From the Editor

- Jeff Wesley

It certainly gladdens my heart to be able to bring you an article about someone like Disco Grandma. Her story is certainly a welcome change from stories of police problems and moralizing lawmakers. It is people like her that help make our community so varied and interesting. She also tends to restore any faith you may have had in humanity, bringing Motherly love and concern to those who have often been denied it.

I only wish every parent that ever spurned one of their own offspring for being Gay or any reason could read about this enchanting woman, Disco Grandma. Maybe then they would realize the love that their children have - for those who will accept them as they are.

Disco Grandma came to the disco unsure of her own acceptance, but with a desire to have a good time. I'm sure that we have all been in that position at least once in our lives, that first time we "went out to the bar." Disco Grandma has definitely found acceptance but moreover, she has found a need for affection and understanding that only a Grandmother can give. Here's to you, Grandma, may you keep on rocking.

Radio Gay Houston

The Houston Gay Community is fortunate in being one of the few in the nation that have their own Gay radio program. Wilde'n'Stein, styling itself as "Gay Radio in Houston!" is a regularly scheduled program aired by Pacifica Radio (KPFT 90.1 fm) on wednesday nights in the 11 to 12 p.m. timeslot. Ray Hill, one of the community's more prominent activists, host the weekly show. Assisting Ray in the production are a group of dedicated individuals known as the Wilde'n'Stein Collective. These people donate time and energy to making the show one of the most listened to programs in the kpft schedule.

Currently KPFT is raising money to meet it's operating expenses(the Pacifica Station being wholly funded by grants and listener subscription). Whether you agree with everything you hear on the controvsial talk show or not, it is in the interest of the community to support it. We at LXIX strongly urge all those supportive of the Gay Community to become a listener and a subscriber.

You are always welcome

City Council Adopts Porn Standards

City Council has unanimously adopted a statement written by the Greater Houston Clergy Association defining what it calls community standards on what constitutes pornography.

Although the statement has no legal force, Mayor Jim McConn said it presages development of an anti-pornography ordinance, which the city legal department is expected to submit to council this summer.

A federal judge nullified a previous anti-pornography ordinance on the grounds that it was vague, too broad and tried to eliminate, not regulate, establishments selling explicit sexual books and films.

Rev. Dr. Albert Walling, president of the clergy association, praised McConn and council after the statement was adopted Wednesday, February first.

The statement puts council on record as opposing the sale or display of pornographic materials in stores, movie houses or other public places.

Here is the statement which council adopted:

"Sec. 1: That the City Council hereby adopts the statement of community standards promulgated by the community standards committee of the Greater Houston Clergy Association which statement reads as follows:

"We oppose the sale and showing or displaying of obscene and pornographic materials in stores and shops of our community. We also object to the showing of obscene and pornographic films in movie houses, arcades of book stores, hotels or motels and any other public place in our community.

"We understand the word obscene to mean as Webster's dictionary defines it: offensive to modesty or decency; lewd; disgusting, filthy, repulsive (language, conduct, remarks, pictures, acts).

"We understand the word pornography (from Greek porne, a prostitute) to mean as Webster defines it: having the nature of pornography, obscene.

"We find particularly objectionable the displays which include but are not limited to the following:

"Public portrayal of:

"1. Acts of oral or anal copulation (sodomy).

"2. Juvenile or adult masturbation (male or female).

"3. Sado-masochistic acts.

"4. Any lewd exhibition of the genitals such as depictions of male erections.

"5. Child molestation.

"6. Male homosexual acts or lesbianism.

"7. Acts of incest.

"8. Males or females copulating with animals (bestiality).

"9. Any other displays of sexual perversion.

"10. Acts of intercourse publicly portrayed.

"We find such public display of sexuality offensive, below our moral standards and we believe below the community standards of the majority of citizens of Houston, Texas."

Dignity Writes Pope

The Gay Roman Catholics of Dignity, Inc., have sent an open telegram to Pope Paul asking him to "speak out equally in behalf of the civil and human rights of Roman Catholic homosexual persons according to the norms of Vatican II and the recent Vatican declaration on human sexuality."

Walter Kay, president of the international Catholic group, hopes the telegram will stir the Pope to some type of public response, publicly repudiating the activities and statements of the Catholic Bishops of Wichita. "I pledge that the 6,000 members of Dignity, predominantly Roman Catholic, will cooperate with other groups in the United States dedicated to preserving human and civil rights, and to work to insure that anti-homosexual bigots are not successful in their attempts to undermine the United States constitution.

The bishop of Wichita, David Maloney, has declared that he will not obey a city ordinance granting civil rights to Gay people. The letter to Pope Paul began by praising him for his recent "heroic offer" to exchange his life for those hostages held by terrorists in the Middle East. The letter further supported the Pope's statements discouraging the "reactionary and anti-Vatican II beliefs of Archbishop Lefevre in his attempt to lead Catholics astray and back into the Middle Ages."

OUR MISS BROOKS

The anti - "pornography" forces in Houston are back in action (See related article page 5) attempting to spread their idea of community standards to everybody's community. And chances are the High Priestess of the Smut Stompers, Geneva Kirk Brooks, is touching up her makeup to stage a comeback sometime soon.

Geneva Brooks is an admitted homophobe who once "forgot" her opposition to pornography in the process of preparing a news release: She quoted from a short story in "Hustler" magazine to illustrate an anti-Gay statement.

Brooks works as fervently underground as she does in public, sending news releases to out-of-state publications, many containing slanderous statements about Gay and Gay-supportive persons and organizations in Houston. She claims to have extensively supported Anita Bryant's "Save our Children" campaign. Her personal campaign of the moment seems to be the removal of "the homosexual influences called Humanism" from Houston schools. She ran in the recent school board election and will probably try to run again.

stated that the Chief and the police force "were the most overpaid unskilled labor force in the city". He chrged that Caldwell participated in illegal police intelligence activities under a previous administration.

CITY CLERK COMES OUT

Seattle city clerk Wayne Angevine revealed his homosexuality to illustrate a point when he was presented a citizens initiative to repeal a law protecting homosexuals from job discrimination.

"Someone has to come out and start explaining us to the public," Angevine said. "We have to start telling people that we aren't just a lot of weirdos in skirts and lipsticks. We're everyone - the mailman, the guy who runs the corner drug store, the policeman - statistically, at least three out of every 20 people you see on the street and probably more," said Angevine.

The initiative was filed by police officer David Estes who said that he opposes homosexuality on religious grounds and wants to lead a drive to gather 17,600 signatures to force an election on the subject.

"I believe the laws of God don't change," Estes said. "And it is clearly stated in the Bible that homosexual conduct is wrong."

Angevine says that he expects some negative reactions to his coming out. "There will be some strange looks at City Hall and some crank phone calls. . ."

Here in Houston, the response is a little more destructive. Gary Van Ootegham lost his job in the Harris County comptroller's office after he came out publicly.

Angevine claims that he was "the perfect closet homosexual" until about five years ago. "I did everything that was expected of me. . .got married, had children." His marriage broke up after his first homosexual contacts five years ago.

Lesbian Convention Set

A founding convention of the National Lesbian Organization is set for March 17-19 in Los Angeles. Following the success of the lesbian resolution at IWY in Houston, energy has been running high, and convention organizers feel "it is time to move and establish a structure to push forward with plans of action to achieve our goals." One hundred representatives will be chosen according to geographic regions and the "relative amount of known lesbian political activity in that area." Lesbian feminists wishing to be considered as representatives may contact the Ad Hoc Committee at 8706 Cadillac Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90034.

Gay Lutherans to Convene

The first national convening of the members of .utherans Concerned has been scheduled for July 7, 8 ınd 9 in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Assembly '78 is being billed by organizers as "an ıpportunity for worship, workshops, speakers and lecisions about Lutherans Concerned." The site and ates were chosen with an eye to the national convenion of the three million-member Lutheran Church in ımerica, which will be held the following week in :hicago. Chicago itself was bypassed as site-of-choice ›r Assembly '78 out of respect for the boycott called by ıe National Council of Churches and the National)rganization for Women. The boycott is aimed at the conomics of all 15 states that have not yet ratified the qual Rights Amendment.

Lutherans Concerned was founded almost 4 years go as an organization of Gay and non-Gay people, astors and laypeople from the Lutheran Church. It has ıapters in 20 American cities.

HOUSTON BOYCOTT

In Houston, the COORS boycott is doing quite well. It is apparent that one of the five Houston area Coors distributors is facing the loss of his distributorship due to declining sales attributed to the boycott. It is expected that his territory, which includes Montrose, will be split among the remaining four distributors. The drop in sales has occurred not only in Bars, but also in local supermarkets.

They COORS boycott began several months ago in this area after a decision was made at the National Gay Leadership Conference held last August in Denver Colorado to endorse and support the boycott. This joined an effort by the striking Brewery Workers Union initiating a national boycott. Union members were objecting to unreasonable hiring and personnel practices. Of importance to the Gay community was the adamant refusal by COORS to include a clause in the Brewery Workers contract assuring non-discrimination for reasons of sexual or affectional preference. Gay leaders also voted to demand that COORS cease advertising in those publications which invariably took negative position on the Gay Rights issue.

Locally, the Houston Gay Political Caucus voted to support the recommended boycott. Recently, COORS representatives offered to fund a $50,000 research program on the attitudes of Houstonians toward Gay people to be done by the University of Houston in an attempt to end the boycott in Houston. This offer was rejected at the last meeting of the Gay Political Caucus as an attempted "buy-off" of the Gay community. It was felt that while information gained from such a study would be useful, its benefit would not offset the evil of discriminatory hiring practices on the part of COORS.

It was the sense of the caucus that its membership should not only support the boycott, but should actively encourage it among retailers and consumers.

Disco Grandma

If you go to the Disco bars, chances are you've met or seen the short, silver - haired lady with the warm, dazzling smile. Like all the other familiar faces at the bars, "Disco Grandma" goes where the crowd is to dance, party, and be with the people she loves: the Houston Gay community. She participated in the Human Rights rally January 8th. "I was standing on the podium with Ray (Hill)", she says proudly.

Disco Grandma got her name when Ernestine, a drag queen, approached her during a show and asked her who she was. Leary of releasing her real name to a large audience (as she still is - she will not allow it to be printed), she recalled a name her son's lover had jokingly given her that day. "I'm Disco Grandma," she said.

It was her son and his lover of seventeen years (whom she refers to as her son-in-law) who first brought D.G. to the bars back in June of 1977. She wasn't sure how people would react to her, and her son assured her that she would be accepted. She was surprised to find herself instantly accepted and loved. "That first night I went out. . .there was this young boy who had recently lost his grandmother. We sat out in front of the Old Plantation and talked for hours.

"I guess I'd be rich if I could have a five dollar bill for every time some boy told me he'd give anything in the world if his mother or grandmother had been like me. I love these kids, they're my life. I wouldn't trade places with anyone in the world."

What was her reaction when her son told her that he was Gay? "He didn't have to tell me," she says, "I knew. My son and I have always been very close, as we still are." Since she started going out with her son and son-in-law, she says, there has been an even tighter, mor open and loving relationship between the three.

Disco Grandma rarely has to pay for her own drink "They usually get to my table before I do!" she says, re ferring, of course, to the stageside table she reserve every Sunday for the drag show at the Old Plantatio She was also once told by the manager of the Midnit Sun that she would not be allowed to pay for drink there.

Disco Grandma is the adopted family of many Gay whose own families have turned away from them. Sh gets calls from friends every day who report to her the problems, interests, fears, joys, and heartbreaks. Ar she always listens with an understanding ear. She onc told Gay activist Ray Hill that there should be some kir of an organization to teach people to love each othe

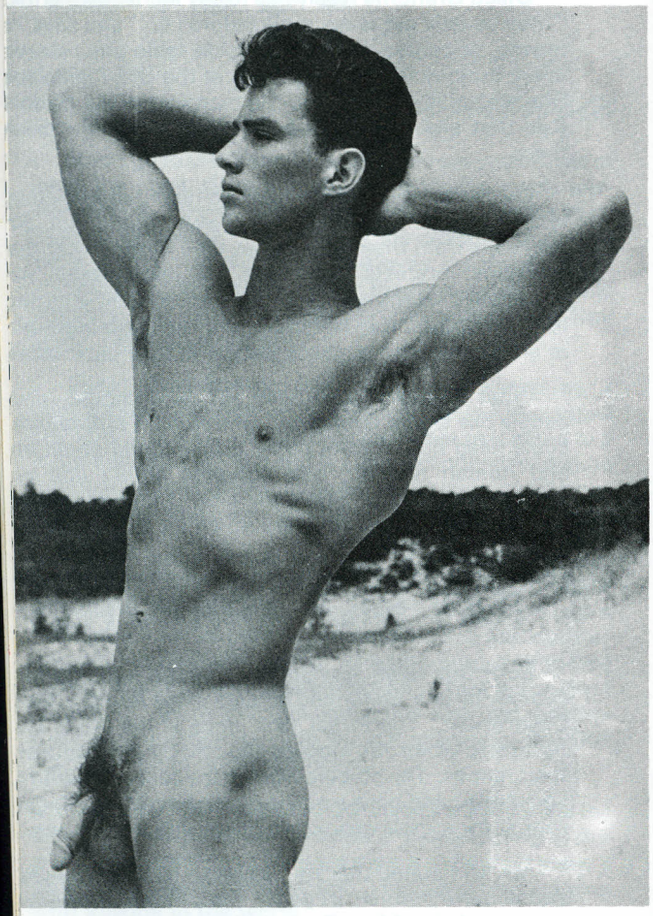

What the world does need are more honest, lovir people like Disco Grandma. She sets an example th could keep others from being disillusioned about lo and human nature. She accepted others and w accepted in return. She's the kind of person that yc want to tell, "Thank you very much for being who ar what you are."

RAY HILL ARRESTED

Early this week, Gay activist Ray Hill was taken ir custody by four uniformed officers of the Houston Poli Department. The arrest took place at the After Da bookstore when Hill stopped the officers and request their names. The officers were in the bookstore with t knowledge and consent of the managment to allege search for a male suspected of robbing bookstores.

Mr. Hill stated that he "objected to the demeani and abusive manner in which the officers interview patrons of the After Dark. After spending the nig as a guest of the City on the floor of the drunk ta at 61 Riesner St., Hill was released when the Distr Attorney's office were unable to charge him with a offense.

Coors beer BOYCOTT UPDATE

Reprinted from the BAY AREA REPORTER

The Adolph Coors Company has announced that it will now broaden its beer operation into two additional states - Washington and Missouri. By mid-1978, 25 new distributors (owned by Coors) will begin operating in those states, bringing to 16 the number of states selling COORS. The fourth largest brewery in the country recently became the fifth largest as sales dropped in California. (Also in Texas.) The striking Brewery Workers Union here, in Golden, claims that the boycott of Coors has necessitated the expansion in other states.

Joe Coors, recently elevated to the presidency of the Coors empire, is well aware of one significant aspect of the boycott - the Gay bar boycott of Coors. In order to combat this trend, Joe purchased full-page advertisements in some Gay newspapers to claim that, "we" do not get involved in "controversial" issues such as the equal rights of Gays and women.

Joe Coors did not explain the lie detector test given to all prospective employees, which inquires about their personal lives. Nor did he comment on his founding of Washington, D.C., groups that lobby and support candidates and issues that are anti-women and anti-Gay.

Joe Coors does not tell the Gay community that he was a major supporter of Ronald Reagan for President. It is Reagan who said that homosexuals "need psychiatric care." Coors also poured money into Reagan's effort in Florida during the primary. The Reagan effort in Florida was headed by Mike Thompson, a notorious anti-homosexual who later became the director of Save Our Children, Inc.

Coors has reluctantly admitted that he has support-d the John Birch Society with many thousands of ollars. The Birch AMERICAN OPINION magazine as run advertisements for the Coors Porcelain Com- any, part of the Coors operation in Golden.

Joe Coors must be aware that the Birch Society has epeatedly praised Police Chief Ed Davis of Los Angeles
r his anti-Gay stand. Davis has spoken at Birch nctions on homosexuality. Coors might have read in is copy of OPINION that Metropolitan Community
hurch is the "pervert" church.

Through his Washington, D.C., contacts, Joe Coors
ust be aware that the Birch's number one spokes-erson in the capital is Rep. Lawrece McDonald
) - Georgia) who recently introduced an amendment
the Legal Assistance Bill which would bar poor Gays om receiving free legal aid.

No one can recall Joe Coors protesting when the ay, 1977, Birch Magazine ran a major article, "There No Such Thing As A Good Fairy." The article says
e real issue is "whether homosexuals have the right commit perversion." It had a full-page photo of a ouston youth's head being placed in a wheelbarrow.
ne caption reads, "So much for alleged pervert rights."

Joe Coors is protected at the factory by public relaons men who do not discuss politics. They say that the olitics of Joe Coors is a private matter. They also do ot discuss the Coors Employees Political Action
roup that collects money to support ultra-conservative oliticians, nor do they discuss Joe Coors' personal abit of collecting large sums from employees to support candidates that oppose social legislation and minority rights in the nation's capital.

In a conversation that I had with Holly Coors, Joe's wife, I clearly identified myself as a reporter for a Gay newspaper; so if she claims a confidence has been broken, I do not feel that such a claim is justified. At one point she asked me if I was "going to print all of this" and I replied that I was not taping anything. However, I was taking extensive notes.

Early in the interview, Holly said that "Gay militants" had threatened the Coors family and so she had to be careful what she said. She said that she "believed" that Joe shared her views.

Holly Coors is one of the most charming, naive, and misguided persons with whom I have ever talked. Closeted away in her Golden, Colorado, estate, she holds firm to her conviction that there should be "hope" for the homosexual who wishes to give up that "sinful" life. She supports Kings Ministry, a "born again" group of allegedly "former" homosexuals who wish to help Gay people who want to try to become heterosexual.

Joe Coors' wife spoke warmly of homosexuals who, she says, should have a "good alternative if they want out. If they want out, the church should help them, as they should help alcoholics or any other sinners." She adds, "Of course, we are all sinners."

Why did she think the Coors Company had a lie detector test that some homosexuals felt screened them out as potential employees ? . . . "Well, they want to ge the best people. Homosexuals are not any less mora than anyone else. Maybe they are trying to find out if a person has a criminal record."

Organized homosexuals seemed to bother Holly Coors. She said that homosexuals should not deman their rights as a special group, that this was "asking fo special treatment." "However," she added, "they shoul have equal civil rights too."

Holly commented on the subject of homosexuality becoming so well publicized. She said that she even used the word, Gay, because "everyone does." She felt that the publicity given to homosexuality had made it a "fad" for some people. Joe's wife said that Gay people should not be "locked into it."

In a moment of real concern, Holly Coors said that the parents of a Gay woman had come to her for advice. Their daughter had gone to live with other women. Holly thought that this was unfortunate. She said that some Gay groups tell such people "that there is no hope" if you are Gay. She concluded, "There should be help for those who need help."

The Golden woman said, "We are Christians - Episcopalians" and was surprised when told that her church had taken a liberal stand on homosexuality. She later said that she knew that there were some Gay Episcopal priests. "I know some," she said laughingly.

The somewhat disorganized conversation ended with talk about Christianity. I asked if a person could be a good Christian and a practicing homosexual and she replied that it was possible. It was "a personal matter between the person and the Lord. The Lord wants us all, you know. Some just don't know where to go for help."

The interview concluded when Holly Coors asked if I were a Christian. I said, "No, agnostic." She laughed and said, "Well, you are honest. I want to say that I love the Lord Jesus Christ. That is what it is all about. I hope you find your way to accept Him."

Houston -Gay community asked to assist leadership in compiling information concerning police irregularities. Interested parties are requested to call and leave word for Ray Hill at KPFT Radio, 526-4000.
