6 CHAT
Lee Tergesen, who plays the wiley Tobias Beecher on HBO's Oz, says his relationship with hunky Chris Meloni depicts the sorts of pairings men develop in prison — and gay men seem to approve.

10 FITNESS
Odds 'n ends — several items related to sexual health, from whether to bite on those Internet spams advertising penis enlargment (don't), to whether circumcision is necessary or desirable (again, don't).

14 FILM
Edgy filmmaker Todd Solondz newest release, the two-vignette Storytelling, disappoints with its self-censorship to avoid an NC-17 rating.

18 FEATURE
The love that hurts? Why, it's no farther away than your kitchen, where you'll find all kinds of kinky pervertables that say "I Love You."

allow the physician to take your blood and insert it in a machine in the doctor's own office. Within 15 minutes, you will have a reliable measurement of free and total PSA in your blood. Approved by the FDA, this system will be coming to a urologist near you.

• Yet another study has been published suggesting that the spermicidal nonoxynol-9, which has been shown to kill the HIV virus in test tubes, may actually increase the rate of transmission when used as a lubricant during sex. Researchers found that the rate of HIV infection was 50 percent higher when nonoxynol was an ingredient in the lubricant used. Users of N-9 had a higher rate of genital lesions that are often gateways for HIV. Some have referred to N-9 as detergent that can scrub away good tissue to reveal blood. Since this study was performed on women, the use of N-9 in men (specifically in the rectum) was not examined. However, one would assume that the spermicidal has the same impact on any mucous tissue.

• If you're tired of latex, good news! A new and better option could be on the shelves of your pharmacy soon. A recent study of the California Family Health Council has shown there's a new choice that's just as viable as latex rubbers you grew up with. It's made from a material called styrene ethylene butylenes (SEBS). The SEBS got high marks for being easy to unroll, fitting well, allowing more sensitivity and no breakage as compared to latex and polyurethane condoms. It was also judged more attractive, quieter and less smelly than latex. The SEBS condoms have been FDA approved but as of yet are not being marketed to the public.

• And for those of you who suffer from being orally sensitive or have the gay-for-bidden "gag reflex" — good news! A study by dentists who were concerned about their patients with a serious gag reflex used acupressure and acupuncture. The dentists were able to completely control the reflex by stimulating their patients P-6 regions. The P-6 region is in no special place; rather, place your first three fingers of your right hand on your partner's left arm (inside wrist) and press. While you press (and he pleases you) both of you should be very happy without a gag!

As always, I wish you the best in your quest for the best for yourself. Questions, comments? Feel free to send e-mail to the address listed elsewhere in this column.

John Goodman blows up at the possible homosexuality of his son, while submissive wife Julie Hagerty goes into denial.

student bondage and sexcapades. When it comes time to "do the deed," he makes her remove her clothes and stand against the wall. As he drops his pants and steps up behind her, suddenly a large red rectangle covers that portion of the screen. Apparently, sex from behind is too much for our sensitive eyes. But her repetitive screaming of, "Fuck me hard, nigger!" is practically G-rated in the minds of the MPAA.

Hypocritical? Oh, yeah. Pointless? Definitely. Will it be on the DVD version? You bet your sore ass it will.

The disgust I feel for "Fiction" — the omissions, not the segment itself — makes it hard to focus with any seriousness on "Non Fiction," the second installment where we finally get some of the undiluted brilliance of Mr. Solondz's early films. Retreating once again to the horrors lurking among the White Middle Class Family, his wit and flair finally get a chance to run wild, even if the territory seems awfully familiar. When a loser named Toby (Paul Giamatti) decides to become a documentary filmmaker, for lack of anything better to do with his life, life forever changes for the Livingston Clan — his film's dramatic core.

It seems that young Scooby (Mark Webber) is the ideal embodiment of teen-age ambivatable while his submissive wife (Julie Hagerty) quietly passes the potatoes. Scooby denies his gayness, but he does let his best male friend give him a blowjob every now and again.

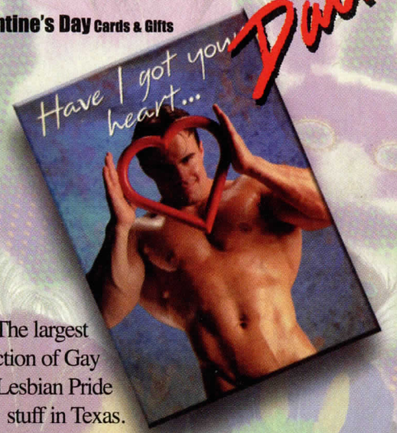

The villain (and brilliance) of "Non Fiction" emerges slowly and unexpectedly in the form of a child (which is definitely art imitating life, if you ask me). Young Mikey (Jonathan Osser) is wide-eyed, well-behaved and — surprise, surprise — Pure Evil. After the family maid (Lupe Ontiveros) gets the news that her son has been executed on Death Row, little Mikey tells her that her life isn't that bad and that she should stop crying and go clean up the juice he spilled in the kitchen. Meanwhile, Scooby quickly learns the side effects of fame before coming home to a grand finale which wraps things up in true Solondz fashion.

All in all, there are some delicious tidbits in Storytelling, but the signature Solondz schtick is beginning to wear a little thin. What seemed original, shocking and unapologetic in Dollhouse and Happiness now feels like a cold plate of leftovers with just enough salsa added to cover up the blandness now and again.

I will forever be distracted by what didn't make it on the screen, so my assessment may not be completely fair. Perhaps one day,

Xtreme beats

Dynamite dance, trance compilations hit the shelves

beat

by jimmy smith

Native Texan Jimmy Smith writes about club music news and trends. His column appears weekly. He can be reached by e-mail at Qbeatstx@aol.com

In the summer of 1999, Xtreme Records was created by Dave Mondo. His experience as the owner of one of the leading DJ specialty shops in the country gave Dave a unique perspective regarding the upcoming trends and sounds bursting up from the underground.

He formed Xtreme Records as a label that would showcase those sounds and develop the young talent and innovators involved in it. To reach that end, he would release successive singles to support those sounds as well as CD compilations to showcase the talent behind the decks as well as in the studio.

With the immediate addition of George Calle as Director of A&R, he was able to not only release singles that would support the sound of the Tri-State Underground, but also to mold it. George brings a unique perspective to the label with his many years of all types of goodies for the gurls — Iio's "Rapture," Kosheen's "Hide U" (one of my personal faves), Deb Cox's "Absolutely Not," Amber's "Yes," Wendy Phillips' "Stay," plus the new Digital Allies feat, Rich Luzzi, and more. (That Rich Luzzi is quite a morsel of manliness, by the way). There's also the Dance Party Megamix as a bonus track. I've been wearing this CD out in the gym.

Next up is a lovely new Trace comp from Logic Records, Timeless Trance—Midnight Sessions, mixed by Victor Dinaire.

"I was always into music as a kid, but didn't really get into dance music until the early '90s when I was throwing parties at the Limelight, Tunnel, and Palladium," Victor writes. "It was great working for all three nightclubs, because I got a taste of three different scenes — the gay scene, the rave scene and the mainstream where he was playing."

be a DJ and producer. But I was busy and extremely afraid to try, even though I always felt I could make an impact. While the crowd was dancing and having a great time, I always observed the people's reactions to the way DJs worked them. My favorite DJ to observe was Junior Vasquez. It was from him that I learned to work a crowd by setting dramatic sequences with key records. For me, the best moments in a club were the late Nights at the Tunnel,

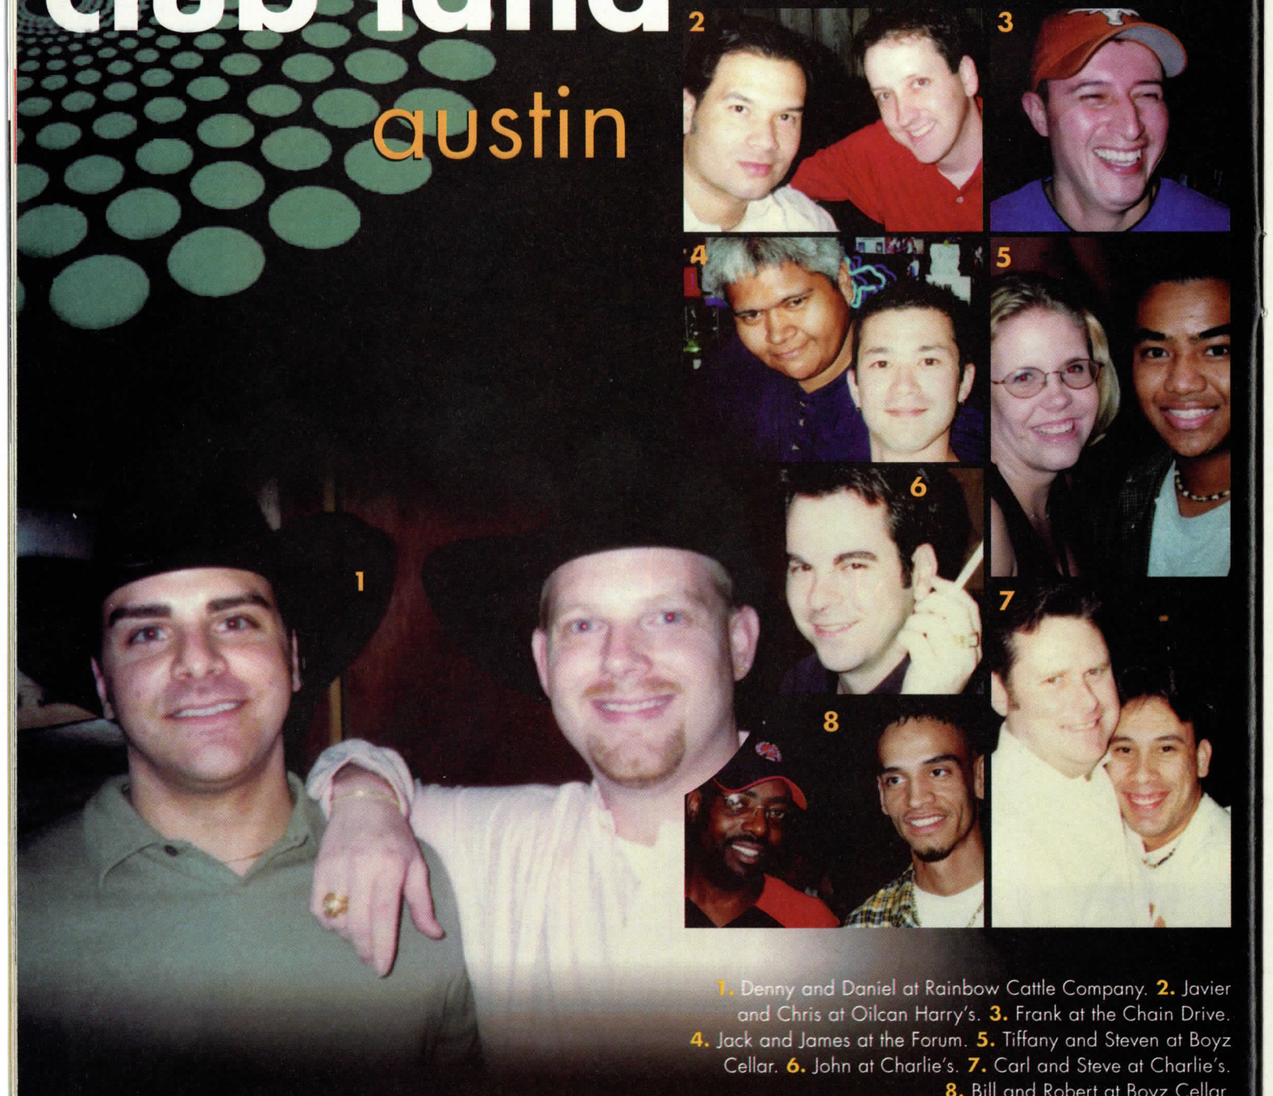

The CD features such lovelies as AWeX's "It's Our Future" (Alex Flatner Mix), Members of Mayday's "Sonic Empire," DJ Tomcraft's "The Mission," Yves Deruyter's "Feel Free" (Original Mix), Blank & Jones's "Cream" (Paul Van Dyk Remix), Binary Finary's "1998" (Paul Van Dyk Remix) and Planet Perfecto f. Grace's "Not Over Yet 99" (Matt Darey Remix). Quite

Aquarius (January 19-February 18) We trust that you'll remember from last year's mistake and not forget Valentine's Day again. Sleeping on that lumpy sofa was the pits! You've been doing some exceptional work, and a supervisor has taken notice. You might want to try flirting with that cute bartender who's been in your thoughts.

Pisces (February 19-March 19) Your physical energies are likely to be somewhat off as the weekend begins. Leave the heavy lifting and major chores for another time. Don't lend out any large sums of money, no matter how moving the tale of woe. Make it a point to visit that friend who's been under the weather. It'll be appreciated.

Aries (March 20-April 19) Your powers of persuasion should be in high gear all week long, particularly where the boss is concerned. Tuesday's New Moon could cause you to feel a bit antisocial for a day or so. It's a good time to apply for a loan and actually get it. We suggest that you stay close to home on Saturday night, okay?

Taurus (April 20-May 20) That looks like some romantic interlude you've got planned for your significant other on Valentine's Day. Be sure to have plenty of cash on hand (plastic works, too). Sudden weather changes are likely to cause some sinus discomfort (a saline nasal spray should help). Your vehicle may need a new battery.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) After three weeks of running into obstacles and delays, you finally get your point across (and not a moment too soon). Give and take credit when it's due, Gemmy. Don't be shy about stepping into the career spotlight. Being "recognized" does have its share of perks. Tell a loud-mouthed coworker where to go.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) Most of the week looks smooth as silk, but you still need to be on the lookout for that jealous rival. Try not to mix business with pleasure on Friday. Ask the boss out to lunch on Monday and pitch him some of your innovative ideas. Don't be afraid to take chances. Not everything needs to be neat and orderly.

Leo (July 23-August 22) By all appearances, everything seems to be going quite well in general. But we sense a restless feeling lurking deep within. It's difficult for you to stay in one place or mode for very long. Once boredom sets in, it's all over. Sometimes just making some minor changes can spice your life up considerably.

Virgo (August 23-September 22) It's been said that we learn by teaching. You have an enormous wealth of knowledge zipping around in that computer-like mind. Why not share some of it? You could make some extra money by tutoring people in your spare time (of which you have plenty). Be extra careful while driving on Monday.

Libra (September 23-October 22) A minor but distinct financial victory gets the week off to a flying start for you. The workplace is likely to be especially intense over the weekend. Spend some quality time alone on Sunday. Don't be pressured into attending that social gathering. That lower back could flare up late on Sunday.

Scorpio (October 23-November 21) This week marks the end of an extremely confusing cycle in your life. The Sun does come out after every storm, so break out the tanning lotion and prepare to enjoy the sheer calm. You won't be as moody as you have been, either. This isn't the best time to go looking for love. Let it come to you.

Sagittarius (November 22-December 21) As finances continue to stabilize, your self-confidence gets stronger. January was no walk in the park, but you survived and are stronger because of it. That current fling isn't going to last for much longer. Pack up some more boxes so you'll be prepared for a sudden but very much desired move.
