AUSTIN COALITION FIGHTS BACK AGAINST ANTI-GAY VIOLENCE

*Recent Incidents Serve as Catalyst
In Formation of Group Seeking Input of Club Owners, Patrons.*

AUSTIN — Due to the recent increase in anti-gay violence in the Austin area, a special coalition has been established to better inform the public on what to do they are attacked or if they witness an attack. The Austin Lesbian/Gay Antiviolence Coalition has been formed with Stewart Gallas serving as chair.

Gallas and other coalition members have been working with the City Manager's office, Austin City Council and the police department to help find a solution to the growing problem of violence against gays and lesbians.

Two recent such attacks have been reported to TWT NEWS. The first happened in early March when two men were attacked on the corner of 4th and Colorado while heading north. The attackers asked the men "where they were going" and then called them "fags and queers."

Ignoring the name-calling, the men kept walking to their destination and were jumped from behind. One was hit with a beer bottle and pushed down a flight of stairs on the corner, the other was set upon by several other attackers.

Reports indicate that as many as eight men took part in the attack on the two victims. Even though the police were across the street, one of the victims suffered a broken nose and both sustained numerous cuts and bruises. A report was filed with the Austin Police Department, but there was very little follow-up in the case because of a lack of hard information.

The second attack took place on the morning of May 9 at 2:15 a.m. Two gay men, both large and masculine in appearance, were walking to their car after leaving a Fourth Street club. Upon reaching the corner of 3rd and Lavaca, the two men were attacked by as many as thirty men in their mid to late 20s. The attackers were all chanting, "Nigger Blue," "The bigger the better" and "You can't kiss on our block." One of the two victims was sent to the emergency room at St. David's Hospital, and a report was filed with the police department alleging it was a gay attack.

"The Austin Tavern Guild and bar owners have not been receptive to addressing this issue with their patrons," Gallas told TWT NEWS. "One bar owner in Austin is working with the coalition, but we'd like to see more interest from gay men, bar patrons, whether male or female, and also from other bar owners."

"There has been a lot of progress with politics, contagious diseases, work discrimination and with violence against lesbians and gays, but more needs to be done. There is work to do and people need to decide if they give a damn or not. If they do care, then they should do something. The coalition is one place people have the opportunity to do something," Gallas told TWT NEWS.

Gallas also added, "It's a shame that we have to let something happen to someone we care about before we take action against it."

For the next couple of months, more information about the antiviolence coalition may be obtained by calling (512)454-8193 and leaving a message on the recorder.

*$51,000 Allocation to Support

HOUSTON — The Montrose Counseling Center has announced that it has been accepted as a United Way affiliated agency for 1991-92. The $51,000 allocation will be used to support the LIFE Program, which has previously been maintained solely through client fees and private donations.

The LIFE program employs empowerment and feminist therapy to help clients deal with such issues as stress, grief, depression, coming out and relationships. The allocation to this program is considered a major step forward for the community and the center, because in making the award to the Counseling Center, the United Way will be supporting an organization which openly and specifically focuses on providing services to gay men and lesbians.

Commenting on United Way's decision, Center Executive Director Ann Robison told TWT NEWS, "We were at first concerned that United Way would want us to change our focus, which is not an option we would have considered," Robison continued. "We were pleased that United Way was open to our mission statement, our purpose and our clients."

"This allocation will ensure that we can continue the tradition we started in 1978 of providing quality and affordable mental health services to the gay and lesbian community. The community should be pleased to see that all United Way literature about the Montrose Counseling Center lists us as an agency that serves the gay and lesbian community" Robison concluded.

The Montrose Counseling Center was founded in 1978 as an all-volunteer organization. In 1982, it developed one of the first HIV/AIDS programs in the Houston area. The Center also has a chemical dependency program.

OAK LAWN SHOOTING LEAVES ONE DEAD, ANOTHER INJURED

Victims Hit Several Times in Apparent Robbery Attempt; No Suspects Yet in June 15 Incident.

DALLAS — A shooting in the Oak Lawn area on Saturday morning, June 15, left one person dead and one injured. The incident occurred in the parking lot of an apartment complex in the 3300 block of Reagan.

According to police reports, Michael Hagedoron and Renee Diaz were both trying to park in the lot, in separate cars. They were approached by two men who apparently were trying to rob them before gunshots were fired.

Both Hagedoron and Diaz were hit several times. Hagedoron died several hours later at Parkland Memorial Hospital. Diaz, originally listed in critical condition at Parkland, has now been released.

Detective Lewis of the Dallas Police Department said that no suspects had yet been taken into custody, but that the department was following up on several leads. Anyone with information about the shooting was asked to call DPD at (214) 670-5146.

"The key to this issue is that there are lighted parking lots with guards less than 100 yards away from where this happened," Lewis told Michael McKinney of TWT NEWS. "This lot is for patrons of the establishment that these two men were apparently going to. Use well-lighted lots only, not dark areas," Lewis emphasized.

NEW WOMEN'S GROUP IN BEAUMONT

Weekly Meetings of Lambda Women's Support & Social Club to Address Various Issues, Plan Social Activities.

BEAUMONT — Lesbians in the Beaumont area now have a new group they can turn to for both fun and much-needed support.

Lambda Women's Support & Social Group held its first meeting on June 7. The gathering drew 24 participants. Spokesperson C.A. told TWT NEWS, "Right now we are just trying to get people interested in the group. Word of mouth travels faster than any newsletter." Meetings are tentatively scheduled every Friday from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The group is not affiliated with Lambda A.A. or any one 12-step program, but welcomes members of those groups. Among topics to be discussed at future meetings are women's health issues, surviving a breakup, co-dependency, lesbianism and motherhood, coming-out stories, ex-lovers and whether they can be friends, spiritualism, healthy relationships, and drug abuse and alcoholism.

On the lighter side, social activities may include potlucks, bowling, hiking, day trips, beach parties and camping.

Organizers said the group plans to be very health conscious, so no smoking will be allowed at meetings. Because many women are in recovery from drug dependency or alcoholism, a no-drinking, no-drugs policy will also be maintained.

Anyone interesting in taking part in Lambda Women's Support & Social Group may call C.A. at (409)736-1439 or Juli at (409)724-7222. The group is looking for a permanent meeting place, and anyone with information concerning potential meeting facilities was asked to contact organizers at the numbers above.

"We need the support of any women interested in this. This is our group; let's make it grow," C.A. said.

DALLAS RAINBOW ALLIANCE HOSTS INTERNATIONAL GAY DEAF CONFERENCE

AIDS Quilt Exhibit, Workshops & Guest Speakers Highlight Weeklong Convention at Loews Anatole.

DALLAS — The 1991 Rainbow Alliance of the Deaf-International Deaf Lesbian & Gay Conference is holding its 12th biennial national convention and first-of-its-kind international conference this Monday, July 1 in Dallas. The theme of the conference is "Lone Star Conference... a country/western adventure with great opportunities for personal growth." It runs through July 7 at the Loews Anatole Hotel, 2201 Stemmons Freeway.

Hosting this year's conference is the Dallas Rainbow Alliance of the Deaf, a non-profit organization. The gathering will feature workshop sessions, keynote addresses and panel presentations by regional, national, and international hearing and deaf gay and lesbian leaders, as well as social and cultural events. Organizers expect over 500 deaf and hearing gay men and lesbians to attend from all over the world.

Conference workshops begin at 1 p.m. on Friday, July 5 and Saturday, July 6 and run until 4 p.m. The workshops will cover such topics as culture, language, politics, history, health care, leadership skills and the arts.

Thousands of panels of the Names Project and Deaf Names Project AIDS Memorial Quilt will be displayed at the Trinity Hall, Loews Anatole. The quilt theme for the International Deaf Lesbian & Gay Conference is "Remember My Sign Name."

Opening ceremonies for the AIDS Memorial Quilt will begin on Tuesday, July 2 at 6:30 p.m. The quilt exhibit will then be open for public viewing from Wednesday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. The closing ceremony is on Saturday, July 6 at 4 p.m.

The conference opening ceremony begins on Wednesday morning, July 3 with welcoming addresses by Rep. Glen Maxey, the first openly-gay elected state official in Texas; Larry Evans, Executive Director of the Texas Commission for the Deaf; Lori Palmer, Dallas City Councilmember; Bruce Monroe, President of the Dallas Gay Alliance; and Marlena Rosen-dahl, President of the Rainbow Alliance of the Deaf.

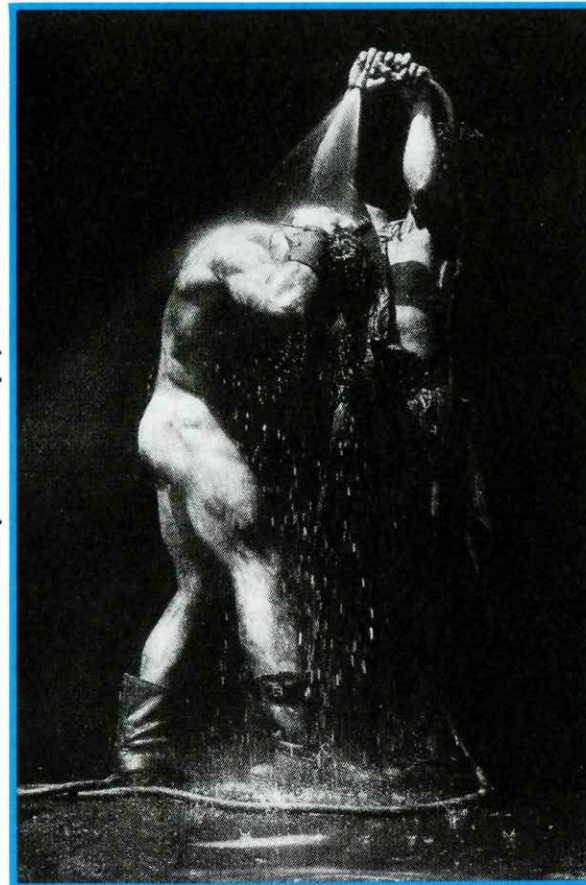

Entertainment will be provided by the Ms., Miss and Mr. Deaf Gay World Pageant Preliminaries on Wednesday at 8 p.m. with special guests Patti Le Plae Safe and Mark Branson at the Round-Up Saloon. The World Pageant Finale is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Stemmons Auditorium at the Loews Anatole. The first Mr. Deaf International Leather Contest will also be held on July 5 at 10 p.m. in the auditorium of the Loews Anatole.

Scheduled events for Sunday morning commence at 9 a.m. with an "Ecuspiritual Service," followed by a farewell brunch at 10 a.m. A special multimedia presentation by professional deaf lesbians and gays begins at 12:30 p.m. following the closing ceremony of the Conference.

The conference will provide professional interpreting services for all hearing, deaf, deaf/blind and international participants.

The Rainbow Alliance of the Deaf was founded in the early 1970's by deaf gays in San Francisco, and the group has grown to comprise over 25 chapters in the United States and Canada. The group's first convention was held at Fort Lauderdale, Florida in 1977, and conventions have been held in cities all across the country.

AFH SPONSORS FOCUS ON AIDS CONFERENCE

Physicians Will Discuss Recent Developments in HIV Treatment.

HOUSTON — AIDS Foundation Houston [AFH] is sponsoring a forum on July 9 entitled "Current Therapies: A Report on the International AIDS Conference in Florence." The forum will focus on the most recent scientific discoveries regarding HIV disease and treatment protocols.

A panel of physicians headed by Dr. Joseph Gathe, Jr. will discuss their perceptions of the June conference, which they attended in Florence, Italy. Topics to be covered will include the potential applications of various vaccines now under study, research results on new anti-retroviral drugs, and the current treatments for many AIDS-related infections.

The forum is free and open to the public.

Park Plaza is providing space for the forum in their North Building Conference Room (1 NA) and a buffet of finger foods and beverages.

The forum is the second in a series of HIV treatment workshops being offered on a bimonthly basis at Park Plaza as part of the AFH Wellness Program. For more information regarding this or other wellness events, contact AFH wellness program coordinator Bart Loeser at (713)623-6796.

AIDS RESOURCE CENTER AIMS SAFE SEX MESSAGE AT STUDENTS

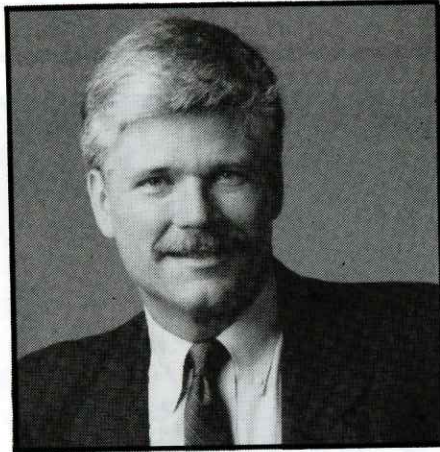

Proposed Textbook Covers Would Carry Message, 800 Number; Distribution in Dallas, Houston, Austin & San Antonio.

DALLAS — John Thomas and the AIDS Resource Center, as well as other Dallas AIDS organizations, are trying to target high school students in the newest wave of "safe sex" education. The idea is to get the message out through book covers, which are required for public textbooks.

The proposed message may read something like: "AIDS, get the information and know the facts to protect yourself." The message would be followed by an 800 number for students to call, and at the bottom of the cover would be printed an endorsement by the Texas Department of Health and the Texas Education Agency.

"The message must be innocuous," Thomas explained to Michael McKinney of TWT NEWS. "Even a phrase like 'protect yourself' might be seen as a condom message. The idea is to get the message into the subconscious, by seeing it everyday on the front of textbooks."

John Thomas of AIDS Resource Center working on plan to educate high school students about AIDS through special book covers. TWT NEWS photo.

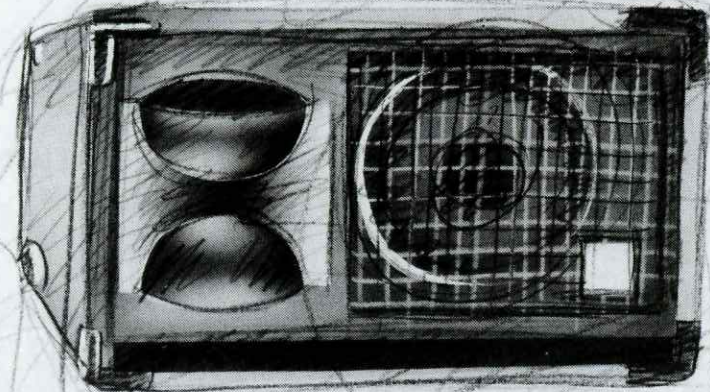

The issue must be resolved by next month in order for covers printed in time for the fall semester. The covers would cost approximately $37,000 for four-color, or $24,000 for a single color. They would be distributed in the Dallas, Houston, Austin and San Antonio areas, where contracts for the covers have not already been sold. Thomas said he hoped that the money to print the textbook covers can be raised through various private foundations, but he noted that time was running very short.

"Military recruit figures show that there is a disproportionate number of high school students who are HIV-positive, compared to the national average in the population at large," Thomas said. "The media needs to pay more attention to high school students, because they will end up on our doorsteps later, needing our services, if we don't stop this spread now."

"We want to get these students to start thinking about AIDS, and not to just think that it is something 'foreign.'"

COMMENT

Now Time for Gay Self-Reliance

The following letter by Robert Bridges, Vice President of the Houston Gay & Lesbian Political Caucus, concerns the failure of previously sympathetic City Councilmembers, in particular Vince Ryan of District C, to support the creation of a Montrose-based Council district. TWT solicited and received a response from Councilmember Ryan, which included a memo from Jerry Wood of the Planning and Development Dept. explaining the city's position regarding the proposed Montrose district.—Editor

Dear TWT:

Houston's gay community has reached a critical point in its political development. The time has come for us to move forward to the next level of empowerment, or we risk the possibility of remaining permanently trapped in the vicious circle of dependence and disappointment. This critical point was poignantly illustrated by the current redistricting of Houston's municipal election districts.

The Gay & Lesbian Political Caucus [GLPC] participated vigorously in the four-month redistricting process, the end goal being to create a Montrose-based Council district in which an openly gay or lesbian candidate would have a fair chance at being elected to City Council. The GLPC redistricting committee did a thoroughly professional job of coordinating public testimony, preparing maps and demographic data, and effectively lobbying members of Council. Throughout the process, the Caucus worked in concert with Hispanic, Black and Asian groups in order to present a united coalition front.

Many members of Council indicated support, and Councilmember Vince Ryan pledged his efforts to help implement the new Montrose district. It seemed too good to be true. Unfortunately, it was. We had again fallen into the trap of depending on our friends to do the right thing when the chips are down.

As the redistricting deadline drew near, our friends on Council began to back away from the issue one by one. Ryan decided he could no longer support the creation of the district, as it would hamper his personal reelection efforts. Others became cool to the idea when it became clear that they would have to debate and vote publicly in Council chambers in order to approve the district.

It happens time and again; candidates who declare friendship and loyalty to the community at private gay political endorsement meetings suddenly get cold feet when asked to deliver that loyalty in public.

On Wednesday, June 5, City Council met to approve the district lines as drawn by the City Planning Department. When the motion to approve the map was made, the floor became open for discussion. Unbelievably, not one member of Council asked for discussion of the Montrose district, even though they had been lobbied continuously for the past four months. The 16-district map, without the Montrose district, was approved unanimously by Council.

Although we did not attain the district we desired, the gay and lesbian community of Houston has learned a lasting lesson from the redistricting process. We must break the cycle of dependency on our elected "friends." They will never do the things necessary to move our community forward. We must do them by ourselves, for ourselves. The time has come for us to elect openly gay candidates to public office. The time has come for us to articulate our own concerns in the elective process. The time has come to start playing politics for real. We can do it, we should do it, and we must do it. The time for self-respect, self-reliance and self-empowerment is now.

Councilman Ryan Responds

Dear TWT:

I appreciate the opportunity to respond to concerns about the recent redistricting efforts of City Council.

Due to the shift of population in Houston from eastern areas to the west and in response to the surge in Hispanic population, the federal Voting Rights Act required realigning our nine districts and the consideration of adding district seats to provide an opportunity for more Hispanic representation.

Early illustrative maps prepared by the City Planning Department had Montrose becoming a part of either a predominantly black or Hispanic district. At that point, I had one of my many conversations with Robert Bridges, who was spearheading the GLPC's efforts. I indicated that I would work with areas more compatible with his goal.

Over three months of intense work began. By the end of the process, difficulties arose with basing a district in Montrose which joined it to areas not currently in District C. Following this letter is a memo from Jerry Wood with the Mayor's Planning and Development Department which fully explains those difficulties, particularly the splitting of several large, cohesive neighborhoods among several districts and the conversion of a minority district into an Anglo district.

Additionally, the civic club leadership of Montrose voiced concerns about the linking of Montrose with some of the areas to the west as proposed by Robert's plan.

Throughout the process many tough decisions were made. Only "if and when" the voters approve the 16-district plan in August will any changes take place.

Robert Bridges worked long and hard on redistricting.

Nevertheless, the requirements of the Voting Rights Act and the City's desire to minimize the division of neighborhoods made his efforts unsuccessful.

Personally, I remain committed to working with all communities in Montrose to improve the area and to continue the fight against AIDS. I have spent much of my life living and working in Montrose and believe it and its people to be among Houston's greatest assets.

Again, thanks for the opportunity to address these concerns.

Vince Ryan
Houston City Council Member
District C

Dear Councilmember Ryan:

This memo is intended to clarify the reasons for the Planning Department's recommendations in the 16-district plan which was adopted with amendments yesterday.

I believe that part of the confusion I have observed is a result of misunderstanding the role of the U.S. Justice Department and the intent of the Voting Rights Act. Because the Justice Department does not comment on issues until a submission is made, we must rely on the experience of our outside counsel, Bickerstaff, Heath and Smiley.

The Planning Department recommendations were based on the criteria included in the directive from Council to develop the district plans, and the legal advice from the outside counsel. There were a number of effects from the plan submitted by the Gay and Lesbian Political Caucus (GLPC) which conflicted with our criteria and legal advice, which caused us to recommend against their alternative plan. It is important to understand those objections because they are civil rights and community issues, rather than the political question of the possible electoral success of a particular individual or political organization.

Our primary objection to the proposal of the GLPC was that it converted a district in which a majority of the voting age population was made up of minority voters covered by the Voting Rights Act in Houston (O) into a district in which a majority of the population was Anglo. This, in the opinion of our outside counsel, could place the City in jeopardy of a Justice Department objection, since the staff proposal had demonstrated that a majority non-Anglo district could be established, but Council chose not to.

The political argument that linking the majority non-Anglo portions of district O with Montrose would be beneficial to that non-Anglo population has not been made by any minority group protected under the Voting Rights Act. Instead, it has been organized on behalf of a separate and distinct political organization (GLPC) that does not purport to be an organization of voters protected against racial and ethnic discrimination by the Voting Rights Act.

The suggestion that the gay community has been disenfranchised by the plan as passed is a political argument, not a legal one, and is unfounded. The proposal which Council adopted does not divide Montrose or nearby neighborhoods of similar character into different districts. The alternative simply connected Montrose and nearby neighborhoods with a different collection of dissimilar neighborhoods.

There also seems to be some confusion over what sort of groups of people are covered by the Voting Rights Act. The only groups of Americans covered by the Voting Rights Act are racial and language minorities. Sexual or affectional preference is not covered.

A further concern regarding the GLPC alternative is that it split two neighborhoods in southwest Houston, both of which had previously expressed great concern about such a possibility. Westbury would have had a corner moved to district N, and Sharpstown would have been divided among three districts, C, F and P. Council had heard much testimony from Westbury when an earlier plan had failed to keep all sections of the neighborhood in C, and Sharpstown Civic Club had been the first neighborhood organization to define its boundaries and warn against a plan which would split it up.

A Royal Wingding

Dear TWT:

We would like to take this opportunity to send our congratulations and a heartfelt thank-you to Anita One-Shoe (Ralph Vickery), the current Miss Montrose 1991.

On June 9, 1991 at the Brazos River Bottom, Miss Montrose hosted "A Royal Wingding," a benefit to introduce the 1992 TGRA Houston Royalty Candidates. Anita One-Shoe did an extraordinary job and should be recognized for her tremendous talent and her community involvement. We as candidates are lucky to have such a dedicated performer take time out of her busy schedule to introduce us to the Houston community.

Prior to the show, the Colt 45's hosted a very elegant tea party for the candidates and the show's performers. Walter Carter and Bill Havard poured tea while Colt members and pledges served cookies and finger sandwiches. It was a delightful party and the tea was delicious! The tea party and show raised over $340 for the Colt 45's Stone Soup charity.

We are very lucky to have such fine organizations and so many considerate, caring performers in Houston. They are undoubtedly the best.

We would also like to thank the BRB, Doug Toman (Mr. TGRA 1991) and, once again, the incomparable Miss Montrose, Anita One-Shoe. We look forward to working with all of you again, and hope to see everyone in Dallas November 7-10 for the Eighth Annual Texas Gay Rodeo.

Lone Star Band Thanks Supporters

Dear TWT:

Since early April of this year, the Lone Star Symphonic Band has been on a fund-raising campaign. With some success, we have raised a fair amount of money for our musical instruments and general operating fund. At the end of this short campaign, the LSSB would like to thank all those who helped support us and made it all possible to raise the funds we need.

Thanks to Randy Jobe and Charles Armstrong Investments, Ed and the Gang at EJ's, Buzz Miller and David Carpenter at the BRB, and Kip and everyone at Miss Kitty's. Special thanks to everyone who gave tips to the jazz band, ate barbecue, bought boutonnières and corsages at the Prom Night, and those who bought memberships to our first subscriber season of concerts.

Special thanks to Randy, who has been a longtime friend of the band. We'll never do another barbecue without you again.

Also, a big thanks to members of the fund-raising committee, and an even bigger thanks to my lover Josee, who has put up with all my band business for the last six months.

For now, the fund-raising will be on hiatus but the band will still be in need of community support. To anyone out there who would like to be a part of the only gay/lesbian band in Southern Texas, it doesn't matter how long it's been since you last played your instrument. Best of all—there are no auditions.

Once again, on behalf of the Lone Star Symphonic Band, thank you to everyone who has helped the band.

BRB Staff Saves His Day

Dear TWT:

In this day of so much bad news, I would like to share with you and your readers an incident that happened to me this past weekend.

I was at the Brazos River Bottom here in Houston this past Saturday evening [June 8] having a few beers when I discovered that my wallet was missing. Since this was the only bar I had been to, and I remembered having had my wallet earlier in the bar, I knew that I had either left it lying on the bar after paying for a beer, or that I had been the victim of a pickpocket in the Saturday night crowd.

I immediately checked with the bartender and the manager to see if a wallet had been turned in, but no one had seen it. A friend I ran into bought me another beer while I waited around to see if my wallet might show up.

After checking again with the manager, Buzz Mills, he said he would let me know if the club staff found it when the bar closed and they began cleaning up. I left the bar and drove home, fully expecting never to see my wallet again!

At approximately 2:15 a.m., I got a call from Buzz saying that they had found my wallet on a shelf behind the bar. Not only were my Texas driver's license and personal pictures intact, but all my gas charge cards, a VISA card, a Gold American Express card and $60 in cash had been left untouched!

I realize I am very fortunate, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank whoever found my wallet and turned it in, and I would also like to thank Buzz and the staff at the BRB. Now I know why it has always been my favorite bar!

GLAAD TIDINGS

by Scott Sherman

When was the last time you saw a really great TV show? CBS's Northern Exposure is turning into a real "must see." For weeks it has been intriguing viewers with its comic and complicated plot twists.

An especially satisfying one involved the revelation that the show's fictional hometown was named after its founders—a lesbian couple! In relating this piece of history, a character commented that the two women "had a good thing and were lucky to have it."

This sensitivity continued with the May 20 episode, when a regular character, Maurice, enters into an agreement to sell a house to two men. It never occurs to Maurice, a rather unenlightened sort, that the two might be closer than friends. Maurice gets the message, however, at a celebration dinner; the lovers explain how they met at a Halloween party, and then they very naturally reach across the table and hold each other's hands.

As a confirmed homophobe, Maurice has a hard time accepting the idea that he has sold a home to a gay couple, and the rest of the show explores his personal struggle. In this episode of Northern Lights, unlike in so much other television, it's not gay people who are depicted as having the problem, but rather the homophobe.

Although Maurice is portrayed as a bit silly and ignorant in his bigotry, by the end of the show, he has adjusted to living alongside his gay neighbors. The closing sequence shows the gay couple dancing at a local tavern, comfortable and accepted by the straight townspeople.

One of the best aspects of this episode is the lovers' ease with their own sexuality. They express their intimacy and affection with quiet comfort and pride. Because they accept their love as natural, it is easy for the audience to do so as well.

Thank the producers of Northern Exposure for this wonderfully fair and humorous show. Encourage them to bring back the gay couple as ongoing characters. Write to: Joshua Brand and John Falsey, Executive Producers, Northern Exposure, c/o Finnegan-Pinchuk Productions, 4225 Coldwater Canyon, Studio City, CA 91604.

The week the episode aired, Northern Exposure was the sixth-highest-rated show on network TV. Let's make sure this popular program continues presenting positive gay images.

Unfortunately, not all television programs are as intelligent as Northern Exposure. For a long time, we have been carefully monitoring Fox's In Living Color. Their "Men on..." skits feature two gay "reviewers" whose wildly effeminate personalities are the object of constant ridicule.

Some gay people like the "Men on..." skits, considering them great fun. Many others object bitterly, finding the skits mean-spirited and hateful. As the show has progressed, the characters have become more and more abusively stereotypical of African-American gay men, and increasingly misogynistic. The jokes are getting nastier, and the "humor" less funny.

This reached a peak on the season's last episode. Reviewing television shows like Golden Girls and Roseanne, Blaine and Antoine explain that they "hated" them, adding, "It's women like that who made us this way!" The implication that men become gay because they "hate" women is an ugly falsehood.

Then, in a takeoff on "cliffhanger" endings, a skylight falls on one of the characters. The accident induces amnesia, and he revives as a heterosexual. He proceeds to rebuff his former friend who, overcome himself, also takes a fall. The result of his mishap is left to next season's opener.

Just as the first "joke" suggested a link between homosexuality and hatred of women, so the second one implies that being gay can be "corrected" with a strong knock to the head. In a time of escalating anti-gay violence, this implication takes on particular nastiness.

Gay activists' previous appeals to In Living Color's producers have been ignored. However, since Blaine and Antoine are currently television's most visible gays, it is important that we keep trying. Over the summer, the characters from this skit may be undergoing significant changes.

Write the producer and ask that the current storyline be used to teach some lessons about homophobia. Encourage the producers to use this opportunity to counter the destructive myths they've been exploiting. Write to: Keenan Ivory Wayans, Producer, In Living Color, Fox Broadcasting Company, 10201 West Pico Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90064.

Wayans has defended these skits by saying he makes fun of everyone. Challenge him to make fun of homophobes.

Another in A Continuing Series of Reports
From Austin on Legislative Issues Affecting Gays and Lesbians in Texas

By Laurie Eiserloh
Legislative Director of
The Lesbian/Gay Rights Lobby of Texas

Now that the 1991 legislative session is finished and the special session is not due to start for another two weeks, I'd like to take a break from the usual subject matter of this column to draw your attention to a global issue that the Texas lesbian and gay community should be aware of.

The thirteenth annual International Lesbian/Gay Association Conference has been canceled. Mexico was the host for this year's conference, which was to be held in Guadalajara from June 30 to July 6. After months of deliberations, local organizers and members of the International Lesbian and Gay Association [ILGA] were forced to cancel the conference because the Mayor of Guadalajara, Gabriel Covarrubias Ibarra, refused to guarantee security for the more than 400 lesbian and gay activists from around the world who were scheduled to attend the conference. The Mexican Constitution contains a clause guaranteeing the right to convene. Government officials, however, maintain that this right-to-convene clause does not include police protection of legal gatherings.

We must broaden the scope of our movement and work in coalition with activists in other countries.

Although Mexico City is generally seen as Mexico's most progressive city, lesbian and gay activists have made a lot of progress in Guadalajara, a city which is generally known for its conservative climate. Because of its history as a site of successful lesbian and gay organizing, local activists decided to locate the conference in Guadalajara instead of the capital city.

Although the Mexican lesbian and gay movement does not face regressive sodomy statutes such as Section 21.06 of the

IN TGI FRIDAY'S COURT

Texas state Penal Code, which criminalizes sexual conduct between consenting adults, activists must nevertheless fight difficult social and legal battles. For example, in Mexico the age of consent for homosexual conduct is higher than it is for heterosexual conduct. Mexican activists have challenged this law, but so far they have been unsuccessful in their attempts to have it repealed.

The cancellation of the ILGA conference holds special significance for the lesbian and gay community in Texas because of our close ties to Mexico. In the context of an increasingly international economy, signaled by such intergovernmental agreements as the proposed free trade agreement between the U.S. and Mexico, we must broaden the scope of our movement and work in coalition with activists in other countries. We must learn to recognize the connections between, for instance, the threat by the local government in Guadalajara to fine or shut down hotels that offer lodging to ILGA conference participants, and our own Supreme Court's recent decision to punish physicians in federally funded family planning clinics who so much as mention the possibility of abortion. In the struggle against global oppression, we must work for global solidarity.

I urge you to follow the lead of activists in Mexico who are protesting this egregious decision. Please write to the U.S. ambassador in Mexico City and ask that he speak out against this latest act of repression against the international lesbian and gay community.

Resolution of
Two-Year Controversy

LEE PARK GETS LIVING TRIBUTE TO AIDS COMMUNITY

by Michael McKinney

In 1989, Alan Ross of the Dallas Tavern Guild proposed setting up a tribute to all those affected by AIDS in Dallas' Lee Park. From the beginning, the project was beset by controversy as members of the Dallas Park and Recreation Board and others raised various objections to the proposal. Some of those opposed to the tribute said the park should be reserved a memorial to those who have died in military service.

The debate came to focus on the wording of the dedication plaque which was to be placed at the base of a cedar tree. The Park Board ruled on July 12, 1990 that a plaque could be placed in the park, but could not contain three key words—"gay," "lesbian" or "AIDS."

Nearly a year later, after further discussion and negotiation, the effort to place the Living Tribute in Lee Park has finally met with success as the Park Board has voted to approve a plaque recognizing the AIDS community. TWT NEWS provides its readers with a report on the decision, followed by the text of a letter Alan Ross read to the Dallas Park and Recreation Board after its decision approving the Living Tribute.

“Our intent was to recognize the AIDS community. I knew the words 'lesbian and gay' wouldn't pass with the Park Board," Alan Ross told Michael McKinney of TWT NEWS following the recent decision on the Living Tribute in Lee Park. "I feel that this is a very positive moment for our city, that an area has been set aside to recognize the AIDS community."

The Living Tribute has been an issue for the Dallas Park and Recreation Department since September, 1989. The issue has been the recognition of the gay and lesbian community and its involvement in the AIDS epidemic. The Board has always maintained that Lee Park was a memorial to war heroes, and that a plaque dedicated to those who had died of AIDS would set a precedent for recognizing people stricken by other diseases.

"We have to realize the evolving needs of the community," Ross said. "This may very well set a new precedent, but I think it will also help to educate people and open the lines of communication."

Ross said that the plaque was never meant as a memorial, but rather as a tribute to those who have been affected by AIDS, either themselves, their friends, or through their volunteer work. The plaque itself measures only 21" x 13", and was merely a part of the entire proposed project.

The newly revised plaque was approved unanimously by the Park Board. The only dissenting comment came early in the meeting from Ken Hahn of the Oak Lawn Committee, who suggested that the continuity of Lee Park be maintained by not recognizing a specific disease. He proposed that the money be diverted to the AIDS Resource Center instead.

"I don't think he [Hahn] really understood the issue," Ross said. "This group has not been involved before. To him, it is just a plaque."

The tree, which is at the center of the Living Tribute, will be replanted by Lambert's, the nursery that guaranteed it for two years. The first tree died and was subsequently cut down. The plaque will be dedicated during a special ceremony on December 1 of this year, the date of the Fourth Annual World AIDS Day.

Alan Ross was commended by the Park Board for his diligence in working to bring the memorial to Lee Park. The Southern Memorial Association, which had vehemently opposed the plaque, finally gave its approval to the newly revised wording. "Everyone worked together to reach this compromise," one board member noted. "Mr. Ross has done a lot to make the Dallas community aware of this health issue."

On behalf of the Dallas Tavern Guild, sponsors of this project, I wish to make the following comments:

Today, with your positive vote and your acceptance of the Living Tribute in Lee Park, we celebrate the lives of 2,000 Dallas County residents who have perished from many opportunistic infections caused by Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, while helping to comfort and console the surviving families, lovers and friends who have suffered and have lost a part of their own lives because of AIDS. We also honor the estimated 10,000 men, women and children of Dallas who are living with AIDS, ARC and HIV infection, and we honor and pay tribute to over 100,000 Dallas County volunteers, professionals and financial contributors—homosexual and heterosexual—all working side-by-side fighting this devastating disease on many levels.

Because of the historical significance of your decision today, there will be a special ceremony at the site on Sunday, December 1, 1991, which is the fourth observance of World AIDS Day.

While your vote does not directly recognize the efforts, contributions and leadership this past decade from the lesbian/gay community of Dallas, I do thank you for your compassion, your leadership and your courage to accept our meaningful gift to Lee Park and the City of Dallas that will recognize the AIDS Community of Dallas County, which has been the principal intent and purpose of the project.

With today's momentous confirmation, you have lighted the path for the uneducated and the misinformed. As a person with an ARC diagnosis, I thank you very, very much.

The Houston Community College of Fine Arts Department presents The Comedy of Errors by William Shakespeare tonight at 8 p.m. and Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the Heinen Theatre, 3517 Austin at Holman. The production is directed by drama instructor John Corley. On June 29 at 8 p.m., the college presents Macbeth directed by Kate Pogue and James Gale. Gale is with the Houston Shakespeare Festival. For more information about these two classics, dial (713)630-7264.

Big-haired women singing "La Casa de Bouffant," parodies on Andrew Dice Clay, the Men's Warehouse, breakfast cereal, Dan Quayle, good ol' boys singing about big ol' trucks, an improvised blues trio and, yes, Virginia, an improvised musical. All this and more in an evening of original comedy and improv called Guava Retentive, rated politically incorrect! Yes, that zany group, the Guava Bomblets, have returned to drive their audiences into hysterical fits of laughter; they've returned to the Pocket Sandwich Theatre in Dallas. Call for reservations at (214)821-1860.

Every Monday in Austin, from 7:15-9:45 p.m. at the Murcheson Community School, you can try out to be a member of the Capital City Men's Chorus. Call their 24-hour information line at (214)477-SING for more detailed information.

The zany musical revue about the Little Sisters of Hoboken has been extended four more weeks at Casa Manana in Fort Worth. Nunsense stars original cast members Rose Mari Rountree and Diann McCallum. They are joined during the extension by Patty Wirtz, Peggy Billo and Sandy Flavin. Casa is located in the Sundance Square area of the city. For reservations to this production and to see the wickedly wonderful Carol Channing onstage at Casa, call (817)332-6221. If you hurry over to the nearest Rainbow Ticket-Master location, you can still purchase a ticket or two to one of Carol's performances. The marvelous Miss Channing will be at Casa tonight and Saturday.

Award-winning stage actor Tom Wagner (Soul Survivor and Ticking) and newcomer Joseph Stachura take on the roles in

The Guava Bomblets.

Robert Chesley's controversial drama Jerker. When it was aired on public radio, Jerker created a nationwide uproar and caused a change in rules by the Federal Communications Commission recently overturned by the Supreme Court. The play was produced in Dallas during the past theatre season.

The Magician's Curse continues its summer run at the 7A Ranch Pioneer Town Opera House in Wimberly. Lost Armadillo Productions of Austin opened last night with the presentation of an unusual love story involving a black transvestite from New York and a white Southern deputy sheriff from Mississippi. Nikki and Bobby is receiving rave reviews from Austin audiences, according to our sources in the capital city. The play runs through July 20 at Chicago House. Dial (512)473-2542 for reservations or stop by the nearest STAR Ticket outlet.

The concerts take place in the Festival Concert Hall at Round Top. For reservations or scheduling information, call (409) 249-3129 or write to Festival-Institute, P.O. Box 89, Round Top, TX 78954.

Roaring Twenties, Chicago will leave you wanting more. The Country Playhouse is located at 12802 Queensbury off IH 10 near Town and Country Mall. For ticket information and perhaps better directions to the theatre, call (713)467-4497.

The trouble in River City isn't over yet! Professor Harold Hill is stirring up yet another scam for his return to the Outdoor Musicals stage as The Music Man enters its second season. Written by Meredith Wilson, the musical centers on the life of a con man who convinces the residents of River City to dig up their life savings to purchase uniforms and instruments for an all-boys marching band. Only problem is, the prof don't know nothin' about music, can't tell one note from another. The memorable Tune "76 Trombones" was written for this production. You can enjoy this marvelous musical at the Galveston Island Outdoor Musicals June 28, 29 and 30. Stop by your nearest Rainbow TicketMaster or call (409) 737-1744 for information.

"And still can we see,
As the years have gone by,
There's a queen in our land
On her heels she's still turning."
(Sung to the tune of The Star-Spangled Banner)

Yes, friends, fresh on the heels of the state's recent Gay Pride Week celebrations, Texassexuals, with the singing of the newly discovered third verse to our national anthem, were giving yet another invitation to party as our country, in 1984, celebrated 208—yes 208—years of independence. And with a party list ranging from a Costume Contest (for Dolly Madison wannabees) at Backstreet Basics in Austin and The Drum's "No Independence Bondage Demonstration" in Houston to the Red, White and Blue Party at JR's in Dallas and the 4th of July Beer Bust at TCMC in Arlington, Lone Star gays were guaranteed a full and exciting schedule of birth-of-a-nation events.

Speaking of independence, the Republican Party of Texas, in an obvious effort to lend its voice to the chorus of freedom being celebrated across the country, resoundingly passed a resolution detailing that august body's position on same-sex relationships. "The practice of homosexuality," read the lead sentence of the Morris first anniversary at the good ship Galleon in San Antonio; Bob Bishop at Bentley's in Dallas; and TGRAers Richard Montgomery, Terry Gaines, Tommy Dogg, Danny Murphy, Gary Miller, Kathy Roe and Kathy Cleland at Contemporary Country, yet still in Dallas.

On the sports field, Scot Roberts, he of the cleats and catcher's mitt set, detailed the competition between the state's two largest gay communities, Dallas and Houston. With Texas Challenge Cup tennis matches and a gay pride Tournament of Champions softball match between the two cities' premier teams, there were more balls per capita in the Neon City than had ever before been experienced.

And finally, BACKSTAGE, Rob Clark provided the details of an exciting new musical about young adults being presented in The Music Hall at Fair Park by Dallas Summer Musicals. The play, Dream Street, featured the songs of Ray Charles, Diana Ross, Bette Midler and Barbra Streisand.

Now really, folks, who else would provide you with such scripted information? And so it was, this week in Texas, 1984.

Your July LOVESCOPE

JULY SKY — As the seventh month of the year begins, the Sun and Mercury are in home-loving Cancer. Venus, Mars and Jupiter are still bunched up together in Leo. Since Venus rules romance, Mars rules sex and Jupiter rules the roost when it comes to good fortune, this should be a lucky time for everyone when it comes to romance.

Outer Planets: Saturn is now going backwards in Aquarius. Uranus and Neptune remain close together in Capricorn. And Pluto has now advanced to 17 degrees Scorpio.

Solar Eclipse: The longest eclipse of the Sun in this century and until 2050 is set to produce an awesome sky show on July 11, starting at 1 p.m. and lasting until 3:30 p.m., Texas Daylight Time.

The best views will be to our south as thousands of stargazers, many of whom began making plans over a year ago, gather in the center of the Moon's shadow path of totality. Best views will be on the Baja Peninsula; on the west coast of Mexico, especially at Tuxpan, or on a cruise ship in the Sea of Cortez. Observers along the centerline will see seven minutes of totality—the longest of the decade.

Here in Texas, north of the centerline, the eclipse will become progressively less total the further north an observer lives. In Austin, San Antonio and Houston it will be at 70%, while in Dallas it will be at 60%.

The Moon: This month's New Moon comes on July 11, the day of the eclipse. This month's Full Moon follows a couple of weeks later on July 26.

Meteor Shower: The annual Delta Aquarid meteor shower peaks on July 30, producing up to 30 shooting stars per hour. Look into the southern sky for best viewing.

Thus, the stage is set in the sky over Texas for your July LOVESCOPE, a monthly forecast for romance.

CANCER: (Jun 22 - Jul 22) Your July LOVESCOPE will take you on the road and keep you busy communicating with others since Venus, the planet which rules romance, is now set to trek through your third house beginning July 11. This house rules trips, mail, conversations, telephone calls and signing important papers. Venus blesses all such things this summer.

LEO: (Jul 23 - Aug 22) Your second house of money is favored by Venus, the planet of love, as the cash register in your July LOVESCOPE opens up its treasures. A present is strongly indicated. Matters pertaining to investing, saving and earning are now blessed by the positive vibrations of Venus as it travels through your second house of money this summer, starting July 11.

VIRGO: (Aug 23 - Sept 22) Venus, the planet which rules romance, will be favorably placed in your own zodiac sign after July 11. This is a wonderful placement which can bring about more honor and public recognition for your deeds. Venus blesses you this summer, drawing others into your circle of involvement. Venus boosts your popularity in your July LOVESCOPE. Venus will be in Virgo from July 11 to August 21—a splendid time for all Virgos.

LIBRA: (Sept 23 - Oct 23) On July 11, Venus, the planet of love, moves into your twelfth house of inner self. This can bring about a secret romance or some behind-the-scenes romantic activity this summer. Your July LOVESCOPE points to keeping love private, away from public lights.

SCORPIO: (Oct 24 - Nov 21) The planet which rules your July LOVESCOPE, Venus, is set to begin its path through your eleventh house on July 11. Since this is a very social position, you can expect summertime romance to find you in a public place at a gathering, a party or a meeting. A friend could introduce you to a new admirer.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov 22 - Dec 21) Your July LOVESCOPE follows the path of Venus, the planet which rules love. Since Venus now begins to glide through your tenth house of career, you can expect romance to find you on the job or while you are performing some job-related errand. Favors from employers are highly probable while Venus is in your tenth house from July 11 until August 21.

CAPRICORN: (Dec 22 - Jan 19) A summer vacation is indicated by your July LOVESCOPE since Venus, the planet which rules love, is now set to take its own trip through your ninth house, which rules trips. The Venus trip lasts from July 11 to August 21. All this harmony adds up to having a pleasurable journey. You may fall in love with a stranger from afar while traveling.

AQUARIUS: (Jan 20 - Feb 18) The sultry summer winds of your July LOVESCOPE can blow in your direction and blow up a string of lustful encounters because Venus is now set to go through your eighth house of sensuality. This placement can bring into play many temporary admirers. If you are in the right place at the right time, Cupid will find you quickly between July 11 and August 21.

PISCES: (Feb 18 - Mar 20) Venus, the planet which rules love, moves into your seventh house of marriage on July 11 where it will stay until August 21. This is an ideal placement for true love and serious romance to take shape this autumn. It could easily lead you down the wedding aisle. Partnerships are highly accented in your July LOVESCOPE.

ARIES: (Mar 21 - Apr 19) Your July LOVESCOPE should further warm up the already steamy nights of summer with some sort of secretive admirer. Your health is blessed by Venus, which protects you from major illness. Now is a good time to work out any difficulties with co-workers since Venus is set to trek through your sixth house, beginning July 11.

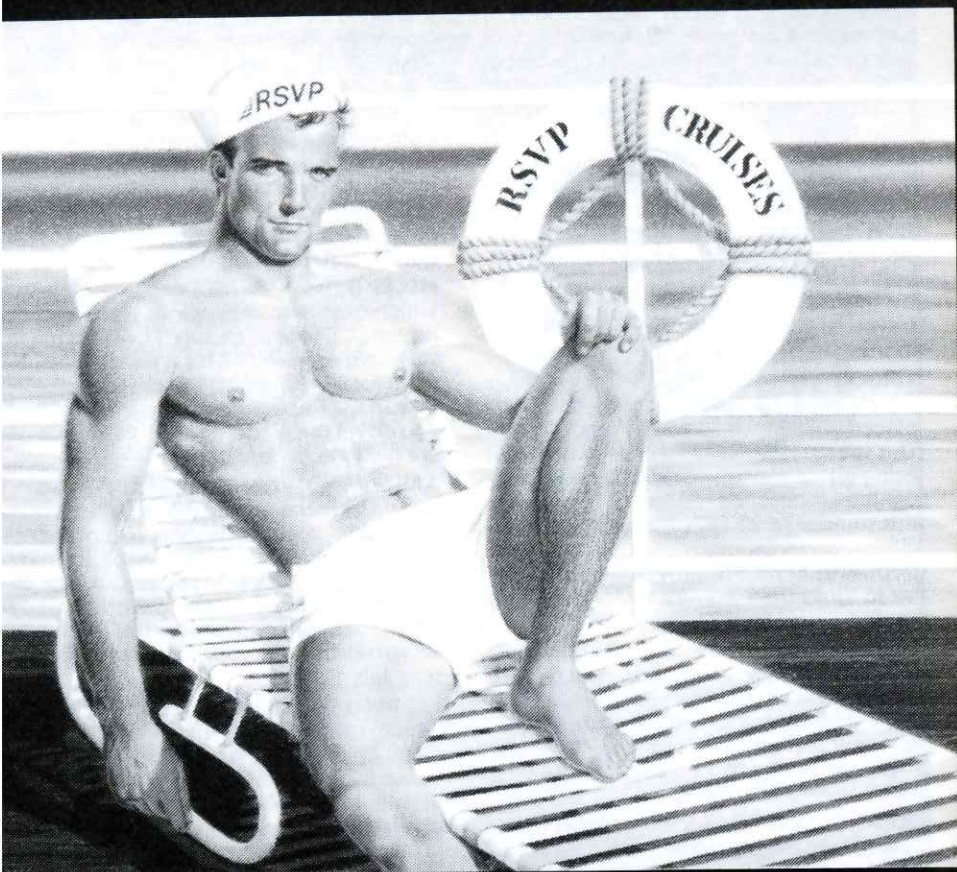

TAURUS: (Apr 20 - May 20) Venus, the planet which rules love, is now set to travel through your fifth house of love affairs. This Venus trip starts July 11 and continues until August 21. This double relationship indicates that your admirers should double in number this summer. This is a fine time to jump into the love hunt as luck is with your July LOVESCOPE.

GEMINI: (May 21 - Jun 21) Your July LOVESCOPE focuses on your homefront. Since Venus, the planet which rules love, is now set to travel through your fourth house of the home, you can expect all matters pertaining to your domestic situation to be revitalized. Real estate transactions are also blessed. It's a good time to move, especially from July 11 to August 21 while Venus is in your fourth house.

COMING NEXT WEEK: The Eclipse of the Sun on July 11 is the longest eclipse of the decade.

Musical theatre legend Carol Channing will appear in two shows this weekend at Fort Worth's Casa Manana Theatre. Miss Channing took a break from rehearsals at her New York apartment to chat with TWT about her career and her upcoming visit to Texas.

In 1967, Carol Channing's final performance as Dolly Gallagher Levi in the musical Hello Dolly! rang down the curtain after 1,273 consecutive shows. Channing didn't miss a single performance and never played to an empty seat.

When TWT asked her how many times she had performed the title song "Hello, Dolly!," Carol replied, "Oh, I've stopped counting after 3,000—it's probably in the neighborhood of 3,500."

"This is my 15th visit to Texas. Texans know it's all right to react in theatre; they make a wonderful audience for any entertainer. And they are quick!" added Carol.

Interviewing Carol Channing is like visiting with a long-lost friend. She plunges right into the conversation, and a simple question is her cue to respond as a friend, rather than as the subject of an interview. For example, "You were close to Mary Martin..."

"Did you ever meet my dear friend Mary? You know she's from Texas. They have a statue of her in her hometown of Weatherford. Have you seen her statue? I promised Mary I'd go see it (the statue), and I hope to have time on this visit to Fort Worth. Isn't Weatherford near Fort Worth? I'll ask someone at the theatre."

Carol began her career during World War II, fresh out of Bennington College. "The first job is a snap, the next job is the

by Marc Alexander

problem." Carol's signature song is "Diamonds Are A Girl's Best Friend" from her 1949 smash hit, Gentlemen Prefer Blondes. She went on to star in other Broadway hits including The Vamp, Show Girl and Hello Dolly!

Channing's talent has been acknowledged on numerous occasions. She has received a Tony Award, N.Y. Critic's Circle Award and a Golden Globe Award. Her original cast album (Hello Dolly!) set an all-time record for sales in the Broadway musical category. Carol has ten gold albums for her recordings from Broadway shows, movies and children's renditions.

Carol Channing appears tonight and tomorrow at the Casa Manana Theater in Fort Worth. She will make costume changes on-stage behind a screen, and in the process she will be describing her next character to the audience.

For an evening of pure entertainment from the American musical theatre, go see Carol Channing this weekend.

MASSEURS

STATE CERTIFICATION POLICY

Texas law clearly requires that only bona fide, state-certified masseurs can be listed in this category. Therefore, twr policy requires that all masseurs must publish their state-certification number within their advertisement and that a photocopy of their state masseur's license be on file at twr. It's the law—a "consumer protection" statute.

MODELS/ESCORTS

TWT POLICY

Because prostitution is illegal in Texas, state law prohibits the placement in this category of any such ads. Therefore, twr policy stipulates that we will not and cannot knowingly accept any advertisements suggesting solicitation. It's the law. Also, state law prohibits non-licensed massage therapists from using terms such as "massage," "swedish," "acupressure," "Shiatsu," "reflexology" "body rub," "back rub," "body massage" or "manipulation of soft tissue."

OBITUARIES

Juan Hernandez (above), 29, of Houston, passed away Sunday, June 16, 1991 in a local hospital. Member of the Catholic Church. Survivors, parents, Maria and Pantaleon Hernandez; grandmother, Domanga Cedillo; sisters, Carmen Gutierrez, Margaret Hernandez; brothers, Jaime Hernandez, Joe Hernandez, all of Houston. Abel Solis, Donna, Texas. Funeral services were celebrated Tuesday at Forest Park Lawndale Funeral Chapel, funeral mass was celebrated on Tuesday at Dominican Meeting Room, Sacred Heart Center, Father Matt O'Connor officiating. Interment Forest Park Lawndale Cemetery.

Feb. 25, 1950 - May 27, 1991

In the early morning hours of Memorial Day 1991, Rob Jones passed on to the next life. Rob was one of the long-term survivors, having battled AIDS for the past five years.

Through all the pain and losses, Rob never lost his unique sense of humor. He was always able to find the lighter side of even the darkest of situations and make others laugh despite his own pain.

He was preceded in death by many close friends and his lifemate of 10 years, George Morgan.

Rob, we love you, we miss you. Memories of all the good times will keep you alive in our hearts until we're all together again.

Ron and Chris and all the others whose lives you touched

Ronald J. Mathis (above)
March 12, 1949 - June 15, 1991

Passed away quietly at home. Ron was employed at Mary's, naturally. He is survived by his parents, Anna and Emil Mathis; two sisters, Louise Friedeck and Beverly Spencer; a brother, Emile, his dog Hallie and caring friends.

As his brother, I know Ron lived life aggressively and for those touched by his kindness, consideration or concern, there are special memories. He will be missed by his family and many friends in Houston.

Tony Chiavario
September 16, 1962 - June 15, 1991

Tony moved to Houston six years ago, and was employed as an air traffic controller. Tony chose a proper career. Not only did he control air traffic, he also controlled the direction of his life. Tony "flew high" in spirit, and when he wasn't feeling well, he still had his great smile and kept his bubbly personality. He truly was an inspiration to all.

Tony passed away in Albuquerque, New Mexico, with his extremely supportive and loving parents, Barbara and Richard Chiavario, by his side. Tony also leaves behind two sisters and their families.

Contributions may be sent to Home Care Hospice, 405 Grand N.E., Albuquerque, NM 87102.

Jamie Morrow
9/12/54 - 5/24/91

Former Houston resident Jamie Morrow died May 24, 1991 after a 2½-year struggle with AIDS.

Originally from Mineral Wells, Jamie lived in Austin and Houston before moving to Los Angeles in 1982. Once there, Jamie started his successful landscaping business, working for such luminaries as Jane Fonda, Bob Hope, Norman Lear and David Jones. Jamie had a strong will to live and tended his gardens of many beautiful flowers and plants just weeks before his death.

Jamie is survived by both his parents, a sister and two brothers, most of whom reside in Texas. Oh yes, we can't forget his beloved dog Penny, too.

Bye, Darlin'

12/15/60 - 6/17/91

At about 10:15 p.m. on June 17, the monster claimed my best friend. Doug died with PCP. Doug did not "pass away," nor is he "lost," and I think he would have told you he wouldn't wear wings and play a harp. His physical body died. His shell, his housing, in my perspective is empty and gone now. As long as there are people like me who knew Doug, who loved Doug and were loved by Doug, he will survive. I believe that we all will be together again in a different place in a different sense. I know I will be with Doug again.

At Doug's request, there will be no memorial. Donations may be made in his name to an AIDS service organization or your favorite charity.

Stewart Gallas

Austin.

Nickolas San Miguel (Nickie) (above) was born October 27, 1961 and went off to be with God on June 16, 1991, due to AIDS complications. He was originally from Corpus Christi, Texas and relocated to Austin in 1984. Nick worked as a bus driver for the Laidlaw Transit Company of Austin. He was much loved by all his friends. He is survived by his lover of six years, Randy La boff, friends Joe Garcia of Houston, Jeff Ridder, Wayne Rich and Debbie Mangrum, all of the Austin area. Memorial services will be held on July 13 at 7 p.m. at the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection, 2000 Justin Lane in Austin. Nick, you will always be in our hearts forever.

You lived for joy
You looked for light.
And now to think
Only sunshine and no night.

Only laughter and happiness
You'll know visions and such.
You'll be loved by all
But it wasn't just luck.

You gave to everyone
Who entered your space.
You asked for so little
You took a small place.

A small place, maybe
If it were measured by man.
For you encompassed so much
You were part of the land.

The battle you fought
Made you wiser and fair.
And through all the pain
You continued to care.

Some describe death
As the final defeat.
But I know you've won
And your memory is sweet.

When I look at my own life
Which I know will one day end,
I find peace in the thought
That I'll See You Again.

I'll miss you!
Your friend Mitch

Carl Jennings
a.k.a.

Yetteva Scott

December 9, 1963 - June 20, 1991

Carl is survived by sister Mobella Jennings, brother Kenneth Jennings and a host of nieces, nephews and friends.

Funeral services were held Monday, June 24 at 1 p.m. at Greater Memorial Church, 2022 Husketh Drive in Dallas.

We will miss you—Love always, Latina Mc.
