SIXTH TEXAN DIES OF AIDS

HOUSTON — Donald E. Smith, 28, became the sixth victim in the Texas gay community to die of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) on December 17, 1982. He had been admitted to Memorial Hospital in this city a month earlier on November 15.

Burial was in Baltimore, Maryland on December 22. Friends were encouraged to participate in two memorial services to be held this Sunday, January 9. One service was scheduled for 11:00am at St. Anne's Catholic Church. Mass was to feature the choir with whom he sang tenor.

A second memorial service was to be held later the same day at 3:00pm at the Metropolitan Community Church of the Resurrection (MCCR) at 1919 Decatur, David T. McLaren informed TWT NEWS. Anyone wishing to participate should contact (713) 939-1112.

Smith was active in MSA bowling, being a member of the Briar Patch team. Because of his high-pitched cheer, he was known to many as "Mr. Wonderful." He also starred in a production of Pajama Game at the Jewish Community Center.

Smith was employed by Bechtel Petroleum since May 1981 as traffic administrator. However, his termination resulted from his poor health and attendance record relating to his AIDS condition.

"Donald wanted to do everything he could to help educate, prevent others from suffering, and convince others of the seriousness of the possible consequences of their lifestyle," said McLaren.

"Persons wishing to help Donald's dream come true have been asked to contribute to the Kaposi's Sarcoma Committee," McLaren explained. Donations may be sent to P.O. Box 1155, 3317 Montrose Blvd., Houston, Texas 77006. "Please specify that you are contributing for Donald E. Smith," TWT NEWS was reminded.

Smith's death from AIDS followed closely the sudden death of another Houstonian, Jim Jones, who succumbed on December 4 from bilateral pneumonia.

TWT NEWS learned from Dr. Swinney of the Baylor College of Medicine that Jones's eyes were donated to the college as a result of a recent article in TWT NEWS. The eyes were subsequently transplanted, one to an 18-year-old woman and one to a 19-year-old man who were victims of an automobile accident on December 26.

Of the six fatal AIDS cases in the Texas gay community, half have been caused by Kaposi's Sarcoma, two from pneumonia and one from hepatitis.

AIDS CAUSES BLOOD DONOR RESTRICTION

HOUSTON — In the past, healthy gay males had been able to donate blood on a weekly basis at the Alpha Therapeutic Corporation, 1520 Capitol in this city. For their efforts, they received $40.

That has now been stopped, at least temporarily, because of the recent AIDS epidemic that is sweeping into Texas. "On December 20, 1982, a temporary restriction was placed on all male homosexuals, residents of Haiti and intravenous drug abusers," Joel Miller, assistant director of Alpha Therapeutic, informed TWT NEWS. "The purpose is to screen out those groups who have a higher incidence of AIDS," Miller explained. "We want to continue to insure safe products for public consumption," he cautioned.

Because three infants have died of AIDS as a result of blood transfusions, donors are being screened more carefully. The Center for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta reported one infant death resulted from blood transfused from a man who later died of AIDS.

"Several hemophiliacs have also come down with AIDS," Miller told TWT NEWS.

Donors who have had hepatitis may still be eligible for plasma donation. All plasma from Alpha is tested for hepatitis in Memphis, TWT NEWS learned.

CONGRESS DESIGNATES
$2 MILLION FOR AIDS

WASHINGTON, DC — The Gay Rights National Lobby's (GRNL) effort to increase funding for research on Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) met with success during last month's lame duck session of Congress. Congress passed a Continuing Resolution funding the government for the rest of the fiscal year, which runs through September 30, 1983. In the resolution, $2 million was appropriated for AIDS research to be conducted by the Center for Disease Control (CDC). In fiscal year 1982, only $500,000 for AIDS research was provided. The funds for AIDS represents a significant victory, since there were only two other new health related programs funded during the 97th Congress.

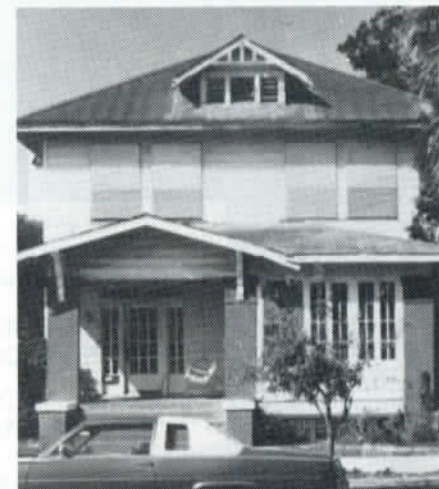

The CDC funds will be used to expand monitoring activities in an attempt to learn more about AIDS. The disease has been identified in nearly 800 cases nationwide, resulting in almost 300 deaths with two new cases reported each day. Medical researchers still know little about the cause, mode of transmission, treatment or cure for AIDS. It is known, however, that the syndrome causes a profound suppression of a critical party of the body's immune system.

Commenting on GRNL's success, Steve Endean, executive director of GRNL, pointed to the extensive use of the field network in securing support from key members of Congress.

While this initial victory is an important step forward in gaining Congressional support for AIDS research, the effort to obtain more funds for vital research must continue. "Our goal is to turn the ever increasing concern of the gay community about AIDS into effective political action," Endean explained to TWT NEWS.

To date, six gay males have died in the Texas gay community from AIDS.

"Our acquisition of this building is evidence of our church's deep commitment to Galveston's gay community," Rev. Howard Wells, pastor, told TWT NEWS. "It is our intention to utilize the facility as a community center for the island's gay men and women. In 1983, we hope to house a gay Alcoholics Anonymous group, legal and medical referral service, counseling programs and an arts and crafts center, in addition to a full range of religious activities and Christian education programs."

The dedication service for the building will be held this Sunday, January 9, which will coincide with the third anniversary of the church's founding. Worship services have temporarily been held at St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church.

INTEGRITY ELECTION NEXT TUESDAY

HOUSTON — The annual election of officers for Integrity/Houston has been called for next Tuesday's January 11 meeting. The executive committee, sitting as a nominating committee, has nominated itself for re-election. Additional nominees will be solicited from the floor at the meeting.

The nominees are: Earl Gregory, convener; Bob Harrison, vice convener; Gary Schumacher, secretary; and Hal Harter, treasurer. Following the election, the elected officers will lead a discussion on the topic, "Directions for Integrity."

"We have filed a non-profit corporate charter with the Secretary of State, and should have the charter back in time for the January 25 meeting," said Gregory. "If it is in, there are a number of things that we must do to our by-laws, and we will discuss these changes and improvements at that meeting."

TWT NEWS has also learned that the Rev. Fr. W. Norman Pittenger, STD, Senior Fellow, King's College, Cambridge, will return to Houston on April 11 for a major address to the gay community, and a meeting with Integrity on April 12.

PHILPOT DIES ON CHRISTMAS

DALLAS — Joe Philpot, longtime owner of the popular Sundance Kids club in this city, died on Christmas night at Parkland Hospital after an extended illness.

Non-specific cerebral degradation was listed as the cause of death, TWT NEWS learned from physicians. Philpot had earlier been hospitalized for amebiasis. Although treatment was somewhat successful, Philpot never regained his full health in the ensuing year.

Burial was held on December 27 at his hometown of Greenville, Texas. The Philpot family had requested that any donations be made to the AIDS Program, Oak Lawn Counseling Center, 3409 Oak Lawn, Suite 202, Dallas, Texas 75219.

The request was in keeping with Philpot's continued work with local charities. During the past decade, as club owner of Sundance Kids, Philpot had been known for his community work in raising money for charities such as Visually Impaired Children of Dallas, the Thelma Boston Home, March on Washington, Texas Human Rights Foundation, Dallas Alliance for Individual Rights, and the Oak Lawn Counseling Center.

GAY ATHEISTS PICKET SWAGGART

HOUSTON — This Saturday, January 8, the local chapter of the Gay Atheists of America will sponsor a protest in front of the downtown Houston Coliseum where the Rev. Jimmy Swaggart, noted for his anti-gay railings, is scheduled to hold a three-day crusade.

Interested persons are encouraged to participate in the protest which will focus on the homophobia of the TV evangelist's messages. If you are interested in participating, please call Don Sanders at (713) 522-7531. "You must have your signs ready and approved by this Saturday at 6:30pm, and meet at 812 Harold St. for instructions and briefing," Sanders explained to TWT NEWS.

REHEARING ON DALLAS ARCADE

DALLAS — On October 20 of last year, the Court of Criminal Appeals ruled that a fully-enclosed movie arcade booth, with the door closed and locked, was "a public place," and consequently, any sexual activity occurring inside constituted public lewdness, a Class "A" misdemeanor. Potential punishment, under Texas law, is one year in jail and a $2,000 fine.

The October decision was the outcome of a long trial involving Ronald Gene Cammack and Dallas Police Officer R.L. Newell. Newell had entered an arcade booth at Red Letter News, 10851 Harry Hines in Dallas. Cammack later entered the same booth and locked the door, allegedly touching the officer's genitals "with intent to arouse and gratify" his own sexual desire.

Cammack's attorney, Clyde F. DeWitt III, has now rightly reasoned to pursue a rehearing motion in light of last August's ruling by Judge Jerry Buchmeyer of Dallas in the 21.06 trial.

Because Judge Buchmeyer had ruled that sexual activity in private was within the law, DeWitt has concluded that his client did not break the law, since a locked movie arcade booth is private—not "a public place."

DeWitt maintains that the right to privacy is at issue. DeWitt concludes that if a locked arcade booth is a public place, then so is a locked hotel room.

A hotel room, with the door locked and bolted, is "a public place," and accordingly, any of us who have engaged in sexual intercourse or any other sexual contact in a locked hotel room, has violated the statute in question, the attorney has opined.

"Obviously, this was not the legislative intent" of our law makers in Austin when statute 21.07 was carved out and passed. "The general right of privacy is rapidly expanding as can be observed by a review of cornerstone cases," DeWitt explained.

Taking the case in question to its loudest volume, DeWitt recalled the trial testimony which recorded that, "On January 5, 1978, Robert Newell, a Dallas city police officer, working undercover on a temporary assignment, went to the Red Letter News Number Two. After entering the common area of the store, he went into several of the booths in the movie section.

"He eventually entered booth six and deposited a quarter, leaving the door ajar about three inches. Appellant (Cammack) then entered the completely enclosed booth, 28 inches by 42 inches, and closed the door. Newell related that the appellant 'groped my groin,' made sexual contact and placed his hands on Newell's genitals there in the booth. Newell suggested that they go to his van parked outside. The appellant was thereafter arrested," the testimony continued.

Because at the time of sexual contact, the booth door was closed to public view and the door was locked, the logical conclusion of the court should be that "public access to the booth had been eliminated," stated DeWitt.

When public access to a booth has been eliminated, a booth becomes "a private place," should be the reversed decision of the court.

THE RIGHT TO RESTROOM PRIVACY

DALLAS — When two men were arrested in the restroom at a Sears store, they were not convicted. When two men were arrested in the restroom at Reverchon Park, they were convicted, TWT NEWS recalled.

Why such a difference in judgment on two seemingly similar cases of homosexual activity?

The answer lies within the domain of one's right to privacy. The key to the court's answer hinged on whether a restroom stall had a door or didn't have a door.

In the Sears case, the men's restroom had commode stalls with doors which locked from the inside. "A person inside such a stall with the door locked could be said to have some reasonable expectation of privacy," ruled the court in Brown vs State.

In the Reverchon Park case, the men's restroom had commode stalls with "no doors and were visible to all in the general restroom area. In such a design, there is no reasonable expectation of privacy from viewers," ruled the court in Bryant vs State.

Hence, the expectation of privacy was not reasonable in the case where no doors were provided for the stalls. For this reason, the courts reversed the conviction involving the Sears store and affirmed the case involving the park.

In both cases, police officers observed, from concealed positions above the men's restroom in Sears Department Store and in Reverchon Park, two separate acts of oral sodomy committed. One was ruled to have occurred in a public place because there were no restroom doors. The other was ruled to have occurred in a private place because locking doors existed.

As a result, for the past decade, an increasing number of restrooms have removed the doors of their stalls. Consequently, for the past decade, restroom encounters where there are no locked doors have not been protected by the right to privacy.

Christmas in Montrose

Dear TWT:

Being part of the Montrose Sports Association's "Christmas in Montrose" show was a memorable experience and we can't let it pass without letting the people involved know how we feel. First of all, the producers assembled a fine cast. They worked hard at rehearsal, were considerate and cooperative backstage, and "gave it their all" onstage. Of course, that was easy because we could not have asked for a more enthusiastic audience.

We are especially grateful to Sam and his crew from Numbers Two. During rehearsal, his assistance was invaluable. The night of the show, their competence and professionalism were an inspiration.

Love in 1983

Dear TWT:

Improving Love Relationships for Gays/Lesbians will be offered again through Leisure Learning Unlimited. This time on Thursdays: January 13, 20 and 27, from 7:30 to 9:15pm. This lecture-group discussion class presents proven information that works in the real world of gay/lesbian love relationships. It is designed to help avoid universal (yet confusing and little understood) pitfalls that get in the way of happiness in gay/lesbian relationships. Sample topics include: How to go about finding and meeting the right person; how not to be at the mercy of the bars; cultivating non-sexual gay/lesbian friends; why love relationships get into trouble and what can be done to help; how to avoid becoming a victim in a love relationship; coming out to friends and family; handling finances in a gay/lesbian relationship and developing a quality gay/lesbian relationship.

I look forward to seeing more of my gay/lesbian friends in this class. To register please call Leisure Learning Unlimited at (713) 721-7299 or for further information regarding course content, call me at (713) 781-5238.

AIDS Epidemic

Dear TWT:

TWT's continuing coverage of the AIDS epidemic is greatly appreciated and needed. This disease syndrome is becoming increasingly complicated and frightening as it spreads into various segments of the population of this and other countries. Although it appears to be true that gay men were the first to be affected by this medical problem almost two years ago, it now affects others such as hemophiliacs, heterosexuals, Haitians, women and even newborns whose mothers were intravenous drug abusers during pregnancy.

In a recent issue of TWT (Vol. 8, No. 40), a news story entitled "Miami Reports Six New Cases of AIDS" refers to the "gay cancer." There are a few important reasons why it is important that all media refrain from using this phrase. Last August at the Dallas Gay Leadership Conference, representatives from across the country voted to use the AIDS acronym rather than "gay cancer," one reason being that "gay cancer" is inaccurate since the problem now affects so many others than gay men.

Perhaps more important is that this term lends itself to negative implications on both a personal level and in terms of public awareness. Some of the "straight" media, anti-gay organizations and even the gay media have used this term (the latter perhaps inadvertently) in a way that misrepresents the medical problem and sensationalizes it in such a way that many readers assume that gay men have caused this problem.

Also, some gay people, victims of AIDS and others who are not, internalize this psychologically. They believe we have caused this epidemic and feel guilt and shame because of it. Many are quite justifiably shaken by this epidemic. Others who are still in the awkward and uncomfortable stage of not being adjusted to their homosexuality are often ripe as targets of the misconception that gays have caused this deadly cancer and related diseases.

For these people the term "gay cancer" only adds to their general discomfort.

In truth, it may very well turn out that the one positive side of the fact that it is mostly gay men who are currently affected is that we could be the means to the discovery of the solution(s) to this medical puzzle.

It is commonly known among medical professionals that the key to this solution is very likely to unlock other mysteries about cancer itself, making this a medical breakthrough of Nobel Prize winning stature, perhaps the most, and definitely one of the most important developments in this century.

Thus, those concerned about the AIDS problem can rest assured that there is much motivation, whether it stems from a humanitarian focus or otherwise, to invest tremendous concentrated professional effort on research into this new clinical entity which is not the "gay cancer."

ESP & OLT

Dear TWT:

We are sick about the surprise closing of our Transfer and the end of our "Oak Lawn Transfer" membership. Dallas has had a hard time with unscrupulous club organizers who sell memberships in private clubs and then close up without notice.

Therefore, as a charter member of the Oak Lawn Transfer (I was the fifth Alcatraz member to sign up for OLT membership), I offer to sponsor any fellow member of the Oak Lawn Transfer for Environmental Sensory Productions (ESP) membership and credit them for any membership dues they lost by this closing of the Transfer.

No ESP members have been charged membership dues yet; we will not work that way. . . . [There was to have been a reception on Thursday, Dec. 23, for new ESP members to meet each other and to decide on membership.]

. . . ESP has acquired [one of] the best DJ's in Dallas and his staff and signed a contract with the best gay dance bar facilities in Dallas for exclusive use of ESP members every week.

But, the ESP club is more than just a bar gathering; there will be field trips and outings to match the physical image of its members, such as . . . boat racing, beach parties at Galveston, Caribbean cruises, dude ranching, etc.

On Bars in Lubbock

Dear TWT:

I would like to take this opportunity to comment on a very disgusting incident that I experienced at the Papillon Club in Lubbock. . . . On Saturday, November 27 at 1:30am or so, the dj (Kerri) called last call; a few minutes later Kerri got on again and scolded us by saying, "Give up your drinks now or you won't get any after hours"—you see, we are supposed to be ecstatic when they bless us with after hours. A few minutes later, I noticed Kerri picking up glasses. . . . There was a guy and a girl dancing right behind us who apparently were still drinking. Kerri apparently attempted to confiscate the guy's drink, and the guy gave some resistance, because before long they were in a heated argument. Soon after that, security came up and Kerri shouted to get that guy out of the bar. Up to this point, Kerri had every right to do what he did, but at this point it was up to security to get this guy out of the bar. By now, several of the bar's employees were at the scene, and the guy who was causing the trouble was trying to apologize to Kerri. I saw the guy put his hands on Kerri's shoulders—if he was not apologizing, I know at least he was not being violent. I turned away from the scene for a minute, and the next thing I knew they were fighting. . . . What was happening was all the employees (at least three of them) were holding the guy, while Kerri was taking some very hard and fast punches at the guy's face—while security watched. Maybe Kerri feels he had good enough reason to beat on the guy—the guy seemed to be drunk, he probably wouldn't surrender his drink, and maybe he insulted poor Kerri. But I was appalled to see the way Kerri was allowed to beat on a guy while his fellow employees held him down. To add insult to injury, Kerri went to his booth, turned off the music in the middle of a song, and although the incident was nobody else's business, he announced over the intercom that he would not tolerate assholes in that bar. I don't see how he can tolerate himself, if that is the case!

I have been in bars in Austin, San Antonio, Corpus, Waco and Dallas, and I have seen troublemakers roughed up and thrown out—but never anything like that. And believe me, that's not the only time I've seen Papillon employees gang up on a customer. I'm just so very sorry that gay people in Lubbock have no choice but to subject themselves to that bar—Papillon does not deserve the business of gay people. I have met some very nice people since I was transferred to Lubbock eight months ago, but having to give that bar my business, when my lover and I want to go out dancing, makes being gay in Lubbock a real drag. #### Response from Papillon:

There are a lot of problems involved in providing after hours service in Lubbock, Texas. We have experienced many difficulties in the past and have come to realize that we absolutely must have all drinks out of the club no later than 1:55am, if we are to keep open. As we always clearly explain, we must strictly enforce this rule in order to provide after hours service to our customers.

In reference to the incident described above, it was a personal disagreement between Kerri and one of the patrons. The writer is mistaken in his assertion that other club employees were involved. If there is ever any problem in the club, it is a problem for the management to judge and decide upon, not for someone who "turned away from the scene for a minute."

And for the writer's information only: don't feel sorry for gay people in Lubbock. They have chosen Papillon as one of the four gay bars currently in Lubbock. As you should know after living here for eight months, there are three other bars in Lubbock where you can go. I sincerely hope that you will try all the bars, so that going out in Lubbock will no longer be "a real drag" for you. After all, we agree with you on one point—we do not deserve your business.

THR / TWT / CAVEN

Dear TWT:

On behalf of the Texas Human Rights Foundation and gay and lesbian Texans, I wish to thank twt and the contestants for a very successful Mr. Texas contest. The money raised will be used to defend the landmark federal court decision which declared Penal Code Section 21.06 unconstitutional. It will also be applied to other ongoing litigation: In Re Longstaff (immigration) and Gay Student Services vs Texas A&M (campus recognition).

I would also like to acknowledge the $5,000 contribution made by Frank Caven. . . . That is the largest contribution which we have ever received. Mr. Caven's generosity and support of the gay rights movement has been of long duration.

Thanks to all of us, we will continue our legal efforts to make equality under the law a reality.

Mr. Texas Thanks

Dear TWT:

I want to take this opportunity to thank you for giving me the assignment to photograph twt's Mr. Texas Contest. My deepest appreciation also goes to Mitch [Bartlow] for his help and fine art direction and to all the contestants for their patience. . . .

Special thanks to everyone who has written or called to comment. . . . I could not do it without the encouragement and support of my friends.

Finally, I want to publicly express my appreciation and love to my daughter, Teresa, for her understanding and for the many hours she unselfishly spent in the dark room helping me produce the photographs of the Mr. Texas Contest.

I wish us all a wonderful 1983.

—A WOMAN'S PLACE—

*SUNDAY*

by Jutta

I wake before you do. Instead of stealing to the kitchen to brew our morning coffee, as I often do, I linger a while and watch you sleep.

Specks of morning sun seep into the room and dance on your face, so dear, so familiar.

Laughter, time, tears, loving and living have etched their traces into your skin, lovable furrows, reminding of tiny railroad tracks leading along the path to your memories. And I was there at every stop, almost.

Your hand moves, you attempt to evict the light from your face, but the rays, alert and frisky, elude you and continue their playful antics.

Your face is tranquil, I see remnants of a smile and I wonder: Did you wander off into a gentle dream?

I cherish you, my friend and ally, I love you more deeply now that our seas are charted.

Do you love me as much? Or do I expect too much, so many years later? Sometimes I wonder. But then again, I worry too much. You tell me I do. Yes, I know.

I must SEE love, before I believe it IS, I am funny that way. You know me, I do not put noteworthy stock into words. I've known liars, whose words resounded gentle and loving, yet I did not SEE the caring. Should I have? Must love not be transparent in other ways than mere words?

I must SEE love anew each day, or I will remember only yesterday.

I look at you. I feel warm and my heart fills with tenderness. You stir in your sleep. Desire, like a touch of velvet, warming and satiny, stirs inside me.

I marvel at knowing how little time has eroded our love. The beauty I once perceived, when I first knew you, is perishable to my eyes.

You stretch and remind me of a languorous cat. I move closer. Gently I pull away the covers. My eyes drink in your nakedness.

I plant a tender kiss on the tip of your nose. My fingers trace the supple contour of your breast. My lips gently caress and leave their imprint on yours.

Your eyes open, find me close, you smile, I am welcome. Your arms lock tightly around my neck.

"Hi, honey," you say and your lips close softly over mine. "How are you?"

I respond with a smile and I touch you.

Our bodies move together for a while in mellow rhythm, warm, belonging, longing, gentle.

Our desire grows, our motions hasten, our love becomes passion.

Our souls need each other ALWAYS, our bodies need each other NOW.

We make love, lie in each other's arms for a spell and savor the closeness and warmth.

The joy, subtle and binding, lingers. Tender feelings flow between us, become mindful of the sweetness that hovers in the breath of spring after a balmy breeze has stirred and caressed its sweet-scented bloom.

I move, intending to rise and prepare our coffee.

"Stay close," you invite softly. I cuddle next to you, I stay. "I love you," I hear you whisper, your voice mellow and drowsy, and again you drift away to sleep.

I smile. I tiptoe to the kitchen and make coffee, only for myself, for now. You snooze, I drink coffee, I wait, I write a poem. And it is about you.

The flow from my pen is rich and unhampered, my heart is brimful of loving, Sundays and you.

"Good morning," I hear you say. "Have you been up long?"

"A spell," I answer. I look up, at you. I see you stand naked in the door-frame, your eyes slightly veiled, your voice sexy with left-over sleepiness.

I feel a familiar stirring.

"Want some coffee?" I ask casually. I see you look at me. I see you smile. I see you want me.

"Come back to bed for a spell?"

I get up. I follow you to a realm of more loving, more talking, more closeness, more play and more laughter.

It is Sunday, our most precious day of each week.

Today we stay close, laugh to retrieve each smile we've missed, take stock, remove the week's rubble from our relationship and our souls, and again get in touch with each other and our world.

We talk of love, feel love, share love and make love, not merely, but foremost, most often and most tangibly on Sundays.

Tomorrow we must both return to our jobs. The people around me will talk frequently and mostly of their husbands and children and squawk of the chores all saved for the weekend. I will be silent about mine and remember ours. They know I am not married to a man and that is all they know about me. Often they must wonder, why and how I am happy, when I smile at them all. But then, they don't know about you.

We share a bond of our own, you and I, woven of both our spirits, anchored in knowing, loving, credence and truth. A bond, that can only be severed, if one of us stops loving. Silently I hope that, if we must, we may both stop together at the same moment, frozen in time, without pain.

And I hope we will never stop loving, but life is funny that way. No warranties, not ever, not in years, not in promises, not in words, not in love.

So we live and don't wait for the ending, for once we do, it will surely come.

At times, we see beauty in a stranger, feel attracted and drawn to adventure and newness. But the temptations have been fleeting, for both of us, for now. Will they always be? We think so, but we cannot know.

Monogamy, to both of us, prevails in choosing, as the heart and spirit embrace their priorities.

We disown the collective notion, that it lies native in human souls.

Sometimes a rift befalls our relationship, but it is never too deep nor lingers too long. We squabble, get angry and go to war, our price for being separate beings, but we love again and repair the chasm.

That is why we have Sundays. "Good night, hon, gentle dreams, I love you."

"Me too."
The alarm jars us from sleep. It is Monday. We sit together for a few precious minutes, sipping our first cup of morning coffee, the thoughts of each in the day ahead.

Hurry back, SUNDAY!

Alienation, by Ian Everton; 209 pp.; Gay Men's Press, P.O. Box 247, London N15 6RW, England; softcover, $7.50.

Reviewed by David Fields

Well, Alienation, the new novel by Ian Everton, certainly lives up to its title. Published in England this past September, this story about the experiences of two gay men in the United Kingdom is chock full of questions, ambivalencies and estrangement. In fact, one of the two lovers, Jon Hanna, is found to be an amnesiac by Peter when he picks him up on the "motorway." Jon is totally cut off from his past by forces beyond his control (forces we learn about later), reinforcing the theme of alienation.

Since Ian is a Briton, his terminology and references allude to places and things in England, pleasant diversions from the narrative in which they lay. "Motorway" is only one of many of the differences between the language of their culture and ours. They are refreshing changes in the content of the book that may be its most entertaining feature, unfortunately.

The tale is low on action, low on dialogue, and high on the internal ruminations of its characters. They draw back from the events and people surrounding them, as per Everton's wishes, and engage themselves in self-doubt, questioning and philosophical discourse from a critical stance—on the whole they are quite humorless in their thoughts and actions. The appeal this book may have for others eludes me. Doubtless, there are many books, novels among them, that can successfully convey a character's philosophical stance, relate him/her to the surrounding events and persons, explore ideas and provide either suspense, excitement, catharsis or humor.

Instead of revealing the characters through their interactions with others, Everton chooses to enter their thoughts directly and reporting them to the reader. This constant switching of the focus of the reader's attention is often distracting, slowing down the pace of the story considerably. The reader has to "work" harder to understand the character in reference to the rest of the novel when the character has a bout of musing on his/her life.

Now, the theme of alienation has a long and respected history. One of the foremost works of fiction, The Outsider by Colin Wilson, elaborates on this theme in modern times. The appeal of Alienation may be an evocation of its relationship to the alienation many gays feel from society at large, intensified by the cruel separation from loved ones because of intolerance, ignorance, and a refusal to correct that ignorance. Everton's book does succeed in exploring this theme of alienation within an encounter/social group that the characters participate in as well.

(You may be relieved to know that Everton does not use the word "alienation" more than five or six times throughout the book—if you think I have used it too much here.)

The reader is introduced to several characters, but most of them are "on stage" for a small period of time. Peter and Jon, and their interactions with the people in the social group, make up the bulk of the novel. Everton shifts from one character's thoughts to another's with little or no warning to the reader. When one reads this, pay attention to these shifts or it may become confusing. Each character is developed to the degree of importance to the plot or the main characters.

Little space is given to physical descriptions of the people here, or the surrounding city and neighborhood in which they live and work. We learn only what is necessary for the characters to interact.

The theme of alienation in the gay world has not been dramatized before in a novel such as this, so the contribution should be appreciated on that basis. Books that answer some of the questions this book begins to ask would be appreciated more. w

Honkeytonk Man

Kyle Eastwood co-stars as Whit in Honkeytonk Man, a Warner Bros. release produced by, directed by and starring his real-life father, Clint Eastwood.

Like Father, Like Son

by George Klein

Clint Eastwood's Honkeytonk Man is a likeable picture, never pushy, never overstated. As a director, Eastwood believes in interfering as little as possible with his actors and the action on the screen. Consequently, his films have a freshness about them, and rarely posture to the audience. I'm in no way saying Eastwood is a great director worthy of high praise, but some of his films display an honesty that puts more famous (and long-winded) directors to shame. Honkeytonk Man deals with the relationship of a man and a boy, each on the verge of self-revelation, of understanding their behavior and reactions to other people and each other. Kyle Eastwood is very fine as the boy; his face seems fresh and alive when he's in front of the camera, and there's a naturalness about his movements that is ingratiating. Likewise, Clint Eastwood (his real-life father) shows us that he too knows how to relax before a camera, and even if he still can only draw his lines, at least he lets his body have some life and action. Clancy Carlile's screenplay, based on his novel, isn't all that bad on inspection; Carlile's not the greatest on exposition—on telling us how his characters get into situations—but he does provide ample explanation concerning reactions to situations. Honkeytonk Man is gentle and honest, a film interested in its performers as well as its audience.

Clint Eastwood as Red Stovall performs with blues singer Linda Hopkins in a scene from Honkeytonk Man.

Kiss Me Goodbye

Reviewed by George Klein

Kiss Me Goodbye, directed by Robert Mulligan, is a tiny, tiny bit of fluff about a woman whose husband—dead for some time—comes back to haunt her after she decides to remarry. The film aims for high comedy in the manner, say, of Noel Coward—particularly his Blithe Spirit—and may remind some of the 1930's production, Topper, which starred Cary Grant. Sally Field, James Caan and Jeff Bridges are all gifted performers and work nicely together, but the film feels tame. I smiled every now and then, but hardly ever laughed. Robert Mulligan—best known for To Kill A Mockingbird—knows very little about timing, and so the principles flounder around on the screen, looking for their cues. Moreover, Kiss Me Goodbye moves between high comedy and farce, never really following the dictums of either. The appeal of high comedy is intellectual, and we react to it because of perception and insight, rather than any emotional involvement. Farce is the comedy of physical action and situation, generally giving us a visceral reaction. Kiss Me Goodbye doesn't have the character development, the interest in diction or the plot devices needed for high comedy, and it rarely allows characters and their environment to collide—so necessary for farce. There's comic potential, surely, in the premise, but screenwriter Charlie Peters falls on clichés, rehashing the worst of Noel Coward. Kiss Me Goodbye is a slow, safe, family film. In other words, it's dull—strenuously so, at times. It's the perfect Reaganomics picture displaying a romantic longing for a past (in this case, the old days of movie-making) that never really existed. W

LINDA CLIFFORD'S

CAREER CONTINUES

ROBERT ARAYA

BY DEAN MALONE

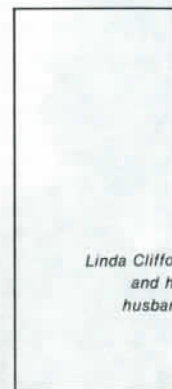

We recently caught up with the vibrant Linda Clifford at her New Year's show at the new Saint in Dallas.

Linda has been busy making personal appearances and working in the studio. Her new album on the Capitol label should be released around Valentine's Day of this year. The album has nine tunes on it, and Linda is confident some of the songs will be as big as her hit, "Red Light."

The hectic world of entertainment has been lessened for Clifford by the presence of her husband and little girl, who is now two years old. The three often travel together for Linda's singing engagements, thus rescinding the loneliness of "the road." Linda, who was raised in Brooklyn, New York, currently resides in Chicago with her husband and child.

Ms. Clifford wishes us to pass on to all of you, "Please thank the crowd in Dallas for the warm welcome we received, and also for the continuing support from all my gay fans." w

PREVIEW '83 — Don't look now, but 1983 is already sizing up as a year for planning some heavy moviegoing. Here's a partial list of the potentially interesting films that could drag us back into the theaters before the year is out: Return of the Jedi, the latest in the Star Wars series, featuring the three leads from the original; The Big Chill, starring William Hurt, Tom Berenger, Glenn Close, Mary Kay Place and Kevin Kline; Once Upon a Time in America, Sergio Leone's new epic, with Robert De Niro, Tuesday Weld, Treat Williams and Elizabeth McGovern; The Twilight Zone, a Steven Spielberg production with Albert Brooks, Kathleen Quinlan, John Lithgow, Selma Diamond and the late Vic Morrow, among many others; Sting II, starring Jackie Gleason, Mac Davis and Teri Garr; Never Say Never Again, Sean Connery's return to his James Bond role; Octopussy, Roger Moore's return to his James Bond role; Breathless, a remake with Richard Gere; Living Dangerously, with Mel Gibson and Sigourney Weaver; Deal of the Century, starring Chevy Chase and (again) Sigourney Weaver; The King of Comedy, Martin Scorsese's latest, with Robert De Niro and Jerry Lewis; The Survivors, starring Robin Williams; Broadway Danny Rose, Woody Allen's latest starring himself and Mia Farrow; Jaws 3-D, starring Dennis Quaid and Bess Armstrong; Scarface, a new Brian De Palma film with Al Pacino; The Osterman Weekend, a new Sam Peckinpah film with Burt Lancaster, John Hurt, Meg Foster and Dennis Hopper; The Honorary Consul, with Richard Gere and Michael Caine; The Wicked Lady, starring Faye Dunaway, Alan Bates and John Gielgud (this one has a musical score by Tony Banks of Genesis); and, of course, all the usual Halloween the 13th movies.

VARSİ'S BELIEVE IT OR NOT — If none of the above tingles your gray matter, then try these on for size: Annette Funicello and Frankie Avalon are re-teaming for a new Beach Party movie. . . . Troy Donahue returns to films via a role in Tin Man, which stars Timothy Bottoms. . . . Frederic Forrest and Colleen Camp star in a Valley Girl movie. (Oh, barf-out!) . . . Leonard Nimoy may direct Star Trek III, which goes into production in the spring. . . . John Travolta may portray Jim Morrison in a film biography. . . . Carroll Baker is still in there plugging, this time in something called Red Monarch. . . . Jackie Gleason son, Paul Williams and (again) Colleen Camp are in Smokey is the Bandit. . . . Sting, of the rock group Police, is planned as the male lead for the sci-fi epic Dune. . . . Greystoke: The Creation of Tarzan and His Epic Adventures is still another Tarzan movie—but don't worry, Bo Derek isn't involved. . . . And my favorite rumor is that Dolly Parton, Lily Tomlin and Jane Fonda may reteam for a remake of 1949's A Letter to Three Wives. The original starred Ann Sothern, Jeanne Crain and Linda Darnell. Don't hold your breath.

Mel Gibson in Living Dangerously.

TUBE OR NOT TUBE — Meanwhile, at home on the small screen . . . Shakespeare lovers will want to tune in to PBS on January 31 for The Merry Wives of Windsor, the latest offering of the Shakespeare Plays series. This one stars Judy Davis of Golda fame and Ben Kingsley of Gandhi fame. . . . The ABC miniseries adaptation of Herman Wouk's Winds of War begins February 6. . . . It looks as though there will definitely be a sequel to CBS's The Blue and the Gray miniseries. . . . Among other promising upcoming miniseries are The Thorn Birds, the long-awaited TV adaptation of Colleen McCullough's epic novel, starring Richard Chamberlain and Barbara Stanwyck; and The Faye Dunaway in The Wicked Lady.

Troy Donahue, teen film idol of the 60s, returns to films in Tin Man.

Arch of Triumph, a TV remake with Maximilian Schell and Tuesday Weld in roles originally played by Charles Boyer and Ingrid Bergman in the 1948 film version. . . . Ann-Margret is working on a movie for ABC. It's called Who Will Love My Children. . . . Among the more interesting mid-season sitcoms are Bea Arthur's new show Amanda's By the Sea, and Mama's Place, a new show starring Vicki Lawrence, Betty White, Ken Berry and Rue McClanahan. This one, of course, is a spin off of the Carol Burnett "Family" skits, and Burnett, along with Harvey Korman and Tim Conway, will be making guest appearances. . . . On CBS look for Malcolm McDowell, Candice Bergen and Dyan Cannon in Arthur the King. . . . On HBO-Cable you can see Bette Davis and James Stewart in The Right of Way. (Davis' next film is something called The Aspern Papers.) . . . For Showtime-Cable, Shelley Duvall will be producing some more programs from her Faerie Tale Theatre series and, presumably, will perform in some of them. . . . Fans of M.M. Kaye's fantastically popular novel, The Far Pavilions, will be tickled pink when that miniseries arrives on HBO-Cable later in the year. . . . And far be it from me to let many columns go by without a mention of Pia Zadora, who was recently named by the "Hollywood Women's Press Club" as "the celebrity who most believes her own publicity." Ms. Zadora will star with Robert Klein and Susan George in Pajama Tops, coming up on Showtime-Cable.

TEXAS by Rob Clark

The Alley Theatre of Houston begins the year with the Southwest premiere of two new works by American contemporary authors. Nuts, a compelling courtroom drama by Tom Tapor, will begin a month-long run on the Alley's Large Stage with a champagne opening on Thursday, January 13 at 8:00pm. Dick Goldberg's ferocious story of a family in conflict, Family Business, will have its champagne opening the following Friday, January 14 at 8:00pm on the Arena Stage.

The title of Nuts refers to the purported mental state of its heroine, Claudia Faith Draper, played by Robin Moseley. Raised in upper-middle class surroundings, she has turned to prostitution for financial support following her divorce. Now she stands accused of killing one of her clients. Her friends and relatives unite in their efforts to protect Ms. Draper (against her wishes) by having her declared insane.

In Family Business, Isaiah Stein, played by Timothy Arrington, is the overruling father in the all-male Stein household. The brothers are sharply contrasting figures who must comprise their differences when Isaiah's last testament proves just a bit eccentric. Phil is a psychiatrist with a huge home and enormous debt; Bobby takes over the family toy business and proves as unyielding as his father; Norman is guilt-ridden over the death of their mother and assumes her place as family nursemaid; while the youngest son, Jerry, is spoiled, manipulative and gay. David is Jerry's lover.

John Steinbeck's haunting portrayal of two migrant farm workers, Of Mice and Men, plays January 14-February 12 at the Chocolate Bayou Theatre Co. in Houston. Steinbeck, who won the Nobel Prize for literature, wrote the play as an adaptation from his novel of the same name.

MUSIC — Chubby Checker, the King of Twist, will perform his rock 'n' roll magic January 31 and February 1 at Houston's Confetti at 9 and 11:30pm. Checker, who sold more than 40 million copies of his first hit record, "The Twist," exploded into the music scene 22 years ago and hasn't stopped rockin' yet. Checker (not so chubby after all these years!) was recently pronounced by Dick Clark to be one of the three major influences in the music industry in the past quarter century (the others being Elvis and the Beatles). Cover charge for the performance is only $2. Confetti is located at 5351 W. Alabama at the corner of Rice.

Vocalist Dena Kaye's January schedule is as follows: Sunday, January 9—Whispers in El Paso; Saturday, January 22—Bacchus in Houston; Monday, January 24—Jolly Jack II in Corpus Christi; Friday, January 25—Wild Crowd Saloon in Dallas; and Saturday, January 29—Tequila Sunrise in Ft. Worth.

FILM FESTIVAL — The Texas Film Society Achievement Awards (Yellow Rose) and Movie/Video Expo has announced tickets are now on sale at Ticketron and Teletron locations. Along with Ruby Keeler, Joan Bennett and many others, Vincent Price will be part of the three-day event. He will be present for the showing of his 1946 film, Dragonwyck (also starring Gene Tierney), on Friday, February 4. David Soul will also be on hand to present an award to Paul Henreid. The film festival will be at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel in Houston on February 4-6. For further information, call (713) 529-1387, (213) 859-2881 or (212) 531-2205.

Talk about a hassle with Bette. Seems she was overbooked in Austin and Houston. Her Austin show has been changed to January 28. The Houston show is January 26. If you received tickets from UTTM of Austin and are unable to make it on the 28th, call Charge-a-Ticket for information on a refund. The number is (512) 477-6060.

Fire on the Water is stunning human drama that unfolds as Vietnamese refugee fishermen confront the Texas Ku Klux Klan. This highly-acclaimed documentary film by award-winning director Robert Hillman will play at Houston's River Oaks Theatre for two days only—Monday and Tuesday, January 10 and 11.

ROBERT ARAYA

THE TWO FACES OF PHYLLIS

PHYLLIS DILLER

Most people are quite surprised when they discover Phyllis Diller is a concert pianist, owning seven pianos, a harpsichord and a celeste. After having already researched her background, it wasn't that surprising to find Phyllis Diller to be a very charming and gracious lady off-stage. We caught Ms. Diller's act recently at Granny's Dinner Playhouse in Dallas.

BY ROB CLARK

Phyllis Diller a concert pianist? Yes, this mad performer, with her ridiculous hair, bizarre dresses and crazy hats, who puffs on a foot-long cigarette holder, shrieking insults at a fictitious husband named Fang, cackling insanely at her own quips . . . is an intelligent musician and sensitive lady.

Phyllis Diller is not only a splendid harpsichordist, she's a lovely and well-dressed woman of good breeding. Far from despising men, she adores them.

Phyllis, like so many mature women in our time, has kicked the old habit of actresses concealing their real age. She will be 66 on July 17 and is proud that she has five children and three grandchildren.

This is such a different lady than the one on-stage who shrieks of her husband Fang, "I told Fang there was a leak in the gas pipe. He put a pan under it." "Fang never worked a day in his life. Once somebody asked me whether he moonlights. Hell," I said, "he doesn't even daylight" (she punctuates her tirade against Fang with wild guffaws of laughter). "He got so drunk at this party we were at. He staggered over to me and asked, 'Do lemons fly?' I said, 'No, why?' He said, 'Well I just squeezed their canary in my drink.'" Ah-ha-ha-ha-ha.

Her invented mother-in-law receives even worse treatment, "You want to know why they wouldn't let her on Noah's ark? They couldn't find another animal that looked like her. . . . She's so old her social security number is two. . . . That fat old bat, I'd love to slit her girdle and watch her spread to death.

"My sister is such a slut. She bought a mink coat on a Lay-A-Day plan."

"My cooking is terrible. Once I cooked something so disgusting ... the cat covered it."

"My mother-in-law hates dogs. Her legs look like fire hydrants."

"I once tried wearing a Playtex Living Bra. It died of starvation."

"My mother-in-law is known as Tilla the Ton. How can I describe her? Jello with a belt."

"The last time I asked Fang to eat out, we ate in the garage."

When she was a kid, her mother used to dress her alike. [It's like this through her entire show. She barely stops to breathe.] Her dress size is Junior Missile." Ah-ha-ha-ha-ha. "You ought to hear her sing. She hit high-C and spayed the cat."

And finally, she attacks herself. "Most women go to a beauty salon to get a hair-do. I get a hair-don't. . . . I don't have hair, I have nerve endings. . . . I got a phone call from this peeping Tom and he pleaded with me to pull down my window shades."

Phyllis Driver Diller, born in Lima, Ohio, was expected to marry young and be a dedicated wife and mother. She met her future husband in Bluffton, Ohio, and married young. The Dillers settled in a San Francisco lower-middle class suburb. When several of her husband's business ventures failed, she started working on a small San Leandro, California weekly paper. She wrote society gossip and sold advertising. Then she went to a local radio station as a reporter and an advertising and promotion writer. Her husband was the first to recognize her talent as a performer. In 1955, at age 38, she ventured out in public as a paid performer at San Francisco's Purple Onion. Booked for two weeks, she remained for 89. She went on to play intimate supper clubs and chic spots all over the land. She has moved on to posh hotels and the high-salaried Las Vegas rooms, television appearances too numerous to name, 12 movies, and she has authored three books. Two are Phyllis Diller's House-keeping Hints and Phyllis Diller's Marriage Manual. Her books will not help you keep house or a husband. All they will keep you in is stitches.

The price for success was paid with her marriages. The first went with her initial success. Phyllis then met and married Warde Donovan, a struggling singer. The marriage began faltering when Warde became her manager. He began booking himself as her opening act. The reviews were basically: Phyllis is great, Warde is the pits. The pressure drove Phyllis to a nervous breakdown and her second divorce.

When asked if she would remarry, or if she had a current flame, she replied, "I may get married again. On the other hand, I adore the romantic whirl of an affair. I mean, of course, if neither party is married. I'm in love at this moment, but I won't tell you his name. I met him at a party this past September and we've been inseparable since then. I am going to start taking time off to enjoy my personal life more. I want to enjoy my home and grandchildren. I'll probably work six months in a year instead of 25 months. It's very hard to be an entertainer and maintain any sort of relationship."

Does it bother Phyllis that some people can't separate the real her from the stage persona?

"It does in a way. I love clothes, I love elegance, and I take thought when I'm dressing up for a party. I never go out looking like a frump. I'm not a loud haridan who is married to a blithering idiot. I made the character Fang up once at the Purple Onion Cafe in San Francisco. It was a one-line joke I adlibbed. It got such a tremendous laugh that I put in more Fang jokes. My God, who could like that repulsive broad I play? It's awful that some people think I'm a loud bitch with ugly hair. Please tell them it's a wig. On the other hand, maybe I should be flattered that my act is so good they think it expresses me."

Although an ardent feminist, Phyllis purposely avoids political stances. "You must be very careful in the entertainment industry not to offend those who may not agree with your particular views. If I'm labeled Republican or Democratic, I'm only keeping half of my audience. Something I will say though, this year we've all got to pull together to get this country out of whatever the hell it's in."

WATCH FOR A NEW SUNSET  rising

 HOT TEA by Chuck

DALLAS — Monday nights continued to sizzle at the Fraternity House for their weekly jockey shorts contest. In the CRUISE CAMERA photo above, emcees Buddy D and Gilda Golden were joined by some scantily clad contestants . . . Over at Uptown Dallas, Gene Harris is the new manager as Jim Ryan has moved onward to the new Saint where smoke was seen by HOT TEA risin' from the rafters on New Year's Eve . . . Over at Village Station, it was literally raining money at the stroke of midnight as the new year was welcomed forth . . . The Transfer became a non-gay rock 'n' roll club as the old year ended . . . As the new year dawned, Dallas was promised the certain arrival of a new club, Texas Sweat . . . And, in the land of dj's: Doug Williams continues to wax at Village Station and JR's while Randy Rider (left) keeps the beat going at the new Old Plantation. Photos by Robert Araya of TWT's Dallas bureau.

NEW BOOKSTORES — Two new bookstores have opened in Texas—both on the north side. In Houston, Talk of the Town II opened last Monday on I-45 North, the Dallas freeway. Simply exit at Crosstimbers to cross over into what is fast becoming the talk of north town. In San Antonio, across from Kevin Wagner's on North Main, a new bookstore has opened for the new year entitled Video World. And, there's more to watch than just video at this new hot spot of Linda's on the north side!

ALAMO TEA — Daddy's has closed, ringing down the curtain for the last time on their Thursday shows, and retired the troupe of Daddy's girls . . . Except for one—Alice Phallus, who now returns as one of Sunset's girls to the Boulevard where Friday shows have moved back to Thursdays beginning as you read HOT TEA . . . Bonham Exchange has also plunged handsomely into the Thursday night world series touting four rock 'n' roll bands on rotating weeks . . . So, all is back to normal on Thursdays in SA—as God intended—before Big Daddy came along to adopt many Alamo children!

SAN ANTONIO — There's a new dj booth at Snuffy's Saloon playing country dance and prance as part of the '83 refurbished look . . . Manager of the Crew, Rex, informed HOT TEA that club owner, Doug Richardson, was out of the hospital and "doing much better" . . . Miss Gay San Antonio is on the books for February . . . Meanwhile, the CRUISE CAMERA has returned from Our Place where Karen and BJ were offering signing for the deaf to the music at a recent benefit for community members. ▶

COWTOWN CLATTER — Billy Ray Hill, owner of the South Jennings Crossroads empire, threw a lavish Christmas party at Thistle Hill which is a restored mansion well known for its history. In the CRUISE CAMERA photo above, more history was made as over 500 of Fort Worth's finest fanned their finery. In other Christmastime festivities, Skip and the legendary Raina Lea (see below) spearheaded the Corral's Toys for Tots drive on December 20. 250 toys and $360 cash was collected and donated to the Hemphill Presbyterian Church, who thanked the gay community for their yuletide contribution. Other toy fundraisers were held at the Downtowner and Tequila Sunrise where more goodies were gathered under ol' tannenbaum.

MUSICAL TEA — The Montrose Symphonic Band has been privileged to be invited to play in concert and march in the parade at Governor-elect Mark White's inauguration later this month in Austin. However, conflicting work schedules of band members prevented MSB from accepting.

COUNTRY TEA — At the Barn in Houston on New Year's Eve, Sammy of the Mustangs was judged the New Year's Baby winner with Bill's diaper as runner-up. Father Time was clocked by the judges to be won by Marty of the Colt 45's with Rick ticking as runner-up. Who were the "sober" judges for this auspicious traditional camptest? It wasn't Hoke of the Barn or Mark Hall of MSA because they were too busy entertaining in drag! Instead, the judicial battery of charged wisdom delivering a verdict from the bench were Jerry Kaufman of the Briar Patch, Ed Moniger of EJ's Watering Hole, Renee of Sundance Cattle Company, Vic of the Mustangs, Jerry of the Colt 45's, Ron of the American Leathermen, Wayne of Texas Riders and Bill of the Knights D'Orleans. Perhaps you've heard of Christmas' three wise men? Now you've heard of New Year's seven wise men and one wise woman! Only at the Barn. Happy New Year!

NAME DROPPER — Peaches, popular bartender at Mary's, returned to Park Plaza Hospital in Houston on New Year's Day, still suffering from cirrosis of the liver . . . Alex "O.J." Ojeda has won Sunset Boulevard's Male Stripper of the Year contest in San Antonio and Syreeta Monroe has won the much sought after title of Newcomer of the Year . . . On the night before the night before the night before Christmas, Danny Villa came down EJ's chimney to win the "over 40" jock shorts contest . . . Bobby Callicoatte from Portland, Oregon, guests this Sunday night at Houston's Copa . . . Jerry Vann emceed and heckled the hecklers last week at Miss Charlotte's and Tommy's Barber Shop Gong Show . . . And, in Dallas, at the Park On Lemmon, Kandi Delight is delighting Thursday night audiences with her humorous emcee patter for amateur nights—yes, Kandi actually talks, and everyone loves it! ▶

INSTANT TEA — If you haven't been to Houston's Brazos River Bottom lately you won't believe you're in the same place. In fact, the structural changes are so severe, BRB looks like a brand new club. And since all new clubs are traditionally christened with a grand opening, BRB has also appropriately chosen to grand open. It'll be next weekend, January 14-16. Rose Maddox—the one and only—will cut the ribbon and shine on stage.

HOOVER'S TEA — On New Year's night at the American Legion Hall on Brazos Street in Houston, Laura Lee Love and Lana Kane emceed The Hooker's Ball. Natch there was a catch—a contest! The 1983 Hooker of the Year was Brandi Roberts of Dallas and the 1983 Pimp of the Year was Teva of Dallas—a real girl in a tux, no less.

FROM THE SOURCE — Coco has won Austin's first Miss Gay Capitol City contest held last Sunday at Tex's, announced pageant owner, Nicole . . . Wayne Williams has returned to Houston to bartend at the Chicken Coop, announced Pollock . . . A jazz band, singers, and Jill Jordan were among the honored guests invited to a New Year's Eve private party for Dallas' upper society crust at the Hyatt Regency Reunion . . . And, the city of Baytown has officially annexed both sides of I-10 (east and westbound) scooping up into their police domain ye ol' rest area cruise haven and swooping down on "hundreds of queens who have been arrested," a rest area hawk told HOT TEA.

AMARILLO — On January 19, Maggie's Disco and Androgyny will present a special show which will benefit the Texas Human Rights Foundation and Gay Pride Amarillo '83. Special guests for the show will be Eartha Kitt and Rikki Rochelle. "It's the first of many special events planned for the first half of the new year," Robert Schroeder told HOT TEA. ## DOWNSTATE BOWLING HOUSTON — In this city's Monday night bowling league, no action has occurred during the past two weeks due to the holidays. Regular season play resumes next Monday, January 10.

Meanwhile, if you've turned over a new leaf for the new year to join a bowling league, here's your opportunity as two openings for teams now exist. Anyone with a partial or full team should report to lane 27 of Stadium Lanes next Monday night and register with Sam Immordino. If you wish to be a substitute, see Ted Levin on lane 20.

CORPUS CHRISTI — In this city's gay Gutter League, here are the latest standings as released to TWT SPORTS by Bobby Wilcox.

Gutter League: 1) Hidden Door; 2) Neck Ups; 3) Texas Boys; 4) Hot Box Lunch; 5) Gutter Sluts; and 6) Cruisers.

UPSTATE BOWLING

DALLAS — Only one more night remains of the first half of the OLBA season as position rounds will begin on January 10, TWT SPORTS learned from OLBA's Jim Beck, who also reported the January 3 standings.

Division A: 1) Natalie Deadwoods; 2) L'Rimr; and 3) Crisco Kids. Don Draper won high game and series with scores of 266 and 625 respectively.

Division B: 1) Oh Daddy's; 2) Cyprians; and 3) Pine Valley Misfits. Ron Adams won high game with 234 and high series with 603.

TWT SPORTS

Division C: 1) Odd Squad; 2) Jockey Shorts; and 3) Numbers. Al Aaron won high game with 228 and high series with 635.

POOL TOURNEY

HOUSTON — Saturday, January 22 will be the date for a double-elimination pool tournament in Houston. This is a first for the MSA league, Anne Mayes, president of the Pocket Billiard League, informed TWT SPORTS.

Teams from Divisions A and B of Houston will compete in the tourney to be held at Red's Cocktails and Billiards, I-10 at Uvalde.

Teams in Austin, San Antonio, Dallas, Ft. Worth, El Paso and Houston are being contacted for an all-state double-elimination tournament to be held in the near future.

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL

HOUSTON — The 1983 season of the MSA Women's Softball league has been scheduled to begin with an organizational meeting on Sunday, January 9 at 2:00pm at Kindred Spirits.

This meeting is for sponsors and players, WSL president Martha Richie told TWT SPORTS. Sponsors and players may sign up for the season at the meeting. Coaches and managers were also urged to attend.

Rule changes, length of the 1983 season and a discussion on a pre-season tournament were among the topics to be discussed.

"We will be implementing changes and new ideas that will result in a more organized league and season," Richie told TWT SPORTS.

Last year was WSL's first season. Nine teams participated. The 1983 season promises an increase to twelve teams. WSL became the first women's softball association in America with its 1982 formation.

POOL STANDINGS

HOUSTON — In the growing Montrose Sports Association Pool League, Anne Mayes reported to TWT SPORTS the latest weekly divisional standings.

Division A: 1) Mary's One; 2) Lazy J Two; and 3) JR's One.

Division B: 1) Barn One; 2) Lazy J One; and 3) Barn Two.

Those wishing to join teams as regular players must do so by the January 12 deadline. Contact Mayes at (713) 222-0200. TWT

THE PRESCRIPTION

by jerry diggin

One element of danger in being gay
Is the Venereal Diseases that are epidemic today.
So, when you go out, do so with fear,
And check for Gonorrhea, front and rear.

If you go to the bar to seek a "trick" for the night,
And with luck you find one that looks good in the light,
Beware the red spots covering Homo Terrificus,
They might very well be signs of Secondary Syphilis.

Do you like the type with a light golden tan,
The kind you refer to as a "real hot" man?
Check the eyes—before dating this fellow;
Hepatitis A and B are his color yellow.

Then there's the "hunk" you meet on the street.
He instantly sweeps you off your feet.
And you think—"Living with him wouldn't be so drab."
Until you discover he's given you CRABS!

For those of you who meet your "friends" in the park,
Getting your thrills in the woods after dark;
To all you lovers of nighttime sports,
Good luck getting rid of your Venereal Warts.

What about the nights you spend at the baths,
The numberless bodies with whom you cross paths?
Do you recall Cutie—"WOW! What a tight ass!"
Surprise! Nonspecific Urethritis.

Remember the party—it started at eight
It became an orgy and you stayed quite late?
Though it may be preferable to getting Rabies,
You ended up with a case of the Scabies.

Gays are always kissing and hugging their friends,
Which could prove an expensive and unhealthy trend.
Remember the guy with the "simple" cold sore?
Well, they can't cure Herpes at the local drugstore.

If you would avoid contracting all of the above:
You might settle down with the "one, true" love;
You could be a priest, celibate and neurotic;
Or, get a lifetime prescription for antibiotics!

An open letter to the gay community on hepatitis B

Hepatitis B, a serious disease, may be sexually transmitted

Sexually transmitted diseases among the gay community are epidemic. Herpes has recently received a lot of attention; gonorrhea and syphilis are well known; but the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) recently issued a major recommendation for the prevention of another sexually transmitted disease: Hepatitis B. In their Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, the CDC stated: "Susceptible homosexually active males should be vaccinated [against hepatitis B] regardless of their age or duration of their homosexual practices."

Gay men are at a high risk of contracting hepatitis B

In one study, from 51% to 76% of 3,816 gay men seen in five sexually transmitted disease clinics had evidence of past or present hepatitis B infection. Once infected, there's a 6% to 10% chance of becoming a carrier—capable of passing on the virus. The CDC estimated there are nearly 1 million carriers in the United States and that 100,000 of these carriers are gay men.

The hepatitis B virus can be passed on by contact with contaminated body fluids

such as saliva, urine, semen, and blood. The hepatitis B virus can be transmitted through tiny breaks in the skin or contact with mucous membranes. This can occur during intimate sexual contact and can lead to hepatitis B for the partner of an infected person. Although most patients recover and over half contracting hepatitis B do not get symptoms, there is no specific treatment and no known cure for hepatitis B infections.

Hepatitis B may lead to even more serious complications

For those who do get symptoms of hepatitis B, a mild or severe "flu-like" sickness may continue for weeks or months. Ten percent of all infections become long lasting (chronic) with potential complications that are sometimes more serious than those of other sexually transmitted diseases. The serious complications include the chronic carrier state, chronic active hepatitis, chronic persistent hepatitis, cirrhosis, and even cancer of the liver. Every year almost 4,000 carriers die of cirrhosis. In addition, carriers have a risk 273 times greater than that of the general population of contracting a usually fatal form of liver cancer.

Now this serious sexually transmitted disease is usually preventable by vaccination with the new hepatitis B vaccine

After more than a decade of research and development, a new vaccine is available for prevention, not treatment, of hepatitis B. In clinical studies, the vaccine was highly effective in preventing hepatitis B infection and was generally well tolerated. No serious adverse reactions occurred in these studies.

The vaccination regimen consists of a series of three injections, the first two a month apart and the third, six months after the first. To be effective, the vaccine must be given before a person gets hepatitis B. The vaccine helps prevent the disease: It is not effective as a treatment. We suggest that you consult your doctor to determine if you should be vaccinated.

For more information about hepatitis B and the vaccine to prevent it, contact your doctor, clinic, or the American Liver Foundation, 998 Pompton Avenue, Cedar Grove, NJ 07009 (201) 857-2626.

This message is brought to you as a public service by
The American Liver Foundation

Why you should consult your doctor or clinic

The vaccine helps protect against infection caused by hepatitis B virus. This virus is an important cause of viral hepatitis, a disease mainly of the liver. Even mild forms of this disease may lead to serious complications and aftereffects, including liver cancer. There is no specific treatment for viral hepatitis.

Vaccination is recommended for persons who have a higher risk of becoming infected with hepatitis B virus because of frequent, close contact with infected people or exposure to body fluids from such people. It will not protect against hepatitis caused by viruses other than hepatitis B virus.

No serious adverse reactions were reported in over 6,000 individuals receiving the vaccine in clinical trials. The most frequent reaction was soreness at the point of injection; less common local reactions included redness, swelling, warmth, or formation of a hard, lumplike spot. The local effects were usually mild and lasted no more than 2 days after vaccination. Occasionally, low-grade fever (less than 101 °F) occurred. When it did, it usually lasted no longer than 48 hours following vaccination. In rare cases, fever over 102 °F was reported.

More generalized complaints including malaise, fatigue, headache, nausea, dizziness, muscle pain, and joint pain were reported infrequently. Rash was reported rarely. As with any vaccine, broad use may reveal additional adverse reactions.

Your doctor or clinic knows what special care must be taken when administering the vaccine and in determining who should receive the vaccine. The vaccine is not intended for persons who are allergic to any of its components.

LOVESCOPE for January

STARGAZER: On January 4, the Quadrantid meteor shower peaked, offering Texans the opportunity to see the high rate of 100 shooting stars per hour. Although Quadrantid has reached its zenith, a few spectacular straggling shooting stars can still be seen this weekend—especially after midnight.

FOR ALL SIGNS: As the new year began, the Sun was in Capricorn and Mercury had just entered Aquarius along with Venus. Mars is also lodged in Aquarius, but only until January 18. Jupiter just began its 1½-year stay in Sagittarius last month, and Saturn just began its 2½-year stay in Scorpio last month. Uranus and Neptune remain in Sagittarius while Pluto remains in the last degrees of Libra. This month's New Moon is on January 14, while this month's Full Moon is on January 28. Thus the stage is set in the cold winter sky for your January LOVESCOPE.

CAPRICORN: (Dec 22 - Jan 19) Venus, the planet of love, entered your second house of money on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. Use this period to enhance your financial front. Venus will bless your ability to save, invest and make purchases wisely. Venus will also allow you to purchase items ruled by Venus such as art, music and beauty. Venus can also provide financial security through romance in your January LOVESCOPE.

AQUARIUS: (Jan 20 - Feb 18) Venus, the planet of love, entered your first house of personality on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. Use this period to enhance your own personality. Now is a splendid time to turn over a new leaf for the new year regarding private matters. A new exercise program, new clothes or a new hairdo may be among the avenues you choose to project a new you, thanks to this important placement of Venus in your January LOVESCOPE.

PISGES: (Feb 18 - Mar 20) Venus, the planet of love, entered your twelfth house of inner self on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. Use this period to lay the groundwork for a visual charge of romance, which is due to begin when Venus enters your own sign on January 30. Use January to enjoy some final quiet moments to ponder your personal and private thoughts. The last two days of this month will be very romantically active according to your January LOVESCOPE.

ARIES: (Mar 21 - Apr 19) Venus, the planet of love, entered your eleventh house of friendships on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. Use this period to enliven your social sphere. Parties and gatherings are certain to offer themselves in abundance. You can gain through varied friendships thanks to Venus. A highly-charged social life is the undercurrent to your January LOVESCOPE.

TAURUS: (Apr 20 - May 20) Venus, the planet of love, entered your tenth house of career on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. Use this important period to further your career. Now is a splendid time to seek a promotion or a salary adjustment. Unemployed Taureans will find prospective employers more open to your offerings during January interviews. Your job is in the spotlight of your January LOVESCOPE.

GEMINI: (May 21 - Jun 21) Venus, the planet of love, entered your ninth house of travel and education on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. Use this blessed cycle to take a trip, to escape through reading, for self education, and to solve legal dilemmas. Pleasure trips are in the spotlight of your January LOVESCOPE.

GANGER: (Jun 22 - Jul 22) Venus, the planet of love, entered your eighth house of estates on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. Use this brief cycle to check into your 1983 tax situation. Moves made this month can save you money on future monetary situations. Also, you stand to gain through other people's money as your January LOVESCOPE unfolds.

LEO: (Jul 23 - Aug 22) Venus, the planet of love, entered your seventh house of partnerships on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. Use this brief cycle to improve your marriage situation. If you are single, this Venus-cycle offers a perfect time for launching a deep and lasting romance. All new admirers should be studied closely for possible mate making. If you are married, this Venus-cycle offers a phase in which you can straighten out any misunderstandings. Your January LOVESCOPE is exceptionally keyed to marital affairs.

VIRGO: (Aug 23 - Sep 22) Venus, the planet of love, entered your sixth house of health on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. Use this brief period to check your health. A visit to a doctor, dentist or counselor can now yield satisfying results under this Venus spell. Coworker problems also ease as your January LOVESCOPE offers the opportunity to become more involved with someone with whom you work.

LIBRA: (Sep 23 - Oct 23) Venus, the planet of love, entered your fifth house of love affairs on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. Use this cycle to date, to benefit from admirers and to capitalize on your renewed popularity. Venus also blesses investments and speculation. Entertainment can be most satisfying in the realm of your January LOVESCOPE.

SCORPIO: (Oct 24 - Nov 21) Venus, the planet of love, entered your fourth house of the home on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. During this cycle, there should be few domestic problems. In fact, you may want to spend more time at home entertaining, redecorating and cleaning. Looking for a new address for the new year is an added benefit to be realized in your January LOVESCOPE.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov 22 - Dec 21) Venus, the planet of love, entered your third house of communication on January 6, where it will remain until the 29th. During this brief period, your ability to communicate, to talk, to write, to convince and to utilize your salesmanship will be realized. Journeys by air, by water or by road are blessed. Communicating is where success and happiness lie in your January LOVESCOPE.

Coming next week: The January 14 New Moon offers a last chance to re-make a New Year's resolution!

ANNOUNCING THE DATE AND NEW RULES TO THIS YEAR'S

MR. TEXAS PAGEANT

RULES AND REGULATIONS:

1. All contestants must be 19 years of age or older.
2. Each contestant must be a resident of Texas for at least ninety (90) days.
3. Each contestant must have placed in the top three (winner, 1st runner-up, 2nd runner-up) of a 1983 local contest (e.g. Mr. Dallas, Mr. Metro, Mr. Club, etc.) to be eligible to enter this year's Mr. Texas Pageant.
4. All preliminary contests may be scheduled from January 1, 1983 to November 30, 1983.
5. MR. TEXAS will be held on the first Friday in December (12/2/83) [at a location to be announced].
6. Entry fee is $50.00, tax-deductible. Cash, money order or cashier's check ONLY.
7. ALL contestants must attend the registration rehearsal at 3pm, December 2, at which time the $50.00 entry fee is due.
