Houston Post columnist Juan Palomo talks with members of Queer Nation at "victory celebration" staged after his rehiring by paper.

JUAN PALOMO RETURNS TO HOUSTON POST

Accepts Position as Editorial, Op-Ed Columnist, Named to Paper's Editorial Board.

HOUSTON — One week after being fired by the Houston Post, columnist Juan Palomo has returned to the paper as an editorial/op-ed columnist. He will also become a member of the paper's editorial board.

Palomo was fired after he and editors at the Post had disagreed over the content of one of his columns. Specifically, they would not allow him to reveal his homosexuality in a column he had written in July condemning homophobia in the wake of the murder of Paul Broussard.

His dismissal provoked protests by local gay and Hispanic groups, and even received coverage in publications like the New York Times and Washington Post.

Palomo, who has been with the Post for eight years, and also did an earlier four-year stint with the paper, returned to work this past Monday, September 9. He will be writing two columns a week.

Palomo said he was anxious to put the week behind him and get back to work. He also said his position on the editorial board, which may make him one of the first openly gay people in such a position, will give him the opportunity to change how others view gay people.

"One person can't change everything, but perhaps I can help to change people's perceptions. There are a lot of people out there with misguided ideas about gays, and I might be in a position to help correct that," he told TWT NEWS.

Members of the activist group Queer Nation had planned to stage demonstration Saturday, September 7 outside the Post building, in case Palomo had not been reinstated by the paper by Friday.

Instead, they turned the gathering into a victory celebration, with Palomo coming out to chat with supporters and representatives of the media.

Gays and Hispanics were generally satisfied that Palomo and the Houston Post had reached an agreement and that he returned to the paper. But some of his supporters, especially in the Hispanic community, expressed the feeling that the newspaper still did not realize that it had been guilty of discrimination in its firing of the columnist.

LIFEWALK TO BENEFIT OAK LAWN COMMUNITY SERVICES

Organizers Hope for 2,000 Participants in 6½-Mile Walk.

DALLAS — "AIDS is a universal problem, and this will be a way for everyone to get involved. The people in suburbia can join with the people in the central area of Dallas, and work together to raise money for a good cause," Fred York told Michael McKinney of TWT NEWS.

York was talking about the Dallas Life-Walk on Sunday, October 6. The event is a fund-raiser for Oak Lawn Community Services.

The six-and-one-half mile walk will begin in Lee Park, wind through the Turtle Creek area, the Arts District, the West End and move back to the Oak Lawn area. The projected goal is 2,000 participants.

"Walkers will be organized into 'Life-Teams' in two different ways," York explained. "An individual can get four other people to join together to make a team of five. Or a team captain from a business or organization can form a team with as many walkers as he or she can recruit. So far we have 110 team captains, and the heaviest period of recruiting began only three weeks ago."

York said that besides the Oak Lawn area, the suburbs are being targeted also. "We are running ads every week up till the time of the walk in all the suburban newspapers around the Dallas area. The highest rate of HIV infection is now among adolescents, minorities and children. This is everyone's problem, and this is a way for everyone to get involved."

York also explained that his is a prepaid walk, in which participants will collect donations before the actual event. Then on October 6, walkers will register at Lee Park at noon, at which time they will turn in their registration forms and pledge checks. Everyone who collects $50 or more will receive a T-shirt in the mail after the walk.

On September 18, there will be a special LifeTeam captains' party at 6:30 p.m. at Oak Lawn Community Services. "The party will be a chance for anyone who is interested in becoming a captain to learn more about the event, and to meet other people," York said. "We also have a 24-hour voice mail service for anyone who desires more information." The number to call is (214)520-3339.

York is co-chair of LifeWalk, along with Barbara O'Brien of Desert Moon. Among the local dignitaries on the board of advisors for Dallas LifeWalk are John Criswell of KDFW-TV; Dr. Ron Anderson, president and CEO of Parkland Memorial Hospital; and mayoral candidate Kathryn Cain.

"This is not just an event for Oak Lawn or just Dallas. We need to address this disease that is a threat to us all," York concluded.

New Offices for East Texas AIDS Project

Provides Services to PWAs Living In Five-County Area.

NACOGDOCHES — The East Texas AIDS Project, which provides help and services to people living with AIDS in the East Texas area, has announced the opening of its new offices in Nacogdoches.

The Project, which has offered an education outreach to the gay and bisexual community in the area through funds provided by the Texas Department of Health, is now also offering HIV testing and counseling.

Jerry Permenter, founder of the East Texas AIDS Project, helped conduct gay/ bisexual outreach with Jamie Schield of Dallas' AIDS Resource Center at the annual Texas HIV Spring Conference in May of this year.

Project fund-raising activities have included a black-tie dinner that raised over $2,000 and brought participants from nine counties in the area. The Project's next fund-raiser will be a silent art auction on Saturday, October 19 at the Fredonia Hotel and Convention Center in Nacogdoches.

The East Texas AIDS Project provides services for people with AIDS in Nacogdoches, Angelina, St. Augustine, Shelby and Sabine counties. Services include education, in-home health care and professional counseling.

Also on the roster of services are transportation to medical appointments, pentamidine treatments, medical referrals, group support, buddy system support, a food pantry, and HIV testing and counseling.

Permenter said the Project welcomed any donations and volunteers, and he also invited PWAs to call 1-800-745-8240 to inquire about the organization's services.

The Project's offices are at 3312 N. University Dr., Suite H in Nacogdoches. For more information about the East Texas AIDS Project, call (409)569-8240. For testing information, call (409)569-2021. Or write to P.O. Box 631346, Nacogdoches, TX 75936-1346.

QUEER NATION MAKES SPECIAL DELIVERY

Activists Return Greensheets to Publisher as Boycott Grows.

HOUSTON — The Houston tribe of Queer Nation recently made a delivery that the Greensheet won't soon forget.

The activist group had called a boycott of the Greensheet on August 13 because the paper, which consists mainly of classified advertising, refused to accept ads containing the words lesbian or gay.

Since then, at least 14 businesses with 27 locations in the Montrose area have agreed to stop distributing the paper. As Tracy Brown, a member of Queer Nation and organizer of the boycott explained to TWT NEWS, however, Greensheet distributors have continued to bring papers to many of the locations.

In response, some Queer Nation members picked up the papers left at some locations recently and deposited them in front of the Greensheet offices on Main Street near downtown Houston. "We just wanted to return the Greensheet's property to them," Brown said.

Queer Nation returns 20,000 copies of Greensheet to paper's Houston offices.

Brown said the stacks of Greensheets, arranged on the sidewalk in the shape of a giant "Q," amounted to over 20,000 copies of the weekly newspaper, out of a total of about 50,000 that are regularly distributed in the inner Loop area.

He added that members of the activist group would continue picking up the papers from boycott supporters. In the future, however, rather than being returned to the publisher, the Greensheets will be taken to a recycling center, and the money thus raised will be used to benefit the organization.

FOURTH ANNUAL 'FROM ALL WALKS OF LIFE'

AIDS Services of Austin Releases List of Beneficiaries, Sponsors Of October 20 Fund-Raiser.

AUSTIN — The fourth annual "From All Walks of Life" pledge walk to benefit AIDS care, education and research is just five weeks away, and planning is shifting into high gear. This year's walk is scheduled for October 20 at the Capitol.

Dara Gray, organizer of the Walk and Development Director for AIDS Services of Austin, the sponsors of the Walk, told TWT NEWS ASA hopes to raise $150,000 from this year's Walk.

ASA recently announced the list of agencies that will be sharing in the proceeds from the Walk. ASA shares 25% of the net proceeds with other local groups that provide HIV-related services. Among the agencies that will be receiving a share of Walk proceeds are ALLGO/Informe SIDA, the C.A.R.E. Unit, CEACO, Christopher House and the HIV Study Group.

Also benefiting will be the Austin Immune Health Clinic, the Pediatric AIDS League, the People's Community Clinic, Planned Parenthood, Project Transitions and the Waterloo Counseling Center.

The funds these agencies receive will enable them to provide hospice care, conduct prevention education among teenagers and in minority communities, offering counseling for HIV-infected people and conduct drug trial research.

The corporate sponsors for the 1991 Walk have also been announced. The lead corporate sponsor is Caremark, and Tramex Travel is again providing the grand prize, two round-trip tickets to any American Airlines destination in the world for the walker who collects the most pledge money.

Other Walk corporate sponsors are Austin Cablevision, the Austin American Statesman, Coors of Austin, Curaflex Infusion Services, David Pearson Travel, Girling Health Care, GSD&M Advertising, KGSR Star 107, NMC Homecare, Sierra Spring Water Co. Texas Commerce Bank, The Rockport Co., Whole Earth Provision Co. and Xerox Corporation.

Gray invited everyone to come out and take part in one of Austin's biggest annual fund-raisers. "Please mark your calendars and plan to join us for this fabulous event. Pledge sheets will be available the first week of September."

For further information, or to order pledge sheets, call Gray at (512)452-WALK.

MCC OF DALLAS OFFERING SIGN LANGUAGE CLASSES

Free Six-Week Course Starts September 17 at Church Office.

DALLAS — "How would you feel if you came to church and only a few people spoke to you?"

That's how Karl Lewis, Director of Deaf Ministries for the Metropolitan Community Church of Dallas, explains the effort by his congregation to broaden its outreach to hearing-impaired people in the community. As part of that effort, the church will be holding a class in beginning conversational sign language starting on September 17.

Lewis will be the instructor for the class. He has been a volunteer interpreter since 1979 and has interpreted for various MCC congregations since 1981. He has a wealth of interpreting experience, having interpreted at the church's district and national conferences, as well as at several community workshops.

He has also interpreted at Theater Gemini productions and directed a sign choir that has appeared at several functions in the metroplex area.

Lewis told TWT NEWS that the goal of the beginner's class would be to give students the skills necessary to carry on a simple conversation. By having more church members who able to communicate in sign, Lewis said MCC hopes to broaden its outreach and hospitality to the hearing-impaired beyond its current program of interpretation for the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service.

The sign language class starts on Tuesday, September 17. The class will meet on six consecutive Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m. at the church facility, 5353 Maple.

There is no charge.

For more information about MCC's sign classes and other programs for the hearing-impaired that are being planned, contact Lewis through MCC-Dallas at (214) 526-6221.

RUNOFF FOR GAY SEAT ON GHAA BOARD

Candidates Barnich, Moon Will Address September 18 Meeting.

HOUSTON — The AIDS Equity League is holding a runoff election to fill the gay at-risk position on the Greater Houston AIDS Alliance [GHAA] board of directors.

GHAA amended its bylaws to create a mandated "gay at-risk" board position to insure representation from the gay at-risk community in decision and policy-making. "Gay at-risk" means a person who is either gay or lesbian and is at risk of giving or getting HIV infection.

The board seat is being filled through an election process conducted by the AIDS Equity League. The candidates now entering the runoff after the first round are John Paul Barnich and Douglas Moon.

Anyone from the gay and lesbian community of Houston and Harris County is eligible to vote in the runoff. The candidate receiving a majority of the total votes in the runoff will be recognized as the gay at-risk representative for the GHAA position.

The runoff is scheduled for Wednesday, September 18 at the Montrose Palace, 1505 Waugh. Voting will run from 7-9 p.m. The meeting will open with brief speeches by Barnich and Moon. Members of the AIDS Equity League board of directors will be present.

Gene Harrington of the AIDS Equity League told TWT NEWS, "It is very important that people from the gay/lesbian community take an active role in this election process. We have fought hard for representation on the GHAA Board, and consider it essential since this board administers, as an umbrella agency, over $6 million in AIDS funding for services, education and prevention."

'LIVING WITH HIV IN HOUSTON'

Exhibits Sought for November 9 Symposium at Texas Southern.

HOUSTON — "Many individuals, especially those who are newly diagnosed with HIV, do not know their rights under the law," said, Vera L. Johnson of the Montrose Counseling Center, who spoke with TWT NEWS about the "Living with HIV in Houston" conference, to be held November 9 at the Texas Southern University School of Law.

"The purpose of the symposium is to stress the importance of mental health care and the emotional aspects of being a person with AIDS," Johnson said. "We also hope to clarify and assist participants in becoming aware of and asserting personal rights before legal problems become legal crises."

Johnson said there is still time for community groups to reserve space in the symposium, though space is limited. "We are currently soliciting exhibits for 'Living with HIV in Houston.' The exhibit area rates are $150 for businesses, and $25 for nonprofit organizations."

Exhibit reservation requests should be mailed to Johnson's attention, Montrose Counseling Center, 900 Lovett Blvd., Suite 203, Houston, TX 77006. Because space is limited, it will be awarded on a first-come, first-serve basis. For further information, call (713)529-0037.

Thanks a Million

Dear TWT:

On August 18, I read an article in the Dallas Times Herald, about a reporter from KERA radio named Tom. I learned from the article that his lover has AIDS, and how Tom is taking care of him, as well as himself.

I know his lover, as many of us do. He used to be the only deejay who would talk to me during those minutes that lasted longer than a song request. He was almost the only deejay who wasn't afraid of trying new sounds, and he has given me hours of music that I wouldn't trade for the world.

I have not been very close to this person over the past two years because I moved out of the neighborhood. Like this person, I too, now have a companion, but I have also learned that life goes by without us saying what we really want to say.

So now I want say, thank you M.T., for the invitation to the opening, for the tapes I listened to when nobody was listening to me, and for the countless times I'd stand there in the dark bar with you and laugh, knowing that when I went home with that tape in my hand, there would be life in my "circle of one."

Thanks a million.

Gays Take Care of Our Own

Dear TWT:

Once again the Houston gay community has proven how they take care of their own.

In the early morning hours of July 20, we were attacked and assaulted by a group of five (against two of us) while we were attempting to leave the parking garage of our apartment.

We wish to use the COMMENT section of TWT to publicly thank all of the many who have offered help, love, money and time to aid us in our recent ordeal.

A special thanks to all of those who offered aid the night of the assault: Joe Paolucci, John Adams, Randy Morris, Ruben Banda, and Shannon and Patrick. Our deepest love and a special thanks to C.J. Harrington and Craig Perrin, who took us to the hospital, waited and then got us home safely.

To all those that dropped by and sent cards, (especially one of the best bartenders in town, Joey at the Mine)—Thank you!

To the dancers who donated their time for the benefit: Mark, Javier, Rock, Joey, Aaron, Kendall, Brad and C.J., you're the best—We'll never forget you.

Naomi, Donna and Diane, thank you for being there and emceeing the show.

To Charles Armstrong: We (as well as the whole community) will forever be indebted to you for the energy, time and money you have willingly given.

For those whom we have not mentioned by name: Please forgive us. Your help was and is deeply appreciated.

Thanks to all John Gibbs and Ed Kinser Houston, TX

The Price We Pay

Dear TWT:

Juan Palomo was fired from The Houston Post on August 30t Juan lost a good job. The Post lost a good columnist. And the community lost the insight of a writer who was able to communicate as a gay person to others in the city. And The Post lost its credibility in giving views of other than the straight world.

Juan was very brave. He attempted to come out publicly in his column on July 9 describing the events surrounding the gay bashing and murder of Paul Broussard. That particular column was very insightful in how tragic it was that a person was killed just because he was gay. It also asked what kind of society could tolerate this type of behavior.

Yet this was not the original column that Juan wrote. He originally was going to come out to the readers of the Post. The editors censored this, claiming that Juan was bringing his personal life into his work. Yet female columnists bring the insight of their gender and black columnists bring the personal perspectives of their race. But the first time a local columnist is brave enough to come out as a gay person, he is accused of bringing his personal life into the paper.

We as gay and lesbian people do have some special insights to bring into view. We know what it is to feel alone, even from our own biological families. We know what the true meaning of family is. We probably care much more about the wellbeing of other people, whether or not they are different from us. We know what it is like to lose so many of our loved ones in a society that blames us for the disease.

We need someone who could bring these issues up. Someone who has the perspective of an intelligent gay person. Someone who actually works for a major newspaper in Houston.

We have been served well by our gay and lesbian press, radio station KPFT and recently The Houston Press. But these media outlets have a limited reach even within our community. We need to bridge the gap into the non-gay community for the gay and lesbian people who live outside the Montrose and to communicate to the non-gay population.

Community activists know that there are risks in coming out. We take them even when many in our own community want us to keep guiet.

Many of us learned not to worry about rocking the boat because we are not in the boat. Everyone who is gay and lesbian take risks coming out to friends, family and even employers. Some of us lose jobs or stay at low-paying jobs where we feel the risks are less. Some lose family and friends.

Some, like Juan. have tried to work in the mainstream. Then something happens, like the tragic murder of Paul Broussard, and there is no turning back. A tragedy like this is a bigger issue than personal security. Juan was very brave to talk to the Houston Press about how his editors prevented him from coming out in the Post. The story then went beyond the Press. The Advocate, among others, picked it up.

Now it seems pretty clear that the Houston Post does not want its mass reach to include the voices of gay and lesbian people.

We as a community must respond to this. If we don't, we will never get gay and lesbian perspectives in the mass media in Houston. Call, or even better yet, write to the Post and give them your support for the great writing that Juan Palomo has done in the paper and demand that they reinstate him.

Write the other media outlets, the Houston Chronicle, the radio stations, TV stations and the weeklies and ask them why they don't have any openly gay and lesbian people writing and reporting for them.

We make up 10% of the population in this metropolitan area and we are not served very well by the mass media. We pay the price of being invisible. We can change this. First, come out to your friends and family, take pride in yourself and demand that the non-gay media not treat us as being invisible.

Good Ol' Boy Justice

Dear TWT:

District Attorney Steve Hilbig, Judge Terry McDonald and defense attorney Eddie Garcia certainly must be slapping each other on the back over their tongue-in-cheek punishment of the marine who murdered because of gay advances. (Proof not necessary.)

Marine Nicolo received probation for his murder of Charles Resendez. Charles is dead and Nicolo says he was so drunk he doesn't remember anything that happened that night. He does know that the next morning he awoke to find himself and Charles in bed together and a used condom on the floor. Then Nicolo bludgeoned Charles to death in his sleep.

The gay community will find it interesting to know that strangers from out of state can murder native Texans, call us queer and get a wink of disapproval from the court system. Good ol' boy justice rides again.

Does this probation include regular interaction with the gay community? If the marine is scared of homosexuals, maybe we should try to find out why.

LOST IN THE SYSTEM State Denies Gay Man Right To Adopt

by Jazz Paz

Lee Napper is a family man. He knows about families. He knows of loving, accepting, nurturing families that give gentie encouragement to their children to question, consider and try new experiences. He knows of healthy, supportive families where each child is cherished and feels safe.

He also knows about alcoholic and drug-addicted, raging families who move abruptly from city to town and sometimes shatter over many states. He knows about children who are disciplined with horror and suspense. He understands kids who are afraid of the dark and afraid of their parents and afraid they won't grow up intact if they grow up.

Lee Napper is a survivor of the smoky bars and boozy atmospheres that conspire to expose what psychologists refer to as "dysfunctional families." It was his durable fantasy of belonging to a "good" family helped him survive.

A good parent would not trample the soul of a child who despised being labeled a sissy, he thought. A parent who wouldn't struggle to extinguish a little boy's spirit, even one who would agressively love and protect him, is the kind of father Lee would have preferred.

Not that there was no reprieve. When he was eight, his alcoholic, drug-addicted mother ran away to California to escape the abuse that she, too, suffered at his father's caprice. She thought she was sheltering her son by sneaking him away with her.

In her new-found freedom, however, her diseases rampaged and the little boy missed her and prayed fervently for her safety during her unaccountable absences of days and days. Still, she was home some of the time and when she was not, Lee usually knew which bar she patronized. And she was his mother. He loved her for that. He felt as close to his mother as he felt distant from his father.

But his father eventually located Lee and forced him to return to his control. Dispatched to live with an aunt and about 200 other relatives in a small Southern Baptist community, Lee felt as if he had traded one brand of insanity for another. The populace of this village were ambitious to be "good, old-fashioned Christians" and wore their sanctity like halos above their Little House on the Prairie bonnets. Heated summer revivals were their favorite pastimes. Guilt and shame were the hallmarks of the faithful's fearful, restricted lives.

The red-faced preacher, his neck veins distended with fury and loathing, used to exhort rabidly against the most unspeakable sin of all, homosexuality. The congregation swayed and amen'd and offered cacophonous gratitude to their God that their hamlet had been spared such a grievous depravity.

As a young teenager, unable to avoid "the most dreaded sin" that was in his heart, Lee took his first sip of beer and stayed smashed for the next 14 years. Soon he was dropping acid and exploiting every pill, herb or liquid that suggested escape from the pervasive self-hatred that his father cultivated in him. He was an angry young man.

Today, Lee is proudly clean and sober and out. He is the Clinical Director of Counseling at the Peavy Switch Recovery Center, an alchohol and drug rehabilitation center in Lufkin. His life is busy and happy. He is comfortable most of the time.

Occasionally, though, Lee used to think he felt, or heard, a soft sigh in his heart. A delicate awareness, barely a wish. A desperate sense of determined perseverance. But he had work to do, clients to see and his own healing to finish. So he continued in his best form: he survived it. Over time, however, this feeling became uneasy, and then urgent.

"Mr. Frizell?" This is Lee Napper. I met

Call anytime, phones answered 24 hours Not Board Certified by the State Board of Legal Specialization you at a therapy training course you gave at the Peavy Switch Center, and I've been thinking about what you said...Do single people ever adopt kids? I mean, is that even allowed?

Eugene Frizell has a tough job. He manages the lives of children that nobody wants: biracial, developmentally disabled, severely handicapped, kids who have reguired protection from their abusive families or who have been abandoned. These throwaway children populate foster homes and agencies across the state.

It is Eugene Frizell's and other caseworkers' assignment to place the adoptable ones in stable, accepting homes. some of the children, however, are considered to be too damaged to benefit from loving families when they reach a certain age, or are so extremely undesirable that no willing families can be found.

Frizell previously mentioned one such incorrigible to Lee, a six-year-old boy who had been in protective custody for three years, exasperating three consecutive foster families. Battered physically and violated sexually by his biological mother and stepfather, the child Frizell mentioned now suffers emotional and behavioral outbursts that are grossly inappropriate and sexually expressive. He displays his anger violently. He is one of the "unattached" children who are never chosen. His caseworker also believes he displays "homosexual tendencies."

The subculture of citizens who are homeless, derelict and without goals or devotions often are that way as a result having been denied the opportunity to mature through the normal stages of growing up; that is, trusting dependency as babies, successful separation from their care-givers as young adults and attachment to other adults. Missing the experience of feeling valued, loved and wanted as children skews their future towards disintegration.

Lee felt a sense of deja vu. He thought he recognized that little boy from somewhere.

He called the foster mother who is currently taking care of the little boy. He read extensive case histories of other people's observations about the child. He also saw pictures and a video of the little boy. He was sure he knew him.

He tried to guard his tenderness for the child. The other case workers tried to conceal their surprise and curiosity at his concern.

Heeding all their professional warnings and fully informed of the inherent risks. Lee Napper made formal application to become the adoptive father of the boy no one else wanted.

He took ten weeks of parenting classes. He opened his home to inspectors. He eagerly revealed everything that was asked of him. The state of Texas carefully considered all the evidence and determined Lee to be an "excellent candidate" to adopt. The investigation had taken five months.

This summer, after application had been made for this specific child, the always tedious and lethargic bureaucracy dragged nearly to a stop. One month passed without further action, even without word from the Texas Department of Human Services. Lee spent that time preparing his "extra" bedroom, the one he had always "saved." His son's room.

In his now uncontrollable enthusiasm, Lee shared his glad tidings with friends. Happy for him, but wary of the system, they repeatedly advised him not to declare his homosexuality to adoption officials. His tormented childhood, his suicidal despair, his drug and alcohol abuse would not disqualify him from getting his child, they said, but his homosexuality would.

Lee is publicly out. He is self-revealing and sharing of himself, which makes it easy to get to know him, easy to get along with. He didn't check "gay" or "straight" on any of the voluminous paperwork he was required to fill out because there was no space provided. Until the closed-door meeting a few weeks ago no one had seemed to care.

"Mr. Napper, this office has received an anonymous accusation from a caller who claims that you are a homosexual."

Terror of the dark. Fears of abandonment. Shrieks in his heart strangled his lungs and prevented a coherent reply. Energy outside his body vigorously shook Lee's head and thickened his tongue and choked protests escaped his throat.

Recovery from the demons that used to possess Lee has required a lot of therapy, therapy founded on truth. More than anything, Lee wants to remain well. He is aware of the consequences that an unhealthy parent visits on his child. Within hours, he returned to the site of the allegation and told the caseworkers that denial of himself was not his intended response to their queries. He explained that he felt trapped, feral, viscerally attacked. He stated that he was proudly gay and out and had already satisfied their qualifications to be awarded "his" kid.

Uncomprehending but compassionate, the caseworkers told Lee they would see what they could do, verbally patting his hand.

Seven months after his initial effort, Lee Napper's dream of becoming a good parent was aborted. The mental and emotional anguish this otherwise articulate gentleman has suffered has been "indescribable." He is bitter over the fact that the Texas Department of Human Services claims not to have denied him the child because of his "homosexual lifestyle." The official reason given for denial is that he "lied" about himself. Only one month before they had declared him "excellent."

Napper has consulted an attorney who believes he has a worthy case. He is willing to challenge the state of Texas to protect "his" little boy from the inevitable scourges that the world heaps upon the unloved. Lee Napper is a substantial man of courage, honor and energy, but he is not financially capable of pursuing this into the thousands that it will likely cost.

He says he survived his hell years by hiding his vulnerabilities, never accepting help from anyone. He says this is how he remained alive. Now he says he is dying inside and he is asking for help from everyone, anyone who can assist him. The people he exposed his soul to trampled on it and he is afraid the little boy will be trampled. too, by the world.

There are benefits being planned to raise funds for the legal fees necessary to pay for appeals in Napper's case. There will have to be many more to pay as much as it will cost to persuade the courts to grant him the child.

Napper's attorney is interested in hearing testimony from other gay and lesbian adoptive parents who are willing to write a letter detailing their positive parenting experiences which might be used as evidence. Mail may be directed to Lee Napper, 404 Arizona, Lufkin, TX 75901

Lee Napper loves this child and no one is competing with him for the privilege of parenting him. The little boy desperately needs a father.

And the state of Texas needs more inclusive adoption laws.

"Love. The more you give it away, the more you have."—some old Auntie

I'm not proud. I'll say it out loud: I fall madly, madly in love with every pretty young man I meet. Alas, they seldom feel the same for me—my heart has known quite a few rejections. Even so, my life is fuller for every small moment I've enjoyed.

Twenty years ago this summer, I literally stumbled over a pretty young man asleep under the Lemmon Avenue bridge where it crosses Turtle Creek. There he was, shirtless and sprawled on the ground with arms and legs opened wide as if to welcome the world. His backpack was his pillow. Untamed hair framed a face of delicate, almost androgynous features. His graceful body was not the result of endless hours of pumping iron, but one of natural curves, sweeping lines and gentle bulges.

Back then, sleeping under a bridge didn't mean one was homeless. The youth's uncut hair and jeans of multicolored patches indicated he was a member of the tribe, a "hippie." The world was his home.

I wanted to know these people who called themselves hippies, these people who seemed so determined not to follow in the footsteps of their elders. But how? They were suspicious of a man with short hair, especially one of my age. They had a saying, "Never trust anyone over 30."

Who were these young men and women who decried conformity even as they conformed in their own style: long (natural) hair, quaint grannie glasses and dresses, tie-dyed shirts, well-worn bell-bottoms, sandals and above all...pot. Who were these baby-boomers who had reached puberty or early adulthood with a reverence for this tiny planet, Earth, a reverence not necessarily shared by their parents? Who were they to love even those who ridiculed them? How did this reverence for life and nature give them an inner glow, a glow that made them all beautiful? I wanted to learn from them, to share their beauty.

Until Dallas City Council passed a curfew for Lee Park, the "Park People" (as they called themselves) actually lived there in warm weather, sleeping on the lawns at night, swimming in Turtle Creek, strumming acoustical guitars, singing contemporary folk songs, snapping string beans, telling fortunes, sailing frisbees, dancing impromptu and playing nonviolent, noncompetitive games. They did many things. Except work and go to war.

Sometimes, for the hell of it and to shock the "establishment types," these children of nature ran naked across campus greens and through public buildings. They called it streaking.

Back in the park, seated on the grass in friendly circles, they passed a jug of cheap wine and the ever-present roach. When an outsider approached, the roach suddenly, very efficiently, vanished.

The Park People did not worship money and had little need for it as they had no rent or utility bills. When a bit of money was needed, they could always sell the underground paper Dallas Notes for a quarter at the corner of Lemmon and Oak Lawn. Or beg. They ate not-quite-fresh fruits and vegetables that stores had thrown out, or "down home" food that diggers (those who worked for a living) gave them. They shared.

While some might "rip off the affluent establishment," to steal or commit violence against an individual was foreign to their philosophy—a philosophy based on that one word, "love."

In cold weather, one of them would rent an inexpensive apartment in the Lee Park area and four or more would crash on the sofa or floor. That is, until the landlord complained. Compliantly, they would vanish. Then move back again in about two or three hours.

Sex! They were all for it. It was natural. Beautiful. "Off puritanical morality. If it feels good, do it." Like food, they shared "free love," but selectively. To their credit, they did not sell it.

"Pot," they proclaimed, "enhances the sexual experience!" But if a young man couldn't get it up, so what? "Being high is better than sex!" he would proclaim-to the frustration of his partner.

As if hating permanence, they always seemed to be going somewhere. Every day they could be found out on the highways and major intersections, with bedroll and backpack, thumbing for a ride. Where were they forever going? To follow a road just to see where it went? To visit a new town hecause it was a new town? To walk an unfamiliar beach? To meditate in quiet woods? To search for illusive "vibes"? To leave the past behind?

Perhaps I was wrong. Perhaps there was too much "sameness" in my life. I worked at the same old job day after day. pulled weeds and mowed the same old lawn week after week, lived in the same old town year after year. Why? For no other reason than the fact that my ancestors had settled in Dallas more than a century ago. I had "roots."

But was I living? Or was I merely taking up space? What about Auntie Mame's excellent advice: "Live! Live! Live! Life is a banquet and most sons-of-bitches are starving to death.'

Sprawled before me was my chance to partake of this banquet. Maybe. As the young man scrambled to his feet and began putting on his shirt. I tried to apologize. "Oh, excuse me, I wasn't looking..."

"Hey man, got a quarter? I ain't had breakfast." Handing him the coin, I asked his name. He shrugged, "What difference does it make?" Then grumpily, "Alex." With that, he began strapping on his backpack. Well, he sure as hell wasn't cordial. At least not to an outsider. Even so, I wasted no time pasting his beauty in my memory. I would have that if nothing else.

But I kept trying. "Where are you going?"

"Everywhere."

"Where is everywhere?"

"Everywhere."

"What will you do when you get to everywhere?"

"Nothing."

"Then why go everywhere? Why not do nothing here?

"Because I've already done nothing here. I want to do nothing elsewhere, everywhere." He started to leave.

Desperately, "Can you be had?"

He suddenly stopped and turned, "Not by you, man. You're too old. 'Sides, I'm into chicks.

"Isn't that a sexist, ageist statement?" "I suppose so."

"Will our paths ever cross again?"

"Of course, man. You and I are everyman. So when we meet everyman, we will meet again."

"I'm not sure I understand you."

"You don't understand me because we're on different wavelengths, man. You're not high. Your existence is not real."

"I wish you well."

He stepped out into the sunlight, indifferent to my good wishes. Suddenly, he was gone. The small moment was over. Reiection again.

I've often thought of that Sunday in the park-that's what memories are for. And I've wondered, whatever became of everyman Alex. Have we ever met again? Is my existence real?

And whatever became of the hippies, those innocent people who believed that by singing songs, smoking pot and proclaiming universal love, they could somehow make this a kinder, gentler world?

Whatever became of them? They became 30.

The opening scene of Dead Again is indicative of the tension to come. A series of newspaper headlines encapsulates a sensational murder and subsequent trial. A grainy black and white screen shows illustrious composer Roman Strauss (Kenneth Branagh) awaiting execution for the heinous slaying of his beautiful wife Margaret (Emma Thompson) with a pair of scissors.

An oily newspaper reporter, Gray Baker (Andy Garcia), who has covered the Strauss throughout their fairy tale marriage, has been summoned to the gallows by Roman. When he enters Roman's cell, he finds the walls covered with clippings from his own newspaper articles.

"Did you kill your wife?" Gray asks. Roman leans over to answer with a whisper, but his response is hidden from view. Roman's death walk begins, and as Gray sits pensively, he realizes that Roman has surreptitiously removed a pair of scissors from the cell. Walking down the hall, his mortality calling to him at the other end, Roman maneuvers his agent of dissolution into striking position. The woman is there, an inviting, sensual target. Gray acts, screaming, trying to intercede, but the weapon is raised and...she awakens in a sweat, terrified, her heart pounding.

She is a woman (Thompson) lost in present-day Los Angeles. She has no memory and does not speak; she only stares into nothingness and suffers the anguish of a recurring nightmare. She has been taken in by the clergy at a school for boys.

When it becomes clear they cannot help her, the headmaster determines that his only option is to turn her over to the county hospital for the mentally incapacitated. As a last resort, he contacts a private detective who specializes in the location of missing persons.

Mike Church (Branagh) is at first reluctant to take on the case, but he tells the priest he will take the woman to a friend at one of the daily papers and have a photo run of her with a caption asking any reader with information on her identity to make contact.

Mike takes the woman to his apartment for the evening and witnesses her in the afterthroes of the nightmare. When the newspaper photo fails to generate an immediate response, Mike decides to take her to the county hospital.

Once there, however, he cannot bring himself to leave her there. The school won't take her back, so he takes her back to his place and hopes the photo will eventually produce something.

Produce something it does. Franklyn Madson (Derek Jacobi), an eccentric antiques dealer with a remarkable gift for hypnosis, shows up at Mike's apartment, claiming he can help the mysterious woman discover her identity through hypnotism and the nightmare. With no other leads, Mike agrees.

Franklyn takes the woman back into her nightmare, into the Los Angeles of the 1940s, into the lives of Roman and Margaret Strauss, and the story within a story unfolds.

From this point on, the story of Mike and the woman, whom he has affectionately taken to calling Grace, is interwoven with the story of the Strausses. The tale of Roman and Margaret rings sadly familiar, that of a picture-perfect marriage rocked by insecurity and suspicion. Their lives in the garish world of the super-wealthy are beset by Roman's faltering career, yet they strive to maintain an appearance of opulence and comfort underscored by the presence of their housekeeper Inga (Hanna Schygulla).

Dead Again stars Kenneth Branagh (who also directed) as Mike Church, a cynical private detective, and Emma Thompson as an enigmatic woman nicknamed Grace.

In the present, Mike finds incredulous the revelations Grace is making under hypnosis. She is attached to the lives of Roman and Margaret, and the only possible explanation seems to be reincarnation.

Dead Again is a masterful thriller with shocking surprises and deft plot development. Accept the premise that reincarnation is possible, and the suspenseful story will keep you riveted.

The movie is not without its flaws. The course of the story could, with good argument, be described as utter contrivance, and there are times when Grace displays recollections of events in her previous life to which she was not a party in the first place.

In the context of an enthralling suspense-thriller, however, these shortcomings are easily ignored. Moreover, the movie has enough praiseworthy attributes to compensate for any plot deficiencies.

Branagh, who received awards and accolades worldwide for his superlative acting and directing in Henry V, has demonstrated a directorial presence that will keep him behind the camera for years to come. Although it probably need not be said of someone who has mastered Shakespeare, his on-camera performance is exceptional. He is completely convincing as both the aristocratic European composer and as the earthy California gumshoe.

Garcia and Schygulla are both impressive in their supporting roles. He brings a slimy unpleasantness to life as the self-important Gray, and she has a sinister aloofness as the secretive Inga.

Photographically, the film's success is due solely to the contrast between scenes in the present and the trance-induced memories. Taken alone, present-day Los Angeles as we see it in the movie is adequate, but hardly worth a second glance. Placed next to the dreamy remembrances of the mind, though, it has an oddly vibrant yet reassuring quality.

The hypnosis and nightmare sequences are themselves rapturously beautiful. Filmed with what is best described as a granular texture, the backflashes stand in stunning contrast to the rest of the movie.

Dead Again is a movie that will grab you and hold you. Easily the best thriller since Fatal Attraction, it will also shock and delight you. $\star \star \star 1/2$

NIGHT OF PRIDE '91

The North American Gay and Lesbian Bodybuilding Championship

by Michael McKinney

Cover Art by Tank

A full week of gay pride events will include a very special Night of Pride. The gay and lesbian bodybuilding championship, to be held at the Arcadia Theater in Dallas, is the first time this type of event has been sanctioned by the AAU (Amateur Athlete's Union).

"The contest was named Night of Pride because bodybuilding provides us a way to feel good about ourselves," said Roger Harmon, contest director. "And this contest offers gay and lesbian bodybuilders an opportunity to compete with athletes of their national community."

The historic Arcadia Theater, at 2114 Greenville Avenue, will be the site of the contest on September 21. Competition will be in the categories of Men's Open, Women's Open, Couples-Mixed and Same Sex, as well as Men over 40.

The Night of Pride will also include a night of entertainment. The Stockyard Stampede from Fort Worth will perform. Formed in 1988, has appeared in Austin at the statewide march and in the Colorado Gay Rodeo. Mr. Gay All-American 1992, John Gordon, will sing some of his favorite country tunes. And Dallas on Tap will dance their way through jazz and tap routines.

Admission ranges from $15-25 for reserved seating, to $150 for VIP Sponsorships. All admissions are tax deductible. For more information about Night of Pride, call (214)-520-0019. Net proceeds from the event will benefit the Oak Lawn Community Services, which offers counseling programs and AIDS services in the Dallas area.

Corporate sponsors include the Club Body Center and the Wave in Dallas. "People from all over the United States and Canada are already registered" Harmon said. "We are really excited about this evening, because it will be something we can all take pride in."

Chris Dickerson, former title holder of Mr. America, Mr. Universe and Mr. Olympia, will be guest poser at the contest. Rick Eckman will be one of the judges, and J.B. Bord of Dallas will be competing.

What is ComQuest?

ComQuest is gay Texas's different, interesting way to meet compatible guys. ComQuest's computer-based matching system enables you to meet men from your area who match your preferences (and you theirs) for age, race, personality, lifestyle, physical attributes, interests, and local residence.

ComQuest began providing gay matching services in 1982 and now has thousands of members in over 60 major cities.

How does it work?

ComQuest's matching sytem, using advanced computer technology, analyzes your detailed questionnaire responses (see reverse side of page) and compares each of your weighted "ideal match" descriptive responses with the corresponding "self" descriptive responses of all current members, and vice versa, keeping track of the members having the highest matching scores.

What does it cost, and what do I get?

We'll waive our $10 data entry fee if you send this form. Now for only $20 you can get the contact information for the 10 men who are your best matches from our current pool of members in your area. Also, your contact information will be "listed" for three months (with free extensions) for other members to contact you (unless you leave Step 2 blank). You will know of these matches only when they contact you.

What if my matches don't work out?

ComQuest receives numerous letters from members who have found lovers or who are otherwise quite pleased with our service. However, if you are not satisfied, you will receive a prompt refund of your membership fee. (You have 30 days to notify us and return your match printout).

How long will it take?

We fill most orders within a week. If the difference between your postmark date and ours is more than 14 days, we will include an extra $5.00 credit voucher with your order, applicable to future ComQuest orders. All correspondence from ComQuest will be mailed in plain envelopes.

OK, I'll try it. What do I do?

This is the hard part. But it can be fun, too. The questionnaire is on the reverse side of this page. Refer to the instructions to the right to complete Steps 3, 4, and 5. It is very important to read them carefully. If you don't follow the instructions we can't guarantee the results. If you need help call 1-708-991-0693 (9-5 CST, M-F). For additional application forms call 1-800-633-6969 (24 hours).

Send the completed form with $20 (plus $10 for each extra set of 5 matches) check or money order to:

ComQuest, PO Box 1069, Palatine, IL 60078

Questionnaire Instructions

Step 3 - Describe yourself by circling the word me beside each descriptive item which is a true description of yourself. You should circle at least one me under each category. Circle more than one me if appropriate.

Step 4 - Describe your ideal match by circling the word veto, no, ok or yes beside each and every item (including those by which you circled me) to indicate to what extent you would want that item to be true of your match. Circle exactly one of these responses per item, as described below:

Circle yes if you prefer that description to be true of your match. This is a vote for a trait—not a guarantee.

Circle ok if you don't care one way or the other. This is an abstention—no vote either way. Lines left blank are counted as ok.

Circle no if you prefer that description not to be true of your match. This is a vote against—not a disqualification. Treat it as a "maybe."

Circle veto if you want no matches with anyone for whom that description is true, even if they have other desirable qualities. This is a disqualification and is not affected by category rank. Treat it as an absolute "no." We recommend that you circle between 10 and 20 vetos to restrict age, race, residence, and other important traits of your matches.

Note: The use of vetoes restricts the number of members qualified to meet you. You are guaranteed the number of matches you order, but if you use too many vetoes you may get fewer matches than you ordered initially, in which case you will receive credit for the remaining matches. You can use the credit to alter your questionnaire and/or reorder matches anytime.

Step 5 - Rank the categories. The questionnaire is divided into 16 categories. To insure that your responses on the less important items won't override those on the more important items, you must indicate which categories are important to you. Using the blank to the left of each category heading, either . . .

Rank each category from 1 to 16 in its order of importance to you, with 1 as the most important and 16 as the least, using each rank once, or \dots

Put a check mark beside the five most important category headings, leaving the rest blank.

Note: Your matches will be based mostly upon the more important categories, with the less important ones serving only as tie breakers. Noes and yeses have very little effect in the lower ranked or unchecked categories. Some of your matches may have traits by which you circled no. However, vetoes are exclusive regardless of category rank.

Lest you think that the start of the school year in 1982 signaled the end of the party season in Texas, Lone Star drinkatoriums scheduled an even greater variety of events and gaylas to stimulate and exalt the veins of even the most discriminating Texasexuals.

Well, isn't that what you'd call the Orange and White Party at the Boathouse in Austin, the Stewart Beach Party in Galveston and Wednesday ten-cent drink nights at the Village Station in Dallas?

In other ENTERTAINing news, Rob Clark, TWT's official representative to the Tony Awards, provided theatregoers with highlights and previews of all the noteworthy stage productions in the state. And while the Granny's Dinner Playhouse production of Sleuth in Dallas, starring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. posted SRO notices, active thespians were still guaranteed good seats for A Flea in Her Ear at Chocolate Bayou Theater in Houston and South Jetty at Theatre Surburbia, also in Houston.

Now really, folks, who else would keep you abreast of the stand-ins and outs of the business?

pavid Fields, he of the pen and pencil set, offered his opinions on Edmund White's recent book, A Boy's Own Story—the recounting of the life and loves of an unnamed American youth in search of himself. While David felt a dictionary a necessary tool in any attempt to read this work, the effort made "intriguing reading."

And finally, movie screens glowed a little less brightly in cinemas nationwide as Hollywood bid farewell to a true legend, Ingrid Bergman. In his tribute to the actress, Jack Varsi acclaimed her as a woman possessing a "discipline and integrity in her work that was, perhaps, unmatched by any other actor or actress in films."

And so it was, this week in Texas, 1982.

STARGAZER — The stars you see tonight in the Texas sky may no longer still be up there. That's because the light you are seeing can only reach Earth no faster than the speed of light. For instance, it takes 1.3 seconds for moonlight to reach Earth. It takes eight minutes for sunlight to travel from ol' Sol to your nearest beach.

The nearest star to Earth (besides our own Sun) is Centauri A, which is about 25 million miles away. With light traveling at 186,000 miles per second, that comes to about 4.3 light years. In other words, the light you see in the sky tonight from Centauri A left that star over four years ago, back in 1987.

Since astrology is primarily concerned with the effects only of the planets of our solar system (which are much, much closer than the stars), the time delay is minimal—no more than a few hours. For instance, light from Saturn is one hour and 16 minutes away. Light from the farthest-out planet, Pluto, is only five and one-half hours old.

HERE COMES FALL — Summer ends and Fall begins in less than two weeks, on September 23—the time of the Autumnal Equinox.

JUPITER EFFECT — Our mightiest planet, awesome Jupiter, is known in astrology to rule good fortune and luck. For the past year—since August 18, 1990—Jupiter has been traveling through Leo.

On August 12 of this year, a new Jupiter cycle began when Jupiter left Leo and entered Virgo. This long and lucky Jupiter cycle will continue for over a year—until October 10, 1992.

All of this means there's a change due in how lady luck deals you opportunities. Read this week's STARSCOPE message to see how luck will change for you over the coming 14 months while Jupiter travels through Virgo.

TWT SEPTEMBER 13 - SEPTEMBER 19 1991

VIRGO: (Aug 23-Sept 22) You are fortunate because lucky Jupiter is set to begin a 14-month cycle in your own zodiac sign. This will be wonderful for all your personal endeavors. You are entering the most beneficial cycle of your life. Keep alert to when opportunity knocks.

LIBRA: (Sept 23 - Oct 23) From now until October 1992, lucky Jupiter will be bestowing good fortune on you from your twelfth house of behind-the-scenes activities. Now will be a splendid time for secret ambitions. Play your cards close to your heart. Make your overt moves when the time is right. Others will be surprised at all your secret planning.

5CORPIO: (Oct 24 - Nov 21) Here comes your best social cycle of the decade as lucky Jupiter is now in your eleventh house of social whirls, friendships and parties. This upbeat social cycle continues for 14 months until October 1992. Thus, now is the time to be out and about. Staying home will not advance you personally, socially or businesswise. Be seen.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov 22 - Dec 21) You are in for a dynamic 14-month business cycle when lucky Jupiter shines on all your work endeavors. Clearly, you are in the driver's seat when it comes to your job. You, intuitively, seem to make all the right moves at the right time in the right place. Thank benefic Jupiter, now in your tenth house of career.

CAPRICORN: (Dec 22 - Jan 19) Lucky Jupiter is moving into your ninth house of travel and education where it will stay for the coming 14-month cycle. Capricorns are due for some good luck since Saturn, Uranus and Neptune have been in your sign, kicking up problems for too long. Now here comes lucky Jupiter to the rescue. Sit back, relax and enjoy the blessings.

AQUARIUS: (Jan 20 - Feb 18) You are entering a lusty period when admirers seem to literally be placed in your path. All of this sudden attention is due to the entry of lucky Jupiter into your eighth house. This Jupiter cycle will last for 14 months, until October 1992. Enjoy, but play safe.

PISCES: (Feb 18 - Mar 20) Marriage and partnerships get a rousing boost of good luck when benefic Jupiter enters your seventh house this month. If married, you will continue to be happy with your mate, happier than ever before. If single, you should have no problems snagging the ideal person, as Jupiter has fired up your charming personality and made you sexier. More good news: this lucky-in-love cycle lasts until October of 1992.

ARIES: (Mar 21 - Apr 19) Any problems you've had lately with your health and job should be totally resolved these days since lucky Jupiter is now in your sixth house, which rules such matters. See your doctor or dentist now for an accurate diagnosis and proper treatment. Workwise, all should go smoothly on the job. Now is a good time for career advancement. Job interviews are blessed. This beneficial cycle lasts for over a year, until October of 1992.

TAURUS: (Apr 20 - May 20) Some very exciting times are ahead for you as lucky Jupiter is beginning a 14-month cycle into your fifth house of love affairs and entertainment. Admirers will be abundant, romance will be bountiful and dating will come easy — almost too easy. This whirlwind of romantic entertainment is really nothing more than just that—entertainment. Don't allow yourself to think most of these admirers are serious about love. Don't believe all that is whispered in your ear.

GEMINI: (May 21 - Jun 21) Your homefront is going to be blessed by lucky Jupiter over the next 14 months because this mighty planet has moved into your fourth house of the home. Real estate matters are spotlighted. Buying, selling and changing addresses come easier. Even roommate problems are quickly smoothed out. All thanks to lucky Jupiter on the homefront.

CANCER: (June 22 - July 22) Short trips, phone calls, love letters, signing important papers, sealing contracts. These are just a few of the areas of communication that are now blessed by lucky Jupiter, which is now housed in your third house, which rules all such matters. Take advantage of the coming 14-month cycle while the lines of communication are open. Others are very responsive to your ideas and suggestions. LEO: (July 23 - Aug 22) Money makes the world go 'round, the saying goes. And, these days, money goes 'round you very well. Your earning power, ability to make wise investments, desire to save and uncanny nature to make sound purchases are now blessed by lucky Jupiter, which is now in your second house of money. This upbeat financial cycle lasts until October of COMING NEXT WEEK: The Full Harvest Moon.

MONTROSE BOWLING ENDS SUMMER SEASON

Houston — The Montrose Monday Night Men's Bowling League ended its summer season with trick bowling and awards last Monday night. Of course, Naomi Sims showed up with a trick, thinking that everyone had to bring a trick to bowl with. But to her disappointment, the trick bowling was done with bowling balls, not a date.

Participants were asked to throw the balls between their legs, with the wrong arm and in the seated position. Naomi didn't stay around very long, but she was seen headed for the Montrose Mining Company with a pocketful of money she won for having the high handicap game for division A. Who says you can't bowl in heels?

League champions were the Svelte Mommies, who also won the division B title. Division A was won by Three Sisters and Her. The rolloff tournament honors were taken by Dead Wood on Thirteen.

The fall/winter season begins this Monday night, September 16 at 9 p.m. There is still room for a few more teams and individuals to fill out incomplete teams. If interested, call Steve Stepleton at (713)529-3261.

David died August 17, 1991, from complications arising from AIDS. A man whose skills ranged from teacher and dramatist to network administrator and public relations officer, David's greatest talent was the joy of giving and love of life he shared with all who knew him.

His departure, while mourned, was not bitter; his conviction that he would pass to something better strengthened his loved ones and we believed. I'll see you soon my dear, dear friend.

Javier

I only wanted to try and live in accordance with the promptings that came from my true self.

And the days are not full enough and the nights are not full enough and life slips by like a field mouse not shaking the grass

—Ezra Pound, Prologue to "Lustra" in Personae, 1926

Paul Carter Burns, III (above) 4-16-64 - 7-28-91

What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us.

Unequivocally, PCB, III 7/91.

James D. McNicholas, Jr. (above) of Beaumont, Texas 3-21-49 - 8-27-91

Jim and I first met in John Sealy Hospital in October 1990. I was to do an "intake" for AIDS Coalition of Coastal Texas. Little did I know Jim was to become a part of my daily life for the next nine months. I spent anywhere from two to five hours each day with him as he made his journey through his valley. (I promised him I wouldn't use "brave" and "courageous," but I must.) He spoke to groups of affected as well as infected people, encouraging them to love one another and to forgive transgressions.

In his later months he delighted in giving out his calling card with this message:

They are not dead who live in hearts they leave behind.

Jim, you are a part of many hearts. Rest well!
Bill Curry

Simone Fee (above) 10-10-49 - 8-30-91

Simone died of a massive heart attack August 30 at Twelve Oaks Hospital. He is survived by his lifemate, Mike Sparks, mother, two sisters, one brother and many relatives and friends.

Although life has gone the memories live on.

Love, Mike
