Beware The Dracula Touch!

White Tie And Fangs

By Jon Lorrimer

Bela Lugosi has scared the bejeezus out of three generations of moviegoers since 1931 when he started the Dracula trend. Of the more than 100 movies based on the legend of the Romanian vampire, he has starred in most of them. Seeing them on late-night TV reruns they were much gorier at first; then about the fiftieth bloodletting Lugosi seemed to have drunk his fill of hemoglobin and his Dracula went in for high camp—lots of gay double entendres—in which Dracula was as much vamp as vampire.

However treated, the legend of the real Count Dracula is endlessly fascinating. Just now, the Transylvanian monster is doing capacity business on the Broadway stage in Dracula, first with Frank Langella, now with Raul Julia; there's also The Passions of Dracula at the Cherry Lane Theater in Greenwich village; George Hamilton is a fashion-conscious, white-tie-and-fangs Dracula in a film Love At First Bite, and Louis Jourdan is to be starred in a filmed Count Dracula. Even Alice Cooper is sharpening his fangs for a rock version of the Draculaghoulis.

Because all of us have been touched by the Dracula legend it's not surprising that many Ciao! readers have asked for updata on the Count that might come in handy for a summer vacation in Europe. Especially interested are those who read our report on Youthifying Spas Abroad in the July 1978 issue, and would like to visit Draculand while peeling off years from face and body at one of the Romanian spas mentioned, such as that at Herculane, not far from the 'Transylvanian Time Warp'.

First, did Dracula actually exist? And was he a vampire—the monster he's been made to appear in the Lugosi movies? Indeed Count Dracula did exist, in the fourteenth century, and was he ever eee-vil! What a scamp!

According to historical references he was the scion of a wealthy Romanian family which owned several factories. The Count once ruled Transylvania, and actually coined the money of the realm. Count Dracula's Mint-house is one of the tourist sights of Sighisoara that you'll want to see as you drive from Bucharest to Brasov, which is the heart of Draculand. We'll go into more detail about this further on.

The trouble with Dracula, however, was not a passion for the jugular. It was simply that he was so sex-besotted he became a terror to the Transylvanians the more he became a law unto himself.

His lifestyle was superimposed . . . patterned after that of Vlad the Impaler—an earlier, and really bloody tyrant—who pillaged all Romania, and particularly the province of Transylvania, and disposed of his enemies (he had thousands of them . . . the entire population!) in a unique manner: he impaled them on wooden pikes along the roads of Transylvania.

It's unlikely that Count Dracula ever fanged blood—his tastes were too patrician for the peasant red stuff. What seems more likely, as research tends to confirm, is that he was a rape-sexist who enjoyed only first-time fuck—gals, of course, but if no deflowered ones were available—then guys. After 'impaling' them on his cock he got rid of them in various ways. He was so powerful he could get by with anything.

The 'vampire' bit was largely the creation of Bram Stoker, an English author of the nineteenth century (who, by the way, never set foot in Transylvania!). Stoker grew wealthy as he continued to produce more novels about Dracula. But gory though his Dracula stories were, they were no match for what Hollywood screenwriters would dream up. Since 1931 they have elaborated on the Dracula legend—'embellishing' it with fantastic cruelties. Look around you . . . note how the interest in Dracula grows. There is an S&M appeal—whether one is the 'S' or the 'M'. Something for everyone. Even Blacks are getting into it with 'Blacula'.

It's odd that the time in which he lived, and the country, have, in a way, conspired to make Dracula the quintessential mystery: one never unraveled, although many have tried. That is undoubtedly why tourists go out of their way when visiting Romania, queueing up every day for the tours of Bran Castle, the Transylvanian home of the Count . . . and thence to his summer palace at Pitesti, and his lakeside grave at Snagov.

If you plan to visit Romania and would like to make the Dracula scene, may we suggest this plan—whether you expect to take the baths at Herculane, or would just like to include the fascinating country of Romania as part of your European vacation?

Fly direct from JFK in New York to Bucharest in the middle of the week via Romanian (TAROM) Airlines (APEX fare at this time of the week is $479 round-trip). Enjoy beautiful Bucharest at very reasonable hotel rates. There are three deluxe hotels in Bucharest. The Lido ($18.25 per person, double occupancy); the Athenee Palace ($20.75 for the same plan); and the Inter-Continental (the same plan, but higher—about $32 per person).

You may either arrange for a bus tour at the Carpati National Tourist Office in Bucharest, or rent a car ($12 per day, plus mileage . . . not at all bad). You'll enjoy this extraordinarily beautiful country better, and see more of it, if you drive.

Head for Brasov and beyond—as far as Cluj. In this way you'll drive through the truly unspoiled Romania and pass through three fortified medieval towns—Sighisoara, Sibiu and Bistritza. These towns are semi-circled by the Transylvanian Alps, and the beautifully-preserved architecture of each dates from 1390. Such mediocrity does not exist in such abundance anywhere else in the world. The same tile or thatched roof cottages remain, and all along the way are flowers, vineyards and fruit orchards. Most of the houses are white, with ornately carved doors and interiors.

Sighisoara is undoubtedly the most enchanting of these towns. Its principal attraction is something you can't miss as you drive toward the city—the Clock Tower above the main gate, which houses the Town Museum. Go up to the gallery at the top and see out across beautiful Romania, and the ancient clock wood-carved figures representing the days of the week (they change at midnight).

Wend your way through ancient streets to Petoff Square (the main market square) where you'll see your first Dracula sight—Count Dracula's Mint-house. A good inexpensive hotel in Sighisoara is the Steaua—in a picturesque building with a mosaic tile roof. Spend the night here and continue your sightseeing the next day . . . especially the Nine Guild Towers (Tailors' Tower, Clockmakers' Tower, and so on); and the oldest churches in Europe, and one of the oldest monasteries.

Fifteen miles past Brasov you'll come to Bran Castle, and here take the guided tour. You'll get the whole picture, and it's something you'll never forget. Also drive about 20 miles from your base in Bucharest to Snagov to see the tomb of Dracula . . . a baroque/Romanesque edifice with soaring medieval turrets. You'll be even more caught up in the Dracula legend. No matter how brief your stay, Romania—especially Transylvania—is an unforgettable experience.

Don't expect much in the way of gay life in Romania, because homosexuality is illegal there. You have better opportunities in summer at the many nude beaches, and at the promenades at the seaside. Nothing in the way of gay bars. Pornomovies? Forget it! As anywhere else, there are chances for casual meetings in public Johns and cinemas . . . and, of course, among your fellow tourists. Since there is now a whole cult of gay 'Draculites' you'll be in familiar company and not suffer parched tongue or dry rectum for long. You just may luck out in making the trip abroad, and to the Dracula places, with lots of interesting gay others.

1979 Update

New York City

Gay Highlights

By David Bartel

We all know there are a lot of gays who were once straight—but seldom does a gay guy turn straight. True—some do marry women and have brainstorming sessions with shrinks; they restrain themselves and go without gay sex for years—but eventually come back. It's a taste of honey you never forget. How sweet it is. Addictive. One hour of good gay times is worth five or more of any hardships encountered.

It's sort of that way when you think about New York City. Say what bad you will about the place. It's dirty. People are unfriendly. The weather is often foul. Prices are much higher than any place else. There are too many muggers.

When you fall in love with a city—as every gay guy does with New York—you look beneath the surface and quickly realize it isn't as bad as you were led to believe. Of course a lot of buildings are dirty—but inside you will find elegant apartments and stores; there are even cozy homes with fireplaces. People appear to be unfriendly because everybody is busy, busy, busy; no time to stop and chat. But they do stop every now and then—and you will find them as friendly as the folks back home. In fact—and everybody seems always to forget this—you will hardly ever meet anyone who was born and raised in New York City; most of us come from where you live.

The weather is all right. Yes—some summer days are muggy but our evenings are mild and breezy. The seasons aren't always clear and we sometimes get a lot of rain in the spring—but we have our share of sunshine. And not that much snow in winter.

Prices are high. There's no denying it. But people earn more here; salaries are higher than elsewhere, in keeping with cost of living needs—recognized long before the government coined that phrase. And we have muggers—but they're in every city these days. A few years ago the news told of an old man who moved out of New York City to settle in Los Angeles because he was tired of dodging muggers. He was shot to death a week after getting there. This is not knocking California—but saying that in these times violence happens everywhere.

Everything is good and bad all at once—and we have our share of both. For gay guys there isn't a better place anywhere else in the world. Nowhere else are there so many of us. Nowhere else can you choose any lifestyle you want, as a loner or social butterfly, and be successful at it. Nowhere else are there as many gay meeting places. Nowhere else can you do it with as little concern towards the cops.

Of course, some guys go too far sometimes—and the cops over-react. Like when an outdoor meatrack is raided or someone is busted for having sex in a subway john—however, such instances are rare. A lot worse is happening in a lot of other cities.

Best of all is that New York City is an international feast as far as gay life is concerned. Whatever color guys you like—whatever ethnic qualities you want—they're all here. Will it be all White today? Maybe next week you'll go Black—and perhaps a touch of Yellow next month. In a Red mood? We have a lot of American Indians too. They dominate the construction trades—and new buildings are always going up.

And it's the same when it comes to food. Eat the world off your plate. No matter what you enjoy you can find it here. If you want chocolate-covered ants—walk up the street to a gourmet shop and buy 'em. We're all as looney as Ruth Gordon—and we love it.

Well, then, let's get down to specifics because that's what Ciao! is all about. No guesswork for our guys. We tell you where to go for exactly the kind of action you crave. No words minced. No steps wasted.

As far as getting there is concerned—New York City is laid out in a gridiron pattern; avenues run north and south; streets west and east. A quick glance at a map, or asking questions on the street, will get you there in a hurry. Though Manhattan is one big island—we do have neighborhoods. Those which are of particular interest to gay guys are pointed out below; we tell you where in town a place is. Do bear in mind that there is more to New York City than just Manhattan—but hardly anybody gay bothers with the boroughs (unless you happen to live there). And it's too bad—because they have a lot to offer (we tell you about a few things)—but the Big Action is in Manhattan, what everybody means when they say New York City.

Getting around is easy. We have a good subway system as well as surface transportation—and our gridiron pattern (except for isolated sections of town) makes it a snap to get from here to there.

HOTELS

Curiously, there really aren't any gay hotels in New York City. Perhaps it's because we have so many hotels in general. Most gay visitors prefer those they're already accustomed to, such as a Hilton or Holiday Inn. Others on a budget prefer the gay YMCA. We have a lot of them—but the ones you want are the Sloane House YMCA, 356 W. 34th St. (a lot of servicemen and the usual floor action, though the management is uptight so you must be somewhat discreet in getting from room to room; it's in the midtown area, on the west side, not far from Greenwich Village and near the big department stores), or the West Side YMCA, 5 W. 63rd St. (off cruisy Central Park; some floors are beautifully done with carpeting and the like—and there's a lot of cruising upstairs and in the big dining room on the main floor).

THE NEIGHBORHOODS

To make things easier for you, the visitor, we'll group the places of gay interest by neighborhood, as follows: Lower East Side—though in fact not the lower east side, we mean the section east of Broadway from 1st St. to as far uptown as 23rd St.

Greenwich Village—the boundaries we set being Houston St. on the south (downtown), 14th St. on the north (uptown), Fifth Ave. on the east, and the Hudson River on the west.

Chelsea—bordering the Village, from 14th St. on the south (downtown) to 23rd St. on the north (uptown) to Fifth Ave. on the east to the Hudson River on the west.

Dockstrip—this takes in the streets that run alongside the Hudson River in the Village and Chelsea, from just below Christopher St. (downtown) to 23rd St. (uptown).

Upper East Side—all the way uptown from 23rd St. on the south (downtown), bordered on the east by the East River and on the west by Fifth Ave.

West Side—everything from 23rd St. on the south (downtown) to the low 100's uptown, bounded by Fifth Ave. on the east and the Hudson River on the west.

LOWER EAST SIDE

There are no bars of real interest in this section, and only one restaurant—Beau Geste, 239 Third Ave. (20th St.). It's very gay and the food is good. Casual dress is all right (this is true of most of the restaurants throughout New York City).

Mainly, here are two baths—the Club, 24 First Ave. (2nd St.), and the New St. Marks, 6 St. Marks Pl. (an extension of 8th St. right off 3rd Ave—which is called The Bowery at this point). The Club is part of the national chain and has the posh trademark you're familiar with from having visited other branches throughout the country. This one attracts assorted types, younger guys mostly . . . many students from nearby New York University. The cleanest and all-around best baths in the city. There's even a two-story 'garden room' with a waterfall!

The New St. Marks is the old baths at the same location that was given a face-lift in January 1978. It's now clean—though Spartan—and has such interesting fringe offerings as a huge California hot tub . . . and a lot of hot studs who used to frequent Everard's before it burned a few years ago. In other words, there's lots of macho here . . . all the way up to genuine leather. The old place was mostly Black, but that has given way to a Whiter look. The action is good.

It should be said of these and other baths throughout the city that membership is not required (though some do offer memberships and fringe benefits to those who join). Rooms and lockers are available unless otherwise noted, and rates go from a few dollars to over $10.

Also in this area is a porno moviehouse, the Jewel, 3rd Ave. between 12th and 13th Sts. The films are typical and there are occasional live acts. Action in the seats and in the two johns downstairs, as well as in the dungeon-like rooms behind the johns. All types go . . . and cum. (Here, and in all dark action spots, beware of pickpockets!)

And then there's the Metropolitan Theatre, 235 E. 14th St. (between 2nd and 3rd Aves.). The place is an ancient moviehouse with side balconies that flank the auditorium. Straight porno is shown, and admission is only $3 ($5 being average for most gay porno houses around town). Go afternoon and evening (unlike some gay porno houses that stay open all night, this one keeps regular hours), the best times being around 5 to 7 and 8 to 10 weekdays; Saturday afternoons and evenings; and Sunday afternoons. The crowd is very Black, though macho guys of all colors go. There's fucking and sucking throughout—particularly in the corridors that run alongside the auditorium, and in the balcony. Wall-to-wall action, as raw as it will ever get, is everywhere. Some spots reek of shit and piss . . . but if you can get past the stench you have it licked! Truly a great in its category.

GREENWICH VILLAGE

The favorite of gay people for years. It is homey and relaxed.

Let's start with restaurants:

The Big Dish, W. 12th St. & W. 4th St. (yes, they do cross—a peculiarity of Greenwich Village, which has streets that follow the course of old cow paths!). A diverse menu served in a room that has been decorated by somebody whose taste can't be defined. A lot of guys who frequent Cherry Grove (Fire Island) in the summer roost here in the winter.

Bonnie's, 82 W. 3rd St. (upstairs) is where gay women dine.

Casa Paco, 330 Bleecker St. (corner of Christopher St.) is very casual. Mexican food.

Duff's, 115 Christopher St. is a typical Village restaurant. Good food, very gay crowd. It's the kind of place a lot of guys take their out-of-town guests to. (Christopher St. is the gayest street in the world, bar none—not even San Francisco's Castro St.)

Fedora, 238 W. 4th St. It's been there for years and still gets a good crowd. The food is good, though not great—but very reasonable. Homey.

Four Eleven, 411 Bleecker St. A small restaurant that has been around a long time. It gets a lot of gay guys . . . who like the tres gay touches employed by the chef.

Horn Of Plenty, 91 Charles St. A very good restaurant. (Dress is casual, but you'll feel better if you don't wear old levis.) The accent is on Southern cooking (they're noted for their pecan pie) but the menu is varied. A good bet if you want a nice place.

Mother Courage, 342 W. 11th St. Good food for gay women and their friends.

One If By Land, Two If By Sea, 17 Barrow St. It's excellent, though a bit expensive. Again, don't wear dungarees.

One Potato, 518 Hudson St. A very popular hamburger place. Very gay, very cruisy at all hours.

Paula's, 64 Greenwich Ave. Good food in a very casual place that caters to gay women.

Our list is by no means complete and there are many other establishments that are mostly gay—but these will be enough to take care of your mealtime hours when you visit the Village.

And now for bars (please refer to the Dockstrip section following the Chelsea listing, because some of the places under that heading are actually in the Village, but far over near the Hudson River):

Bonnie & Clyde's, 82 W. 3rd St. Dancing for women and their friends.

Boots & Saddles, 76 Christopher St. Afternoon and evening, the ambiance is leather. Crowded.

Carr's, 204 W. 10th St. A friendly Village bar that caters to an older crowd. A quiet place that will bring back old memories.

Duplex, 55 Grove St. It's on two levels. There's cabaret.

International, 733 Greenwich St. It's also called The Stud and there are movies in the back room and hot times too.

Julius's, 159 W. 10th St. It's been here for years and still gets a broad range of Village types—including college guys from nearby NYU who are either gay or in tune with action with guys. Hamburgers. The atmosphere is intellectual and it's busy afternoons and evenings.

Kelly's Village West, 46 Bedford St. Gay men and women come for cabaret.

Limelight, 91 - 7th Ave. So. Cabaret and disco too. Young crowd, some straight swingers.

Marie's Crisis, 59 Grove St. This one is a friendly basement bar. There's piano entertainment and bingo too.

Ninth Circle, 139 W. 10th St. A popular bar that caters to the young. Good cruising if you aren't over 25.

Nite Life/La Femme, 85 Washington Pl. A disco for gay women.

Numbers, W. 10th between Greenwich Ave. & 6th Ave. At this writing the place is getting ready to open . . . which may not happen because area residents are protesting and attempting to get the city to refrain from issuing a liquor license. (See the Numbers bar listing under the West Side heading.) If it does get going it will probably cater to Village regulars—but that's only guessing.

Reno Sweeney, 126 W. 13th St. Strictly for cabaret. The entertainers are usually good. Old-time favorites like Butterfly McQueen frequently appear.

Trude Heller's, 9th St. & 6th Ave. Cabaret and disco too, but very bisexual.

Ty's, 114 Christopher St. Always packed with masculine guys, mostly levi types (no heavy leather).

Uncle Paul's, 8 Christopher St. The ambiance is Western and there's some leather too. Pool-table, pinball, some disco.

And now for the action spots: The subway stops—particularly the 7th Ave. IRT Christopher St. stop, downtown side—used to have hot johns. No more. They're sometimes open but police surveillance is intense and the risks are too great for most guys who used to frequent the johns. Best to avoid.

NYU and The New School, both in the Village, used to have hot johns—notably the 4th floor Waverly and 4th floor Main buildings, and 7th floor Wing of NYU; and the basement and 5th floor in the New School (12th St. building). In the past year there have been frequent raids by school authorities and some guys have been taken out by city police (who were summoned by the school dicks). No longer recommended.

The old piers on the Hudson River will be mentioned under the Dockstrip heading.

Village (and in town, for that matter!) is the Christopher St. Bookstore, 500 Hudson St. (corner of Christopher St.). It's a great bookstore that carries a huge selection of hot magazines (well displayed) . . . but the main attraction is the back room where there are peep-show booths. You pay $1 to get through the turnstile that admits you to the area, and from then on it's 'musical booths'. Christopher St., as already mentioned, is the gayest street in the world—and the traffic that flows through this bookstore adds up to 9,000 humpy guys a week! The place is open 24 hours a day . . . and with 9,000 guys arriving sooner or later you just can't miss finding Mr. Right a hundred times over. There are hot movies if you care to indulge (the usual quarter)—but nobody is there to badger you about putting in coins if you want to hang around. Go anytime Cum everytime.

A new action spot that has been going a few months is The Ruins, 158 Perry St. It's a kinky place that is all things to all people. There's a bar, hot movies, live acts (some are very way-out . . . real whippings, etc.), and a back room for patron action. Membership at the door. Go late if you want to give it a try.

All the streets in the Village are stomping grounds for gay guys who live in the City and who visit as well. If you like street cruising—you won't find anything better anywhere else in the world. Christopher St., to repeat, is the hottest of all—running from Greenwich Ave. to the Hudson River. All streets off Christopher, and particularly Bleecker St. (antique row) are hot night and day. The hub of gay activity is at the intersection of Christopher St. & 7th Ave. (Sheridan Square). Relatively safe, too, because there's always somebody out there cruising.

No matter where you wander in the Village your time will be fascinating. The shops are unusual and sell things you won't find anywhere else in the world—particularly items created by Village artists and craftsmen. Eighth Street and Greenwich Avenue are busy thoroughfares but the smaller side streets are of greater interest. Over in Washington Square Park (the unofficial campus of NYU) the weekends are pleasant, Sundays bringing together the amateur musicians and assorted Village characters who come to entertain and amuse the crowds in and around the empty circular water-fountain in the middle of the park (Fifth Ave. & Waverly Pl., which is a block south of 8th St.). Bring your camera.

In this area, in spring, early and late summer there are outdoor art shows and the sidewalks are lined with colorful paintings, good and bad. It's fun wandering and perhaps buying a sketch of a Village street—to bring back memories as the years pass. When you arrive in town go to one of the New York City Visitors & Convention Bureau offices (there's one right in Times Square, on 42nd St. between 7th Ave. & Broadway) and get a free list of events that are going on in town. All the shows are given, as well as details on outdoor events such as art exhibits, flea markets and street feasts.

And finally, stop in at the Oscar Wilde Memorial Bookshop, 15 Christopher St., where you can buy gay books and newspapers (not the picture kind, however); and Legend Gallery, 152 Seventh Ave. So., for a fascinating selection of gay magazines (the picture kind), sex toys and unusual fun things.

CHELSEA

A good place for all your meals is the Empire Diner, 11th Ave. & 22nd St. The food is excellent, but what made the establishment an instant success with gay guys is its Art Deco appointments and also its proximity to the nearby leather bars (see Dockstrip area listings). Open 24 hours.

The Barbary Coast, 64 - 7th Ave. (right off 14th St.), is in the Chelsea area, technically, but because 14th St. is the uptown boundary of the Village . . . you might as well say the place is in the Village if you happen to be doing the scene. It's new and attracts a macho neighborhood crowd, the gay denizens of Chelsea being largely Puerto Rican and Black. Open day and night.

Les Mouches, 260 - 11th Ave. at 26th St., is a combination disco/restaurant that sometimes has cabaret acts and special entertainment.

Silhouette, 53 W. 19th St., is for gay women.

If you wander about in Chelsea during the day, look up at the rooftops of the old buildings—which will give you an idea of what the skyline looked like when Clement Clark Moore lived here and wrote "A Christmas Carol." And if it's a hot day and you want to cool off, or a cold day and you want to warm up, stop in at Man's Country, a Club-like baths at 28 W. 15th St.

DOCKSTRIP

Keep in mind that the so-called Dockstrip area takes in the Village and Chelsea . . . the streets that run along the Hudson River way over on the West Side. The bars and other places of gay interest which lie in the Village are from just below Christopher St. to 14th St., and the Chelsea section of the strip is between 14th and 23rd Sts.

Alphabetically, the bars in the Village section are:

The Anvil, 500 W. 14th St. Technically, membership is required—but you'll get in without it, or joining at the door if you go when the place isn't packed. The main feature is basement sex. There are also kinky sex acts on stage—like a guy taking a doubled-up 18" dildo up his ass and then farting it out as it snaps "open" and bounces lengthwise on the stage.

Badlands, at Christopher & West Sts., is a leather/levi bar. There's a pool-table.

The Cock Ring, 189 Christopher St., is a disco for leather guys.

Danny's First, 139 Christopher St., gets a mixed bag. Good cruising. There's a pool-table.

Keller's, 384 West St., just below Christopher St., gets a leather/levi crowd. It's been around a long time.

The Mine Shaft, 835 Washington St., is an after-hours private club, but if it isn't packed you can join at the door or get somebody about to enter to take you in for purposes of getting a proper introduction in order to join without a hassle. Red-hot action all night long.

Peter Rabbit, 305 West St., right across the street from the old pier warehouses (see below), has been around a few years; it's a disco that gets a Black crowd.

Ramrod, 394 West St., right off Christopher St., is very popular with leather/levi guys and features kinky live acts (such as a performance by "Mr. 13") and flicks.

And, finally, Sneakers, 392 West St., which gets a mixed bag off Christopher St. Friendly.

During the daylight hours the old pier warehouses on the Hudson River in the vicinity of 11th St. are heavily cruised and used . . . by gay guys and female hookers who lure customers right out of their cars when they stop for a light under the old elevated highway. Be watchful of muggers at all times, and you're advised not to go at night (though many do . . . and many have also been mugged and killed!). At night the area is heavily cruised . . . for take-home sex as well as quickies in dark corners and in-between the trucks parked under the highway and in vacant lots in the area. Repeat: Caution is advised.

The section of Dockstrip in Chelsea mainly refers to a small part, being a couple of blocks—20th to 22nd Sts. The Eagle's Nest, 21st St. & 11th Ave., used to be strictly leather. Now it gets an assorted group of macho guys—not necessarily those into leather sex. Nearby is The Spike, 120 - 11th Ave., at 20th St. Same crowd, plus movies and action.

That takes care of the bars. But at 130 - 11th Ave. (21st St.) is the Glory Hole, a private club that features a big room with outhouse-type booths that have glory holes . . . for those who really do enjoy closet sex. Membership is nominal, with a $3 entry every time you go. Open all the time. The crowd is macho, drawing heavily on the nearby bars.

The area is cruised, but limit your activity to just outside the bars, under the old highway (the structure called "The Tunnel"—which you'll recognize when you see—is all right; walking away from the river you might run into bad boys who frequently cause problems with gay guys on their way to the bars). If you're unfamiliar with the neighborhood, it's best to go by taxi; there's usually a taxi available on the way home because somebody is always being dropped off here.

UPPER EAST SIDE

First, the restaurants:

Try Applause, 360 Lexington Ave., at 40th St. Nice. Piano and singing waiters. Very theatrical.

Chez Roman, 1406 - 3rd Ave. (80th St.), serves Continental food. Good.

Company, 365 - 3rd Ave., at 27th St., is popular. Entertainment.

Uncle Charlies, 542 - 3rd Ave. (36th St.), is good for lunch or dinner.

For bars:

The Backyard, 243 E. 53rd St., is new and catching on.

Bike Stop East, 381 - 3rd Ave. (28th St.), gets a mixed bag.

Camp David, 1007 Lexington Ave. (72nd St.), is good for serious cruising. Pleasant for friendly conversation too. Masculine.

Chaps, 1558 - 3rd Ave., at 87th St., is also masculine and friendly.

Cowboy & Cowgirl, 244 E. 53rd St., is popular and serves food.

Dakota, 550 - 3rd Ave. (36th St.), is a friendly saloon.

G.H. Club, 353 E. 53rd St. Elegant, monied buyers and their boys.

Harry's Back East, 1422 - 3rd Ave. (80th St.), where there's an animated crowd.

Last Call, 975 - 2nd Ave. (51st St.), has good cruising.

Les Nuages, 1436 - 3rd Ave. (81st St.), is a disco but membership is required.

The Painted Pony, 1485 - 3rd Ave., at 84th St., has cabaret.

Sahara, 1234 - 2nd Ave. (65th St.), is a disco/cabaret for gay women.

Uncle Charlie's North, 1049 Lexington Ave., at 76th St., is good for talking and making out.

Uncle Charlie's South, 581 - 3rd Ave. (38th St.), has several rooms for good cruising.

Third Ave., between 50th and 60th Sts., has long been a gay stomping grounds. The "better class" hustlers also make the scene here . . . and expect to be paid more than their lower-life brothers on seedy 42nd St. (Both varieties can punch just as hard!)

Nearby Bloomingdale's Department Store, 59th & Lexington Ave., gets a tres gay clientele (everybody who is somebody shops at Bloominie's!). You can get your shopping and cruising done at the same time, especially on Saturday afternoons . . . even if you don't check out the johns.

Beekman Place Park, 49th St., east of 1st Ave., is cruised all the time by neighborhood guys. It's practically in the shadow of the U.N. So you just might meet somebody fascinating.

If baths are what you like, try the Beacon, 227 E. 47th St., 11th floor. It can get a good crowd but has never been one of the top tubs in town.

The East Side Sauna, 227 E. 56th St., is not as familiar to gay steamers as some others, like the St. Marks, but you can call ahead and reserve rooms here. There's a two-story-high viewing balcony for those into watching group action.

The only gay moviehouse in the area is the Spartan, 220 E. 59th St. Live acts on stage; there are theme nights for the entertainers and patrons as well (such as Leather Night, etc.). Action everywhere.

WEST SIDE

First, the restaurants:

Backstage, 318 W. 45th St., gets a theatrical crowd.

Bushes, 23 W. 73rd St., has cabaret.

For bars:

Big Spender, 315 W. 48th St., gets a theatrical crowd; the ambiance is masculine. Gay

Boot Hill, 317 Amsterdam Ave., at 75th St., also has a masculine ambiance; good cruising.

The Candle, 309 Amsterdam Ave. (75th St.), has back-room action.

Crossroad, 858 - 9th Ave., at 55th St., is open day and night.

The Den, 264 W. 43rd St., has a pool-table and hustlers.

Follies, 232 W. 48th St., is open day and night and has hustlers.

G.G. Knickerbocker, 128 W. 45th St., has dancing hustlers, TV's, and a lot of kinky others.

Half Breed, 168 Amsterdam Ave. (67th St.) is friendly.

Haymarket, 772 - 8th Ave., at 45th St., is hustler's haven. A lot of Blacks too!

Ice Palace 57, 57 W. 57th St., is a disco with class.

La Fiesta, 253 W 46th St., has a pool-table and a lot of hustlers.

Main Man, 305 Columbus Ave., at 74th St., has good cruising.

Marquee, 439 W. 46th St., is a disco; there's a piano, too, for quieter times.

Nickel, 127 W. 72nd St., has dancing.

Numbers, 2057 Broadway (70th St.), is a disco and gets a mixed bag. (See comments on a new branch under the Greenwich Village heading.)

Paradise Room, 35 W. 43rd St., opens late (it's an after-hours place). Private, go up to the 4th floor. Dancing, plus whatever!

Resurrection, 316 W. 49th St., is a Black disco.

Starship Discovery I, 350 W. 42nd St., is private; it's currently one of the hottest discos around. Cabaret too.

Tijuana Cat, 350 W. 46th St., has cabaret and gets a Puerto Rican crowd.

Warehouse Pier 51, 324 Amsterdam Ave., at 75th St., has dockstrip decor and good cruising; levi guys.

Wildwood, 308 Columbus Ave., at 74th St., has peanut shells all over the floor . . . and good cruising.

For hot action spots, be sure and visit It's A Man's World, 287 Amsterdam Ave., at 73rd St.

Lots of magazines plus peeps . . . and the booths are alive! Ditto for Rendezvous, 38 W. 28th St. And the bookstore at the corner of 8th Ave. & 50th St. has booths with glory holes, but take note that at least half the guys cruising are tough hustlers (mostly Black). Open 24 hours.

There are a lot of gay movie-houses in this part of town. Some have live acts; all have sex in the auditorium and also in the john. I'll refrain from mentioning the ripoffs and just list the others which are worth checking out:

Adonis, 8th Ave. & 50th St., is perhaps the "Radio City" of gay porno houses. Moderate-to-good action everywhere.

Big Top, Broadway at 49th St. Hot films, occasional live acts, two busy johns, a few dark closets and even a tiny dance floor. Some tough types. Open 24 hours.

David, 236 W. 54th St. Small but can be good.

55th St. Playhouse, 154 W. 55th St. Newest films.

Gaiety, 201 W. 48th St. Frequented by guys who like paying the live performers for brief encounters on the premises.

Kings, 236 W. 50th St. It can be all right.

Ramrod, 210 W. 49th St. Live acts too, and a sex room. Open 24 hours.

Rendezvous, 149 W. 54th St. Latest hits; action too.

Over on 42nd St., there's the Barracks Baths, at 226. The number is hard to find; the stairs are under the Harris movie theatre marquee. Several floors of hot action, featuring booths with glory holes. Very macho, but mostly Black . . . and there's a good percentage of hustling, so be sure before you invite someone into your room. Also, some prejudice towards Whites.

The Broadway Arms, 218 W. 49th St., is raunchy and gets a tenderloin crowd.

The Sauna, 300 W. 58th St., is clean and pleasant but the patrons are mature business types, for the most part.

In the Times Square/42nd St. area you'll find a lot of straight porno shops that have peeps. They are cruised by hustlers and you have a good chance of being mugged if you are lured into a private booth by a bad boy. Be careful. Likewise for any hustlers you may encounter in the area, either on the street or in the bars.

The old Times Square Motor Hotel is a seedy establishment at 43rd St. & 8th Ave. It has a basement john that's cruised. Filthy, but sometimes the action is good. However, it's out of the way and a lot of hustlers stop by to get what they can. Almost across the street, on 8th Ave. between 43rd and 44th St. is the Cameo Theatre. Straight porno, but the balcony is cruised by gays and so is the john. Aggressive closet types (mostly Black) who will cut your throat for a piece of meat if they want it badly enough and you get in the way. The toilets have a connecting glory hole and the booths are always hogged. This kind of cruising occurs in almost every straight porno house in the area—as it does in porno houses across the country.

Over on 6th Ave. & 54th St. is the New York Hilton. The public john is cruised . . . and used.

Central Park is really too dangerous to cruise at night, but on sunny afternoons the section known as The Rambles, at 72nd St., off Central Park West (8th Ave.) is very gay . . . and very woodsy. Central Park West, the street bordering the park, is cruised day and night, between 63rd and 79th Sts. Some bad boys work the strip, so be cautious. Farther over west, on the Hudson River, is Riverside Park, between 72nd and 85th Sts. Neighborhood cruisers, but risky at night.

UPTOWN, DOWNTOWN . . .

Uptown, downtown . . . all around the town—gay guys are everywhere. Way up in Harlem, near 125th St. at 1944 Madison Ave., is the Mt. Morris Baths. Almost exclusively Black. If you are White you will probably encounter prejudice. Still interested? Go in daylight only; the side streets in Harlem can be dangerous for turkeys at night!

Way downtown in the Wall St. financial district you'll find the Wall Street Sauna, 1 Maiden Ln. (near Broadway). Elevator up to the 11th floor for action, if you hit it at a busy time—mostly during business hours when business execs in the neighborhood stop in for numbers one doesn't find at the Stock Exchange.

THE BOROUGHES

Thus far we've referred to 'New York City'—meaning Manhattan, which in fact is only one of five boroughs. The other four are detailed below—but you'll probably skip them because there's enough doing in Manhattan.

BROOKLYN

A few neighborhoods are popular with gay guys, mostly old sections that have experienced a 'second coming'—thanks to gays looking for a bargain in housing, as well as a challenge to their creative skills. The oldest and most beautifully-groomed section is Brooklyn Heights, high on a hill overlooking the Manhattan skyline. The promenade above the river is a favorite of gays and there's cruising day and night (though there has been trouble at night, caused by local toughs and those who come from other neighborhoods). Some blocks and many houses are charming and the neighborhood is the closest thing to Greenwich Village in town. It's only 15 minutes from midtown Manhattan by subway.

Some of the bars you'll find here are Club 71, 71 Pineapple St.; Sal's, 79 Pineapple St.; and Danny's, 108 Montague St. There are others, not too far away. And walking distance from the Heights is the business district along Fulton St., where you'll find A&S Department Store; the 7th floor john is an action spot. If you do the scene, take a little time to have something to eat at Junior's, corner of Flatbush Ave., right off Fulton St. It's one of the best deli's in the country and their cheesecake is supposed to be No. 1 in New York City (based on a test/poll conducted by New York Magazine a few years ago).

If you drive on Flatbush Ave.

towards Prospect park, about 5 minutes from Junior's, you'll pass the Plaza Theatre, 314 Flatbush Ave. Straight porno, some john sex (mostly Blacks, and older). Way down, not far from the Belt Parkway, is Brooklyn College; there's some activity in the basement john of the library. Continue on and you'll reach the Belt, a highway which will take you to nearby Riis Park, a beach. Good summer only; nudity is permitted, and the left end (facing the water) is jammed with gay men and women. Go on Sunday; it can be done by subway and bus in about an hour (directions from the token seller in the subway). The locker room is heavily cruised, but watched too—so don't attempt to do anything there.

If you visit Coney Island (summer only), Stauch's Baths (mostly change-rooms; there are a couple of steam-rooms, but nothing else) gets straights (a lot of Blacks and Puerto Ricans, all ages) who use the place to change for the beach (especially on Sunday) and take the steam in the late afternoon. They are all very willing to be serviced (there's a lot of fucking in the 2nd floor steam-room). Don't go for romance . . . they "don't kiss on the lips!"

There is a disco, not far from Coney Island in the Bensonhurst section; Rhythms is at 6826 New Utrecht Ave. Gay, of course, and in Brooklyn you're more likely to find John Travolta types than in Manhattan . . . where the rough gems get polished. (Perhaps the chance of meeting a masculine young guy who hasn't had a chance to acquire personality refinements by socializing with ripened gays in sophisticated Manhattan is enough reason to take a trip to Brooklyn!)

QUEENS

Queens(!) is a borough, a short subway ride from midtown Manhattan. It's mostly middle-class White. The row-houses shown in the opening sequence of TV's "All in The Family" are authentically Queens, for here is where the show is filmed . . . it's where Archie Bunker comes from. Jimmy Breslin lives there.

In recent years the high cost of living in Manhattan has given rise to the construction of luxury apartment buildings throughout Queens, and a lot of gay guys (mostly couples) have moved there . . . that this has been responsible for the success of a lot of gay bars in the busy sections. Some are:

Arch, 61-06 - 39th Ave., Jackson Hts. A disco favored by Blacks.

A Touch Of Class, 113-24 Queens Blvd., Forest Hills. Very friendly.

So is Betsy Ross, 73-13 - 37th Rd., Jackson Hts.

Billy The Kid, 76-07 Roosevelt Ave., Jackson Hts., gets leather and denim.

Fiddlesticks, 205 Cypress Ave., Ridgewood, is a disco.

Flavors, 120-31 - 83rd Ave., Kew Gardens, is a disco.

Hide-A-Way, 87-36 Parsons Blvd., Jamaica is Black and private.

Mr. Dreams, 63-12 B'wy, Woodside, is a disco.

Our Place, 77-02 B'wy, Elmhurst, is friendly.

Sparky's, 130-04 Atlantic Avenue, Richmond Hill has denim.

Star Wars, 79-24 Cypress Ave., Ridgewood has dancing, but is mostly lesbian.

And Tavern On The Turn, 172-22 Hillside Ave., Jamaica, has dancing.

There's even a gay movie-house, the Fair, 90th St. & Astoria Blvd., Jackson Hts. Live acts are featured (as well as hot flicks) and there's the usual patron action.

The Arck Lane, 130-02 Atlantic Ave., Richmond Hill, is an after-hours club. Go late and join. Hot action. Showers on the premises.

If you prefer street cruising, try the forest park along Park Lane in the Kew Gardens/Forest Hills area at night; it's a meat-rack but be cautious of police and muggers.

Did you know that a lot of Greek-Americans also live in Queens, mostly in the Astoria section? It may be good training if you're on your way to Athens. And remember, you have to pass through Queens when you leave the airport and drive to Manhattan.

Bike Stop West

Boot Hill

STATEN ISLAND

Much of it is residential and pleasant. There are a few bars:

Beach Haven 901 Fr. Cap-pando Blvd., and Bill Bailey's, 492 Bay are two. But your only encounter with S.I. will probably be a round-trip ferry ride between Manhattan and there, which is a nice way to view the city skyline. Inexpensive tool.

THE BRONX

It has the South Bronx, a gutted-out section which burns constantly (Black toughs with matches!), and pretty places like The Bronx Zoo. Plus a lot of old neighborhoods. You'll probably pass it up, wisely. If you do go, Benton-Smith, Ltd., 56 E. Mt. Eden Ave., is a disco and draws from the better Westchester section above The Bronx.

LONG ISLAND

Long Island is a narrow strip of land that reaches out into the Atlantic for 125 miles. Its many towns are quite pretty, very residential and will probably remind you of your small hometown in the midwest. The bars are too numerous to mention, and would be a wasted effort since you will probably spend most of your time in New York City. For those of you interested, please refer to QQ's gay travel directory "Private Stock," for complete listings.

Far out, about 100 miles from town, are The Hamptons. East Hampton is exclusive and a favorite of gays, many of whom live there all year long. The residents can be quite snooty. In summer the higher income season vacationers roost in beach houses and do the area discos. A favorite is the Attic, Montauk H'wy in East Hampton. Mixed, but hip. Two-Mile Hollow Beach in East Hampton is cruised day and night, and is a meat-rack at night. Watch for cops.

Come back towards New York City . . . and about 60 miles away from Manhattan (a little over an hour by Long Island Railroad, or two by car) is the town of Sayville. It's here that you get the ferry for gay Fire Island—the communities of The Pines and Cherry Grove. Summertime only, and absolutely unbelievable. If you visit the Big Apple in summer, you're missing the area's main attraction if you fail to visit Fire Island. It is discussed in great detail (with pictures) in the July 1978 Ciao! (our special Caribbean/Fire Island issue, available for $3.50 a copy—see ad in rear of this magazine). A must if you plan to visit.

Jones Beach is a beautiful public strand about 50 miles from New York City. It's reached by car, or by Long Island Railroad and a short bus ride (they connect). Summer only, of course. There's a boardwalk, food concessions, a white-sand beach . . . and cruising/action in the dunes between parking lots 6 and 9. Also a mile farther east on the beach, in the Tobay section of dunes (this part is wild . . . but watch for cops).

New York City has a lot to offer residents and visitors alike. There are fascinating things to see and do—and the gay scene is hot and unmatched. You may experience the more unpleasant things that sometimes happen to strangers in big cities, if you're as trusting as you are at home . . . but exercise reasonable caution with strangers—as you would in any big city—and your reward will be a lot of good times and no tarnish!

Island Of Men

A Greek Phenomenon

By Scott Young

How curious it is that in a country where gay sex began, and from which sexstyle the gay fraction Greek active/passive derives, and where Mykonos—that gayest island—thrives, there should also be an island peopled only by men who have God, rather than Gonad, on the mind.

This is Athos which, for 1000 years, has been for men only—women have been banned for all time. They come here as teenage novices studying for the priesthood at Docheiriu or one of the many other monasteries on the island. Some remain as monks; others move on to the active priesthood of the Greek Orthodox Church elsewhere in Europe.

In general they are a rugged, handsome, humpy-looking community of men who (supposedly) share a life of celibacy in their search for God. Since this means no sex—neither procreative nor gay—one is tempted to call them "Greek inactive/impassive." That, however, does not discourage gay guys from coming to Mount Athos on a sex quest . . . hoping to find a chink in the armor and make it with a thick Greek cock.

Many American gay guys, particularly, who've made the scene in Mykonos, and who hear of an 'island of men', come here in a hopeful kind of 'sex pilgrimage'. If, like Lourdes, a 'miracle' seldom occurs (or if a miracle does occur it really is a miracle!), the trip is not without its rewards since so many gay visitors are here at the same time, and there's plenty of space on the huge island for sex with someone or several from New York, Des Moines or San Francisco, and points north and south.

If you'd like to extend your holiday in Greece to include Mykonos and Mount Athos, as well as Athens, it's more practical to do all the Athenians first, then on to the central Aegean island of Mykonos for more of same, and then north to Salonika for your takeoff to Mount Athos. Since this may seemingly get very involved (although it's not), let's take it a step at a time.

First, have a night's good rest in Salonika. Next morning take a taxi to the American consulate for any new information, and possible forms to fill out—as well as to obtain a visa, or letter from the Consul. A visa? In tourist, non-Communist Greece? Yes. This is because Mount Athos is an independent state, or theocracy, and getting into it is much like getting into an Iron Curtain country. Every foreign male over 21 who seeks to make the visit must go through this routine. But as you will see, it has a practical and quite hospitable advantage.

This formality attended to you go over to the Regional Governorate of Central Macedonia—more forms. Thence to the Aliens Police in Megalou Street. Still more. After all your forms have been officially stamped you are issued a permit that costs less than $6 which entitles you to free shelter and food in any of the 20 now-operative monasteries or monastic hospices along the Holy Mountain.

This permit is good for about three days at most. It used to be longer, but when American hippies and flower-children of the late sixties were living on the cheap, they abused the privilege, staying all summer, and practically ate the monks out of house and mountain.

The monasteries are poor now, and really can't afford Christian charity to so many for so long.

Okay, so you've got your permit, and if by now you think it's easier to crash the pearly gates of Heaven than to reach the Holy Mountain of Athos, you may be right. For the gayly-daring, however, the journey is a delight, and, to many, an inspiration. Next you bus-it or drive from Salonika to Ouranopolis ("Heaven City") . . . stay overnight, if you wish, at one of the several inexpensive hotels or modern bungalow complexes. The Xenia is comfortable. Ouranopolis is where men's wives stay over while their husbands go on to Mount Athos.

Promptly at 7:30 a.m. you board a motorized càïque (a skinny boat) which is the only way you can now proceed. You land at Dafni where keen-eyed guards give you first a visual frisking, then a 'voice frisking' . . . their principal concern is that you are not a female in disguise (which, in these unisex days, is understandable). In checking your speaking voice, if it comes out boy soprano they'll ask you to stay behind for a further, and more intimate check. So if you've got it, flaunt it!

From Dafni a bus of sorts awaits to take you to Karyes (or Karie), the capital of this peninsula. With a final stamping of your papers by the Aliens Police you are free to ascend the Holy Mountain by donkey or on foot.

Karyes, as the capital and nearest town to Mount Athos, is the market center, and here the younger novices and monks come daily to the baker's, and to buy supplies and transact whatever business that they need to. So you have a pretty good idea of what to expect more of when you get to the monasteries proper. If by some chance you succeed in catching an 'uncelibate' eye, there are areas outside the little town where you may go. But as noted, it will indeed be a miracle if such a miracle occurs. Still, there will be plenty of your fellow gay guys in this town (at least during the summer season), and so all may not be lost.

From Karyea with its houses of pink sandstone, and flowers that bloom the year around, you see Mount Athos rising a breathtaking 6350 feet above sea level, and the scenery from its base for miles around is equally awe-inspiring. There were once 30 monasteries, now only 20, and some of these date from 962 A.D. What is more important, they are perfectly preserved—without modernization—and so when you arrive you have taken a giant step backward in time . . . over 1000 years!

Not all the monasteries or monks are Greek. There is the Serbian monastery of Chilandari, founded in 1197; also Bulgarian and Russian monasteries . . . all representing this great Eastern faith.

The most stupendous sight, other than the Holy Mountain itself, is the monasteries' vast wealth of golden church objects, priceless ikons, paintings and sculptures that will simply overcome you. When you visit the different monasteries you will be given a cordial reception and be offered as small glass of ouzo and a spoonful of fruit conserve, traditionally the welcoming ritual of the monks. You will be given a guided tour, and in every way the monks will try to make your somewhat involved journey all the more worthwhile. If you stay in one of the hospice dormitories you will find it comfortable, and your meals, quite simple, are strictly vegetarian.

Is it worth the trip, though? Indeed it is, particularly if you have led a hectic gay existence for the preceding year. The peace, the quietude, the shutting out of the busy world you've known, gives you time for reflection and refreshment. Once back on the mainland—and back home—you will feel a certain sadness that your visit to the Holy Mountain was so brief.

Gay Melbourne

Easy to schedule in a South Pacific itinerary which takes in such distant touch-downs as Japan, Bali and Tahiti, is Melbourne, the capital of Australia's southernmost mainland state, Victoria.

In the heyday of British power, "Marvelous Melbourne" was seen as the New London of the antipodes, the second city of the British Empire: wealthy, pacesetting and bursting with progress. Relics of those days are some fine public edifices in an orderly and gracious city layout, acres of parks and gardens, ubiquitous tramcar system, a bustling business sector to befit this financial center of a continent, and a famous heady local beer which sends tourist heads reeling into mighty hangovers.

A metropolis of 2.8 million, Melbourne has been the chief magnet for the myriad national-ties which have poured into the country during the last 30 years. There are several top-class hotels, and a reputation for the finest restaurants in the country. Apart from the Aussie accent (mainly a fusion of cockney British and Irish) the major differences noticeable to an American visitor would be driving on the left; metric measures (kilometres on the roads, dollar banknotes varying in color and size to indicate value); winter in July and New Year in summer; and a relaxed pace and style sometimes likened to the American south.

Apart from the gay life, what are the things-to-see? There's a string of beaches along Port Phillip bay, and wilder surf beaches farther on; the Dandenong Ranges cradling the city with folds of mountains and tall timbers (all Australian flora is evergreen); at Warburton in the hills a sanctuary of the unique Australian wildlife; restored goldmining settlements from lustier days; on the coast in summer a nightly parade of penguins in from the Antarctic; spectacular Botanic Gardens on the fringe of the central city; extensive parks containing a Music Bowl for starlit summer performances; and a fine museum and arts complex with drama and opera halls rising on the lip of the river Yarra Yarra which margins the downtown area.

For the gay adventurer not overburdened with prudence, open-air cruising is easily found: in the Fitzroy Gardens, the Treasury Gardens, Albert Park Lake, Como Park, and at a number of the public men's rooms which Melbourne retains, frequently below the sidewalks. You could enquire for the Geranium Patch, the State Room, the House of Flowers, the Viaduct, La Mamas and so on. If Melbourne has a Pink Zone, it would be the area South Yarra: try an evening stroll along Toorak Road (take a cab there or electric train to South Yarra station) and you'll find yourself in a shopping and residential area ranging from the ritzy to the raunchy; evening cruising around here is very common—hustling very rare. Try the bar at Her Majesty's Hotel ("Maisie's") in the heart of South Yarra. (For a more commercial scene, Latin money boys can be found in the Woolshed, mentioned later.)

In summer, particular beaches offer the best potential (Black Rock, Red Bluff, Middle Park, South Melbourne), and for beefcake displays, any of the surf lifesaving carnivals present eye-popping spectaculars, bulging biceps and salt-caked pectorals! Red Bluff is sometimes nude-oriented, but if nudity is your thing, better find your way to Somers Beach, or maybe try the saunas.

Around the baths, the Caulfield Sauna (482 Glenhuntly Road, Caulfield) is the best all-male sauna in Australia, well-conducted with spa, pool, movies, TV, snack-bar and 150 lockers. Open till 4 a.m. on weekends, 2 a.m. otherwise. A smaller friendly place is Spa-Guy, 533 Victoria St. Abbotsford, with intimate atmosphere and lively action. Conveniently located downtown is the Continental at 259 Collins Street; older, though refurbished, it attracts a clientele not looking for the 100% exclusiveness of the other two.

In the bar-scene, the best-known is the University Club (100 Collins St.), elegant, two bars, disco, $2 entry which includes supper, closes 4 a.m. Take elevator to 7th floor. The Union Hotel at 78 Fenwick St., Carlton, is also popular. For a Sunday night, there is nothing in Australia quite like Pokey's at the Prince of Wales Hotel in Fitzroy St., St. Kilda: picture your Bavarian beerhall format crossed with cruisy low lighting, 600-1000 guys, floor show, three large bars ranging from a packed disco and cabaret bar, through a friendly piano bar, to a quieter area for subtler cruising. The Woolshed Bar, 266 Collins St. (opposite the Continental Baths) is very accessible, mixed, sometimes sleazy, and closes at 10 p.m. The new gay venue is Encounters, on King St., downtown, elegant and sophisticated, disco, bars and its own restaurant. Open until 3 a.m.

Other gay discos are best on weekends: on a Saturday the Aura in the Metropole Hotel at William and Lonsdale, or Smarties at the Carron Tavern, Spencer and Batmen, though they close around midnight. Bernhardt's (50 Little Latrove St.) is an after-hours disco Thursday through Saturday. Eateries with a gay orientation include Val's, 648 Glenferrie Road, the Black Rose at 94 Acland St., the Liszt at 511 Glenhuntly Road (which is right opposite the Caulfield Sauna), BJ's at 261 Smith St.; they are mostly BYO's, which means 'bring your own' liquor, a peculiar kind of liquor license which is a popular way of countering high restaurant prices.

For the visitor wanting further information on the Melbourne scene, it may be as well to call Society Five, a local gay organization which maintains an information service. Otherwise you're on your own; if someone tells you it's your shout, that means it's your turn to stand the drinks, not to holler for help.

1979 Update

Gay Amsterdam

By David Parker

Gay libbers readily condemn the "gay ghetto"—any area of any city which, for one of numerous reasons, has become heavily populated by homosexuals. It is in fact a condemnation of straight society for having forced gay people to isolate themselves in certain areas—usually by denying them housing in other sections of the city. In time, cause and effect become muddled and homosexuals live in gay ghettos by choice—simply because everyday life is so much easier when you are among your own kind. For one thing—cruising is less complicated when all you have to do is go downstairs and take your pick from the passing parade.

The gay ghetto is one of the reasons why Amsterdam has become the unofficial Gay Capital of Europe. The city center is small to begin with, and is so greatly populated by gay people, residents and tourists alike, that it might even be considered a gay center of sorts in its entirety. But there is an even greater concentration—a focal point whose heart is but a single street. Gay life thrives in Leidsestraat and every cross street as well. Bars are side by side and there are more gay hotels in this area than any place else in the world. The streets and adjacent square are cruised night and day. Adjoining the ghetto is a park which has an active meatrack. It's all so convenient for the tourist who wants to come and enjoy without running all over town for amusement.

Amsterdam center, which encompasses the gay ghetto, is built on concentric canals which give it an orderliness. The gay section generally lies between the innermost canal, called Singel, and the outer ring of water called Singelgracht. These concentric canals are all semi-circles whose ends meet the harbor—and it is within the boundaries of Singelgracht that you will spend most of your time. You will venture out if you are staying at a hotel away from the center, and also for sightseeing.

Leidsestraat begins at a square called Leidseplein and runs in the direction of the most congested part of town—the area in the vicinity of Amsterdam's main square—Dam.

Still another reason why Amsterdam has become a favorite of gays everywhere is that the Dutch are extremely tolerant; homosexuality is an accepted lifestyle throughout the Netherlands. The age of consent is 16—and while Amsterdamers tend to be somewhat reserved concerning public display of affection, they are otherwise among the most liberal thinkers in the world.

The city itself is quite beautiful and a favorite of all travelers. It is wonderfully Old World and modern at the same time. There are new facades on narrow cobblestoned streets—alongside old narrow houses with steep gables which lean forward almost as if ready to topple. The canals are lined with shade trees and crossed by small bridges with high humps. Barges slowly make their way along the waterways and bicycles outnumber the cars.

Look at the drain pipes. No ordinary draining tubes these; they are decorated with fanciful statuary. Look at the windows. White lace curtains everywhere, and no shades. See the cranes on the tops of the old buildings. They're used to hoist furniture in and out of the windows because the staircases are too narrow and steep for ordinary moving. Amsterdam is to everyone "typically" European; that which we believe all of Europe is, but which so often is not.

To simplify matters, all the gay listings in this article are within the confines of the gay ghetto or a short walking distance from its heart which lies along Leidsestraat. Those places lying outside the area bordered by Singelgracht are noted.

HOTELS

One of Amsterdam's most luxurious hotels is the Amsterdam Hilton. It is situated on the Apollolaan—a long walk or short taxi ride from Leidseplein. Provided you are not obvious about it there is no problem getting guests in and out.

Also in the deluxe category is the Okura, Jozef Israelskade 46. It's even farther away from Leidseplein. This is an Inter-Continental hotel and similar to the Hilton.

The beautiful Marriott on Stadhouderskade—a main thoroughfare bordering the far side of Singelgracht—overlooks Leidseplein, and is especially popular with gay guys who want to be near the action but prefer staying at a full-service hotel rather than settling in at one of the modest gay hotels.

Two hotels in the moderate category are the Grand Hotel Krasnapolsky, overlooking Dam Square, and the Carlton, Vijzelstraat 2015, not far from the Krasnapolsky. The Krasnapolsky is very much Old World and somewhat stuffy; the Carlton is reasonably modern and liked by gays who want something more than a simple room in one of the smaller gay establishments.

Those hotels which are strictly gay and are in the gay ghetto or very nearby, follow. Rates average $15-$20 for a single. Some rooms have tubs and toilets but most do not (community johns in the hallway can be quite cruisy). Being gay—hall cruising is part of the scene and entertaining guests is expected. You are advised to make reservations well in advance because space is limited—particularly in summer.

Aero Hotel, Kerkstraat 49 (phone 22 77 28). There's a gay bar downstairs, and a restaurant on the second floor.

Sunny Boys, a phone-in/send-out service for boys from 18 on up. Phone 90 89 84.

OUTSIDE CRUISING

Streets and squares in the vicinity of the bars are heavily cruised.

Amsterdam is not the greatest place in the world for john cruisers . . . but then, there's so much else to do. There are public toilets everywhere and almost always—because the city is so gay—you can make contact with the guy next to you. But leave for his place or yours. The johns in Rembrandtsplein and under the Mint Tower used to be great—but no more. Here and there are sidewalk cubicles just big enough for one to take a leak. Perhaps standing around might get you something to take home. Naturally, the cubicles in the gay ghetto afford the best possibilities; check the one at Prinsengracht and Leidsestraat.

A short distance from Leidseplein, if you walk along Stadhouderskade, there is an entrance to Vondelpark. This particular entrance leads to a narrow bushy area that comes alive at night. There is also cruising in Vondelpark proper—in and around the lakes—but the strip off Stadhouderskade is where it's happening. I suggest a stroll through during the day to familiarize yourself with the layout and its various exits. In recent years cruising has become a little difficult because of all the straight hippies in town who camp out in sleeping bags. Give it a go anyway.

Zandvoort Beach is about a half hour away by train from Central Station. When you arrive walk to the left (facing the water) to the last pavilion on the beach—called Zee Zicht; from the time you leave the train to the time you get there will take about a half hour. There are changing rooms here and you can also rent beach chairs. Now continue walking left through the dunes for about a half hour more. You'll come to a nude sunbathing area south of Post No. 71 and lots of gay action. (If there is a wait at the train station in Zandvoort when you return, note that there are two bars in town to help you pass the time. They are the Adonis, Tjerk Hiddestraat 20, and the Baccara, Stationsstraat 17.)

OTHER DIVERSIONS

If you're in the vicinity of Rembrandtsplein, check out the balcony in the Cinema Rembrandtsplein (right on the square). It's a straight movie house but the action in the rear of the dark balcony can get heavy.

Walk the streets called Oude Zijds Achterburgwal and Oude Zijds Voorburgwal. Lots of straight sex shops as well as movies and shows. On these main thoroughfares (which flank canals) and in the many side streets you'll see female prostitutes on display in shop windows. This is how they sell themselves; if the customer sees what he likes (and if you look interested and stare hard enough they'll even raise their skirts for a peek at cunt—right in the window!), he simply walks in and does it in the back. Wide open and fascinating—and the area is packed with young guys who are hot and horny—and surprisingly bisexual if you have the right words. The area is very near Dam Square.

GENERAL SIGHTSEEING

Amsterdam will keep your gay itinerary filled—but you should take a little time to do a little general sightseeing. I particularly recommend the following:

A sightseeing tour in a glass-roofed canal boat. Several companies run them from piers in front of Central Station, and alongside the Damrak, along the Rokin and the Stadhouderskade (near the Rijksmuseum). The ride lasts a little over an hour and you'll see plenty. The guides are helpful and informative.

A visit to Rijksmuseum—mainly to see Rembrandt's huge painting, "Night Watch."

A visit to A. van Moppes & Zoon, a diamond-cutting factory.

A visit to Anne Frank's house at Prinsengracht 263. This is where she and her family took refuge from the Nazis during World War II. You enter their garret apartment by way of a secret passageway. Mememtos made famous by her diary are everywhere. It's a moving experience.

A visit to Alkmaar—the Friday-morning cheese market (between May and October). Very colorful. Not far from Amsterdam; check any hotel desk for details.

If you happen to visit in spring be sure and take a tulip tour. The fields are ablaze with color. American Express has convenient tours. Ditto for visits to The Hague and Rotterdam.

USEFUL INFORMATION

Finally—in case you need legal help for whatever unforeseen reason, then go to the C.O.C. Club (phone 23 45 96). These are the people responsible for much of the sexual freedom gay Hollanders enjoy. They are political—and the club is a social center.

If you look down and discover than you have a chancre—you can be treated for VD free at Binnengasthuis Hospital, Dept. of Skin Diseases, Grimborgwal 10 (phone 26 22 33), ext. 166). Take your passport for proper identification. Treatment is confidential.

And on that unpleasant thought—we wish you a most pleasant holiday in this beautiful City of Canals!

'Bumps' And Grinds Know Your Airline Rights By Frank Keating

Most of us have had the unsettling experience of being bumped from a flight because of some real or contrived emergency—usually military or governmental—in which some bigwig had to get from A to B pronto. "National security, you know," the airline representative would glibly explain in those Nixon years. Feeling 'demoted' you'd take the bump, grind your teeth, and wait for the next flight. On the one hand you felt it unpatriotic to complain; on the other, even though the situation was patently phony it was nebulous . . . and how can you joust with Jello?

By war's end in Vietnam such military/governmental bumping no longer had validity. By then, the generals and senators were such a total power unto themselves they simply commandeered an Air Force jet and had the heavens all to themselves all their junketing way to the Riviera. This, however, didn't stop the insidious practice of airline bumping—and for reasons even more nebulous. Vacation travelers were usually those most inconvenienced because of intricate—often dovetailing—flight connections. Bumped from your originating flight, all the rest went down like dominoes.

If there's no longer the 'national emergency' ploy that worked so well for the Army brass and the peripatetic Senator Will I. Phuckyou, why has there been not only continuing, but increasing instances of bumping? For far too long this has been something the airlines have played close to the vest; in most instances they have arrogantly refused to discuss it.

So arrogant had America's largest airline become about bumping that, according to The New York Times of November 12, 1978, "United Airlines says it bumped less than one-tenth of 1 percent of the total number of passengers it carried last year, and that 40 percent of those bumped reached their destination on other flights within two hours of the originally scheduled arrival times." On this, the Times commented, "One-tenth of 1 percent may seem small, but it amounted to 19,200 passengers!"

It was because of this, and similar instances of arrogance, that provoked the Civil Aeronautics Board into promulgating new laws of on-the-spot money to the 'bumpee', which became effective in September 1978. But first . . .

WHY THE 'BUMP'?

With the canard of 'emergency' no longer a reason for bumping, airlines—like certain luxury hotels in vacation areas—began the also-insidious practice of overbooking. It's a classic example of "Which came first, the chicken or the egg?"

The idea seems to have developed with the boom in luxury-hotel construction in San Juan, Acapulco and other resort areas. With such a pitch being made for the Yankee Dollah, via fantastic advertisements and brochures, anyone planning a visit would make a reservation at this hotel . . . then, beguiled even more by an advertisement for another, would make a reservation for it as well. Perhaps a third. Of course, being 'indivisible', he couldn't stay in all three. And being inconsiderate, he didn't bother to cancel his other reservations. Result: a huge, fully-staffed, costly-to-maintain hotel, booked solid, with only half of the reservees showing up! So to assure itself of a 'full house' of guests—not 'ghosts'—such hotels began to overbook. Even when—on paper—every room was reserved, the hotel took no chances, and continued to accept reservations to as much as 20 percent over capacity. Naturally, when on occasion all, or nearly everyone, showed up at the witching hour there was hell to pay. Then followed much shuttling of overbooked guests to hotels of lesser grandeur (read 'fleabags') until a room in the original became available.

Airlines got the message. Also counting on human fallibility they began overbooking flights, having had word from their accountants that no-show reservations are no way to keep an airline solvent. So 'book 'em and bump 'em' was the practice until just recently.

Whom to seat/whom to bump can no longer be kept an arrogant secret. Full disclosure, followed by specific pay-penalties, is the law. In fairness, it must be said that there are still many occasions that are real emergencies when bumping is understandable, however teeth-grinding it is to the ticket-holder: the death of someone . . . a summons to the White House . . . even a business emergency.

In this latter event the airline doesn't want a repetition of what happened to Ralph Nader, the consumer advocate bumped from a Washington-to-Hartford flight of Allegheny Airlines in April 1972. A crowd of many thousands awaited his arrival at a fund-raising rally for consumer causes. His non-appearance resulted in a fiasco, and he promptly sued Allegheny, charging that it had fraudulently represented his reservation as having been confirmed. He won $10 in actual damages and $25,000 in punitive damages for himself, plus $51 in actual damages and $25,000 in punitive damages for the group which had sponsored his visit. As you may well imagine, this gave other airlines cause for concern, lest they do something equally cavalier.

One really has no reason to feel overly apprehensive about being bumped from an airline which is the sole airline serving a particularly city or area. The airline and the reservee can easily keep in touch with each other by phone if an emergency should occur. But when an area is served by many airlines, the temptation to bump and the possibility of bumping are more likely to occur. All those big planes must be filled to the brim. With multiple airlines serving an area (if the 'over-booked' does show up) the reserving airline can usually reschedule a flight—often no more than an hour later—or arrange for another airline to take over. Still, there is the dismal possibility that all flights of all airlines serving that area are solidly booked, and there's nothing else except to bump (unless, of course, you don't mind being strapped to a wing).

Until recently this was routinely done. With the new law, however, a definite protocol must be observed. Under the ruling the Civil Aeronautics Board mandates: "Before anyone can be bumped against his will, airlines must seek volunteers who will agree to be bumped in return for a payment of the airline's choosing. This new requirement is designed to attract travelers who have flexibility in their schedule to delay their flight willingly, in exchange for compensation, so that passengers on more urgent travel are not denied seats. If there are too few volunteers, the airlines may involuntarily bump passengers according to a priority seating plan approved by the C.A.B. and available at all ticket counters."

So on whatever airline(s) you plan to travel, be sure to check this C.A.B. ruling as it applies to your situation. If the notice isn't on display, ask to see it. Not only can you save yourself a lot of 'bumps and grinds', but make money to boot. We'd like to demonstrate how this can be done, so let's take it in sequence.

As noted, for several years airlines had been required to pay some compensation to passengers bumped from flights either in, or leaving the United States. But as gay travelers-universal had discovered to their disgust, such bumping compensation proved so low—and the airlines could slip through loopholes as easily as a K-Y'd cock through a Criscoed glory hole—the passenger was always back at Square 1. As time passed this caused the airlines to be even more get-by-with-anything. You could whistle for your money.

Under the new rules, however, a bumped passenger who reaches his original destination within 2 hours of the originally scheduled time can collect the full amount of his ticket up to maximum $200. So you get there a little later, and a little richer (and may there'll be a humpy number also bumped who can make the waiting period something less than frustrating).

What's better is this: If you arrive more than 2 hours behind schedule (4 hours on international flights) you can collect twice the value of your ticket, up to maximum $400! Moreover, you're paid cash on the barrel-head (or given a check)—no shillyshallying about "taking the matter up with our head office, and you'll be hearing from us in due course." It's now money, or you have a federal case that the airline can only lose.

SOME BUMPING TIPS

1. Mindful of the C.A.B.'s ruling about seeking volunteers, if your airline asks you to volunteer for bumping while at the airport, ask in turn about alternatives. Some airlines—notably American Airlines—have a sliding scale-inducement of from $50 to $100 for taking the egg off their overbooked faces. If your schedule is flexible, and if you don't mind being delayed (especially if you see a humpy number ass-rolling in the distance), take the loot and while away the time delightfully until your rescheduled flight is ready.

2. If you are apprehensive about the possibility of being bumped involuntarily (particularly if you have intricate connecting flights), be sure to ask the airline about its boarding priority rules. They vary. Some airlines board passengers on a first-come/first-served basis. Others observe certain humane considerations by giving priority seating to invalids (with attendants), handicapped persons—particularly the blind, to unaccompanied children, and to certain other individuals needing special care. In any case, the airline must adhere to its own set rules. It can't make them up as it goes along. Ask to see these rules, especially if they're not prominently displayed.

3. In (now) a rare eventuality the Government can requisition space on your flight. If this causes you to be involuntarily bumped you usually cannot claim compensation. You simply have to wait until another flight can accommodate you. Also, if the airline must substitute a smaller plane—usually for technical reasons—you cannot claim compensation. The idea is, that if the airline had to compensate a great number of 'bumpees' by reason of the smaller-size plane, it would be cheaper to cancel the flight.

4. If you're vacationing in Florida or other southern vacation areas served by Delta, National or Eastern Airlines, ask about their unique competitive plan of 'conditional reservations'. You'll get the oddest feeling that for once airlines really do want you to get to your vacation paradise without being bumped! Here's how the plan works:

Buy a coach ticket for a specific flight, but without a confirmed seat. Okay. When you get to the airport, if you find the coach section is full, the attendant(s) will check to see if first-class is also full. If it's not (and it rarely is), the airline will upgrade your ticket at no extra charge. It's like drinking beer and farting champagne! Now, remembering that you still have a coach ticket, if both first-class and economy are full, your fare will be refunded and you'll get the unexpected treatment of having a free seat on the next flight . . . either first-class or economy.

Now that's what we call a small miracle!

French-Fried Ice Cream

A Hot 'n Cold Dessert

By The Editors

Devotees of Chinese cooking have often been delighted with the 'sweet 'n sour' dishes . . . spareribs, for example. Delish . . . but how do they do it? Ancient Chinese secret can't be revealed. Stranger and (until now) even more secret and unrevealable is a dessert that's just as paradoxical, but instead of 'sweet 'n sour' it's hot 'n cold. Would you believe French-Fried Ice Cream?

French-Fried Ice Cream is something that'll have your dinner guests singing your praises for months to come (or cuming for months to praise). If you've been slaving away, paralyzing your masturbating arm as you whisk chocolate into a smooth mousse, or trying your hand at something that takes a day's cooking time, be at peace. This dessert, while being no fugitive from Sara Lee, is as easy to prepare (well, almost). Wanna try? Here's how it's done:

1. Chill enough champagne glasses for the number of your guests. (This is part of the magic.)

2. With the new Cuisinart you got for Christmas—or using an ordinary food chopper—chop some walnuts.

3. Stash a jar of maraschino cherries and a bunch of fresh mint in your refrigerator until serving time.

4. Choose a favorite recipe for vanilla sauce, prepare, and set aside.

Now the French-Fried Ice Cream trick:

1. Scoop ice cream (any flavor) into mounds and return to the freezer compartment. Freeze the hell out of it (before you put the 'hell' back in a little later). The ice cream must be harder than a hustler's balls.

2. When 'hustler-hard', first roll each ice-cream ball in egg white, then in almond paste (you may need several tubes of paste if you have quite a few guests), then roll in graham-cracker crumbs. Put them back in the freezing compartment. (All this may be done a day in advance to save time.)

3. Before serving, get your deep-fry kettle ready with fresh cooking oil. Don't use leftover Crisco from 'you know where'. (Exotic as it may seem, this is no time to economize.)

4. When you're ready to dazzle your guests, deep fry each ice-cream ball until it's a light golden brown. Drain on Viva or Nancy Walker.

5. Into each champagne glass place a cold, drained peach half. Onto the peach half place your ice-cream ball, then top with vanilla sauce. Toss on a cherry and your walnuts and a sprig of mint. Voila!

6. It's a nice hot 'n cold contrast to serve coffee with your French-Fried Ice Cream. You'll get nothing but raves for this dessert. And what makes it even more special is that you really have a double dessert in that your guests have an alternate taste of ice cream and marzipan (the almond paste coating). Fattening, of course, but only for a few moments . . . they'll all work it off in the orgy!

Winter Wassail Wines Of Warmth And Welcome

By The Editors

Although we're seeing a glimmer of light at the end of the tunnel of winter, the rustle of spring is yet to be heard; there are still many cold days ahead. If you've entertained lots and lavishly, yet somehow feel that you're running out of ideas on how to welcome guests with something other than cliché cocktails, why not 'mull' over another kind of winter wassail—mulled wines? Not only do they warm the cockles of the heart, but are far lighter on the wallet now that liquor prices have made home entertaining an endangered species.

If you'd like to try one or more of these 'wine warmers' note the surprised and delighted looks of your guests once they've sipped them. You may find that they get your party off to a more convivial start than a more elaborate and expensive serving from your bar. These recipes can be prepared mostly in advance. With a few little extra 'ruffles and flourishes' at serving time you can also make quite a production of them. A joy to the eye . . . a cossetting comfort for the soul. The first is the simplest and showiest:

MULLED CLARET

This is especially effective if you have a fireplace. Clean an iron poker and stick it in the glowing coals until it's red hot. Now in individual metal mugs combine in each mug 5 ounces claret; the juice of $\frac{1}{2}$ lemon (freshly squeezed); 1 lump of sugar; 1 dash bitters; and 1 teaspoon of mixed cinnamon and nutmeg (grind fresh for a better drink). Now as you prepare to serve each guest, dip the red-hot poker into the mug until the wine is hot. Serve. Goo-o-d!

PINKY CHABLIS PUNCH

You can do this moments before your guests arrive. Into a $2\frac{1}{2}$ quart saucepan, pour 1 big (46-ounce) can of Hawaiian Punch; 1 bottle ($\frac{4}{5}$ quart) of a decent white Chablis; cut a lemon into thin slices; add the lemon and $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon ground cardamom. Bring to a boil, lower the heat and simmer for 5 minutes. Serve in small cups. This recipe makes $2\frac{1}{4}$ quarts, so prepare according to the number of guests you'll serve.

CREAMY HOT WINE NOG

Delicious (and fattening . . . but what the hell). Into a large bowl beat $1\frac{1}{2}$ pints heavy (whipping cream); 4 eggs; 1 cup of sugar; 1 teaspoon of freshly-ground nutmeg; and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon of freshly ground coriander. Beat until smooth (use your blender or mixer). Now, in a 2-quart saucepan heat 1 bottle ($\frac{4}{5}$ quart) of a German white wine (Blue Nun is fine) just until it reaches a boil. Use a wire whisk (or even just a big kitchen spoon) and beat into this your whipped-cream mixture. Continue to beat over low heat until pipin hot. Do not boil. Serve in small nog or punch cups. A sprinkle of nutmeg will give it more class. This makes $2\frac{1}{4}$ quarts.

MULLED MARSALA

Into your $2\frac{1}{2}$ -quart saucepan, pour 1 bottle ($\frac{4}{5}$ quart) good Marsala wine; 1 quart freshly-squeezed orange juice; $\frac{1}{2}$ cup good brandy; juice of 1 lemon, plus 1 lemon cut into thin slices; 1 teaspoon ground mace; and a 12-ounce jar of red currant jelly. Bring to a boil, lower the heat and simmer for 5 minutes. Serve in small cups or punch servers. This recipe yields 2 quarts.

If you have some pretty demitasse china, these small cups will serve well for any of these drinks, except, as noted, for the mulled claret where you'll need metal mugs for the poker.

Wassail!

GOOD HEALTH & SEXUAL VIGOR CAN BE YOURS

Vitamins are substances which are required by the body if it is to function properly. They are normally provided by foods, but not always in sufficient quantities. This is particularly true of processed foods which have been depleted of their vitamin content.

When extraordinary demands tax the body its nutrients are drained and must be replenished. We do this through proper nutrition; by eating good foods and supplementing our meals with vitamins and minerals. Those of us who have sex every day are especially concerned about the ability to perform successfully and safeguard against impotency—a condition which may be aggravated when certain nutrients are lacking . . . particularly those vitamins associated with sexual potency.

First and foremost the sexually-active adult should take a powerful multi-vitamin & mineral tablet daily for his general well being. During times of stress, and particularly the type which is associated with sex, the body requires more energy and therefore demands additional B vitamins to assist in the metabolic processes. Vitamin E is associated with sexual prowess and is consumed by thousands of sexually-active people who attribute their drive in great part to this vitamin. Bee pollen is gathered from the bee colonies and unsprayed flower fields in Southern Europe—where it is believed that bee pollen has aphrodisiacal properties. Korean Ginseng, particularly highest quality "heaven grade" processed from roots that are at least six years old, has for thousands of years been considered a wondrous rejuvenator and reactivator of the sexual organs in the Orient.

With this knowledge we have combined the highest-quality natural food supplements available for sexually-active adults. Three Sex Combos are available to meet the most discriminating requirements—and only you will know their value after you have added them to your diet. And like hundreds of others now taking Sex Combos we believe you too will find a new and livelier sexual awareness in your life.

The components may be purchased separately, but greater savings are realized when they are bought as Sex Combo packages.

1979 GAY TRAVEL DIRECTORY

From The Editors Of Ciao!—The Most Celebrated Gay Travel Magazine In The World—A 1979 International Travel Directory Containing Nearly 4,000 Up-To-Date And Accurate Keyed Names And Addresses Of Gay Hotels, Bars, Baths, Movie Houses, Book/Sex Shops, Meeting Places And Action Spots Throughout The U.S.A., Canada, Mexico, Central America, The Caribbean, South America, Europe, Africa, The Middle East, Asia, And The Pacific . . . Your Passport To Gay Adventure In A Compact Booklet Small Enough To Fit In Your Pocket!

THE MOST ACCURATE GAY TRAVEL DIRECTORY IN THE WORLD

Nearly all existing gay travel directories are "rip-offs" of guides published years ago—providing information which is no longer valid. The editors of our gay travel magazine span the world—constantly gathering information for Ciao! They have prepared our 1979 gay travel directory—which we call "Private Stock." It contains nearly 4,000 accurate and up-to-date names and addresses of gay establishments and meeting places everywhere in the world—conveniently arranged by country and city in alphabetical order. By utilizing a concise system of "keys" we are able to present detailed information about each listing; the keys are so arranged that you can instantly interpret them and learn everything you need to know—whether a place is entirely gay, what you will encounter—young guys, old guys, sex, no booze, entertainment, food, lesbians, hustlers, muggers, cops, even dangerous animals (in jungle meat-racks!). And we dare to bare it all—including johns on college campuses, in subways and department stores that swing. By using small type which is easy to read we are able to cram all this valuable information in a compact booklet which is securely stapled together in magazine form and small enough (3x5) to fit in your shirt pocket. Its cover is durable and leather-grained with absolutely no "tell-tale" printing so that discreet travelers can use it anywhere. Plus other features such as where to look for sex in college towns, and how much hustlers are paid—and how to handle them. Published annually—"Private Stock" is the only gay travel directory you need . . . the only one you will ever want. It is your personal address book for hot times! Sent via certified 1st class.

The Greatest Invention Since The Human Mouth ACCU-JAC New Variable Speed Model

If you are into masturbation then ACCU-JAC is for you. It is a professionally engineered massaging device that took four years of research and development.

ACCU-JAC uses alternating air pressure to move a smooth massaging membrane on the erect penis. The stroking motion is total and incorporates pressurized air flow which produces suction and compression to drive the massaging sleeve back and forth, thus approximating actual fellatio. This total massage combined with gentle suction results in violent climax.

No electrical parts ever touch you. ACCU-JAC is completely safe and entirely harmless. It is gentler than the hand or actual fellatio. A warranty is included to protect all electrical and mechanical parts.

The basic unit includes everything you need to use ACCU-JAC . . . there are no extras to buy. Additional sleeves for a variety of unusual sensations are available for later purchase. They are detailed in literature which accompanies ACCU-JAC and also in our 1978 Catalog advertised elsewhere in this magazine.

It is crucial that you furnish exact measurements of your erect penis to ensure perfect fit of the sleeve sent with your unit. If you are purchasing ACCU-JAC with a friend order an additional sleeve for the second person if his size is different from yours and/or you intend to use ACCU-JAC simultaneously with a T-connection accessory (see coupon).

If you wish to learn more about ACCU-JAC before purchasing see our detailed report in the February 1975 QQ Magazine. Send $3.50 ($4.50 in Canada & Mexico; $5.00 all other countries) for a copy; $1 for a Xerox copy of the report. Address on coupon.

Our prices include all shipping charges and taxes where applicable. We ship via insured parcel post. Cartons are sturdy and carefully packed and bear no revealing markings. U.S. residents desiring air service please add $10 to your order. A money-order or charge expedites shipment. Sorry, no C.O.D.'s. Price reflects manufacturer's 1978 increase. You must be over 21 to order.

1979 GAY TRAVEL DIRECTORY

From The Editors Of Ciao!—The Most Celebrated Gay Travel Magazine In The World—A 1979 International Travel Directory Containing Nearly 4,000 Up-To-Date And Accurate Keyed Names And Addresses Of Gay Hotels, Bars, Baths, Movie Houses, Book/Sex Shops, Meeting Places And Action Spots Throughout The U.S.A., Canada, Mexico, Central America, The Caribbean, South America, Europe, Africa, The Middle East, Asia, And The Pacific . . . Your Passport To Gay Adventure In A Compact Booklet Small Enough To Fit In Your Pocket!

THE MOST ACCURATE GAY TRAVEL DIRECTORY IN THE WORLD

Nearly all existing gay travel directories are "rip-offs" of guides published years ago—providing information which is no longer valid. The editors of our gay travel magazine span the world—constantly gathering information for Ciao! They have prepared our 1979 gay travel directory—which we call "Private Stock." It contains nearly 4,000 accurate and up-to-date names and addresses of gay establishments and meeting places everywhere in the world—conveniently arranged by country and city in alphabetical order. By utilizing a concise system of "keys" we are able to present detailed information about each listing; the keys are so arranged that you can instantly interpret them and learn everything you need to know—whether a place is entirely gay, what you will encounter—young guys, old guys, sex, no booze, entertainment, food, lesbians, hustlers, muggers, cops, even dangerous animals (in jungle meat-racks!). And we dare to bare it all—including johns on college campuses, in subways and department stores that swing. By using small type which is easy to read we are able to cram all this valuable information in a compact booklet which is securely stapled together in magazine form and small enough (3x5) to fit in your shirt pocket. Its cover is durable and leather-grained with absolutely no "tell-tale" printing so that discreet travelers can use it anywhere. Plus other features such as where to look for sex in college towns, and how much hustlers are paid—and how to handle them. Published annually—"Private Stock" is the only gay travel directory you need . . . the only one you will ever want. It is your personal address book for hot times! Sent via certified 1st class.
