

POPE DENIES HE'S GAY

Vatican City (AP) - Pope Paul declared that printed accusations that he is a homosexual are "horrible and slanderous insinuations."

The charges were made by French author Roger Peyrefitte, a self-proclaimed homosexual, in a 3,000 word article printed in the Italian weekly magazine, Tempo. Police seized the magazine.

Without mentioning Peyrefitte by name, Pope Paul said in a brief address to a crowd of about 20,000 in St. Peter's Square:

"We know that our cardinal vicar and the Italian bishops' conference have urged you to pray for our humble person, who has been made the target of scorn and horrible and slanderous insinuations by a certain press lacking dutiful regard for honesty and truth.

"We thank you for all these demonstrations of faithful piety and moral sensibility," the 78 year old pontiff added as the crowd applauded and cheered him.

The Cardinal Vicar of Rome, Ugo Poletti and the Italian Bishops' Conference had appealed to Italian Catholics to join today in prayers in a "day of consolation" for the Pope.

Special prayers were offered for the Pope in all Catholic Churches in Italy following the appeal, and parish priests delivered sermons to defend the Pope against Peyrefitte's allegations.

Police seized Tempo in Florence on orders from a state attorney and a suit was filed against the magazine editor on the grounds that he abused the honor of the Pope as the head of a foreign state, a crime in Italy.

Under the 1929 concordat between Italy and the Holy See, the Pope and Catholicism are granted special protection against libel and calumny.

In his article, originally written for a French sex magazine, Peyrefitte wrote: "I said in my last book, with all due respect to a Pope, especially a living one, that he was a homosexual. It's well known that Paul had as a boy friend, a movie actor whose name I am not going to mention, but whom I recall very well."

In the early 1950's, Peyrefitte's book, Saint Peter's Keys, was seized by police in Italian bookshops on the ground that it abused religion. In 1958 Peyrefitte was expelled from Italy following a written attack against Pope Pius XII.

In the latest article, Peyrefitte attacked a document issued in January in which the Vatican restated the condemnation of sexual acts outside marriage as sinful, despite urging understanding for homosexuals.

Tempo made the article its main story of the week with full, front page caricature of the Pope.

The Pope, who spoke from the window of his study to the crowd before giving his Sunday blessing, said that "this and other deplorable episodes have their origin" in the Vatican document on sexual ethics.

He said that it is because of this "that we urge you to give this document and all the teachings it includes attentive consideration as well as to consider it a matter of virtuous observance...(against) the licentious hedonism spread in the custom of the modern world..."

"Thanks, heartfelt thanks to you all," the Pope said in a firm voice as the crowd interrupted him with applause for a second time.

WOMEN'S WORST ENEMY

The Gallup Poll is out with a report indicating that women may be their own worst enemies in their efforts to gain equal rights.

The Princeton-based polling organization surveyed both men and women on their attitudes towards women and came up with some surprising results.

The poll found that 59% of the males surveyed favored the equal rights amendment, as compared to just 55% of the females reacting favorably towards the amendment.

Even more discouraging for women presidential aspirants, however, is the Gallup group's finding that only 71% of the women polled, as opposed to 75% of the men questioned, said they would vote for a woman for President if she were qualified for the job.

FROM THE EDITOR

This is a week that should be full of things to do for everyone.

In Houston, or rather Galveston, The Old Plantation, Nuntius, and the Second Sun will be hosting a beer bust like no other this coming Sunday on Stewart's Beach. Kegs and kegs of free beer will be set up along with thousands of that good old American favorite, hot dogs! It should be a festive occasion that will be long talked about on Galveston Island.

This Saturday night at the Encore in Dallas will be what can be only called a Show of Stars. A benefit for the New Miss Gay America Pageant will be presented. The array of guest stars is unbelievable! All of the Miss Gay America, past and present, will be on hand, plus other guests from Houston, Dallas, and Ft. Worth. The bulk of the show will move over to the Bailey

St. Warehouse on Sunday night, and the show will continue in one of Ft. Worth's finest bars.

And speaking of the MGA Benefit, Shadji, now playing at the Bayou Landing in Dallas, will be making a guest appearance also. It should really be hot!

Don't forget the Annual Queens Point Beer Bust coming up on May 30th. The Old Plantation has scheduled another biggie!

Having opened at the French Quarter is a recent flick called SUR. It was filmed in California's Big Sur country, and is suppose to be one of the hottest flicks ever! Don't miss it!!!!!!

One word of apology from me to everyone about some copy that has appeared in the paper these past few weeks. "Bessie", our beloved Frieden computer here at the Nuntius, usually sets and justifies all copy for the paper. Well, it seems that Bessie has been in a somewhat of an unbearable mood lately, and hasn't been justifying properly. Occasionally the old girl gets with it, and other times, well... So please bear with us and hopefully everything will soon be on course again.

Til next week,

SEX CASE WON ON APPEAL

The New Jersey Supreme Court says a sex act between consenting adults at a highway rest area is not indecent exposure or lewdness.

In a unanimous ruling the court said the only way to tell whether a private sex act involves indecent exposure is whether someone else is likely to see it.

Although the decision applied to two men engaged in a homosexual act, it appeared to have equal bearing on any kind of sexual activity.

The men, identified by the court only by their initials, were arrested by a State Trooper in 1972 while engaging in sex in a car parked in

PENNY'S PARADISE
807 N. Chapparral
Corpus Christi, Texas

(512) 882-0046

a rest area adjacent to a state highway in Gloucester County.

The Supreme Court noted that in a 1974 case it had concluded that the crime of private lewdness existed only when a defendant engaged in indecent exposure or actions that would harm the morals of a minor.

The court noted that the dissenting Appellate Division judge voted to uphold the convictions because, he said, any sex act committed in a public area would be offensive to the majority of the public if it was observed.

The Supreme Court said it found that argument "wholly unreasonable" and that in this case the men could have assumed reasonably that they were in a relatively secluded spot and that their actions would not be seen by the public.

It said the focus should not be on the prevailing public view of offensive sexual behavior.

THE STUDIO BACKSTAGE

By Warren Wyss

"Hell, I was getting horny just thinking about it. An assignment to interview John Gamble at his studio; a chance to see a real professional photographer of those well-hung studs that I've drooled over so much in magazines. Maybe there would be some new insights to be gained from such a visit, maybe a chance to see the models at work -- or play!! My fantasies were having a field day.

I imagined my entrance into the Man's Image studio. There I would be hopelessly trying to keep my composure while John leads me through the studio. The place crowded with demi-gods preparing for their latest sex-epics and sexcapades. Meanwhile, my jeans suddenly discover that they cannot hold all my young manhood in this excitement, and they rip open, exposing me to the humiliations of the young studs. All of a sudden I'm pushed before the cameras into the arms of an Adonis; his blue eyes twinkling, his raspberry lips edging towards mine; his taut bronzed body a symphony of steel. Here I am, hopelessly trapped in an orgy of pulsing flesh, a dozen Titans, all ready to pounce upon me like hungry leopards. Who would come to my rescue?!!!

Well, the experience didn't quite turn out that way. Rather, I found myself going up a rickety elevator in an old, forgotten West Village building, happy to stop at a large, well-lit loft. John Gambel turned out to be a friendly, collegiate-looking fellow, someone you might find at the local ice cream parlor. He quickly introduced me to his small staff, who were busy stuffing envelopes, and led me to the back of the studio -- empty, save for the sneak appearance of a shy cat. It was in this cloistered seclusion where I shot my questions.

The Man's Image studio, in operation since May of 1975, is a mail order house for films and stills. Orders come from all over -- as near as their own neighborhood and as far as Tahiti. There seems to be no average enthusiast of this material. Orders are coming in both from the rich and the poor, near illiterates, and college professors. All have a basic desire for the product to do its stuff -- to work its wonders into their lonely hearts and soft penises.

John's work is fairly close to the calibre of Colt Press, of California, but his poses are overall more natural and less studied. Like the photographers of Colt, though, John appeals to the public through his images of young, handsome virility. The models are from every walk of life. Only a few are professional and experienced as models, most being young men that John and his partners just happened to spot. As such is the case, not every model turns out well. Some can't pose or photograph well enough to the strict standard's of Man's Image. If so, they are let go and so too are mediocre photos dispensed with.

John has future plans to create a magazine. Thus far, he has either done cover photos or occasional picture spreads, besides his vast number of glossies. His films, which run about twenty minutes and are silent, are not theatrical; yet John considers them erotic and aesthetic.

And you know what, I think the pictures are much more erotic than the work that goes into their production. Oh well...

concerned with living up to some kind of stereotyped ideal of "performing" that they forget that sex is an experience not at exhibition.

As time goes on and you get to feeling more comfortable with yourself - and, more important, get more confidence in yourself - you will undoubtedly lose the anxieties you are feeling these days. At this particular time in your life you are fortunate to have a boyfriend who really seems to think that you're okay. If you could allow yourself to listen to him, and trust what he is telling you, you might diminish your need to worry (about performance) and maybe even enjoy the pleasure of having orgasms in whatever way that you do.

Aunt Sofa answers questions in the Nuntius. Address any questions or comments that you might have to: Aunt Sofa, c/o Nuntius, 4319 Montrose Blvd., Houston, Tx. 77006

Dear Aunt Sofa:

I'm 22 and have had a few love affairs. There seems to be a pattern in my lovemaking. I come very quickly after my first erection. Then I can slow down and make love slowly and please my partner the second time. My current boyfriend brings me off manually or orally, then we start the main course.

But I haven't been able to have another erection very soon after ejaculation. I'm worried about whether I really have premature ejaculation. Is there some kind of mental problem I have which causes this? I feel anxious until I've come once - but could that be really feeling afraid that I'll come too soon?

My boyfriend says that I've got nothing to worry about. Would you say that he's right?

ADVISE:

I would say that probably both you and your boyfriend are right. He is right in assuring you that there is nothing to worry about; and you are right, too, in that your fear of ejaculating too quickly will cause you to ejaculate too quickly.

Your concerns are not uncommon. Many people who have not had a great deal of sexual experience tend to worry a great deal about whether they are "doing it right." And people today get so

RHODA BLABLITT One More Time!

Well, gang, Rhoda is back one more time for another hot! round.

It seems that in old Houston town that one time draggon of the Farmhouse and the Old Plantation, Christy, has lost his job with a local savings and loan company. It seems that he threw such a scene when he was terminated that no other company will hire him after they have checked with his former employers.

And John Stahl of Dallas' Bayou Landing recently learned how the hospitality at the Reisner Street Hotel in Houston is. Seems he didn't really believe those NO TURN signs over on the old cruise route. It seems the boys in blue gave him a quick escort downtown!

Norma Kristie gave a quick word of advice for Tracie - hang up your dresses while you're still able to. Norma also wanted to thank Miss Lillie for being such a good friend. Look out!!!!!!

T. G. Pretender has done it again! It seems during a week-end on the Bayou Landings boat the Bayou Queen, T. G. managed to get sea sick. Only the boat was tied up at the dock. Good going

T. G.

I had heard recently that there was going to be a new bar in Austin called Friends and Lovers. Then word was out that a Second Sun was soon on the way. But would you believe that a third bar is under consideration for opening in Austin!

Word is out that a pair of Houston book store "operators" will soon be entering the field of publishing. I just can't understand why.

And finally a word to all you book store freaks. Carters Book Store in Houston was busted just a few nights ago. Six customers were taken in on charges of public lewdness. All six were in machines (or rather movie booths) that were NOT running. What all you girls should realize is that a quarter in the machine technically means, according to past court cases, that you are renting the space just like you rent your apartment. When that quarter runs out, so does your rent and protection! So keep those quarters dropping and have a nice safe stay.
