental biological factors to almost unbelievable heights.

As discoveries continue to accumulate and sweep aside long-held dogmas about men and his behavior, their influence quickly moves out of the laboratory to start bringing about radical changes in law, social attitudes and living habits.

Already there have come, since the first of 1971, two research reports that have set in motion far-reaching changes in scientific and public thinking, both of these discoveries profoundly important in the field of homosexual studies.

A team in the hormone research laboratory of the University of California Medical School, San Francisco, has unravelled the molecular structure of a hormone which has powerful influences over human sexual behavior and reproduction. Ovulation, menstruation, conception and the production of sperm are all dependent upon the secretion of this hormone, according to Dr. Harold Pappoff, head of the team.

In another direction, working under a NIMH grant, a team of Los Angeles doctors, headed by Sydney Margolese, M.D., has been conducting studies which, if withstand the storms of criticism they are sure to arouse, make an entirely new ball-game out of the study of homosexuality.

In the February, 1970, issue of HORMONES AND BEHAVIOR, Dr. Margolese had published an article, Homosexuality: A New Endocrine Correlate. To briefly summarize this article, Dr. Margolese found a clear line of demarcation observable between characteristics of certain urinary steroids in young homosexuals as opposed to those from young heterosexual males.

None of these certain characteristics were found in the urine samples collected from homosexuals as compared with that of heterosexuals, and vice versa. The differentiation was clearcut. But the sample tested was admittedly small in numbers.

Accordingly, about a year ago, Dr. Margolese and members of his team inquired if ONE'S Research Council would cooperate in finding a much larger number of subjects willing to go through with a follow-up repetition of the testing. The article quoted above had already been studied with much interest at ONE Institute, so that agreement to help was given immediately.

Bob Earl, ONE'S Research Council Chairman, then set about to do perhaps the most difficult assignment of his kind in ONE'S history. The formidable requirements were that the subjects be between 16-25 (a few up to the excess of 25) and be homosexuals. To be homosexuals, to be between 16-25 (a few up to the excess of 25) and be homosexuals.

If they stay at the house of the laboratory to start the testing, it was not going to be available by any such relaxed methods. To corral 16-25 year old homosexuals for any such testing regimen virtually under lock and key, simply was the way it was in Los Angeles of 1970.

Fortunately for the program, a very active and energetic 22-year-old, El H. Pomoh, now serving on ONE'S Board of Directors, threw himself wholeheartedly into the project. Hundreds of new announcements were run off and El set out for the bars, the teen-age coffee shops, gay inns and anywhere else where he hoped he might corner subjects of the desired age. Older men were urged into bringing in their boy-friends who would qualify. Finally, the number of volunteers approached 100, and the doctors said that this would be sufficient. Further testing was discontinued and they began to study them.

The public has its first report, reaching well over a million readers via the Los Angeles Times. The second tests have confirmed their earlier study: that there indeed does appear to be something clearly different between the hormones of homosexuals and heterosexuals.

Whatever else may be said about this discovery, it will forever laid to rest the heart of older hormonal testing, which sought to find some excess of female hormones among male homosexuals; this was the ancient myth which interpreted children, into the far more ancient myth which interpreted children, into the far more sexual inversion, i.e., that of a male (or female) who displayed sex object which was somehow inverted from the usual direction.

In some circles there already has been much exaggerated umbrage taken over the Margolese team's use of such terms as abnormality, cure, etc. Why get hung up on such phrases? Isn't it great talent of any sort also an apparent that the substantial number of volunteers desired were not going to be available by any such relaxed methods. To corral 16-25 year old homosexuals for any such testing regimen virtually under lock and key, simply was the way it was in Los Angeles of 1970.

Hey Mom! I've caught a frog.
Don't cry—'ll put him outside.
Hey Mom! I've got a black eye.
Don't cry—It doesn't hurt.
Hey Mom! Teach me to dance.
Don't cry—I'll learn fast.
Hey Mom! Can I go steady?
Don't cry—She's nice.
Hey Mom! I made a touchdown.
Don't cry—we won.
Hey Mom! I'm graduating.
Don't cry—I'm happy.
Hey Mom! I flunked out.
Don't cry—I'll do better.
Hey Mom! I've been drafted.
Don't cry—I'll make you proud of me.
Hey Mom! I'm going to Viet nam and less demanding realm of heterosexual to drop out of the rat race of woman-chasing, alimony payments, or futilities of squalling children, into the far more peaceful Hey Mom! I'm going to Viet nam and less demanding realm of heterosexual to drop out of the rat race of woman-chasing, alimony payments, or futility of squalling children, into the far more peaceful world.

Dear Mom--We regret to inform you that we:

Don't cry.

Liberation?

WHAT IS GAY LIBERATION?

Gay Liberation is an active homosexual civil rights organization. Membership is open to all persons of any sexual orientation who feel that their liberation is to be achieved through non-violent means. Gay Liberation is dedicated to achieving educational and cultural goals. Gay Liberation represents both the individual and the group. Gay Liberation is an inclusive organization, welcoming all members, no matter their background or experiences. Gay Liberation is a community of Houston. Gay Liberation is a community of Houston. October 1, 1971

Dear Members of Gay Liberation,

Gay Liberation of Houston has recently passed its first anniversary. Although this year has been a year of growth and progress, we must remember that we are still striving towards our ultimate goal of liberation. The struggle continues.

Gay Liberation is a community of Houston. Gay Liberation represents both the individual and the group. Gay Liberation is an inclusive organization, welcoming all members, no matter their background or experiences.

Recent activities have included the following:

1. On September 17, 1971, Gay Liberation held a demonstration against the police brutality that had occurred on the night of September 16. At that demonstration, Gay Liberation demanded that the police be held accountable for their actions.

2. On September 18, 1971, Gay Liberation distributed flyers in the Gay Community. The flyers contained information about Gay Liberation's activities and goals.

3. On October 1, 1971, Gay Liberation held a meeting to discuss the progress of the organization. The meeting was open to all members of Gay Liberation.

4. Gay Liberation has also been involved in community outreach efforts. We have held meetings and workshops to educate the public about Gay Liberation's goals and activities.

As a candidate for the office of Mayor, I stand for a Gay Liberation of Houston that would like to have a Mayor of Houston who is dedicated to the cause of Gay Liberation. This person would be dedicated to the cause of Gay Liberation. This person would be dedicated to the cause of Gay Liberation. This person would be dedicated to the cause of Gay Liberation. This person would be dedicated to the cause of Gay Liberation. This person would be dedicated to the cause of Gay Liberation. This person would be dedicated to the cause of Gay Liberation. This person would be dedicated to the cause of Gay Liberation. This person would be dedicated to the cause of Gay Liberation.

Wonderful World of Mr. Frizby

At Mr. Frizby's one cool evening
Seeking refuge from hate and fear
Clawing from Willy's giggling
A pressure felt of someone near
My vision impaired
Nobody of light
Warm as I tailored.
As the heartthrobs of night
My eyes, my face, stir
My thoughts, free, real, to a rushing whorl
At last I could see
Dully, but true,
The cause of the warmth,
And then there was you!
Gay Liberation has remained unanswered, unacknowledged and uncommented upon either privately or publicly. When the people of a democracy exercise their civic duty, they have the right to be held in contempt by members of their government, then not only have they the right to hold (what Thomas Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence), but the duty to seek the approval of the government who so contemptuously held them.

In light of the actions of the candidates for Mayor of Houston, the followers of the Gay community, too, should hold their civic duty to publicize the depression of the Gay community to make use of the political processes available to them by becoming politically active in an organized fashion. Politicians understand votes and political pressure. A third recommendation to the Gay community is to ask people to write letters to bank presidents, managers of firms, employers, educational leaders and religious leaders requesting their support in the efforts of Gay people to obtain full rights of citizenship. Last and certainly not least, register and vote even if you register a protest vote by signing in at the polls and not casting a vote for any candidate or by voting for a minor candidate.

Remember, the potential future Mayor of Houston holds you in contempt as a Gay person and the only way you can effect some change in that situation is to join others in organized political action. The choice of whether or not to settle for second-class citizenship and the contempt of public officials remains with the individual members of the Gay community. Amember of Gay Liberation.

ALL AROUND THE STAGE or its been a Drag in DALLAS

The Detour tries hard; new stage, a fresh atmosphere, a fresh approach to the Gay community. First, to publicly confront the candidates at political meeting and request them to state a position regarding the Gay community. Second, to put all public office holders and candidates on notice that as a registered voter, taxpayer and contributor to the local economy you will no longer continue to accept the official, police and social repression that is so great part of the atmosphere of Houston vis a vis the Gay community. A massive campaign of letter writing to office holders would draw attention to the fact that an organized community is confronting their decisions and behavior. In this regard it is important to note that patronizing tolerance which allows a few Gay bars to operate according to the same dresses, moves and and movements with the records. Movements are something sexy little, the spice of the shows, the lilt of a drag queen, the great versatility is the spice of life in many ways none can taste it.

Speaking of Lily Tomlin, Carol Henderson and the cast of the Detour we see someone-pretty much the same. This chubs comedy of errors goes on like a performance of Mr. Cindy-thiskid is really tops. Let's now journey over to the Ritz Orpheum. Mr. Cindy-thiskid is really tops.

KC's Cowboy Lounge

At the end of a glamorous evening at the Cowboy Lounge, Miss Toni of K.C. dressed in a nude back, low front, black gown who did her interpretation of "Miss America" was awarded first prize. Second prize was awarded to Miss Sandy Dale of the Halloween Ball. Costumes ranged from knighthood armour to be jestered ladies in "Life"., Third prize went to Misses Francesca who startled the audience with a lively performance, to "Let Me Entertain You". The ladies were waiting for the name of the lucky contestant who would spend three exciting days at the hotel. It was in all a very exciting evening for everyone at the Cowboy Lounge.

WELL, LUVS, IT'S certainly been a busy month, what with all the lovely parties & gatherings & openings & terribly Important Things To Do. Of course, sweeteries amongst all the festive do's have been just too many unimportant functions to mention, and you KNOW we won't. But that's just the way it is, really, and if we don't mention YOUR bash, it may well be that we just don't have space this time; however, it probably means it wasn't worthy of mention...All of nature is divided, see? ONE OF THE MOST ELEGANT recent gatherings took place aboard the family sailing yacht of our favorite noble-man-admirable, luvs, and it was just the poshest pack! The guest-list read like the Diplomatic List crossed with the Almanach de Gotha, with a smattering of Social Register and Guild Bar Guide tossed in for colour. The Extremely Beautiful People sailed out for an afternoon of whatever THEY do when they sail out and returned in the evening to the Galveston Yacht Club. It was lovely, luvs, and we know you all would have loved it. Especially thrilling was the scene in which a number of the guests, just like Pages actually, and after all we WERE out beyond the territorial limits and it was all so traditional. And besides the Admiral reminded us all that it was very Naval & to TRUST him. Naturally, we did. ANOTHER ADMIRAL OF somewhat less exalted birth but considerably greater wealth is having such a grand time making additions to the lovely older house he recently acquired Swish of The Colony. And who are we to keep from you the cozy time he's also having with one of the workers on the site? You know we want you to SHARE in this venture, if only in a limited manner, luvs. And, of course, most of you will never see the inside of the place anyway, we will do for you what we can. You know it! At any rate this charming gentleman has the MOSTinteresting employer-employee arrangement going and it's just a wonderful way to keep peace in the ranks. And it certainly proves how democratic he can be when he WANTS to be.

DEAR GENE OF The Farm House melieu gave one of his little parties awhile back, at his apartment, and it was such a mixed list. Even one...
Extremely Beautiful Person was there! (Of course he was just about anywhere he's invited but that's only because he's just always there.) You should just hear some of the things they said there about those not there! A hoot, do. Meanwhile, at who could forget that humpy do. (Of course it is, and dear old chubs Tony is the new jeje and things are beginning to hum again with funfunt.) And, sweeties, we can tell you that all that funny business with the funds is.OVER. We are getting all the loot now. Which is only fair, see. After all, she owns the place. Naturally you will notice many of the old hands there, especially those hands which hair is almost gone, flesh has started to thin out, etc., etc. Anyway, there's a lovely show & some GENIUS go-go boys & waiters for a change & that's a very good thing, you better believe it. Richard bartending the service is good again.

CONGRATULATIONS and stuff are due to dear Garth & Trudy. They recently committed marriage with each other. They're a dear couple, and it's so much easier with a shared wardrobe, too. But it is difficult deciding which of these charmers is the lovelier! Rosies to them both.

THAT DEAR BOY BURT is now co-owner of the Gilded Garter and has a job there and he will be there. And one gets to see so much of him there, you know. We simply must have another party at The 8th Street, and the selection at the buffet $ on stage was such fun. The winner of the contest was a simply too cool number who didn't sing well, he just dressed in a well-dressed beard and lots more displayed. and one LOVES a well-done display. Certainly.

A SUBSTANTIAL SEGMENT of the pipeline for the liquor industry were bussed across the state recently for the Texas O.I. football state title game in Wee D. It was a nearly perfect road for the season. In Wee D The Band combined with a public demonstration against the draft. At a certain point the crowd was a well-known weedy. At any rate, the grass was certainly greener in Dallas, you know. And the too funny comments abounded. So did the beer. Free Beer was passed around. Overweight Tooth Fairies, Harrington & Assembled other fun-doers were topically throughout the brunch. A surprise peak at the location of The Detour in Dallas was the object of a great passion by on of the guests, David Bob. The Bon Soir was the location of an impromptu meeting of the band, Heavenly Heddle & Co., with celebrities as Nanny, Dind'a-lings. Brunhilda, Mona. Mavis, Polly and scads more forgettable persons having a wonderful time. They came from all over, and everyone had a simply marvelous time, really they did. And that's really important, of course you do.

Meanwhile, at Disneyland...

A NUMBER OF LOCAL party-goers will wing it into Oklahoma City over the funny December weekend for an inter-state fly-in orgy. Naturally we'll tell you more about this event after the fact. Or ask Maude. She's going.

THE LOOKOUT at the popular Red Room is charming, really it is, and helps so much in the presentation of their clever drinks. Look! Lovely Tiffany & her associates just love it, and helps the staging so much. Now if only Tiffany would just soften ever-so-weetly the pleasure we've so taken to those hands which attempts a slipstaplch humor, luvs, all would go so much smoother. Admittedly it isn't exactly the most sophisticated audience, actually, but still... There's a dear.

THE INFERNUS UNDER new ownership and management now, dears, and our dear Chara is off to do other things now. All the west to that lovely young lady! And all the best to Jerry & Co. at recently The Inferno, too. Drop in and get that admirable Donto mix you a drink & then watch Big Marta put on the best show going. Do it. And speaking of ADOREABLE men, Ron Sue 101 from in Wee D recently promoting the fabulous Zodiac Ball. He's just precious in his new beard, which will play hob with his stage appearances. But it's BEAUTIFUL, 'n' sexy and handsome, and what, for God's sake more Best Friends you just could ask? Meantime, look for the pictures & items about the Zodiac Ball in this edition of The 8th Street, you know. Fabulous!

THE HOUSTON GRAND OPERA opened the season with a Gay-la performance of "Carmen." There were simply too many of our select group in attendance to name them. But, wasn't it fun to watch a number of our friends who normally dress in lev's, i.e., some really good stuff (your pardon expression) drink at intermission? It was loads of fun to watch a number of our friends who normally dress in lev's, i.e., some really very, very uncomfortable in tuxedos. Don't fret if you missed it, sweethearts, and try to be there next time to see and be seen! WASN'T FUN WHEN 14 of so troopers gathered in The Black House to celebrate the revival of "Ivan the Terrible," a real high point of both the mid-40's film from Russia. The party included the Prince de... the Dowager Duchess and her Count von Coffee Table, the lovely Shreveport number, along with a darlin' yankee who is so good at mixing formulas and drinks, and two lovelies from Chicago land and aren't we glad to have them on the local scene. We can't forget the blond bombshell banjo banner, celebrating his papey anniversary with his haddashier whatever. The anniversary was commemorated by the presentation of an appropriate remembrance: a paper-back book.

AFTER AN APPROPRIATE number of drinkie-poo's the party went over to the Park III for the films. The films were most enjoyable after you got over the Russian names. And, at who could forget that humpy Feyzador Basmanova in Drag? Definitely 'To Die For!'

AND SO DEAR THINGS, it's off to Wee D and THE Ball. Do have a de-lightful Halloween tricking, treating and whatever else strikes your fancies. And be BAD, do you hear! It's so much more fun than being goody-goody. Ta.

some of my best friends are....

Two Viewpoints but a must for you—

QUITE AN IMPRESSIVE crowd including the likes of "Orgy at Muscle Beach" (we're not who spend partials evening in a movie) and "Some of My Best Friends Are" which was given at The Tower cinema here. (And with precious little co-operation form the ABC-Interstate's sissy little snit in the PR office and all the rest.) Anyway, the picture is fun, a riot of cliches about gay-life in New York bars, and occasionally has moments of human nobility. But see it, luvs, just for funny. It will offend just about everyone, drive the hets wide, give you some ideas for a party and provide just hours of conversation afterwards.

The American International continues to number of faires do make it to the exploit the latest box office hit with Blue Jay bar—and playlives their lives as the film via backdash.

The story line is rather confused. Given the crew that would fill it is the story of Christmas Eve in a into a Pub on this one evening.

The ads for "Some of My Best Friends Are"... the fic currently showing at the River Oaks, state that if you liked 'The Boys In the Band,' you'll love this film." It isn't unnecessarily so. "Band" was a good film. To give some background—Best Friends comes (you'll pardon the expression) to us from American International, the studio that gave us such masterpieces as 'Beach Blanket Bernstein.'

The story of...
probably the loneliest evening of the year-you can naturally expect a face or two, or three, or four. The Door, a Jazz club, has a three-piece band with a young female singer, and a group of people have gathered around a table in the corner of the room. A woman in a black dress is talking to a man in a white shirt. The woman is named Elizabeth, and she is the head of the club. She is a very good singer, and she has a beautiful voice. She is also very kind, and she always makes sure everyone is having a good time.

As for the others, there are a few people sitting at tables around the room, enjoying a drink. Some of them are talking, while others are just listening. One man is playing a harmonica, and another is singing along. It's a very pleasant atmosphere, and everyone seems to be enjoying themselves.

There's a sense of community in this club, and it's easy to see why people come here. It's a place where people can let their hair down, have a good time, and make new friends. It's a great place to hang out, and I'm sure Elizabeth and her staff will do their best to make sure everyone has a great time.

But back to the story. As Elizabeth finishes her song, she turns to the crowd and smiles. "You all have been so kind," she says. "I just wanted to take a moment to say thank you for coming out tonight. It means a lot to me, and it means a lot to the band."

The crowd claps, and Elizabeth continues. "We've been playing here for a few months now, and we've met some great people. We're going to keep playing here, and we're going to keep making music for as long as we can."

The crowd cheers, and Elizabeth gives a wave to the crowd. "Thanks again," she says. "And stay tuned for our next show."

As she walks away, I can't help but feel happy. It's a beautiful thing to see people come together and enjoy each other's company. And it's a beautiful thing to be a part of.

By now, the night is almost over, and I'm feeling a little bit tired. But I'm also feeling a sense of fulfillment. I've had a great time tonight, and I'm grateful for the opportunity to have experienced it. As I make my way back to my car, I can't help but smile. It's been a very special night.
for God's sake do not be fooled.
I give the impression that I am secure, that all is sunny and untroubled. Hence, I smile, well, with- out that, confidence is my name and coolness my game, that the water's calm and I am in command, and that I need no one. But don't believe me. Please!

My surface may seem smooth, but my mask is my game. Beneath this lies no complacency. Beneath dwells the real me in confusion, in fear, and loneliness. And I hid this, I do not want anybody to know it, I panic at the thought of my weakness and fear of being exposed. That is why I frantically create a mask to hide behind, a facade, sophisticated facade, to help me pretend, to shield me from the glance that knows. But such a glance is precisely my salvation. My only salvation and I know it. That is it if it is followed by acceptance, if it is followed by love.

The only thing that will assure me of what I can not assure myself that I am worth something.

But do not tell you this. I do not dare. I am afraid to tell you. I am afraid your glance will not be followed by acceptance and love. I am afraid you will think less of me, that you will laugh at me, and your laugh will be my fate.

I am afraid that deep down I am nothing, that I am no good and that you will see this and reject me.

So I play my game, my desperate game, of assurance without, and a trembling child within. And so begins the parade of masks. And my mask, I hide this to you in the suave tones of silk.

I tell you everything that is really nothing, and nothing of what is everything, and with gentleness, nothing of what is crying within, the mask.

Who is you, I tell you through my routine, do not be fooled by what I am saying.

Please taken care and try to be happy.

for what I am not saying, what I would like to be able to say, what for survival I need to say, but what I can not say.

I dislike hiding. Honestly! I dislike the superficial game I am playing, the phony game.

I would really like to be genuine and spontaneous, and, me but you have to help me. You have got to hold out your hand, even when that is the last thing I seem to want. Only you can wipe away from my eyes the blank stare of breathing death. Only you can call me into aliveness.

Each time you are kind and gently, and encouraging, each time you try to understand because you really care, my heart begins to grow wings, very small wings, but wings.

With your sensitivity and sympathy, and your power of understanding, you can breathe life into me. I want you to know that.

I want you to know how important you are to me, how you can be the creator of the person that is me if you choose.

Please choose to. You alone can break down the wall behind which I tremble, you alone can remove my mask.

You alone can release me from my shadow world of panic and uncertainty from my lonely person, I do not panic.

Please do not pass me by. It will not be easy for you.

If you have a long conception of worthlessness builds strongwalls.

The nearer you approach me, the blander I become.

I fight against the very thing I cry out for, but I am told that love is stronger than walls, and in this lies my hope.

Please try to beat down those walls, with love and with gentleness, hands, for a child is very sensitive.

I am a person. I tell you. I am a person you know very well.

I am every child and every man and woman you know.

We hope the NUNIUS will serve the place of the newest club in Tulsa on "Stage in the meantime, we are.

In Kansas City, we attended the board meeting for Jimmy Freedy. Happy Jimmy Freedy, Happy Jimmy Freedy... you beautiful guys! At the Other Side, new clubs in Kansas City, Kansas, a couple of hundred friends gathered to wish Jimmy good day and to toast him in the same many ways that only the guys do so well. While at the Other Side, we spoke with Bob and Mark from the NUNIUS, "I would like to be a member of the "City Liberation Group", but at the present time, I am not active but interested in the Kingston City area."

We hope our readers will find a way to visit the Cowboy Lounge in Kansas City where Rex and Mark always bring the fire for their young, energetic crowd.

Again at the Cowboy, Randy Markley showed his versatility and talent as he performed in his good club in Kansas City. We hope to be able to share some pictures of Randy with you in the future issue of NUNIUS. His is an excellent body and he makes a good model.

We spoke with Pete at Pete's Pub about his grand opening in Kansas City, the time, the place and the fact that the NUNIUS is heavily indebted to you.

At the Colony Club we met Roberta Headknocker who described the club as the club with the most history in Kansas City and known internationally. We look forward to visiting his club again on another trip.

At the S.S. Jugg life continues at its regular fast, youthful pace with the newest personality behind the bar, the "Gay Lord" definitely an asset to any bar and a good choice for the S.S. Jug.

Rex and Mark from the Cowboy's Lounge were off on one of their monthly jaunts to the Caribbean and Venezuela but they were well represented by Gay and Steve behind the bar and Michael at tables.

Anecrower to the Cowboy, Hanz is 25, from Michigan, told us about the NUNIUS, "I would like to be a member of the "City Liberation Group", but at the present I am not active but interested in the Kingston City area."

We hope our readers will find a way to visit the Cowboy and be a part of the club.

The opening number of THE GAY PONY was a highlight of the evening, featuring Miss Tanya, a newcomer to drag. Miss Tanya chose "Love is a Crying Shame," a show-stopping number that immediately captured the audience's attention. The performance was accompanied by a dramatic backdrop of flames and smoke, creating a captivating atmosphere.

Miss Tanya's talent was evident in her choice of music and costume, which perfectly complemented the intense emotional content of the song. The audience was left in awe as Miss Tanya showcased her range, from tender vulnerability to a powerful, commanding presence.

Miss Tanya's ability to connect with the audience and deliver a performance that resonated on a personal level was truly remarkable. The audience was visibly moved by her performance,反映出她既是一位出色的表演艺术家，又是一位引人入胜的个性。
WE MUST EDUCATE OUR DOCTORS

England-The paper battle with the″ Guardian " and the Croydon and South Essex groups is still going on. The recent appeal is by the Secretary of the Campaign for Homosexual Equality and it will be interesting to see if he is making any progress with the public concerning the present approach which he considers this. At present, as he himself points out, doctors are being asked not only to pass on a statement to their medical population but also to give the homophile element itself a hearing.

"This is the most important point in the gay struggle to-day,″ he says. "It is the best position to write proposals. The only way to make in this paper announcing the opening of Ricci's new business is to write to the club, and make it clear that we have the support of the opposition to the club, and they are being asked to support the club.

The Secretary angry reply, in the front of the paper on the opening day of the publication, was received publicly in the loss of his job and radio airwaves.

Such hostility from those to whose care is entrusted our young homosexual patients. I wondered if any of you, or your working parties, had considered this. At present, as you are probably only too well aware, doctors emerge from their training little better informed than the general public concerning the problems and dangers in the life of a stable 96% of homosexually oriented people. These are in some ways likely to be even more prejudiced than the population in general, since the patients they meet who are identifiably homosexual are likely to belong to the freak 2% or the few severely disturbed in other ways (not to mention the occasional very weird transvestite and cross-dresser who turns up in London, and are apt to be confused with homosexuals). Add to this the fact that they are only likely to hear the subject discussed by the homosexual psychiatrists, who usually present homosexuality as a "disease" which may be cured, not be "curable," and it is not surprising that heterosexual students finish up thinking that sexual orientation is a serious illness that fits in the list somewhere between cancer and leprosy. Homosexual students finish up feeling depressed. The pattern of life of the general practitioner makes it almost mandatory that he is married, and I have little doubt that homosexual doctors almost all gravitate to some other area of medicine in which to work. The group of doctors in the best position to advance public understanding and most likely to be approached by homosexuals in need of advice is thus most unlikely to have any real understanding of the problem.

The changes in medical education that are in the air at the moment include more emphasis in the early years of the course on human behavior and development. This would seem to be the natural foundation of a balanced view of homosexuality, and would certainly offer a much more fruitful subject than the psychiatric course.

Homosexuality might then be seen as part of the wider spectrum of behavior that can be considered normal or abnormal, and the freak 2% would be seen in their proper perspective. It obviously isn't going to be easy to get this point of view accepted, and those of us who are in medical education think it is a particularly vulnerable point in the present climate of opinion, and that there is no time to lose in initiating change. An organisation such as yours might possibly be able to exert some influence in, for example, circulating a reasoned statement on the question to the heads of departmenst of psychiatry in the medical schools.

I would be willing to offer my assistance if you felt at any point in your work that you needed this kind of help. I feel that what you are trying to do is of great importance, and deserves every support. So much of the current prejudice and depression that afflicts some homosexuals springs from the attitudes of the kind of people who live in, and is not a necessary part of their sexual orientation.

The recent experience of having the medical care of a despairing homosexual in his twenties, following a particularly tragic suicide attempt is probably what has motivated me to write to you to assure you that we have the support of one another in what will be a very long drawn out struggle to change the view of society.

The preparation of just such an educational leaflet or pamphlet as the writer proposes is an active consideration. Several useful suggestions for its contents have been sent to the CHE office by individuals and by the Croydon and South Essex groups. We still have to organise a group of people to consider these suggestions, and to compose a rational and comprehensive statement on the subject, which will dispel myths and help the uninformed majority.

Including, of course, the medical profession, to understand and accept the homophile element in their own society.

CHE has received a sympathetic response from the Socialist Medical Association, who would be willing to have a circular letter sent from CHE to their members. Some CHE groups are contacting doctors in their localities, and the Chilterns group has offered to circulate a circular letter to doctors in its area. This is the kind of worthwhile approach which can be made immediately. The changes in the medical profession and the movement in society which we hope to bring about will take a long time, and we should aim for such liberal advice and to home- enquirers.

The above article was reprinted from CHE The bulletin of the Campaign for Homosexual Equality.

Miss. Ricci Cortez, operator of the Roaring 60's, a club well known to most of us is branching out into a new and different business.

Ricci Cortez for many years was the area top ″ exotic dancer ″ before going into the club business. During her career as a dancer she designed and made her own wardrobe of fantastic and individual gowns which helped to make her act the success that it was.

She and her husband Allen, a dancer and close associate opened a club on Market Square called Ricci's. The show at this spot, all live acts, no mimics, consisting completely of top name female impersonators needed some new costumes. Poppa asked Ricci to help her and as a result the show on ″ The Square ″ has the most outstanding and original gowns of any in the city and all made and designed by Ricci.

There is an ad elsewhere in this paper announcing the opening of Ricci's new business for the particular finest in wardrobe.

together, stays together. Maybeye need to look for the more positive, joyful, laughing side of life, and try to stay out of the shadow play of the field. The 5th and 6th are days on which you should stay away from drugs and liquor. K is mostly organic so I see no reason that you shouldn't use one of that. People who try to run your life may find the rum a tough ask to steer. Don't force issues as it will only cause heart break or is it that pain in whatever. Travel and love go hand in hand this month; watch for a new love on a train, bus or a journey. It could be that your new love is from a distant place and your sweet thing need never leave the surroundings. You find so pleasant. Now, remember what Mother tells you...be, butch.

TAURUS Well it is going to be hot and heavy through the 5th but as stubborn as you are don't expect it to last because Saturn has a few nasty surprises for you between the 5th and 14th. After mid-month you will find yourself propelled into situations which will appeal to you very much. Remember to keep your high ideals uppermost in your mind and continue on toward your goal. Two separate loves come into your life toward the end of the month. You will love one for one reason and the other for another. Be true to each one even if it means that you can't have either. Be loved or to truly loved and lost than to have fooled yourself and never loved at all.

GEMINI You may find yourself overboard and decide that you have found the person you want to stay with the rest of your life with. It could be true but check to see what responsibilities they have, you may find that you can't afford each other. Oh well that's life. If you aren't after a lover thinglook great for you. Tricks will be throwing themselves in your path but you will probably be more interested in the ones that don't seem interested in you. That sounds moronic to me. After all the long time admirer who is not so outwardly appealing may look like a real Butte Montana with his clothes off. "Butte Montana" is some one who is willing to share everything for and move to a potato ranch in Butte, Montana to spend the rest of your life.

CANCER Well Girl, you did again aren't you full of surprises. Well I think the stars have a few surprises for you this month. By the time you read this it will be too late. Around the 7th you should look at everything through the calm eyes of reality. Don't forget I told you so. Love comes after work and health. Be friendly with all the people you meet while on your job or visiting with a sick friend or the doctor. Your sexuality has become intensified and other people begin to notice it more now than ever before. Don't let yourself get carried away and fall prey to any of those dread diseases that are becoming all too common.

LEO Don't get in any three ways, double, or orgies; just not the right time. You may drive away a close friend. Rather give your attention to one at a time. Things are just not as they seem to you concerning anyone else so proceed with caution in affairs of the heart. Some of you may blow off everyone and establish yourself with a new set of people. There are four planets in your house or true love and they are favorable; so you may find a person who fulfills you; well lets say fits you up. Be gentle and let your heart feel out the one who is in your life the last part of the month. Care should be exercised in trying too hard to find true love. If you don't know yourself, you can't find your true love. Venerus have been a whole and jumping from bed to bed all of that will come to an end around the 8th and 9th. Taking it easy and being careful where love is concerned will pay off big. If love is moving you resist making any big decisions until after the 1st of the year. Over the 12th of this month you will find love smiles more favorably on you but caution never hurt anyone. Trust people, be out going and kind, for you will find yourself trying to do otherwise. You may find your commitments keeping you from things that will eventually catch up with you.

COMMUNICATION is very important this month. Try to be kind and helpful when dealing with the one you love. Being polite and considerate will keep the one you love from getting the wrong idea about your intentions. If your "needy" neighbor, friend or others try to envolve you in their problems be advised that it would be best for them to take care of their own things or whatever. Between the 14th and 21st romance, love and sex are most favorable. If you have been having problems in any of these areas this is the time to remedy that. Love will come in the large economy size. Now don't get too carried away. You can have too much of a good thing. Your buds will be in demand the latter part of this month if you feel like it, just do it, or don't.

SCORPIO Be kind and truly concerned about the problems in any of these relationships you may have with a close friend or lover. Don't let the chance of getting that new person you are interested in cause you to be cold to one you really love. Money and related matters will play a large part in your life this month. It's not that you will be selling anything but you will find a broker, lawyer, or bookkeeper who is very attractive. If you have a secret that must be told to both between the 14th and 18th and you will find people most understanding. The people who let marry the latter part of this month will find that they have made an unusually wise decision. Be careful, and have a happy birthday.

SAGITTARIUS Wasn't last month a gas. The time to look for out to the surprise of yourself and lovers and friends. Now that you're out lets see what might be in store for this month. Lots of personal happiness is yours for the taking. Be careful until after the 13th, but you can still have an enjoyable month. But for the calm and cunning you can maneuver things your way, what a drag.

Looking for something?

Astral predictions by Christopher

Aries For the first eight days of this month keep them on a chain. If you find yourself in a situation which you need never leave the surroundings again...aren't you ram a tough ask to steer. Don't appealing may be true but and love will come in the large economy size. Now don't get too carried away. You can have too much of a good thing. Your buds will be in demand the latter part of this month if you feel like it, just do it, or don't.

What is this monkey that rides so many of our handsome backs that shows what creatures of society we REALLY are?

First of all, guilt is the possession of a man with a conscience. The ability to feel guilt is the ability to judge right from wrong. No human can successfully live among other humans if he is not able to perceive that certain actions are "wrong" and certain are "right." The inability to do this produces the pathologic amoral criminal. The conscience is that section or collection of absorbed experience and observation that guides our social interaction. It is a high level thing. Unlike basic instinct or emotion, it tends to be rational.

In these United States, our collection of absorbed experience and observation includes the negative instruction against having romantic erotic love for one of the same sex. It positively states that we MUST show this same love to one of the opposite sex. These ideas are two faces of the same coin. They are two ingredients of American conscience. Puritan in concept and in strength of hold. They are much stronger than their counterparts in Europe. In the gay world these two self-complementing statements of sociological fact figure as the basic guilt.

Of course many of us have transformed the basic. For example: If I cannot conform to what I am supposed to be, I must therefore be no good, unfit, unworthy. Self-dislike and self-hate are the underlying destructive forces operating in the life of many an active homosexual who feels himself fully able to accept his "difference." But what happens when this enlightened beauty falls in love? The selfless love that should be born of the initial attraction never develops. Why? Because most often both partners unconsciously feel that they don't deserve it and therefore don't allow it to happen.

Another transformation of the basic is the red-necked homo or God fearing gay. This person while accepting his need to love the same sex, punishes himself for doing so by considering himself subject to all the most rigorous prohibitions, rules, taboos and laws of his particular religious background. He can thus compensate for his necessary disregard for the two basic societal rules about sex. He tends to live an ascetic life before a TERRIBLE GOD OF VENGEANCE. His associates are able to take only so much and so he is alone much of the time. He turns inward. His lover is often hypnotized and drained by his fanaticism...too weak to break out yet miserable within the web. This type will ascribe wicked sinful motives to everyone, every organization and especially to himself.

Where does it wind up? Some who lack the ability to love themselves and therefore others, feel—rightly—that life without love is not living. They consciously choose to cease the struggle. They inflict capital punishment upon themselves. Others go on through a lifelong vale of self-torture, aware that something better is possible, but unable to suppress the urge to suicide. As we can observe in the case of our brother and sister trapped in guilt. The above article was written by Mr. Charles David and was reprinted from THE PRODIGAL.
The novel permambulates with its campy story during the hero's budding years in school and with his best friend, the sad Crandshaw, who is "that way." Jud's friend Fred has his ins and outs in bringing Jud out; but Jud really blossoms into a full blown "Rosebud" in this new version. Perhaps the burdened narrative in Jud's "knowing how" is brought to a close by a letter from his parents in which he escapes to their "digs" in the Middle East. With this anticlimactic happening, the book takes on a fun and "full blown" new subplot of his new adventures while on route to his parents. Jud files on the more famous international Airlines where he meets Gaetan, the French pursuer of the flight, Jean-Paul. Again, Jud has a "dick" in his nose, and his new found friend. While in Paris Jean-Paul introduces him to the Gay Bar, Le Comte, which is half Arab and who is an added plus to the art of the E1 Dahabi, which is really an ancient S and M group. Until this point the book is fun and is really enjoyable reading, but for a change, and since Jean-Paul is introduced into the art of the E1 Dahabi Cult. At this point the reading becomes a bit turgid as the author seems to lead the reader into a confrontation with the rites of the cult. If you like a graphic description of the gay S and M rites, then this book is for you. After being scared and sickened by these carryings on, Jud finds that he is being duped and in effect being held hostage for a smugging ring headed by Monsieur Le Comte. Jud with fast thinking and maneuvering gets himself out of this pickle and the book has a happy ending. But for this reader it was not entirely pleasurable, you'll have to read it to find out.

Mr. Ebbing's style is very flowing as you will see and read both his book and his story figuratively. It is a delightful evening's entertainment and should not be missed, not only for the very lucid and graphic display in detail but also a smattering of knowledge in another area of life.

From the number of books that have been published in recent years Sherbert and Sodomy will probably be at the top of any list. Be sure and read it. You won't be disappointed.

CROSS COUNTRY ORGY

Seventeen year old Barry takes a cross-country bus ride in CROSS COUNTRY ORGY, by J. J. Proferes. His first trip away from home provides Barry with a background for his new found self and self-like as he buses to Washington, D. C. Atlanta, Birmingham, New Orleans, and Los Angeles.

Barry's first sexual awakening occurs as a fellow rider masturbates Barry in the darkened area of the bus before Barry reaches the first stop on his journey.

At the first stop, a rest stop, Barry and Fred exchange amenities. Fred insists Barry spend his Washington time at his hotel so they will be free to visit the nation's landmarks and expand Barry's education in other areas--soil kooing and Barry's first experience at being felled.

On to Atlanta and Birmingham, where Barry meets Chuck in the Rest station restaurant. Chuck invites Barry to share his apartment and uses Barry's roundish Whig eyes to excite the 16yr. old with Barry felling another mate for the first time.

Chuck further introduces Barry to the enjoyment of an anal intercourse and this fervent joy from his own body prompts Barry to introspective and more direct action when he arrives in New Orleans.

A New Orleans disc jockey "rescues" Barry from gay bar action with a few ideas of his own. He orients Barry to the joys of analistics.

Up to this point Barry had been sought out; now it was his time for the implementation of aggressor. Barry finds Craig and Buddy-a dude that quickly expands into a trio. In Barry's hotel room, the group sex becomes Barry's introduction to group sex.

Again Barry boards the bus and enroute to Los Angeles in the dark of night to find himself being knowledge felled. More new accumulations in the role, he relaxes and even assists in his seduction.

For the reader, Gay invites Barry to join himself, Jesse and Wally, his roommates, for his first "rescue"--as he says. Barry is picked up by a handsome gay bar man, Mike.

Mike invites Barry to become his lover.

This excellent story by J. J. Proferes is plain, simple and easy to read as well as the excellent quality paper stock and offers 16 full-page color photographs. History, San Fernando Valley State photographs, perhaps the publisher will provide one of this good writer for our pleasure.

Toward A Lucky Day —

A Lucid Relevant Reality

The reality of being implies the positive interaction of the total individual with his universe. The recorded thoughts of today press the substance and meaning of reality is being restructured. Within the spectrum of reality for each individual, personal, technological and intellectual bits are being brought together as a whole. The social "bit" is witness to a principally opportunistic involvement in individuals in their approach to the acquisition and maintenance of the necessities to life. The standards and values necessary to this phase of maintenance and sustenance are generated from the pursuit of the goals necessary to food, clothing and shelter.

From phase I the individuals are carrying the standards and values but with modifications of methods and platforms within the standards and values necessary to survival are generating further individual goals—to be attained perhaps with compromise of the individual within the larger social context. In this phase the aware individual in many cases subordinates himself to the larger social context of the individual. The total social structure is our social movement.

The recorded thoughts of history show the use by the totally social structure in suppressing the initiative and enterprises of individuals except that such initiative and enterprises be in support and for the protection of the totally social structure itself. This individual "bit" cannot be separated from the social "bit" nor from the technological "bit." For the technological bit is subordinated to the combined interests of the social and intellectual—providing the material mechanisms necessary for their implementation and perpetuation.

The time is now for each of us to approach the form of our lives and to determine what intellectual and aesthetic improvements (as one) that can be made within the content, enjoyment and design of that form. Individually we may survive only if we put all phases of our existence into one being—one self. This total involvement must generate for each of us a learning curve that because of our patience may be a low plateau at first, but which becomes a combined sense of intellectual and personal involvement—a fast rise which will occur and this provides further motivation and the establishment of a new continuum of thoughts and deeds. Our involvement requires comprehension of each of us by each of us and must effect new senses of perception and discovery in ourselves and in others. Our acts must be conscious acts yet not unfeeling acts that flavor bitterly the acts of others. Our acts must be multi-dimensional and multi-sensual in their conception—never lacking in integration nor variety. Not only our pursuit with patience might indicate a dull approach, let us use our intellect with vibrancy and be electrically alive. In the seeking to know ourselves, let us use the courage to bring to the facets of our being together. There may be a social structure.

Meekness is bad, psychiatrist says

NEW YORK—When you order something sweet in a restaurant and it tastes sour, do you complain? In a line at the bank or supermarket, when someone pushes in ahead of you, do you speak up?
Through the typical day many persons refuse to assert themselves in such situations. And that's bad, according to Dr. Herbert Fensterheim.

The assistant professor of psychiatry at New York Medical College said the failure to assert oneself leads to a loss of self-respect and erosion of self-esteem.
When you don't assert yourself, you eventually lose control of your life, tend to get moody, depressed and are given to out-burst of anger.
In an office or in a marriage, failure to assert oneself gives distinct feelings of being pushed around, not appreciated.

"An awful lot of Americans have this trouble," Dr. Fensterheim said. "assertion means to be open and direct and honest and appropriate about what you feel and what you think."

Through various exercises, Dr. Fensterheim in his practice with troubled persons uses behavior therapy.
The system takes less time and resolves problems faster, he reports in a new book, "Help Without Psychoanalysis" (Stein and Day).
He describes some of the behavior therapy exercises in the chapter titled "first aid." They include:
1. Taking a $5 bill and buying a 10 cent paper, something you ordinarily wouldn't do, out of fear that the clerk would complain about changing the bill.
2. Asking a clerk to change $1 when you need a dime for a phone instead of buying some 10 or 15 cent item you don't need just to get the change.

Dr. Fensterheim's exercises for those who can't assert themselves have included calling the head of a city sanitation department to complain about garbage collections.

Some of his patients even have been instructed to ask for nothing more than a glass of water at a snack bar.
The exercises in self-assertion, he's found, tend to free them of their fear of saying "I want" or "I don't like" or "I like"—necessary phrases if one is to assert oneself.

Dr. Fensterheim said many material problems are caused because one partner lacks such ability.

"The spouse of such a partner must be a mind-reader and it leads to all sorts of difficulties," he said.
The Casper Milquetoast of the land have a chance to master their own lives," (Milquetoast was a comic strip character, noted for being extremely timid. He was pushed around but never complained.)
