Love! Valour! Compassion!

at Fort Worth Theatre

THEATER

REVIEWED BY STEVEN LINDSEY

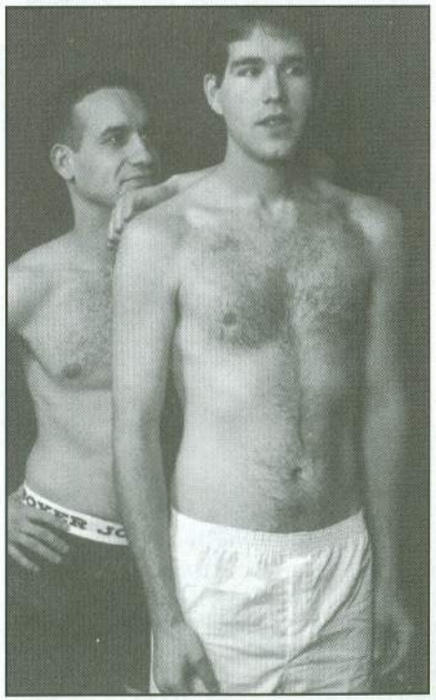

Perhaps church would be infinitely more popular if there were always naked men in the chapel. At least, that might get my head off the pillow and into a hymnal more often. The reason I bring this up is the odd juxtaposition of Terrence McNally's Love! Valour! Compassion! in all its gay, nude glory with a theatre housed in what appears to have been a church chapel or auditorium at one point in its existence. Even if it wasn't, the space gives off the aura of past performances of faith healers laying hands on the sick and crippled, whereas tonight's show begins with Ramon laying hands inside Bobby's pants.

For those of you unfamiliar with any of the stagings or the recent motion picture made from McNally's wonderfully insightful play, Love! chronicles the lives of eight gay men and their three summer holiday visits to a country home in upstate New York, owned by dancer/choreographer extraordinaire Gregory (Dennis Canright) and his blind lover, Bobby (Robert G. Shores). Their guests for the summer include two conservative lovers, Arthur (Stan Graner) and Perry (Todd Camp); a show tune-lovin' queen, Buzz (Steve Garrett); romantic Brit James and his evil twin, John (Kenny Green); and John's studly boy-toy, Ramon (Eddie Zertuche). Over the course of the summer, the lives of each man is changed in some way through outward circumstance, inner growth or a combination of the two.

The plot, for the most part, is inconsequential. The power of this play lies almost exclusively with its characters and their portrayals and the Fort Worth Theatre cast is more than able to tackle the complex roles with professionalism, wit and humility.

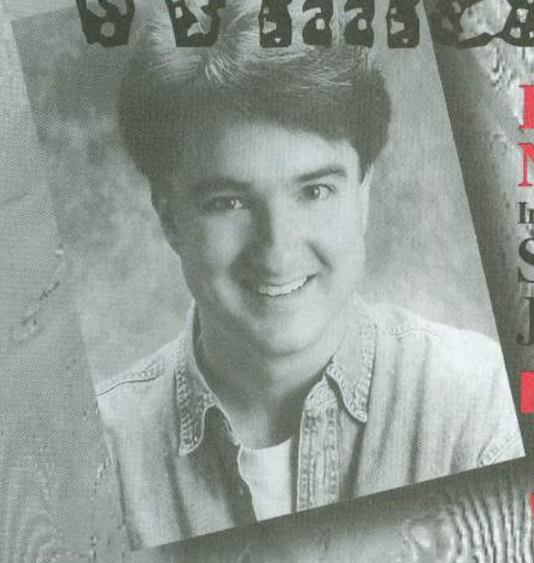

Leading the pack is Garrett, who delivers such a carefree, second-nature performance that it's hard to imagine him being any different from Buzz in real life. Dead-on timing and stellar stage presence keep the material fresh and funny, no matter how many incarnations you've been privy to over the years.

As Arthur, Graner delivers another great turn in a much-deserved, more substantial role than he had in the wonderful Cole Porter tribute, Night and Day. His interaction with Camp's Perry was not only believable, but had the awkward tension which can only be produced by bickering lovers. Kudos must also go to Camp for tackling his part with nasty bitterness, perfectly portraying one of those difficult queens we all want to slap around a little.

For the show's other acid-spitter, Green chooses campy melodrama for his embodiment of John. That isn't to say we don't all know a few people like him, as well. Perhaps John is played a little more over-the-top to contrast with his kinder, gentler brother James. As a result, the dual role succeeds and Green is more than deft at alternating characters at lightning speed.

Canright produces a believable stutter so unnerving that without prior knowledge about his character, it would be easy to empathize with him for having a bad case of stage fright. The fact that it is, indeed, acting makes it applaudable.

Shores and Zertuche transcend their good looks with portrayals of depth and emotion. As Bobby, Shores does blind surprisingly well and Zertuche tackles naive Ramon with great abandon. Bobby's guilt and Ramon's lack thereof make for interesting interactions after the two share a creamy tryst in front of the refrigerator late one night.

Overall, the performances are incredible for a small theatre company. Director Steven Alan McGaw elicits believable emotion in a well-paced, well-blocked manner that keeps the material lively and full of energy. For only his second foray into directing for this theatre, he proves that he can handle a complex, layered play with marvelous dexterity.

The only misfortune of the production is in its program, where the heterosexuality of two cast members has to be oh-so-subtly heralded in their bios. I doubt the same mantra of machismo would be made if this were Othello or something. We all know you're actors and just because you're frolicking naked with real gay men won't make us hit on you after the show. Believe me.

All in all, Love! Valour! Compassion! deserves your attention. For everyone in Fort Worth, there's no excuse for not seeing this presentation. It's affordable and close to home. If you're making the 90-mile round-trip trek from the Oak Lawn area, it's definitely worth it, just plan accordingly and eat beforehand. It isn't nice to jump on-stage and eat the prop food.

Love! Valour! Compassion! continues its run at Fort Worth Theatre in Orchestra Hall, 4401 Trail Lake Drive with performances at 8:15 p.m. each Friday and Saturday through January 23. Tickets are $10 and can be reserved by calling (817)921-5300.

"Proven Ways to Quit Smoking"

Mary Wells, Lucille Ball, Barbara Stanwyck and Sarah Vaughan. Can you figure out what they all had in common? It's true that they were all "gay icons" but that's not what I'm after. All of them, and many, many others have died as a result of cigarette smoking. Either from emphysema, heart attack or cancer. All of those talented, wonderful folks listed above are dead because they all smoked cigarettes. Almost 450,000 American lives yearly are claimed to cigarette smoking and lately it has never been a worse time for smokers to smoke. Social criticism and more knowledge about the dangers of cigarette smoke make it increasing difficult for the 47 million American smokers to smoke with a clear conscience. The good news; however, is that there has never been a better time to quit, and here's why. First, it's the New Year. A perfect time to change your life and lifestyle. If you need an excuse, then there's the one. You know that smoking is very bad for your health. It will kill you, eventually…so STOP! Also much is known now about the addictive nature of nicotine (the powerful drug in cigarettes that reaches the brain within seconds of inhaling). Oh and by the way, nicotine is a drug and if you smoke, you are addicted to a drug and sorry, but, you are considered a drug addict! Some scientists even believe that smoking is harder to quit than heroin or cocaine addiction. Only half of the patients who smoke manage to quit. That tells me that nicotine is a very powerful drug indeed.

Today however, there are lots of smoking cessation classes, books, video and audio tapes available. The latest breakthrough in modern science has been the advent of prescribed chemical compounds. The latest, Zyban, is the first non-nicotine replacement product that joins an ever-growing field with gums, patches, nasal sprays and inhalers. Zyban is an anti-depressant similar to Wellbutrin. Scientists are not sure exactly why it works for people who quit smoking. Some believe that in the brain, the active chemical in the drug mimics the effect of nicotine by releasing dopamine and other brain chemicals. Zyban seems to decrease the urge to smoke and decreases the amount of weight gain during quitting. The main side effect is the possibility of seizure and some dry mouth and difficulty sleeping. A physician must prescribe Zyban.

While there still may be no 100% guaranteed way to completely quit smoking, Zyban and other products can double your chances of success. Quitting cold turkey accounts for about a 5% success rate and increases to 10% with a replacement product (like the patch). If you join a stop smoking program, then your chances of success increase to 20 to 40% (according to the American Cancer Society). Here are some of the other products available to help you kick the habit and keep this New Year resolution.

Nicotine patches help withdrawal of the drug by releasing a steady stream of nicotine through the skin into the blood, where it eventually winds up in the brain. Patches are available over the counter and require no prescription. They have few side effects and are easy to use. Nicotine gums work in a similar way to the patches except the drug is delivered into the bloodstream through the lining of the mouth. Chewing gums have not been as successful at quitting than patches unless their use is coupled with a cessation program.

Nicotine nose sprays are used the same way you would use a decongestant spray. Nicotine nasal sprays give the user a quick jolt of the drug very similar to smoking. This may be the best choice for heavy smokers since it seems to mimic the effects of actual smoking. Gums and patches are also cheaper per month than cigarettes. Now there's a good reason to switch and quit, you can actually save money!

Inhalers are the newest forms of replacement on the market to date. This product has a cartridge that is inserted into a plastic tube shaped like a cigarette. The person trying to quit gets the drug delivered by "smoking" or sucking the fake cigarette. Inhalers can cause dry mouth and irritation and must be used frequently since they deliver only a small amount of nicotine at any one time. It is important to discuss with your doctor which form of replacement may be helpful to you. He may offer you a combination of two products if you are a very heavy smoker. Most will wean themselves off the products and be smoke free and chemical free. It may however take months or a year, maybe longer…it all depends on you; however, that seems like a short time compared to all the years you have been actively smoking.

I know how hard it is going to be for you to stop smoking and get clean. Yes, I too was once a smoker. I started at 13 (I stole my mother's cigarettes) and continued through college. I smoked on and off for about 6 years before I stopped. You know what they say…"ex smokers have the lowest tolerance to cigarette smoke and smokers"….well, that's me.

So here's some survival tactics that I have learned that helped me quit and some others that I recommend to clients wanting to quit….

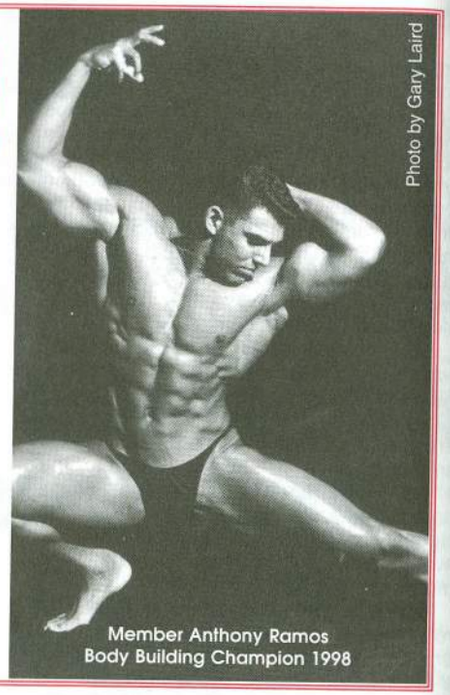

- Don't smoke any number of cigarettes. Smoking even a few "butts" a day can hurt your health. If you drop the number of cigarettes in your daily dose, you will eventually begin to increase the number of butts puffed. Also, the low tar cigarettes are a bad choice to switch to. First, you still are smoking. Second, you'll be puffing longer, harder and more often on each cigarette.
- Take the time to write down why it's important for you to quit. Some ideas may be to feel in control of your life. Maybe you want to have better health. Another good reason may be to set a good example for your kids (if you have them). Find lots of reasons for quitting before you try. That will give you the incentive to continue not to smoke. Make sure the main reason is for yourself!
- Know that it will take effort to quit. It's hard work no doubt, but worth every minute.
- Take quitting one day at a time, even one-minute at a time, whatever you need to succeed.
- Chew gum or suck on something…24/7! From the time you get up in the morning to the time you go to bed, keep your mouth busy all the time.
- Stay away from people that smoke or places where others smoke. Consider yourself a "non-smoker" the first day you quit. If your friends smoke then they should do it while you aren't around. If they don't want to help make it easier for you, then they are not worthy of your friendship. And you never know, with your clean mouth, someone may just come up to you and give you a big, wet, sloppy kiss.
- And, of course, start an exercise program. Working out can help to clean out your lungs and make you feel good. The endorphins your body produces when you exercise will get you high..naturally. If all this isn't enough…just stop and think of this. Suppose someone asked you to put a lit cigarette in your dog's mouth. You wouldn't would you? But you would do it to yourself…right? What does that say about your level of self-love? With all the options you have at your disposal, now is the best time to kick the habit, so don't just sit there…do it! And good luck! Fresh Beats by Jimmy Smith

The music industry was shocked at the suicide of Phyllis Hyman three years ago. Happily, we have yet more material from her in the form of "Tell Me What You're Gonna Do". This song captures the diva at one of her finest moments. It's taken from her posthumously-released album, Forever With You, and offers up a fine dose of jazzy production coupled with a melody that warms the heart. If you've never discovered Phyllis, now is the time. It's glorious!

When her "When You Believe" duet with Mariah Carey, recorded for the Prince Of Egypt soundtrack, failed miserably on the radio, Arista called in Faith Evans and Kelly Price to give Whitney Houston a hand with the second single from the My Love Is Your Love album, "Heartbreak Hotel." When I tell you that the girls have truly turned it out...I mean they TURNED it out!! If you happened to see the Billboard Music Awards last month, then you know what I'm talking about. This R&B song is just perfect for US radio and should be hugely successful. At the moment I've heard no news of a dance mix, but I'm sure it's in the works. I'm still trying to figure out why "It's Not Right, But It's OK" is just being left on the radio sidelines. Everyone knows that it's a hit!

"Sandra Bernhard's I'm Still Here Damn It! is this month's quintessential selection (next to Cher, that is)."

I was out at the danceteria once more this week and found myself rushing the DJ to ask for another title! (I just love when that happens.) This time the track was called 33.12 by Humate. The version was once again on a "Promo Only CD"–which, by the way, you can get a subscription to by calling (407)331-3600. (Tell them Jimmy told you to call.) After a bit of research, we found out that the record is actually part of an EP from Platypus Records in the UK, who also brought us Robert Miles awhile back. This is some trance music at it's finest. Here we find big tribal beats with stringy rifts, gated keyboards and organ stabs that will wake the dead! The other tracks are equally as great!

The folks over at Almighty are at it again with another roaring dance cover of the Celine Dion/R.Kelly megahit, "I'm Your Angel" by Rochelle. She is probably one of my favorite Almighty artists. I've been a fan ever since I heard her version of "Think Twice" about four years ago.

Another cover that's really clever is Cynthiana's version of the Alanis Morrisette hit, "Thank You," found on Interhit. Some folks give the girls a hard time over all of the Alanis covers and bootlegs, but if the labels aren't going to satisfy the dance market with mixes, someone may as well give it to them. This package sports great mixes from Chris Cox and DJ Teez!!

And last but not least, here are a few albums that you might want to check out. Sandra Bernhard's I'm Still Here Damn It! is this months quintessential selection (next to Cher, that is). Funkie Green Dogs' Star has finally hit the shelves now that the U.S. division of Twisted! Records is closing. Seal's Human Being is his finest to date. And surely, no one would want to be without Orchestral Maneuvers In The Dark's The OMD Singles on Virgin. If you don't buy any other record this month, grab a copy of OMD.

HOUSTON GAY MEN'S CHORUS REACHES FUNDING HALFWAY POINT

GMCH Approaches Annual Fund Drive Goals

HOUSTON - The Gay Men's Chorus of Houston, touted as one of the community's best choruses, announced they had reached the halfway mark of their annual fund-raising agenda. GMCH Development chair Randy Reddemann stated that the organization's community fund drive, laun-ched in mid-December of '98, had thus far exceeded projected expectations. Coupled with solid financial support from its Board of Directors, contributions from chorus members and grants from numerous local foundations and corporations, GMCH hopes to make 1999 a record fund-raising year. The organization, a 501(c)(3) non-profit corporation, needs continuous supplemental funding to meet its local community service efforts. A recent fund-raising priority has been the purchase of a new rehearsal piano. Although the group has managed to raise over $1200, it only covers half the requisite price tag. For those, locally or statewide, who would like to donate to GMCH –you may do so by calling their offices at (713)521-7464 or emailing them at info@gmch.org.

DALLAS' LEATHER KNIGHTS CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

Recipient of 2nd Annual Community Service Award to be Honored

DALLAS - This weekend, January 16 and 17 marks the sixth year anniversary of the Leather Knights of Dallas. As part of the festivities, they will announce this year's recipient of their John Leaphart Memorial Award for Community Service. Leaphart, a member since 1993, died in December of 1996 and was memorialized by the group for his commitment to their goals. The membership nominated several worthy candidates and Mr. Carl Moore of the AIDS Resource Center Food Pantry won the final vote. Mr. Moore will be honored for his long-standing and dedicated service through the center and the Dallas community as a whole. Leather Knights is a charitable/social organization dedicated to raising funds for local HIV, AIDS and breast cancer related charities. The group is made up of over fifty full and associate members and actively holds fundraising events in the Dallas area.

TEXAS REPUBLICAN BILLS SEEK TO BAN GAY ADOPTIONS

Introduced Bills Aimed at Preventing Gay and Lesbian Foster and Adoptive Parenting

TEXAS – Two anti-gay Republicans, Warren Chisum (R-Pampa) and Robert Talton (R-Pasadena) recently introduced bills for the upcoming January 12 state legislative session targeting the right of gays to foster parenting and adoption. Chisum's proposal would prohibit foster parent licensing or adoptions for homes where "homosexual conduct occurs," defining such behaviour as "deviate." Talton, on the other hand, chose to level his attack on gay parents by insisting on sexually oriented investigations not only as a part of the application process but also as part of the performance evaluations of current foster parents. This is designed to actively deny or suspend licenses from those identified as gay or lesbian.

Lesbian/Gay Rights Lobby of Texas Executive Director Dianne Hardy-Garcia has already estimated costs for taxpayers to run in the tens of millions should the bills pass. Austin economist C.S. Bennet projects that investigations of prospective parents under Chisum's bill would ultimately cost $40 million over a five year period. The additional investigations of currently licensed foster parents under Talton's proposal would cost much more. Texas has more than 17,000 children in foster care and over 1,500 adoptions to date.

It Was The Best of Times... It Was The Worst of Times...

A New Year's Reflection

LOOKING BACK

BY PHIL JOHNSON
Dallas Gay & Lesbian Historic Archives

Yesterday, December 7, 1941–a date which will live in infamy – the United States of America was suddenly and deliberately attacked by naval and air forces of the Empire of Japan.

-Franklin Delano Roosevelt

Prime timers are often asked if things were better for gays in the old days than today. That's hard to say. For when we grow old, we fondly remember the best of our times and tend to forget the bitter. And although scar tissue remains forever, wounds eventually heal.

"The world will never recover from the loss of our young men and women in World War II," I thought when I was young. But yesterday, I found Ken's grave among the weeds of a small, no-longer-used cemetery. While looking at the time-worn tombstone, I heard cars irreverently roaring down the nearby highway. Life goes on.

Before Pearl Harbor, neighbors had a quaint custom, they knew each other. Why wouldn't they? There was no air conditioning in homes, and in few office buildings for that matter, so in the summertime, people practically lived on what were called front porches. In the evenings, grown-ups and friends who came to call sat in porch swings and in rocking chairs drinking made-from-scratch lemonade while wisely explaining to each other, "All politicians are damn liars and conniving crooks." (Some things never change.) Young'uns busied themselves chasing lightening bugs. (Some things do.) We "whiled" away the lazy hours.

Yes, we knew there was a war in Europe, but that was "clear on the other side of the world." Most Americans (81% of us) were isolationists. "America first," we patriotically proclaimed! "We won World War I. This time let Europe fight her own wars."

Weren't we disgustingly naive? Shouldn't we have known that America was just too big and too important not to get entangled in foreign affairs? Perhaps. But, we were so beaten down by the Great Depression, so tired from just trying to scrape by day after day, we could offer little more than sympathy to those poor people of occupied France and the English victims of nightly air raids. "We've got our own problems."

I was 16 when our family, like others all across the nation, crowded around the radio to hear the news: Japan's unprovoked, sneak attack that destroyed almost our entire Pacific fleet and killed thousands of Americans, both service personnel and civilians. Then we rushed outside to join furious neighbors in little clusters all up and down the block. "How dare those foreign bastards! Why, we'll kick their butts and the war will be over in six months."

Next day, our respected President, our leader, addressed the nation and asked Congress to declare that a state of war existed between the United States and Japan. (Even as he spoke, long lines of young men were being formed outside Post Offices across the nation. These men were anxious to get into uniform and to fight.) Americans stood united and sang the Star-Spangled Banner with a fervency we had never known before. Or since.

Ken was 14 when he convinced his mother to sign papers lying about his age so he could enlist. He looked so youthfully handsome in his Navy blues and his mom and everyone in the neighborhood were mighty proud of this brave lad. But Ken wanted to spend his last hour alone with me. Looking back, I think he secretly loved me, perhaps as much as I loved him. And yet, trying hard to pretend we were just two regular guys, we didn't dare embrace before he said "good-bye" and joined other brand-new sailors aboard the troop train. Ken was 15 when the USS Saratoga was torpedoed. He was torpedoed again at 16. He never saw 17.

For some reason my life did not come to an end, although I prayed that it would. Now, needing love so badly, I constantly beseeched the Heavens, "Isn't there someone like me somewhere in the world? Am I forever doomed to loneliness?"

Sometimes prayers are answered: After basic training, I was assigned to Headquarters company at Fort Ord, where I suddenly found myself in a spirited-to-say-the-least community. Before joining the Army, I knew what the word "homosexual" meant. According to the religious views prevalent at that time, it meant "sinful" and in need of "finding Jesus." According to psychoanalysts, who need to be psychoanalyzed, it meant "abnormal" and in need of "cure." But these men and women called themselves "gay." As they worked hard and served their country well, they "camped and screamed."

At first I thought, "sickness hiding behind a veneer of witty repartee." But under all that outrageous camp, these people were healthy and had no need for cures nor damnations. They were a perfectly-happy-to-be-gay community. Suddenly, I wasn't "the only one in the world." Now, among friends and self-acceptance, I began to leave my sad childhood behind me. I grew up. I dared to question self-proclaimed authorities. In doing so, I found fulfillment, I found sex, I found love, I found myself.

Eventually, I even discovered that we had a history. We had always existed, in every age and culture. Yes, our history was fragmented. But it was there to be recalled and recorded. A history that they had tried so hard to deny us.

So, isn't life better today? Watching TV and movies, reading newspapers and magazines, finding shelves full of positive gay books in the library, what child can grow up thinking, "I'm the only one in the world?" And knowing that there are others, indeed millions of others like us, is very comforting. Like them, some of us are happy, some not.

Today, our people can enjoy being a part of a strong gay and lesbian community, a community that offers all kinds of athletic, intellectual, artistic, social, religious and political organizations. We have publications and clubs. Many cities even have small, but vibrant and certainly colorful shopping strips. To find a friend, all one has to do is try.

But before anyone thinks that because we are freer, more open and therefore life is better for gays today, consider, there are all kinds of diseases out there. Diseases that we and they once didn't have to "play safe" about. In my youth, before the advent of "the pill," if you saw a used condom in the bushes, you knew a straight couple had been there as we had no need for them. Now, who knows?

Because of AIDS and new strains of venereal diseases, I doubt if most young men today can enjoy the variety and number of sexual partners that gay men once took for granted. Especially during World War II when "good girls didn't" and young men were in desperate need.

But is having a variety of partners that important? For some no, for others yes. Despite pious thou-shalt-not-until-you-are-married-and-only-then-in-the-missionary-position pronouncements, I think most young men, gay and straight, have a healthy respect for sex between consenting adults in which no one is hurt. We've found that, like love, the more you give it away, the more you have.

At one time I would have advised young men, "Before you settle down and grow old, sow some oats!" Today, I would say, "Being old doesn't make one an authority on anything. Think for yourself." Then I'd add, "However, being gay doesn't preclude you from finding love." While they can withhold from us the benefits of legal marriage, they can't prevent us from forming life-long unions. And doesn't that just chap their butts!"

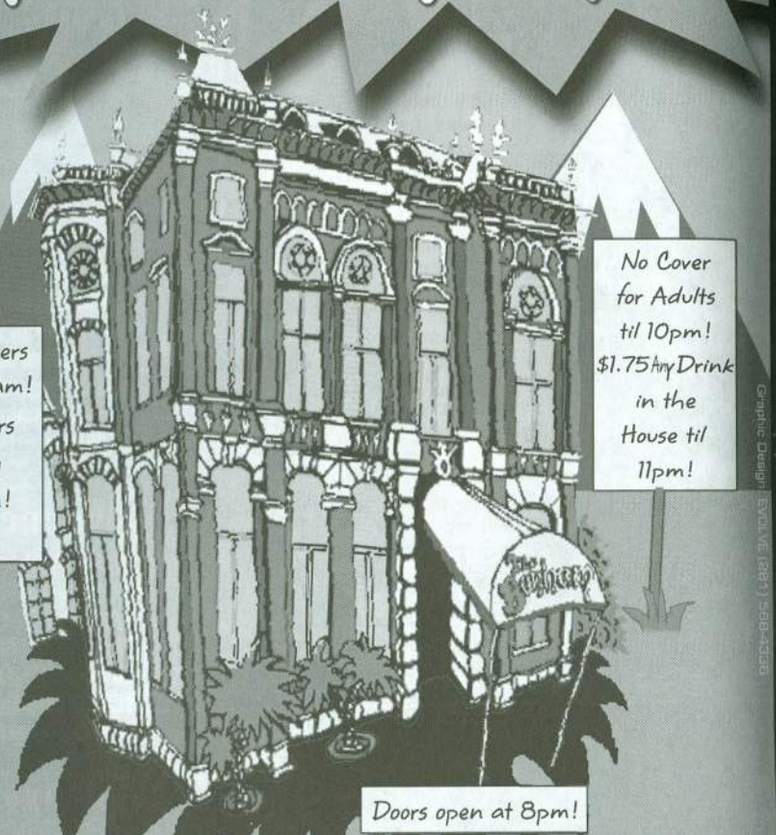

Marvin died two years ago. We had been together for 44 years. With Marvin's death, even more scar tissue was added to my already beat-up heart. But one thing I know for sure, my heart is not alone. For how can anyone live a rich, long life without accumulating lots of scar tissue? I'm reminded of a line from the 37-years-running, off-Broadway musical The Fantastics, Without a hurt, the heart is hollow.

So, were things better in the "good old days?" Yes. And no. Whatever, live fully today so you can store up a lot of memories for tomorrow. And know that happiness comes from within, not from the times we live in.

Ranting& Raving

Meeting in the Ladies' Room

Years ago, a Saturday Night Live skit about ladies' restrooms piqued my interest in the phenomenon surrounding the whole female bathroom experience. In the skit, two couples are just being seated at a restaurant after spending the day shopping together. The ladies spend the first few minutes gabbing about their purchases, among which are clothes, shoes and wigs. When their drinks arrive, the girls exchange knowing glances and then excuse themselves to the restroom. Hours later, the men are still waiting for the women to return and a glance around the restaurant reveals a room full of tables of men waiting on their female companions to return. Finally, the two men decide that they've waited long enough. They dress themselves as women with the clothing their wives have purchased and venture into the ladies room. Inside, they find a breathtaking art deco bath house temple with gorgeous eunuch slaves feeding the women grapes, giving massages and executing pedicures and manicures. A door opens across the room and snow blows in through the opening. A woman in a snowsuit emerges carrying a set of skis, looks down at her watch and confesses that she should be getting back to her table. Eventually, the men are discovered as impostors, castrated and added to the ranks of eunuch slaves attending to the women in the public restrooms at upscale eateries and theaters across the country. I was probably 10 or 12-years-old when I saw the skit and, until last weekend, had always assumed that it was a completely fabricated comedy sketch. Not true.

On Friday of last week, I spent an evening at a very posh dinner club with a mixed group of friends, some of whom were woman who made frequent trips, in a pack, to the ladies' facilities. At first, I paid no attention, but as the evening wore on, I noticed that all of my female dinner companions either suffered from abnormally small bladders or they were enjoying their visits to the lavatory way too damn much. Either way, I was determined to expose their dirty little secret by the time the dessert cart came by.

As one of the women in our party stood up to excuse herself, for what must have been her eleventh visit to the powder room, I excused myself to use the pay phone. From my vantage point at the telephone, I could see the entrance to the ladies' room clearly, but the outer door merely opened into an "anti-chamber" wherein another, far more elaborate door actually gained access. I squinted and strained to catch even the merest glimpse of what lay beyond until one of the restaurant's servers gave me a suspicious look. Finally, I decided to check out the men's room and see if, perhaps, it also held some special appeal. Row after row of average, white urinals, sinks and stainless steel stall doors were all I found.

Back at the table, two more of the girls in our group had "disappeared." Just what exactly was going on behind that door? Why would anyone think that the men's room should be any less inviting than the women's? Something was most definitely not right and so I, as a journalist with little or no integrity, decided to infiltrate the women's bathroom and expose what ever injustice was taking place.

It was while playing with the garnish from my key lime pie that I hatched a plan to uncover the truth. I knew the dangers. I knew the risks. I knew what I had to do. It was what I didn't know that hurt me in the end. TO BE CONTINUED....

Rule Britannia with A Trip to London and Theatre LaB Houston's New Season of British Theatrical Imports

THEATER

REVIEWED BY GARY LAIRD

If you love theater, are serious about the theater or just enjoy theater, then sooner or later you should consider going to where it all started-London. Of course, I'm talking about the English-speaking theater. The theater of Shakespeare and Marlowe, Beaumont and Fletcher, Wilde and Shaw-it's all still alive and well in London and there for the taking.

Every year for the last twelve years, during the Christmas holidays, I have made the trek. "But why Christmas?," you may ask. "It's cold, it's crowded, it's closed." Well, "No, No" and "Not quite." First of all, it's not especially cold. If you've never been there in the winter, you may have a mistaken impression. We were all brought up on A Christmas Carol and all those greeting cards with snow and cottages, but it's not like that at all. Many people are not aware that during Dickens' time, Europe was going through a "mini" Ice Age, and temperatures were at record lows for most of the century. Today, London's December and January temperatures compare to Houston's. It was colder here. It's not at all crowded, at least by comparison with the summer. London is, after all, a major metropolis, but during the Christmas season, most tourist attractions are relatively free of crowds. And if you want crowds, go to the sales at Harrod's or Selfridge's, or attend the revels at Trafalgar Square on New Year's Eve.

Parts of London ARE closed during the holiday. There are days when most of the city is closed-Christmas Day, the day after Christmas (Boxing Day) and New Year's Day. It can be difficult to find a good restaurant, and most shops are closed, but, except for Christmas Day, you can usually find something at the theater. And that's the understatement of this piece. During the week I was there, no fewer than 132 separate performances were running in the city and its environs. That includes the "West End," London's Broadway; the "Fringe" (Off-Broadway) and "Off Fringe" (Off Off-Broadway). There were dramas and musicals and comedies and experimental and pantomime. That doesn't include opera, ballet and concerts. In the eight nights I was there, I saw six plays and one concert; I took one night off.

For most Londoners, going to a show is just like going to the movies. You don't have to make elaborate reservations. Everything I saw, I got tickets for at the box office on the day of or the day before. And there's a half-price booth for tickets to most of the West End shows. That doesn't include the blockbusters. If you have your heart set on Phantom, Miss Saigon, Les Miserables or Cats, book ahead, and be prepared to pay. For the rest, it's easy and it's not expensive. My most expensive ticket on this trip was 24 pounds, about $30 and my least expensive, at the half-price, was 11 pounds, about $15. I saw Amadeus at the Old Vic, Alarms And Excursions, a comedy by the author of Noises Off; a revival of the Sondheim musical, Into The Woods; a new musical, Boogie Nights; a farce entitled Love On The Throne and a new drama by Tom Stoppard, The Invention of Love. Add to that a magical candlelit concert of Baroque music in the chapel of the 18th century St. Martins-in-the-Fields and you get the picture.

An additional bonus in going to the source is that you get to see next year's theater imports before anyone else. Stoppard's The Invention of Love will almost surely play here, although I'm not sure it should. Based on the life of the English poet A.E. Housman, it is a "mind play" about the interior struggle of Housman with his love for his heterosexual friend Moses Jackson and his life-long love of classical scholarship. If it sounds dense, it is, and it's something of a struggle for the audience, as well.

And that's the problem with imports. I am always struck, when there, by the fundamental differences between Americans and Britons. We speak the same language (almost), but there the similarity ends. Our psyches are different; we often don't see things in the same way, and that can make drama difficult. A case in point is Theater LaB Houston's latest offering, Shopping And Fing. Written by Mark Ravenhill, it was the darling of the Fringe in London last year, and actually made it to the West End, where it was hailed by the critics as "shocking," "jolting," "gritty, graphic and unapologetic." And it is all those things, make no mistake. It's the story, sort of, of five present-day Brits in a pickle. Lulu and Robbie (Erin E. Kidwell and Dustin Ross) are a couple of twentysomething friends/lovers down and out somewhere in England, Mark (Wayne Wilden), their sometime protector/lover, Brian (Daniel Treadway), their prospective employer/pimp, and Gary (Joshua Gray), a fourteen-year-old victim/lover. The problem is that these people can't cope with sex, with drugs or with the capitalist system they are somehow the victims of. In short, things are a mess and it'll take more than a nice cup of tea to straighten this out.

This play has also been acclaimed as "a definitive play of the '90's." It is a phenomenon I call the "life's-a-bitch-then-you-die" school of drama, and it has had a peculiar run in the UK for the past decade or so, and it stems from a situation peculiar to that country. The '90's have not been particularly good to Britain, with social, financial and political upheaval such as we haven't seen in this country since the '60's and that's what they're dealing with. The trouble is, they're not telling us anything new. This is not startling information. Not for us, anyway.

So, what we get is two hours (at least) of profane angst, obscenity for its own sake, sex acts so perverse that, if they turn you on, you need to take a serious look at your own problems, and, of course, no resolution. True to life? Maybe. Timely? Not particularly. It's just not my cup of tea.

Shopping And Fing is the first in Theater LaB's new season, "Britannia Theater," a series of imports from the British stage. Things would seem to be looking up with their next two announced productions, Hysteric Studs, a comedy involving "boys, Cher and sperm donation," followed in April by the musical Blood Brothers.

Shopping And Fing runs through February 14 at Theater LaB Houston. Call (713)868-7516 for information and reservations.

BACKSTAGE

Dallas' Theatre Three presents the fifth production of its 1998-99 "Season of Sex and Money" as it mounts the Southwestern premiere of Marivaux's Triumph of Love on stage January 21-February 21. The show, which debuted on Broadway last year starring former Texan Betty Buckley, received a Tony Award nomination and will be presented in Theatre Three's unique theatre-in-the-round format. Preview performances are Thursday-Sunday, January 21-24; the regular schedule runs Tuesday through Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday nights at 8:00 p.m. and features 2:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday matinees through February 21. For tickets ($18-$25) call the box office at (214)871-3300.

A screening of the film, Monty Python and the Holy Grail, will highlight the USA Film Festival's "An Evening with Terry Jones," their 1999 KidFilm honoree, at 7:30 p.m., next Friday, January 22 at the Glen Lakes Theatres, 9450 North Central Expressway, in Dallas. Jones, the multi-talented co-creator of Monty Python's Flying Circus, will be on hand for a discussion following the showing of the film. The program is intended for mature audiences. Tickets ($7 general admission, $6 USAFF members) can be reserved, and additional information about USAFF may be obtained, by dialing (214)821-FILM or by visiting them on the web at www.usafilm-festival.com.

Pocket Sandwich Theatre's "audience-participation, popcorn-tossing, comedy spoof" presentation of The Murders in the Rue Morgue, continues its successful run, which opened New Year's Eve, through February 13. The melodrama, written by Dennis Millegan and directed by Scott Latham, is an affectionate take-off on Edgar Allen Poe's classic mystery story. The theatre is located at 5400 East Mockingbird Lane, Suite 119 in Mockingbird Central Plaza, one block east of North Central Expressway in Dallas. For reservations and additional information, call (214)821-1860.

Last week, we celebrated the success of Dallas Summer Musicals' past season and this week we'd like to tell you about their upcoming offering, Moon Over Buffalo. The winner of The Outer Critics Circle Award and nominated for two 1996 Tonys, this presentation, part of DSM's MasterCard Contemporary Series, will star stage, screen and television superstar Gavin MacLeod of Love Boat fame. USA Today said this masterful piece "packs more comedy genius onto the stage than anything seen in recent memory" and will take place at Dallas' Majestic Theatre, 1925 Elm Street, downtown, in ten performances only, February 10-15. Phone the box office at (214)691-7200 for tickets, which are also available at all Ticketmaster outlets, including Foley's, Fiesta and Kroger stores.

The Fort Worth Men's Chorus celebrates the success of its sixth season and will hold open auditions for interested singers on Tuesday, January 12 at the Law Sone Auditorium on the campus of Texas Wesleyan University at 7:30 p.m. The group plans two spring concerts: an appearance at the first Gospel Brunch on Sunday, March 21 at Preservation Hall in Fort Worth and a second spring concert, "From Sea to Shining Sea," on June 5 at Ed Landreth Auditorium on the TCU campus. For tickets to either event, or for information on the chorus, call (817)335-9000.

Stage West and Moonwater Theatre Company will combine forces to produce a new adaptation of Euripides' Greek classic Medea as part of Stage West's Adventure Series and in celebration of their 20th anniversary season. Preview performances, featuring many former members of the improv group Fuzzy Logic, will bring their unique abilities and techniques to this new interpretation of the original text. Preview performances are scheduled for this weekend, with regular presentations next Thursday, January 21 and running through February 6 at Fort Worth's Stage West, 3055 South University Drive. Tickets range in price from $14-$18; group discounts will be available. For information and reservations, call Metro (817)STG-WEST (784-9378).

Fiddler on the Roof takes center stage this Saturday, January 16, 3:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. at Galveston's Grand 1894 Opera House. Although the classic tale of Tevye the dairyman and his family centers around the lives of impoverished Jews in Czarist Russia, the heart of this performance is built on universal themes that audiences of any age, ethnic or cultural background can identify with. The Grand box office is located at 2020 Postoffice, in historic downtown Galveston.Ticket prices range from $14.50-$48.50, with special discounts for groups and senior citizens. For information about this and other performances scheduled, contact the box office at (409)765-1894 or (800)821-1894.

Houston's Theatre Suburbia welcomes 1999 with a brand new comic musical revue, Broadway Maladies, by David E. Hughes. This play brings to us some of the Great White Way's most ill-conceived and embarrassing moments. Songs and production numbers from shows that shouldn't have and some that should have, are all presented with a comic twist. Maladies runs through the month of January until February 6, playing Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, January 17, 24 and 31 only, at 3:00 p.m. The theater is located at 1410 West 43rd St. at Oak Forest. Ticket prices are $9 for adults, $8 for students/seniors and $7 for Sunday matinees. For reservations, call (713)682-3525.

Actors Theatre of Houston starts the new year with a revival of one of the twentieth century's most exquisite comedies, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead, by Tom Stoppard. The production opens January 22 and will run through February, Friday and Saturday nights at 8:00 p.m. and Sundays at 2:00 p.m. Tickets are $14, $10 for students/seniors and are available at the box office located at 2508 South Blvd. Make reservations at (713)529-6606.

Timothee

This week's cover boy is sweet-faced 22-year-old Timothee from San Antonio.

Much to our surprise, Timothee is a single guy but says he is selectively shopping for Mr. Right. Those of you in the market should know that he's looking for someone soft, sweet and sensitive - like himself. If you've prayed for just such a guy, take note. Your prayers have been answered.

STARSCOPE

BY C. LICHTENSTEIN

January 15 - January 21

The Sun moves from conservative Capricorn to altruistic Aquarius. Our deepest, darkest dreams are reviewed with a clear, cold Aqueerian eye. Be careful of what you wish, kids; the Sun squares feisty Mars now which mixes a little nitro into any carefully prepared cocktail. I happen to like a drink with a jolt, but not everybody does.

CAPRICORN (December 23 - January 20) Practical queer Caps are usually very careful about money and financial planning but now the Sun square Mars poses a surprising question; Is it all worth it? You may find yourself questioning what is and is not important to your sense of security and personal values. Review and revise the bottom line, cousin. Remember; all that glitters is not gold, but it can still be worn with black.

AQUARIUS (January 21 - February 19) Aqueerians are in the thick of it this week when the Sun advances into their own sign and then squares domineering Mars. Those in authority turn to take notice of you and you're abruptly pushed out into the limelight, ready or not. If you face the multitudes clad only in your proud altogethers, give it your best shot and demand your close-up. Remember to be loud and proud and speak queerly.

PISCES (February 20 - March20) Intuitive pink Fish are even more so this week when the Sun in Aquarius squares Mars. If hazy, crazy thoughts simply pop into your head, take heed. This is the week to cash in on crazy ideas. This is also the time to get more involved in one of our esteemed charitable organizations. Aggressive Mars now enables you to reach to the outer limits and achieve glorious gay results.

ARIES (March 21 - April 20) Friends become more important to your sense of personal fulfillment with Sun in Aquarius. Rally 'round the rainbow flag and join the team, but don't push that indomitable rambunctious spirit too far. The Sun/Mars square can abruptly place gay Rams on the "B list" of invitees. Save your more outrageous antics for next week when they are better appreciated.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 21) There are times when you can give or take that high powered career, but now with Sun in Aquarius it becomes a raison d'etre. Be kind to the masses cousin; the Sun/Mars square delivers a professional zetz with a big political redefinition, for good or otherwise. Knowing how careful queer Bulls are in everything, I'm sure the fallout will be minimal and not too toxic.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) Sun in Aquarius throws a tantalizing spotlight on travel to exotic locales, while the Mars square throws a few firecrackers in for good measure. Pack up your troubles and lose them on route to Nirvana. Hold off on any legal action this week during the planetary square lest you find a habeas in your corpus. Wait until next week before you rest your case.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) Lovers shake the salt and pepper this week when the Sun squares Mars. Maybe you've been taking them for granted or maybe you've become too pedantic. The planets think that it's time for reassessment and rejuvenation. Be prepared for a new, deeper level of understanding and enjoyment. Whipped cream and feather dusters are optional. Champagne, mandatory.

LEO (July 24 - August 23) Proud Lions ache to be appreciated and now, with Sun in Aquarius, you have partners eating out of your paw. However, be prepared for a bite on the thumb when the Sun squares Mars. Relationships are what you give and not what you take. If you've been a good cub, you will have a lovely surprise for two. If you've been a roaring bore, prepare to face a lion tamer.

VIRGO (August 24 - September 23) The job has more than its share of fires to fight when the Sun squares feisty Mars. This shouldn't be problematic for pink Virgins who always seem to be on the ball, as it were, at work. You're in a perpetual state of careful planning so use this fabulously exciting time to plot and plan new paths. There is no telling where you will find yourself next month at this time.

LIBRA (September 24 - October 23) Even diplomatic, chatty Libras find the social scene a bit too too this week when the Sun squares Mars. Parties take on an out of control wild life of their own so be prepared set personal limits and stick to them. Happily, Sun in Aquarius shines brightly on you throughout the month so any snarly bumps this week become smooth pathways to pleasure next week.

SCORPIO (October 24 - November 22) Gay Scorps love to curl up and enjoy their time at home but now, with the Sun setting off Mars, you'll find your nest filled with ornery scorpions. But keep your sunny side up; The nice thing about this planetary aspect is that any unusual happenstances here can result in happy changes and great improvements around the house. (Sort of like giving you a great excuse to totally remodel...)

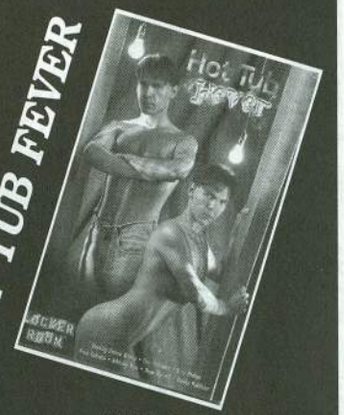

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 - December 22) Randy Archers are always ready with an inappropriate comment or two. Now, with the Sun square Mars, your mouth enjoys a veritable field day of radical and explosive commentary. This can work well for you if you're considering overthrowing a country but may not be the best strategy if you're trying to meet, greet and favorably impress. Hold that tongue until next week!

TEXAS TEA

DALLAS TEA - Village Station customer Thomas Milton [right] knows where to find the biggest and best party in town. You can find hot music, beautiful people and great drinks every Wednesday through Sunday at this megaplex of entertainment. Check out the shows in the Rose Room with this weekend's special guest Nakoma Shaye. Finish your work early on Friday, January 29th and get on down to the club for a night that promises to be the best Friday you've ever had out of bed. Appearing live and singing her hits "A Little Bit of Ecstacy," "If You Could Read My Mind" and "Do You Miss Me" will be recording star Jocelyn Enriquez. This super concert will kick off the club's anniversary celebration and this is just the beginning. Check out their ad and their website for more information and updates on their 30th anniversary party plans....

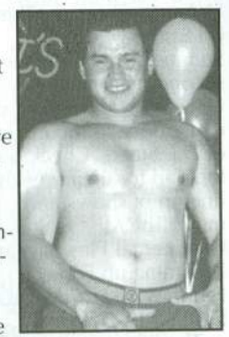

JR.'s waiter Tony Daniels [left] can get you a quick shot to get your party going full force. Make sure you find Tony on your next visit. He's a good man to see when you walk in the door. Speaking of good men, Paul J. Williams will be cracking up the crowd with his comedy capers for one night only this Sunday, January 17 at 10:00 p.m. Be there and welcome Paul J. back to Big D direct from the Big Apple. He's got some sassy side-splitting shenanigans you're sure to like. Check out their Cruisin' The Crossroads from 9:00-9:30 p.m. to kick start you weekend in style....

Thursday Cast Shows at Sue Ellen's begin at 11:00 p.m. with no cover before 8:00 p.m. They open the doors daily at 3:00 p.m. Their Retro Wednesdays are fun for all with a pool tournament at 9:00 p.m and no cover. Catch Lisa Michaels and Buddy Shanahan on Mondays at 9:00 p.m. If you can't wait until then, stop by Friday night for Debra Vial live from 7:00-9:00 p.m. and the dancers start at 10:30 p.m. See you there....

Every day's like a holiday at the Crews Inn and you'll feel right at home with hot male dancers like Antonio [right] helping you relax and get into the groove. The music is always hot and the customers are even hotter. If you're new to big D and haven't experienced the Fitzhugh phenomenon that is their legendary Crews Inn Tuesdays, you can't imagine nor describe how much fun you'll have with all those men in one place for one night. Enough said. Be there....

Tonight, Friday, January 15 catch the lovely Erica Andrews at Zandunga Bar along with a packed house of drag fanatics. Pearla has brought Erica all the way from San Antonio for one dynamic night to delight all of your senses. Get ready to kick your weekend off in high gear with these gorgeous gals tonight....

Round-Up bartender Kevin and co-owner Gary Miller [above, l-r] have got a winter events lineup that will definitely keep you warm every night at the club. Get ready for the Mr. and Miss P.H.A.T Tuesday pageant, with emcee Rikki Rousseaux, this Sunday, January 17. Doors open at 7:00 p.m. and the show starts promptly at 8:00 p.m. You can set your watch by their showtimes. Join the fun and Mardi Gras-style entertainment and help support this NAMES Project benefit. If you'd like to compete for King or Queen of the Ball, call Kevin at (214)521-4265 or Steve at (972)243-3453, for all the details. Get ready for Todd the Artist's second exhibition coming the end of the month....

Big Daddy's and Anchor Inn are celebrating this MLK holiday weekend with spectacular shows Friday and Saturday, January 15 and 16, starring two of the hottest men from the Latino Fan Club, Rico and Freddy Mac. Join Sweet Savage tonight along with LFC and Mr. Universe Christian. Then on Saturday, Charlie Summers [right] emcees a second night with the LFC. On both nights, you can groove to the mixes of D.J. Starks. Check out their ad for their weekly line up of shows and more. The Miss Dallas Continental Plus pageant is coming up Friday, February 5 starring Miss DCP 1998 Lisa Foxx....

you need a helping hand, check with friendly Alternatives staffers David, Dusty and Gerrard [above, l-r] and they'll fix you up with what you're looking for....

Moby Dick manager Billy Phaf [left] is all excited about the upcoming Black Party and getting the opportunity to meet the 1998 winner of International Mr. Leather Tony Mills, who'll be on hand for Moby's January 29th Black Party preview event. The Black Party kicks off at 11:00 p.m. at The Brick on Saturday, January 30 and the shuttle will be running between The Brick and Moby Dick all night long. Make sure you get your$15 ticket early so you won't be left out in the cold. International Mr. Leather Tony MIlls will be the featured guest for the event....

Throckmorton Mining Company presents another one of their notorious Hard Hats and Boxers parties tomorrow night, Saturday, January 16. The men of The Mine begin stripping down at 8:00 p.m. and there is a clothes check for all those who want to get in on the manly action. Stop in tonight and check with manager Frank Thompson, Bret "The Taz" Fowler or Joe "Daddy" Root for details on their upcoming monthly events....

Bamboleo's bartender Dave Briggs [right] welcomes more stars than in the heavens tonight, Friday, January 15 for a very special benefit show starring Vanessa Duvall and scores of your favorite entertainers. Make your way over to the club tonight and get your eyes full of Dallas' best showgirls. The show starts at 11:00 p.m. and all proceeds will benefit their new neighbors next door, the Caring Friends Center. Alfredo always makes the crowds feel right at home with the best drink prices, the most spectacular shows and the kind of all-night dancing that only Bamboleo's can bring you on Lemmon Avenue's best and biggest dance floor. Get in on the fun tonight and feel the heat.

PANHANDLE TEA – This Sunday, January 17, David welcomes everyone out to The 212 Club in Amarillo for their official grand opening celebration with a super show spectacular starring the Ultra Hot Chocolate direct from Las Vegas along with local luminaries Sohorny Beaver, Toni DeAngelo and Lavonda. They're open from 2:00 p.m.-2:00 a.m. seven days a week. Make your way over to "The Pride of the Panhandle" this weekend.

HOUSTON TEA — JR's wants to jump start your week with three nights of high energy excitement. Pump! Mondays feature professional male dancers stripping and strutting their stuff for your viewing pleasure. The 2(x)ist Tuesday Strip Contest and the Wednesday night Joe Boxer Shorts Contest offer $250 in cash prizes and a bevy of skivvie-sportin' studs. Along with the parade of beautiful bodies, Brandon,

Brad, Orlando and Jennifer [above, l-r] love the club's tasty variety of daily drink specials. JR's enticing entertainment schedule also brings you lively karaoke sing-alongs with Marsha Carlton and Alec D'Storm every Sunday and Thursday....

From start to finish, the weekend party action at the Montrose Mining Company is hotter than ever. The club's friendly staff guarantees that you'll enjoy great music and good times along with a wide variety of well drink and longneck specials every Friday, Saturday and Sunday. And when they throw in some big and buff male dancers, we're sure that you'll be coming back for more....

Now under new management, Toyz kicked off its revamped party schedule with an all-new Super Sunday Show starring Aaron Davis, Safire, Kourtney Van Wales, Monique Johnson and Tersa Matthews [above, l-r]. This weekend's special guests will be Lana Blake and Whitney Paige. New on Wednesdays, Miss Gay Texas USofA Layla LaRue takes over the emcee duties for Toyz' Talent Search at midnight. The most scandalous show in town is sure to be Kourtney Van Wales' Friday Night Flesh Party starring the voluptuous vixen herself and four red hot male dancers....

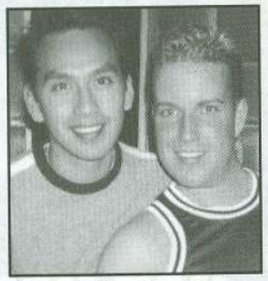

This Sunday, January 17, Shawna St. John will crown her successor at the eighth annual Miss BRB Pageant. Ceremonies begin at 8:00 p.m. Byron Norton will relinquish his title at the Mr. BRB Contest next Sunday, January 24....

All week long, Pacific Street pumps out incredible dance music that's sure to inspire you to jump on the dance floor and work off all those extra holiday goodies. The club's weekly lineup includes Monday Clubbers Night, Tuesday Executive Night, Wednesday Hump Night, Sexx Thursday, TGIFriday, Leather and Fantasy Saturday and Sunday Overload. P.S. also serves up shameless Caged Heat dancers like Gregory [left] seven nights a week....

Over at Inergy and Amnesia, they're raisin' the roof with some of the spiciest sounds in town. DJ Kenny Jamm heats things up with luscious Latino grooves while Calvin Puente and Double K spin the latest and greatest dance music. This Sunday, Inergy's Super Show welcomes Jenny Kraiggg along with Christina Ross, Tara Dion and emcee Val Rodela....

Loyal patrons Enrique and Tom [right, l-r] are sure to be at Rich's tomorrow night for the club's special presentation of comedian Paul J. Williams in the upstairs video bar. If you've never seen his version of "The Church Lady," arrive early and get yourself a seat down front. Coming up on Sunday, January 24, Jerry Ramsey and Midnight Productions present the official Mr. Gay Houston USA contest starring Mr. Gay Texas USA C.J. Brooks....

Bam-Boo Productions proudly presents the Miss Globe 1999 Pageant. Preliminary competition will take place at Incognito on Thursday, January 28, while the finals are slated for Friday, January 29 at The Crystal Ballroom of the prestigious Rice Hotel. The list of special guests includes Tommie Ross, Lady Shamu, Tim Bolhar, Cookie LaCook, Kourtney Van Wales, Grover Fortenberry, Houston's grooviest new hotspot, Guava Lamp, is now open every day with happy hour from 4:00-8:00 p.m. Bartenders Woody, Kip and Val [above, l-r] are ready and waiting to see you and serve you. At their Shepherd Plaza sister club, Picasso, Wednesdays sizzle with amateur male strip and emcees Lauren Taylor and Kara Dion. Every Sunday, Dyan Michaels and The Picasso Play Girls present a grand evening of illusion at 10:00 p.m.

TEA BY THE SEA — This weekend in Galveston, Evolution's La Rouge Show Lounge and Universe Pageantry presents Mr. Southern States tonight, January 15 and Miss Southern States at Large on Saturday, January 16. Special guests include Christian, Kelexis Davenport, Lindsey Adams, Roxanne Collins and many more. Every Sunday, C.C. and Company starring C.C. Ryder welcomes a bevy of talented entertainers to the upstairs stage. Stop in and see for yourself why the club's Island escapades are so popular....

Around the corner, the Kon Tiki is hosting a special birthday celebration for loyal customer Page Delahunt tomorrow evening. This party will feature special performances from three of Muscles in Action's most delicious dancers. Manager Johnny Brandt and friendly bartender Loretta Lick [right, l-r] will be there to make sure that the birthday girl isn't the only one getting service with a smile.

SAN ANTONIO TEA - For every occasion, be it Valentine's Day, birthdays, anniversaries or even the rodeo, The Annex offers accommodations for all of your special parties. They'll even provide a bartender at no extra cost. Make your reservations as soon as possible with one of the staff members. You are guaranteed to have a fantastic time. Don't forget to stop in for the joint Firedancers and Gay and Lesbian Dart League event planned for January 30. When these two organizations get together, it's always a good time....

The newest addition to San Antonio's nightlife continues to draw in a lot of pretty people for it's weekend drink specials and special new line-up of things to do. Saturdays, stop in and catch some of River City's hottest male dancers working it out, over, under and through for your enjoyment. Another "must do" is the "Thursday Night Swing and Retro Party." The hotties, behind the bar, strip down to their boxers and the DJ spins the sounds of music's newest revival–swing....

The Royal, Sovereign and Imperial Court of the Alamo Empire, Inc. proudly announces its' first ever Casino Night fundraiser. The gala will take place in the Historic Jersey Lilly Ballroom located at the Pearl Brewing Company on Saturday, February 13 from 7:00 p.m. to 12:00 a.m. The evening will benefit The San Antonio AIDS Foundation, The American Cancer Society and other local charities. For more information about this glittery and glamorous evening, call Nathan Javine at (210)614-4211....

The Bonham Exchange reminds everyone to join them each Monday for Shante' Whitney's new 1999 Talent Search. Congratulations to 1998 year end winner Leandra "Abu" Lang who captured the title just a few weeks back. The Bonham Ballroom will proudly host The Miss San Antonio Continental Plus Pageant next Friday, January 22. Special guest entertainment will be provided by Miss Texas Continental Amber Nixx, Miss Texas

Continental Plus Kaviar, former Miss Texas Continental Melissa Crawford, Miss Texas Continental Plus Emeritus Kelexis Davenport and MC Lady Shamu. Admission to the event will be $5 before 10:00 p.m. and $8 after. For more information call the pageant promoter Somaly Bun at (713)707-0901 or Crash Productions at (713)667-9777. Friday, January 22, the Bonham's main dance floor will host Disquamie's Groove-Day (instead of birthday) for house music lovers. Friday, February 12, DJ Steve "Silk" Hurley, the grammy-nominated remix/producer of Chicago, will be making his first Texas appearance on the Bonham turntables. Do not miss this spectacular dance evening hosted by resident DJs Rise and Joe Alfaro.

Check TWT for more info on more world-renowned DJs visiting for their new Friday

week at San Antonio's premiere show bar, The Saint. On Thursdays, the former Miss Gay Texas USofA tears it up as MC for Tandi's Tea. Divas Melissa Crawford, Denise Mykels and reigning Miss Gay Texas USofA Layla LaRue join her. You can also catch Erica on Sunday when she makes up the final third of the famous Super Sunday Show Cast which also includes the legendary talents of Shady Lady and Pauletta Leigh. Following one of her sensational shows, we focused in on Miss Andrews [above, r] hanging out with castmate Melissa Crawford, Kourtney Devereaux and Saint DJ Junior Hernandez [l-r]. Tuesday, January 22, Pauletta will crown another young star when the Newcomer of the Year Pageant for 1998 will take the Saint by storm. Special guests will include Layla LaRue and Mr. Gay Texas USA C.J. Brooks.

AUSTINTeaCIOUS – The Forum is buzzing these days with the addition of Robert Y. behind the bar. He is such a handsome devil, he may just be voted "most valuable player" at the club. Thursdays, enjoy "Your Ticket To Stardom," the talent night contest featuring goddess Kelly Kline as hostess. Come out and see if you can be the next shining star in Austin.

Monday is Ladies' Night and not only is there a plethora of beauties to choose from, but they have an all female staff to keep the view tasty on both sides of the bar. Speaking of tasty, dreamy Chris [left] can always be found having a good time with the guys. You may have seen him dance at other clubs, but he parties at the Forum!...

'Bout Time has become the sing-along bar of the north side. Fun and festive Christopher is your Monday night host for karaoke. Folks you thought would never be able to carry a tune will suddenly burst out with a love song that makes everyone in the room start to cry. Even the pool players have to stop and wipe away a tear occasionally. Just a reminder, the bar is now opening at 2:00 p.m. instead of 7:00 a.m. Happy Hour is still a ton of fun, it just gets started a little later....

The Edge is always party central in the Guytown area. The bar employees are still interested in a pool tournament with other bars. Interested bar staff should call Ray. Kooky Kristen Lucci is still your Monday hostess with the mostest for their amateur strip contest. Although these two adorable boys [above] didn't enter, they certainly got our vote. Starting this week, Tuesday night will be the shower/underwear contest! Cash prizes will be awarded to the best wet underwear dancer....

Splash's January drink specials really have the crowd hopping. Every day is a party waiting to happen, especially for Tuesday Night Live with the fabulous Murrah. Sundays hot male dancers start at 10:00 p.m. and they really keep the crowd's attention. Don't forget to stop in on Thursday night for sing-along show-tune night. Our apologies to KC whom we incorrectly reported as having ended his tenure with the club. He is still very much employed at Splash and very ready to carry on with you every night of the week....

Charlie's was rocking this past weekend. The fabulous Kelexis Davenport starred as special guest on Sunday night and she can most definitely tear up the house. The crowd loved her dynamic style and boundless energy. Friday and Saturday nights were so fun that it was almost heartbreaking to tell everyone when 2:00 a.m.rolled around. DJ Deluxe Tony kept the dance floor full all night long for the whole weekend. Not to mention, the Manwatch Dancers were on hand to keep all of our libidos stirred up. We love that! Local goddess Scarlet Leigh [right] was on hand for a photo opportunity last week. We can see why she's so popular everywhere she travels. Make sure to keep Tuesday steak night on your agenda. You just can't beat a big, yummy steak for $5.00. Thanks Daddy Wayne. You have been keeping our tummies happy for a long time....

Dick's Deja Disco is where you can see Momma's Boys dance every night of the week. They dance on the boxes. They dance in the shower. They also tend to dance in our dreams. Of course, with DJ Kevin spinning every tune you've ever loved, it's no wonder the guys like to shake it so much. The dance floor is usually full, but there is always room for one more....

Rainbow Cattle Company is the place to hang out and find your own two-stepping, boot wearing, buckle polishing cowboy or cowgirl. Nightly, there is something to eat and something fun to do. Dance lessons, steak night, karaoke, pool tournaments, and of course, dancing. There is so much fun to be had there that even the employees of other bars stop by to party. James, Jeff, David and John [above, l-r] can be found there having a cold one and looking for a hot one.

RONNIE JOE MILLER
A.K.A.
TANYA LYNN

FEBRUARY 5, 1955 - DECEMBER 15, 1998

TWT WAS SAD TO HEAR OF THE RECENT PASSING OF RONNIE MILLER, KNOWN TO HIS MANY FORT WORTH FANS AS TANYA LYNN. RONNIE WAS A CLOSE FRIEND OF MINE. LIKE ME, SHE WAS BAD DRAG BACK WHEN DRAG WAS GOOD, WHICH MADE HER A SUPER STAR BY TODAY'S STANDARDS.

AN ARMY BRAT, RONNIE WAS BORN IN ANCHORAGE, ALASKA AND WE FIRST CAME TO KNOW HER IN FORT WORTH IN 1972. SHE TOLD ME HER NAME WAS "TONYA LEE" BUT I DECIDED TO CHANGE HER NAME TO "TANYA LYNN" AFTER SEEING HER ILLUSION OF LORETTA LYNN. WE WORKED TOGETHER FOR MANY YEARS AT AUB'S, THE OTHER PLACE AND AT D.J.'S BEFORE WE WENT OUR SEPARATE WAYS IN THE 1980'S.

I TRIED TO KEEP UP WITH HER DECLINING HEALTH AND WAS HEARTENED TO KNOW THAT HER DEAR FRIEND, LEE WOLEBEN, HAD BECOME HER BUDDY AND PRIMARY CARE GIVER. THANK YOU, LEE.

IF TANYA TOUCHED YOUR LIFE, AS HE DID MINE, AND YOU'D LIKE TO REMEMBER HIM, A DONATION IN HIS NAME WOULD BE GREATLY APPRECIATED BY FORT WORTH'S AIDS OUTREACH CENTER. REST IN PEACE UNTIL WE MEET AGAIN.

ALAN GELLMAN, EDITOR

Tony Williams, Jr.

(December 15, 1962 - December 15, 1998)

Tony Williams, Jr. departed this life on Tuesday, December 15, 1998 after a brief illness. At the time of his death, he was employed as a Regional Sales Manager in the Houston Area. Tony was a well known promoter who along with local female impersonator Black Velvett formed the production company of BV&T Productions responsible for such pageants as Miss Southwest USofA, Miss Houston USofA at-Large and Miss Jefferson County. Tony was involved with the USA Pageantry System where he had been appointed Administrative Assistant. During his tenure with USA, he became the proud recipient of Business Manager of The Year and Best Regional Preliminary Award winner. All his USA "girls" bid him farewell and a restful destination. Tony leaves to cherish his memories his Mother and Father, one sister, a brother, four nieces, two nephews, Grandparents, three aunts, two uncles and a host of loving relatives and friends. Services were held on Friday, December 18, 1998 at the St. Monica Catholic Church.

Love! Valour! Compassion!

at Fort Worth Theatre

THEATER

REVIEWED BY STEVEN LINDSEY

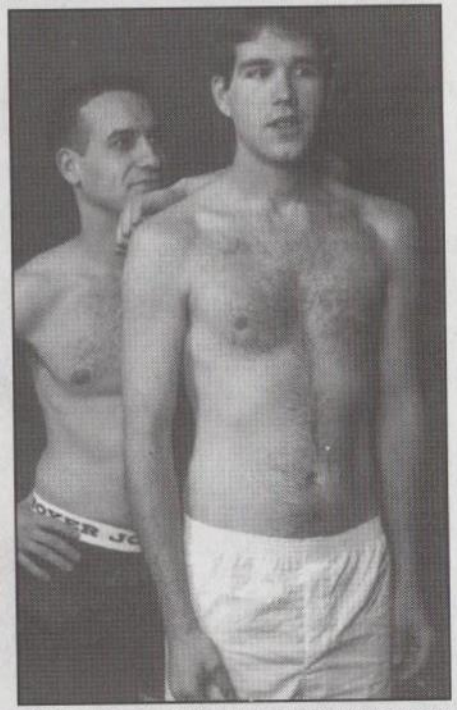

Perhaps church would be infinitely more popular if there were always naked men in the chapel. At least, that might get my head off the pillow and into a hymnal more often. The reason I bring this up is the odd juxtaposition of Terrence McNally's Love! Valour! Compassion! in all its gay, nude glory with a theatre housed in what appears to have been a church chapel or auditorium at one point in its existence. Even if it wasn't, the space gives off the aura of past performances of faith healers laying hands on the sick and crippled, whereas tonight's show begins with Ramon laying hands inside Bobby's pants.

For those of you unfamiliar with any of the stagings or the recent motion picture made from McNally's wonderfully insightful play, Love! chronicles the lives of eight gay men and their three summer holiday visits to a country home in upstate New York, owned by dancer/choreographer extraordinaire Gregory (Dennis Canright) and his blind lover, Bobby (Robert G. Shores). Their guests for the summer include two conservative lovers, Arthur (Stan Graner) and Perry (Todd Camp); a show tune-lovin' queen, Buzz (Steve Garrett); romantic Brit James and his evil twin, John (Kenny Green); and John's studly boy-toy, Ramon (Eddie Zertuche). Over the course of the summer, the lives of each man is changed in some way through outward circumstance, inner growth or a combination of the two.

The plot, for the most part, is inconsequential. The power of this play lies almost exclusively with its characters and their portrayals and the Fort Worth Theatre cast is more than able to tackle the complex roles with professionalism, wit and humility.

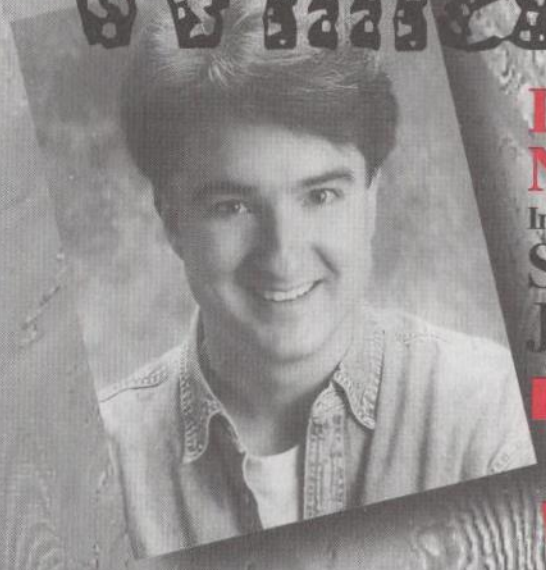

Leading the pack is Garrett, who delivers such a carefree, second-nature performance that it's hard to imagine him being any different from Buzz in real life. Dead-on timing and stellar stage presence keep the material fresh and funny, no matter how many incarnations you've been privy to over the years.

As Arthur, Graner delivers another great turn in a much-deserved, more substantial role than he had in the wonderful Cole Porter tribute, Night and Day. His interaction with Camp's Perry was not only believable, but had the awkward tension which can only be produced by bickering lovers. Kudos must also go to Camp for tackling his part with nasty bitterness, perfectly portraying one of those difficult queens we all want to slap around a little.

For the show's other acid-spitter, Green chooses campy melodrama for his embodiment of John. That isn't to say we don't all know a few people like him, as well. Perhaps John is played a little more over-the-top to contrast with his kinder, gentler brother James. As a result, the dual role succeeds and Green is more than deft at alternating characters at lightning speed.

Canright produces a believable stutter so unnerving that without prior knowledge about his character, it would be easy to empathize with him for having a bad case of stage fright. The fact that it is, indeed, acting makes it applaudable.

Shores and Zertuche transcend their good looks with portrayals of depth and emotion. As Bobby, Shores does blind surprisingly well and Zertuche tackles naive Ramon with great abandon. Bobby's guilt and Ramon's lack thereof make for interesting interactions after the two share a creamy tryst in front of the refrigerator late one night.

Overall, the performances are incredible for a small theatre company. Director Steven Alan McGaw elicits believable emotion in a well-paced, well-blocked manner that keeps the material lively and full of energy. For only his second foray into directing for this theatre, he proves that he can handle a complex, layered play with marvelous dexterity.

The only misfortune of the production is in its program, where the heterosexuality of two cast members has to be oh-so-subtly heralded in their bios. I doubt the same mantra of machismo would be made if this were Othello or something. We all know you're actors and just because you're frolicking naked with real gay men won't make us hit on you after the show. Believe me.

All in all, Love! Valour! Compassion! deserves your attention. For everyone in Fort Worth, there's no excuse for not seeing this presentation. It's affordable and close to home. If you're making the 90-mile round-trip trek from the Oak Lawn area, it's definitely worth it, just plan accordingly and eat beforehand. It isn't nice to jump on-stage and eat the prop food.

Love! Valour! Compassion! continues its run at Fort Worth Theatre in Orchestra Hall, 4401 Trail Lake Drive with performances at 8:15 p.m. each Friday and Saturday through January 23. Tickets are $10 and can be reserved by calling (817)921-5300.

"Proven Ways to Quit Smoking"

Mary Wells, Lucille Ball, Barbara Stanwyck and Sarah Vaughan. Can you figure out what they all had in common? It's true that they were all "gay icons" but that's not what I'm after. All of them, and many, many others have died as a result of cigarette smoking. Either from emphysema, heart attack or cancer. All of those talented, wonderful folks listed above are dead because they all smoked cigarettes. Almost 450,000 American lives yearly are claimed to cigarette smoking and lately it has never been a worse time for smokers to smoke. Social criticism and more knowledge about the dangers of cigarette smoke make it increasing difficult for the 47 million American smokers to smoke with a clear conscience. The good news; however, is that there has never been a better time to quit, and here's why. First, it's the New Year. A perfect time to change your life and lifestyle. If you need an excuse, then there's the one. You know that smoking is very bad for your health. It will kill you, eventually...so STOP! Also much is known now about the addictive nature of nicotine (the powerful drug in cigarettes that reaches the brain within seconds of inhaling). Oh and by the way, nicotine is a drug and if you smoke, you are addicted to a drug and sorry, but, you are considered a drug addict! Some scientists even believe that smoking is harder to quit than heroin or cocaine addiction. Only half of the patients who smoke manage to quit. That tells me that nicotine is a very powerful drug indeed.

Today however, there are lots of smoking cessation classes, books, video and audio tapes available. The latest breakthrough in modern science has been the advent of prescribed chemical compounds. The latest, Zyban, is the first non-nicotine replacement product that joins an ever-growing field with gums, patches, nasal sprays and inhalers. Zyban is an anti-depressant similar to Wellbutrin. Scientists are not sure exactly why it works for people who quit smoking. Some believe that in the brain, the active chemical in the drug mimics the effect of nicotine by releasing dopamine and other brain chemicals. Zyban seems to decrease the urge to smoke and decreases the amount of weight gain during quitting. The main side effect is the possibility of seizure and some dry mouth and difficulty sleeping. A physician must prescribe Zyban.

While there still may be no 100% guaranteed way to completely quit smoking, Zyban and other products can double your chances of success. Quitting cold turkey accounts for about a 5% success rate and increases to 10% with a replacement product (like the patch). If you join a stop smoking program, then your chances of success increase to 20 to 40% (according to the American Cancer Society). Here are some of the other products available to help you kick the habit and keep this New Year resolution.

Nicotine patches help withdrawal of the drug by releasing a steady stream of nicotine through the skin into the blood, where it eventually winds up in the brain. Patches are available over the counter and require no prescription. They have few side effects and are easy to use. Nicotine gums work in a similar way to the patches except the drug is delivered into the bloodstream through the lining of the mouth. Chewing gums have not been as successful at quitting than patches unless their use is coupled with a cessation program.

Nicotine nose sprays are used the same way you would use a decongestant spray. Nicotine nasal sprays give the user a quick jolt of the drug very similar to smoking. This may be the best choice for heavy smokers since it seems to mimic the effects of actual smoking. Gums and patches are also cheaper per month than cigarettes. Now there's a good reason to switch and quit, you can actually save money!

Inhalers are the newest forms of replacement on the market to date. This product has a cartridge that is inserted into a plastic tube shaped like a cigarette. The person trying to quit gets the drug delivered by "smoking" or sucking the fake cigarette. Inhalers can cause dry mouth and irritation and must be used frequently since they deliver only a small amount of nicotine at any one time. It is important to discuss with your doctor which form of replacement may be helpful to you. He may offer you a combination of two products if you are a very heavy smoker. Most will wean themselves off the products and be smoke free and chemical free. It may however take months or a year, maybe longer...it all depends on you; however, that seems like a short time compared to all the years you have been actively smoking.

I know how hard it is going to be for you to stop smoking and get clean. Yes, I too was once a smoker. I started at 13 (I stole my mother's cigarettes) and continued through college. I smoked on and off for about 6 years before I stopped. You know what they say..."ex smokers have the lowest tolerance to cigarette smoke and smokers"....well, that's me.

- Don't smoke any number of cigarettes. Smoking even a few "butts" a day can hurt your health. If you drop the number of cigarettes in your daily dose, you will eventually begin to increase the number of butts puffed. Also, the low tar cigarettes are a bad choice to switch to. First, you still are smoking. Second, you'll be puffing longer, harder and more often on each cigarette.
- Take the time to write down why it's important for you to quit. Some ideas may be to feel in control of your life. Maybe you want to have better health. Another good reason may be to set a good example for your kids (if you have them). Find lots of reasons for quitting before you try. That will give you the incentive to continue not to smoke. Make sure the main reason is for yourself!
- Know that it will take effort to quit. It's hard work no doubt, but worth every minute.
- Take quitting one day at a time, even one-minute at a time, whatever you need to succeed.
- Chew gum or suck on something...24/7! From the time you get up in the morning to the time you go to bed, keep your mouth busy all the time.
- Stay away from people that smoke or places where others smoke. Consider yourself a "non-smoker" the first day you quit. If your friends smoke then they should do it while you aren't around. If they don't want to help make it easier for you, then they are not worthy of your friendship. And you never know, with your clean mouth, someone may just come up to you and give you a big, wet, sloppy kiss.
- And, of course, start an exercise program. Working out can help to clean out your lungs and make you feel good. The endorphins your body produces when you exercise will get you high..naturally. If all this isn't enough...just stop and think of this. Suppose someone asked you to put a lit cigarette in your dog's mouth. You wouldn't would you? But you would do it to yourself...right? What does that say about your level of self-love? With all the options you have at your disposal, now is the best time to kick the habit, so don't just sit there...do it! And good luck! Fresh Beats

by Jimmy Smith

The music industry was shocked at the suicide of Phyllis Hyman three years ago. Happily, we have yet more material from her in the form of "Tell Me What You're Gonna Do". This song captures the diva at one of her finest moments. It's taken from her posthumously-released album, Forever With You, and offers up a fine dose of jazzy production coupled with a melody that warms the heart. If you've never discovered Phyllis, now is the time. It's glorious!

When her "When You Believe" duet with Mariah Carey, recorded for the Prince Of Egypt soundtrack, failed miserably on the radio, Arista called in Faith Evans and Kelly Price to give Whitney Houston a hand with the second single from the My Love Is Your Love album, "Heartbreak Hotel." When I tell you that the girls have truly turned it out...I mean they TURNED it out!! If you happened to see the Billboard Music Awards last month, then you know what I'm talking about. This R&B song is just perfect for US radio and should be hugely successful. At the moment I've heard no news of a dance mix, but I'm sure it's in the works. I'm still trying to figure out why "It's Not Right, But It's OK" is just being left on the radio sidelines. Everyone knows that it's a hit!

"Sandra Bernhard's I'm Still Here Damn It! is this month's quintessential selection (next to Cher, that is)."

I was out at the danceteria once more this week and found myself rushing the DJ to ask for another title! (I just love when that happens.) This time the track was called 33.12 by Humate. The version was once again on a "Promo Only CD"–which, by the way, you can get a subscription to by calling (407)331-3600. (Tell them Jimmy told you to call.) After a bit of research, we found out that the record is actually part of an EP from Platypus Records in the UK, who also brought us Robert Miles awhile back. This is some trance music at it's finest. Here we find big tribal beats with stringy rifts, gated key-boards and organ stabs that will wake the dead! The other tracks are equally as great!

The folks over at Almighty are at it again with another roaring dance cover of the Celine Dion/R.Kelly megahit, "I'm Your Angel" by Rochelle. She is probably one of my favorite Almighty artists. I've been a fan ever since I heard her version of "Think Twice" about four years ago.

Another cover that's really clever is Cynthiana's version of the Alanis Morrisette hit, "Thank You," found on Interhit. Some folks give the girls a hard time over all of the Alanis covers and bootlegs, but if the labels aren't going to satisfy the dance market with mixes, someone may as well give it to them. This package sports great mixes from Chris Cox and DJ Teez!!

And last but not least, here are a few albums that you might want to check out. Sandra Bernhard's I'm Still Here Damn It! is this months quintessential selection (next to Cher, that is). Funkie Green Dogs' Star has finally hit the shelves now that the U.S. division of Twisted! Records is closing. Seal's Human Being is his finest to date. And surely, no one would want to be without Orchestral Maneuvers In The Dark's The OMD Singles on Virgin. If you don't buy any other record this month, grab a copy of OMD.

HOUSTON GAY MEN'S CHORUS REACHES FUNDING HALFWAY POINT

GMCH Approaches Annual Fund Drive Goals

HOUSTON - The Gay Men's Chorus of Houston, touted as one of the community's best choruses, announced they had reached the halfway mark of their annual fundraising agenda. GMCH Development chair Randy Reddemann stated that the organization's community fund drive, laun-ched in mid-December of '98, had thus far exceeded projected expectations. Coupled with solid financial support from its Board of Directors, contributions from chorus members and grants from numerous local foundations and corporations, GMCH hopes to make 1999 a record fund-raising year. The organization, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation, needs continuous supplemental funding to meet its local community service efforts. A recent fund-raising priority has been the purchase of a new rehearsal piano. Although the group has managed to raise over $1200, it only covers half the requisite price tag. For those, locally or statewide, who would like to donate to GMCH –you may do so by calling their offices at (713)521-7464 or emailing them at info@gmch.org.

DALLAS' LEATHER KNIGHTS CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

Recipient of 2nd Annual Community Service Award to be Honored

DALLAS - This weekend, January 16 and 17 marks the sixth year anniversary of the Leather Knights of Dallas. As part of the festivities, they will announce this year's recipient of their John Leaphart Memorial Award for Community Service. Leaphart, a member since 1993, died in December of 1996 and was memorialized by the group for his commitment to their goals. The membership nominated several worthy candidates and Mr. Carl Moore of the AIDS Resource Center Food Pantry won the final vote. Mr. Moore will be honored for his long-standing and dedicated service through the center and the Dallas community as a whole. Leather Knights is a charitable/social organization dedicated to raising funds for local HIV, AIDS and breast cancer related charities. The group is made up of over fifty full and associate members and actively holds fundraising events in the Dallas area.

TEXAS REPUBLICAN BILLS SEEK TO BAN GAY ADOPTIONS

Introduced Bills Aimed at Preventing Gay and Lesbian Foster and Adoptive Parenting

TEXAS — Two anti-gay Republicans, Warren Chisum (R-Pampa) and Robert Talton (R-Pasadena) recently introduced bills for the upcoming January 12 state legislative session targeting the right of gays to foster parenting and adoption. Chisum's proposal would prohibit foster parent licensing or adoptions for homes where "homosexual conduct occurs," defining such behaviour as "deviate." Talton, on the other hand, chose to level his attack on gay parents by insisting on sexually oriented investigations not only as a part of the application process but also as part of the performance evaluations of current foster parents. This is designed to actively deny or suspend licenses from those identified as gay or lesbian.

Lesbian/Gay Rights Lobby of Texas Executive Director Dianne Hardy-Garcia has already estimated costs for taxpayers to run in the tens of millions should the bills pass. Austin economist C.S. Bennet projects that investigations of prospective parents under Chisum's bill would ultimately cost $40 million over a five year period. The additional investigations of currently licensed foster parents under Talton's proposal would cost much more. Texas has more than 17,000 children in foster care and over 1,500 adoptions to date.

It Was The Best of Times... It Was The Worst of Times...

A New Year's Reflection

LOOKING BACK

BY PHIL JOHNSON
Dallas Gay & Lesbian Historic Archives

Yesterday, December 7, 1941–a date which will live in infamy – the United States of America was suddenly and deliberately attacked by naval and air forces of the Empire of Japan.

-Franklin Delano Roosevelt

Prime timers are often asked if things were better for gays in the old days than today. That's hard to say. For when we grow old, we fondly remember the best of our times and tend to forget the bitter. And although scar tissue remains forever, wounds eventually heal.

"The world will never recover from the loss of our young men and women in World War II," I thought when I was young. But yesterday, I found Ken's grave among the weeds of a small, no-longer-used cemetery. While looking at the time-worn tombstone, I heard cars irreverently roaring down the nearby highway. Life goes on.

Before Pearl Harbor, neighbors had a quaint custom, they knew each other. Why wouldn't they? There was no air conditioning in homes, and in few office buildings for that matter, so in the summertime, people practically lived on what were called front porches. In the evenings, grown-ups and friends who came to call sat in porch swings and in rocking chairs drinking made-from-scratch lemonade while wisely explaining to each other, "All politicians are damn liars and conniving crooks." (Some things never change.) Young'uns busied themselves chasing lightening bugs. (Some things do.) We "whiled" away the lazy hours.

Yes, we knew there was a war in Europe, but that was "clear on the other side of the world." Most Americans (81% of us) were isolationists. "America first," we patriotically proclaimed! "We won World War I. This time let Europe fight her own wars."

Weren't we disgustingly naive? Shouldn't we have known that America was just too big and too important not to get entangled in foreign affairs? Perhaps. But, we were so beaten down by the Great Depression, so tired from just trying to scrape by day after day, we could offer little more than sympathy to those poor people of occupied France and the English victims of nightly air raids. "We've got our own problems."

I was 16 when our family, like others all across the nation, crowded around the radio to hear the news: Japan's unprovoked, sneak attack that destroyed almost our entire Pacific fleet and killed thousands of Americans, both service personnel and civilians. Then we rushed outside to join furious neighbors in little clusters all up and down the block. "How dare those foreign bastards! Why, we'll kick their butts and the war will be over in six months."

Next day, our respected President, our leader, addressed the nation and asked Congress to declare that a state of war existed between the United States and Japan. (Even as he spoke, long lines of young men were being formed outside Post Offices across the nation. These men were anxious to get into uniform and to fight.) Americans stood united and sang the Star-Spangled Banner with a fervency we had never known before. Or since.

Ken was 14 when he convinced his mother to sign papers lying about his age so he could enlist. He looked so youthfully handsome in his Navy blues and his mom and everyone in the neighborhood were mighty proud of this brave lad. But Ken wanted to spend his last hour alone with me. Looking back, I think he secretly loved me, perhaps as much as I loved him. And yet, trying hard to pretend we were just two regular guys, we didn't dare embrace before he said "good-bye" and joined other brand-new sailors aboard the troop train. Ken was 15 when the USS Saratoga was torpedoed. He was torpedoed again at 16. He never saw 17.

For some reason my life did not come to an end, although I prayed that it would. Now, needing love so badly, I constantly beseeched the Heavens, "Isn't there someone like me somewhere in the world? Am I forever doomed to loneliness?"

Sometimes prayers are answered: After basic training, I was assigned to Headquarters company at Fort Ord, where I suddenly found myself in a spirited-to-say-the-least community. Before joining the Army, I knew what the word "homosexual" meant. According to the religious views prevalent at that time, it meant "sinful" and in need of "finding Jesus." According to psychoanalysts, who need to be psychoanalyzed, it meant "abnormal" and in need of "cure." But these men and women called themselves "gay." As they worked hard and served their country well, they "camped and screamed."

At first I thought, "sickness hiding behind a veneer of witty repartee." But under all that outrageous camp, these people were healthy and had no need for cures nor damnations. They were a perfectly-happy-to-be-gay community. Suddenly, I wasn't "the only one in the world." Now, among friends and self-acceptance, I began to leave my sad childhood behind me. I grew up. I dared to question self-proclaimed authorities. In doing so, I found fulfillment, I found sex, I found love, I found myself.

Eventually, I even discovered that we had a history. We had always existed, in every age and culture. Yes, our history was fragmented. But it was there to be recalled and recorded. A history that they had tried so hard to deny us.

So, isn't life better today? Watching TV and movies, reading newspapers and magazines, finding shelves full of positive gay books in the library, what child can grow up thinking, "I'm the only one in the world?" And knowing that there are others, indeed millions of others like us, is very comforting. Like them, some of us are happy, some not.

Today, our people can enjoy being a part of a strong gay and lesbian community, a community that offers all kinds of athletic, intellectual, artistic, social, religious and political organizations. We have publications and clubs. Many cities even have small, but vibrant and certainly colorful shopping strips. To find a friend, all one has to do is try.

But before anyone thinks that because we are freer, more open and therefore life is better for gays today, consider, there are all kinds of diseases out there. Diseases that we and they once didn't have to "play safe" about. In my youth, before the advent of "the pill," if you saw a used condom in the bushes, you knew a straight couple had been there as we had no need for them. Now, who knows?

Because of AIDS and new strains of venereal diseases, I doubt if most young men today can enjoy the variety and number of sexual partners that gay men once took for granted. Especially during World War II when "good girls didn't" and young men were in desperate need.

But is having a variety of partners that important? For some no, for others yes. Despite pious thou-shalt-not-until-you-are-married-and-only-then-in-the-missionary-position pronouncements, I think most young men, gay and straight, have a healthy respect for sex between consenting adults in which no one is hurt. We've found that, like love, the more you give it away, the more you have.

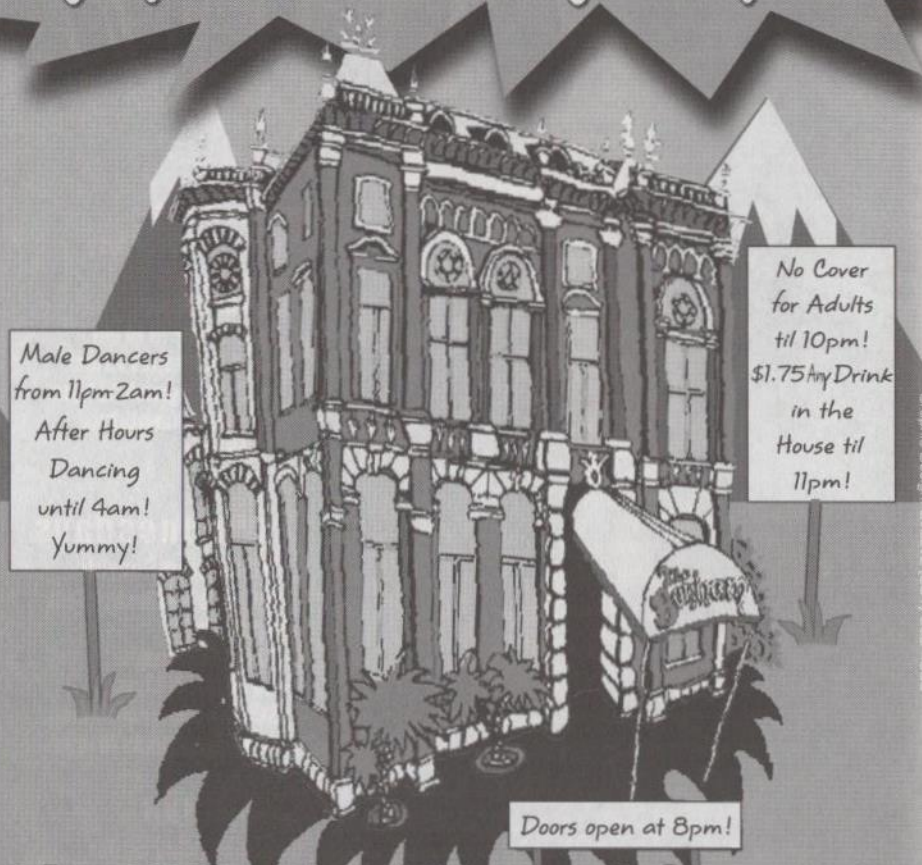

At one time I would have advised young men, "Before you settle down and grow old, sow some oats!" Today, I would say, "Being old doesn't make one an authority on anything. Think for yourself." Then I'd add, "However, being gay doesn't preclude you from finding love." While they can withhold from us the benefits of legal marriage, they can't prevent us from forming life-long unions. And doesn't that just chap their butts!"

Marvin died two years ago. We had been together for 44 years. With Marvin's death, even more scar tissue was added to my already beat-up heart. But one thing I know for sure, my heart is not alone. For how can anyone live a rich, long life without accumulating lots of scar tissue? I'm reminded of a line from the 37-years-running, off-Broadway musical The Fantastics, Without a hurt, the heart is hollow.

So, were things better in the "good old days?" Yes. And no. Whatever, live fully today so you can store up a lot of memories for tomorrow. And know that happiness comes from within, not from the times we live in.

Meeting in the Ladies' Room

Years ago, a Saturday Night Live skit about ladies' restrooms piqued my interest in the phenomenon surrounding the whole female bathroom experience. In the skit, two couples are just being seated at a restaurant after spending the day shopping together. The ladies spend the first few minutes gabbing about their purchases, among which are clothes, shoes and wigs. When their drinks arrive, the girls exchange knowing glances and then excuse themselves to the restroom. Hours later, the men are still waiting for the women to return and a glance around the restaurant reveals a room full of tables of men waiting on their female companions to return. Finally, the two men decide that they've waited long enough. They dress themselves as women with the clothing their wives have purchased and venture into the ladies room. Inside, they find a breathtaking art deco bath house temple with gorgeous eunuch slaves feeding the women grapes, giving massages and executing pedicures and manicures. A door opens across the room and snow blows in through the opening. A woman in a snowsuit emerges carrying a set of skis, looks down at her watch and confesses that she should be getting back to her table. Eventually, the men are discovered as impostors, castrated and added to the ranks of eunuch slaves attending to the women in the public restrooms at upscale eateries and theaters across the country. I was probably 10 or 12-years-old when I saw the skit and, until last weekend, had always assumed that it was a completely fabricated comedy sketch. Not true.

On Friday of last week, I spent an evening at a very posh dinner club with a mixed group of friends, some of whom were woman who made frequent trips, in a pack, to the ladies' facilities. At first, I paid no attention, but as the evening wore on, I noticed that all of my female dinner companions either suffered from abnormally small bladders or they were enjoying their visits to the lavatory way too damn much. Either way, I was determined to expose their dirty little secret by the time the dessert cart came by.

As one of the women in our party stood up to excuse herself, for what must have been her eleventh visit to the powder room, I excused myself to use the pay phone. From my vantage point at the telephone, I could see the entrance to the ladies' room clearly, but the outer door merely opened into an "anti-chamber" wherein another, far more elaborate door actually gained access. I squinted and strained to catch even the merest glimpse of what lay beyond until one of the restaurant's servers gave me a suspicious look. Finally, I decided to check out the men's room and see if, perhaps, it also held some special appeal. Row after row of average, white urinals, sinks and stainless steel stall doors were all I found.

Back at the table, two more of the girls in our group had "disappeared." Just what exactly was going on behind that door? Why would anyone think that the men's room should be any less inviting than the women's? Something was most definitely not right and so I, as a journalist with little or no integrity, decided to infiltrate the women's bathroom and expose what ever injustice was taking place.

It was while playing with the garnish from my key lime pie that I hatched a plan to uncover the truth. I knew the dangers. I knew the risks. I knew what I had to do. It was what I didn't know that hurt me in the end. TO BE CONTINUED....

Rule Britannia with A Trip to London and Theatre LaB Houston's New Season of British Theatrical Imports

THEATER

If you love theater, are serious about the theater or just enjoy theater, then sooner or later you should consider going to where it all started-London. Of course, I'm talking about the English-speaking theater. The theater of Shakespeare and Marlowe, Beaumont and Fletcher, Wilde and Shaw-it's all still alive and well in London and there for the taking.

Every year for the last twelve years, during the Christmas holidays, I have made the trek. "But why Christmas?," you may ask. "It's cold, it's crowded, it's closed." Well, "No, No" and "Not quite." First of all, it's not especially cold. If you've never been there in the winter, you may have a mistaken impression. We were all brought up on A Christmas Carol and all those greeting cards with snow and cottages, but it's not like that at all. Many people are not aware that during Dickens' time, Europe was going through a "mini" Ice Age, and temperatures were at record lows for most of the century. Today, London's December and January temperatures compare to Houston's. It was colder here. It's not at all crowded, at least by comparison with the summer. London is, after all, a major metropolis, but during the Christmas season, most tourist attractions are relatively free of crowds. And if you want crowds, go to the sales at Harrod's or Selfridge's, or attend the revels at Trafalgar Square on New Year's Eve.

Parts of London ARE closed during the holiday. There are days when most of the city is closed-Christmas Day, the day after Christmas (Boxing Day) and New Year's Day. It can be difficult to find a good restaurant, and most shops are closed, but, except for Christmas Day, you can usually find something at the theater. And that's the understatement of this piece. During the week I was there, no fewer than 132 separate performances were running in the city and its environs. That includes the "West End," London's Broadway; the "Fringe" (Off-Broadway) and "Off Fringe" (Off Off-Broadway). There were dramas and musicals and comedies and experimental and pantomime. That doesn't include opera, ballet and concerts. In the eight nights I was there, I saw six plays and one concert; I took one night off.

For most Londoners, going to a show is just like going to the movies. You don't have to make elaborate reservations. Everything I saw, I got tickets for at the box office on the day of or the day before. And there's a half-price booth for tickets to most of the West End shows. That doesn't include the blockbusters. If you have your heart set on Phantom, Miss Saigon, Les Miserables or Cats, book ahead, and be prepared to pay. For the rest, it's easy and it's not expensive. My most expensive ticket on this trip was 24 pounds, about $30 and my least expensive, at the half-price, was 11 pounds, about $15. I saw Amadeus at the Old Vic, Alarms And Excursions, a comedy by the author of Noises Off; a revival of the Sondheim musical, Into The Woods; a new musical, Boogie Nights; a farce entitled Love On The Throne and a new drama by Tom Stoppard, The Invention of Love. Add to that a magical candlelit concert of Baroque music in the chapel of the 18th century St. Martins-in-the-Fields and you get the picture.

An additional bonus in going to the source is that you get to see next year's theater imports before anyone else. Stoppard's The Invention of Love will almost surely play here, although I'm not sure it should. Based on the life of the English poet A.E. Housman, it is a "mind play" about the interior struggle of Housman with his love for his heterosexual friend Moses Jackson and his life-long love of classical scholarship. If it sounds dense, it is, and it's something of a struggle for the audience, as well.

And that's the problem with imports. I am always struck, when there, by the fundamental differences between Americans and Britons. We speak the same language (almost), but there the similarity ends. Our psyches are different; we often don't see things in the same way, and that can make drama difficult. A case in point is Theater LaB Houston's latest offering, Shopping And Fing. Written by Mark Ravenhill, it was the darling of the Fringe in London last year, and actually made it to the West End, where it was hailed by the critics as "shocking," "jolting," "gritty, graphic and unapologetic." And it is all those things, make no mistake. It's the story, sort of, of five present-day Brits in a pickle. Lulu and Robbie (Erin E. Kidwell and Dustin Ross) are a couple of twentysomething friends/lovers down and out somewhere in England, Mark (Wayne Wilden), their sometime protector/lover, Brian (Daniel Treadway), their prospective employer/pimp, and Gary (Joshua Gray), a fourteen-year-old victim/lover. The problem is that these people can't cope with sex, with drugs or with the capitalist system they are somehow the victims of. In short, things are a mess and it'll take more than a nice cup of tea to straighten this out.

This play has also been acclaimed as "a definitive play of the '90's." It is a phenomenon I call the "life's-a-bitch-then-you-die" school of drama, and it has had a peculiar run in the UK for the past decade or so, and it stems from a situation peculiar to that country. The '90's have not been particularly good to Britain, with social, financial and political upheaval such as we haven't seen in this country since the '60's and that's what they're dealing with. The trouble is, they're not telling us anything new. This is not startling information. Not for us, anyway.

So, what we get is two hours (at least) of profane angst, obscenity for its own sake, sex acts so perverse that, if they turn you on, you need to take a serious look at your own problems, and, of course, no resolution. True to life? Maybe. Timely? Not particularly. It's just not my cup of tea.

Shopping And Fing is the first in Theater LaB's new season, "Britannia Theater," a series of imports from the British stage. Things would seem to be looking up with their next two announced productions, Hysteric Studs, a comedy involving "boys, Cher and sperm donation," followed in April by the musical Blood Brothers.

Shopping And Fing runs through February 14 at Theater LaB Houston. Call (713)868-7516 for information and reservations.

Dallas' Theatre Three presents the fifth production of its 1998-99 "Season of Sex and Money" as it mounts the Southwestern premiere of Marivaux's Triumph of Love on stage January 21-February 21. The show, which debuted on Broadway last year starring former Texan Betty Buckley, received a Tony Award nomination and will be presented in Theatre Three's unique theatre-in-the-round format. Preview performances are Thursday-Sunday, January 21-24; the regular schedule runs Tuesday through Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday nights at 8:00 p.m. and features 2:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday matinees through February 21. For tickets ($18-$25) call the box office at (214)871-3300.

A screening of the film, Monty Python and the Holy Grail, will highlight the USA Film Festival's "An Evening with Terry Jones," their 1999 KidFilm honoree, at 7:30 p.m., next Friday, January 22 at the Glen Lakes Theatres, 9450 North Central Expressway, in Dallas. Jones, the multi-talented co-creator of Monty Python's Flying Circus, will be on hand for a discussion following the showing of the film. The program is intended for mature audiences. Tickets ($7 general admission, $6 USAFF members) can be reserved, and additional information about USAFF may be obtained, by dialing (214)821-FILM or by visiting them on the web at www.usafilm-festival.com.

Pocket Sandwich Theatre's "audience-participation, popcorn-tossing, comedy spoof" presentation of The Murders in the Rue Morgue, continues its successful run, which opened New Year's Eve, through February 13. The melodrama, written by Dennis Millegan and directed by Scott Latham, is an affectionate take-off on Edgar Allen Poe's classic mystery story. The theatre is located at 5400 East Mockingbird Lane, Suite 119 in Mockingbird Central Plaza, one block east of North Central Expressway in Dallas. For reservations and additional information, call (214)821-1860.

Last week, we celebrated the success of Dallas Summer Musicals' past season and this week we'd like to tell you about their upcoming offering, Moon Over Buffalo. The winner of The Outer Critics Circle Award and nominated for two 1996 Tonys, this presentation, part of DSM's MasterCard Contemporary Series, will star stage, screen and television superstar Gavin MacLeod of Love Boat fame. USA Today said this masterful piece "packs more comedy genius onto the stage than anything seen in recent memory" and will take place at Dallas' Majestic Theatre, 1925 Elm Street, downtown, in ten performances only, February 10-15. Phone the box office at (214)691-7200 for tickets, which are also available at all Ticketmaster outlets, including Foley's, Fiesta and Kroger stores.

BACKSTAGE

The Fort Worth Men's Chorus celebrates the success of its sixth season and will hold open auditions for interested singers on Tuesday, January 12 at the Law Sone Auditorium on the campus of Texas Wesleyan University at 7:30 p.m. The group plans two spring concerts: an appearance at the first Gospel Brunch on Sunday, March 21 at Preservation Hall in Fort Worth and a second spring concert, "From Sea to Shining Sea," on June 5 at Ed Landreth Auditorium on the TCU campus. For tickets to either event, or for information on the chorus, call (817)335-9000.

Preview performances, featuring many former members of the improv group Fuzzy Logic, will bring their unique abilities and techniques to this new interpretation of the original text. Preview performances are scheduled for this weekend, with regular presentations next Thursday, January 21 and running through February 6 at Fort Worth's Stage West, 3055 South University Drive. Tickets range in price from $14-$18; group discounts will be available. For information and reservations, call Metro (817)STG-WEST (784-9378).

Fiddler on the Roof takes center stage this Saturday, January 16, 3:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. at Galveston's Grand 1894 Opera House. Although the classic tale of Tevye the dairyman and his family centers around the lives of impoverished Jews in Czarist Russia, the heart of this performance is built on universal themes that audiences of any age, ethnic or cultural background can identify with. The Grand box office is located at 2020 Postoffice, in historic downtown Galveston.Ticket prices range from $14.50-$48.50, with special discounts for groups and senior citizens. For information about this and other performances scheduled, contact the box office at (409)765-1894 or (800)821-1894.

Houston's Theatre Suburbia welcomes 1999 with a brand new comic musical revue, Broadway Maladies, by David E. Hughes. This play brings to us some of the Great White Way's most ill-conceived and embarrassing moments. Songs and production numbers from shows that shouldn't have and some that should have, are all presented with a comic twist. Maladies runs through the month of January until February 6, playing Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, January 17, 24 and 31 only, at 3:00 p.m. The theater is located at 1410 West 43rd St. at Oak Forest. Ticket prices are $9 for adults, $8 for students/seniors and $7 for Sunday matinees. For reservations, call (713)682-3525.

Actors Theatre of Houston starts the new year with a revival of one of the twentieth century's most exquisite comedies, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead, by Tom Stoppard. The production opens January 22 and will run through February, Friday and Saturday nights at 8:00 p.m. and Sundays at 2:00 p.m. Tickets are $14, $10 for students/seniors and are available at the box office located at 2508 South Blvd. Make reservations at (713)529-6606.

This week's cover boy is sweet-faced 22-year-old Timothee from San Antonio.

Much to our surprise, Timothee is a single guy but says he is selectively shopping for Mr. Right. Those of you in the market should know that he's looking for someone soft, sweet and sensitive - like himself. If you've prayed for just such a guy, take note. Your prayers have been answered.

January 15 - January 21

The Sun moves from conservative Capricorn to altruistic Aquarius. Our deepest, darkest dreams are reviewed with a clear, cold Aqueerian eye. Be careful of what you wish, kids; the Sun squares feisty Mars now which mixes a little nitro into any carefully prepared cocktail. I happen to like a drink with a jolt, but not everybody does.

CAPRICORN (December 23 - January 20) Practical queer Caps are usually very careful about money and financial planning but now the Sun square Mars poses a surprising question; Is it all worth it? You may find yourself questioning what is and is not important to your sense of security and personal values. Review and revise the bottom line, cousin. Remember; all that glitters is not gold, but it can still be worn with black.

AQUARIUS (January 21 - February 19) Aqueerians are in the thick of it this week when the Sun advances into their own sign and then squares domineering Mars. Those in authority turn to take notice of you and you're abruptly pushed out into the limelight, ready or not. If you face the multitudes clad only in your proud altogethers, give it your best shot and demand your close-up. Remember to be loud and proud and speak queerly.

PISCES (February 20 - March20) Intuitive pink Fish are even more so this week when the Sun in Aquarius squares Mars. If hazy, crazy thoughts simply pop into your head, take heed. This is the week to cash in on crazy ideas. This is also the time to get more involved in one of our esteemed charitable organizations. Aggressive Mars now enables you to reach to the outer limits and achieve glorious gay results.

ARIES (March 21 - April 20) Friends become more important to your sense of personal fulfillment with Sun in Aquarius. Rally 'round the rainbow flag and join the team, but don't push that indomitable rambunctious spirit too far. The Sun/Mars square can abruptly place gay Rams on the "B list" of invitees. Save your more outrageous antics for next week when they are better appreciated.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 21) There are times when you can give or take that high powered career, but now with Sun in Aquarius it becomes a raison d'etre. Be kind to the masses cousin; the Sun/Mars square delivers a professional zetz with a big political redefinition, for good or otherwise. Knowing how careful queer Bulls are in everything, I'm sure the fallout will be minimal and not too toxic.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) Sun in Aquarius throws a tantalizing spotlight on travel to exotic locales, while the Mars square throws a few firecrackers in for good measure. Pack up your troubles and lose them on route to Nirvana. Hold off on any legal action this week during the planetary square lest you find a habeas in your corpus. Wait until next week before you rest your case.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) Lovers shake the salt and pepper this week when the Sun squares Mars. Maybe you've been taking them for granted or maybe you've become too pedantic. The planets think that it's time for reassessment and rejuvenation. Be prepared for a new, deeper level of understanding and enjoyment. Whipped cream and feather dusters are optional. Champagne, mandatory.

LEO (July 24 - August 23) Proud Lions ache to be appreciated and now, with Sun in Aquarius, you have partners eating out of your paw. However, be prepared for a bite on the thumb when the Sun squares Mars. Relationships are what you give and not what you take. If you've been a good cub, you will have a lovely surprise for two. If you've been a roaring bore, prepare to face a lion tamer.

VIRGO (August 24 - September 23) The job has more than its share of fires to fight when the Sun squares feisty Mars. This shouldn't be problematic for pink Virgins who always seem to be on the ball, as it were, at work. You're in a perpetual state of careful planning so use this fabulously exciting time to plot and plan new paths. There is no telling where you will find yourself next month at this time.

LIBRA (September 24 - October 23) Even diplomatic, chatty Libras find the social scene a bit too too this week when the Sun squares Mars. Parties take on an out of control wild life of their own so be prepared set personal limits and stick to them. Happily, Sun in Aquarius shines brightly on you throughout the month so any snarly bumps this week become smooth pathways to pleasure next week.

SCORPIO (October 24 - November 22) Gay Scorps love to curl up and enjoy their time at home but now, with the Sun setting off Mars, you'll find your nest filled with ornery scorpions. But keep your sunny side up; The nice thing about this planetary aspect is that any unusual happenstances here can result in happy changes and great improvements around the house. (Sort of like giving you a great excuse to totally remodel...)

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 - December 22) Randy Archers are always ready with an inappropriate comment or two. Now, with the Sun square Mars, your mouth enjoys a veritable field day of radical and explosive commentary. This can work well for you if you're considering overthrowing a country but may not be the best strategy if you're trying to meet, greet and favorably impress. Hold that tongue until next week!

DALLAS TEA - Village Station customer Thomas Milton [right] knows where to find the biggest and best party in town. You can find hot music, beautiful people and great drinks every Wednesday through Sunday at this megaplex of entertainment. Check out the shows in the Rose Room with this weekend's special guest Nakoma Shaye. Finish your work early on Friday, January 29th and get on down to the club for a night that promises to be the best Friday you've ever had out of bed. Appearing live and singing her hits "A Little Bit of Ecstacy," "If You Could Read My Mind" and "Do You Miss Me" will be recording star Jocelyn Enriquez. This super concert will kick off the club's anniversary celebration and this is just the beginning. Check out their ad and their website for more information and updates on their 30th anniversary party plans....

JR.'s waiter Tony Daniels [left] can get you a quick shot to get your party going full force. Make sure you find Tony on your next visit. He's a good man to see when you walk in the door. Speaking of good men, Paul J. Williams will be cracking up the crowd with his comedy capers for one night only this Sunday, January 17 at 10:00 p.m. Be there and welcome Paul J. back to Big D direct from the Big Apple. He's got some sassy side-splitting shenanigans you're sure to like. Check out their Cruisin' The Crossroads from 9:00-9:30 p.m. to kick start you weekend in style....

Thursday Cast Shows at Sue Ellen's begin at 11:00 p.m. with no cover before 8:00 p.m. They open the doors daily at 3:00 p.m. Their Retro Wednesdays are fun for all with a pool tournament at 9:00 p.m and no cover. Catch Lisa Michaels and Buddy Shanahan on Mondays at 9:00 p.m. If you can't wait until then, stop by Friday night for Debra Vial live from 7:00-9:00 p.m. and the dancers start at 10:30 p.m. See you there....

Every day's like a holiday at the Crews Inn and you'll feel right at home with hot male dancers like Antonio [right] helping you relax and get into the groove. The music is always hot and the customers are even hotter. If you're new to big D and haven't experienced the Fitzhugh phenomenon that is their legendary Crews Inn Tuesdays, you can't imagine nor describe how much fun you'll have with all those men in one place for one night. Enough said. Be there....

Tonight, Friday, January 15 catch the lovely Erica Andrews at Zandunga Bar along with a packed house of drag fanatics. Pearla has brought Erica all the way from San Antonio for one dynamic night to delight all of your senses. Get ready to kick your weekend off in high gear with these gorgeous gals tonight....

Round-Up bartender Kevin and co-owner Gary Miller [above, l-r] have got a winter events lineup that will definitely keep you warm every night at the club. Get ready for the Mr. and Miss P.H.A.T Tuesday pageant, with emcee Rikki Rousseaux, this Sunday, January 17. Doors open at 7:00 p.m. and the show starts promptly at 8:00 p.m. You can set your watch by their showtimes. Join the fun and Mardi Gras-style entertainment and help support this NAMES Project benefit. If you'd like to compete for King or Queen of the Ball, call Kevin at (214)521-4265 or Steve at (972)243-3453, for all the details. Get ready for Todd the Artist's second exhibition coming the end of the month....

Big Daddy's and Anchor Inn are celebrating this MLK holiday weekend with spectacular shows Friday and Saturday, January 15 and 16, starring two of the hottest men from the Latino Fan Club, Rico and Freddy Mac. Join Sweet Savage tonight along with LFC and Mr. Universe Christian. Then on Saturday, Charlie Summers [right] emcees a second night with the LFC. On both nights, you can groove to the mixes of D.J. Starks. Check out their ad for their weekly line up of shows and more. The Miss Dallas Continental Plus pageant is coming up Friday, February 5 starring Miss DCP 1998 Lisa Foxx....

The 9th annual 1999 Adam Gay Video Directory is packed with over 1200 XXX action reviews and over 500 full color photos of the top stars of adult gay male videos. It has all the information on all the movies, with ratings and find out what other films your favorite star has made. If you need a helping hand, check with friendly Alternatives staffers David, Dusty and Gerrard [above, l-r] and they'll fix you up with what you're looking for....

Moby Dick manager Billy Phaf [left] is all excited about the upcoming Black Party and getting the opportunity to meet the 1998 winner of International Mr. Leather Tony Mills, who'll be on hand for Moby's January 29th Black Party preview event. The Black Party kicks off at 11:00 p.m. at The Brick on Saturday, January 30 and the shuttle will be running between The Brick and Moby Dick all night long. Make sure you get your$15 ticket early so you won't be left out in the cold. International Mr. Leather Tony MIlls will be the featured guest for the event....

Throckmorton Mining Company presents another one of their notorious Hard Hats and Boxers parties tomorrow night, Saturday, January 16. The men of The Mine begin stripping down at 8:00 p.m. and there is a clothes check for all those who want to get in on the manly action. Stop in tonight and check with manager Frank Thompson, Bret "The Taz" Fowler or Joe "Daddy" Root for details on their upcoming monthly events....

Bamboleo's bartender Dave Briggs [right] welcomes more stars than in the heavens tonight, Friday, January 15 for a very special benefit show starring Vanessa Duvall and scores of your favorite entertainers. Make your way over to the club tonight and get your eyes full of Dallas' best showgirls. The show starts at 11:00 p.m. and all proceeds will benefit their new neighbors next door, the Caring Friends Center. Alfredo always makes the crowds feel right at home with the best drink prices, the most spectacular shows and the kind of all-night dancing that only Bamboleo's can bring you on Lemmon Avenue's best and biggest dance floor. Get in on the fun tonight and feel the heat.

PANHANDLE TEA – This Sunday, January 17, David welcomes everyone out to The 212 Club in Amarillo for their official grand opening celebration with a super show spectacular starring the Ultra Hot Chocolate direct from Las Vegas along with local luminaries Sohorny Beaver, Toni DeAngelo and Lavonda. They're open from 2:00 p.m.-2:00 a.m. seven days a week. Make your way over to "The Pride of the Panhandle" this weekend.

HOUSTON TEA — JR's wants to jump start your week with three nights of high energy excitement. Pump! Mondays feature professional male dancers stripping and strutting their stuff for your viewing pleasure. The 2(x)ist Tuesday Strip Contest and the Wednesday night Joe Boxer Shorts Contest offer $250 in cash prizes and a bevy of skivvie-sportin' studs. Along with the parade of beautiful bodies, Brandon,

Brad, Orlando and Jennifer [above, l-r] love the club's tasty variety of daily drink specials. JR's enticing entertainment schedule also brings you lively karaoke sing-alongs with Marsha Carlton and Alec D'Storm every Sunday and Thursday....

From start to finish, the weekend party action at the Montrose Mining Company is hotter than ever. The club's friendly staff guarantees that you'll enjoy great music and good times along with a wide variety of well drink and longneck specials every Friday, Saturday and Sunday. And when they throw in some big and buff male dancers, we're sure that you'll be coming back for more....

Now under new management, Toyz kicked off its revamped party schedule with an all-new Super Sunday Show starring Aaron Davis, Safire, Kourtney Van Wales, Monique Johnson and Tersa Matthews [above, l-r]. This weekend's special guests will be Lana Blake and Whitney Paige. New on Wednesdays, Miss Gay Texas USofA Layla LaRue takes over the emcee duties for Toyz' Talent Search at midnight. The most scandalous show in town is sure to be Kourtney Van Wales' Friday Night Flesh Party starring the voluptuous vixen herself and four red hot male dancers....

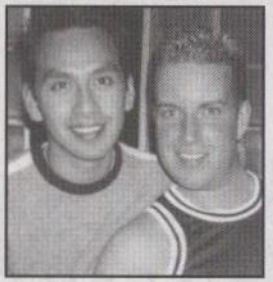

This Sunday, January 17, Shawna St. John will crown her successor at the eighth annual Miss BRB Pageant. Ceremonies begin at 8:00 p.m. Byron Norton will relinquish his title at the Mr. BRB Contest next Sunday, January 24....

week at San Antonio's premiere show bar, The Saint. On Thursdays, the former Miss Gay Texas USofA tears it up as MC for Tandi's Tea. Divas Melissa Crawford, Denise Mykels and reigning Miss Gay Texas USofA Layla LaRue join her. You can also catch Erica on Sunday when she makes up the final third of the famous Super Sunday Show Cast which also includes the legendary talents of Shady Lady and Pauletta Leigh. Following one of her sensational shows, we focused in on Miss Andrews [above, r] hanging out with castmate Melissa Crawford, Kourtney Devereaux and Saint DJ Junior Hernandez [l-r]. Tuesday, January 22, Pauletta will crown another young star when the Newcomer of the Year Pageant for 1998 will take the Saint by storm. Special guests will include Layla LaRue and Mr. Gay Texas USA C.J. Brooks.

AUSTINTeaCIOUS – The Forum is buzzing these days with the addition of Robert Y. behind the bar. He is such a handsome devil, he may just be voted "most valuable player" at the club. Thursdays, enjoy "Your Ticket To Stardom," the talent night contest featuring goddess Kelly Kline as hostess. Come out and see if you can be the next shining star in Austin.

Monday is Ladies' Night and not only is there a plethora of beauties to choose from, but they have an all female staff to keep the view tasty on both sides of the bar. Speaking of tasty, dreamy Chris [left] can always be found having a good time with the guys. You may have seen him dance at other clubs, but he parties at the Forum!...

'Bout Time has become the sing-along bar of the north side. Fun and festive Christopher is your Monday night host for karaoke. Folks you thought would never be able to carry a tune will suddenly burst out with a love song that makes everyone in the room start to cry. Even the pool players have to stop and wipe away a tear occasionally. Just a reminder, the bar is now opening at 2:00 p.m. instead of 7:00 a.m. Happy Hour is still a ton of fun, it just gets started a little later....

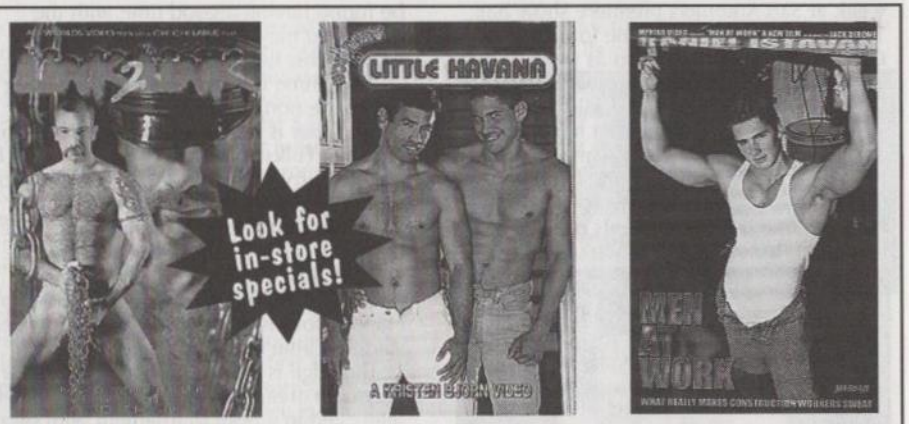

The Edge is always party central in the Guytown area. The bar employees are still interested in a pool tournament with other bars. Interested bar staff should call Ray. Kooky Kristen Lucci is still your Monday hostess with the mostest for their amateur strip contest. Although these two adorable boys [above] didn't enter, they certainly got our vote. Starting this week, Tuesday night will be the shower/underwear contest! Cash prizes will be awarded to the best wet underwear dancer....

Splash's January drink specials really have the crowd hopping. Every day is a party waiting to happen, especially for Tuesday Night Live with the fabulous Murrah. Sundays hot male dancers start at 10:00 p.m. and they really keep the crowd's attention. Don't forget to stop in on Thursday night for sing-along show-tune night. Our apologies to KC whom we incorrectly reported as having ended his tenure with the club. He is still very much employed at Splash and very ready to carry on with you every night of the week....

Charlie's was rocking this past weekend. The fabulous Kelexis Davenport starred as special guest on Sunday night and she can most definitely tear up the house. The crowd loved her dynamic style and boundless energy. Friday and Saturday nights were so fun that it was almost heartbreaking to tell everyone when 2:00 a.m.rolled around. DJ Deluxe Tony kept the dance floor full all night long for the whole weekend. Not to mention, the Manwatch Dancers were on hand to keep all of our libidos stirred up. We love that! Local goddess Scarlet Leigh [right] was on hand for a photo opportunity last week. We can see why she's so popular everywhere she travels. Make sure to keep Tuesday steak night on your agenda. You just can't beat a big, yummy steak for $5.00. Thanks Daddy Wayne. You have been keeping our tummies happy for a long time....

Dick's Deja Disco is where you can see Momma's Boys dance every night of the week. They dance on the boxes. They dance in the shower. They also tend to dance in our dreams. Of course, with DJ Kevin spinning every tune you've ever loved, it's no wonder the guys like to shake it so much. The dance floor is usually full, but there is always room for one more....

Rainbow Cattle Company is the place to hang out and find your own two-stepping, boot wearing, buckle polishing cowboy or cowgirl. Nightly, there is something to eat and something fun to do. Dance lessons, steak night, karaoke, pool tournaments, and of course, dancing. There is so much fun to be had there that even the employees of other bars stop by to party. James, Jeff, David and John [above, l-r] can be found there having a cold one and looking for a hot one.

MODELS / ESCORTS

TWT POLICY
Because prostitution is illegal in Texas, state law prohibits the placement in this category of any such ads. Therefore, TWT policy stipulates that we will not and cannot knowingly accept any advertisements suggesting solicitation. It's the law. Also, state law prohibits non-licensed massage therapists from using terms such as "massage," "Swedish," "acupressure," "Shiatsu," "reflexology," "body rub," "back rub," "body massage" or any term which indicates bodily contact.

RONNIE JOE MILLER
A.K.A.
TANYA LYNN

FEBRUARY 5, 1955 - DECEMBER 15, 1998

TWT WAS SAD TO HEAR OF THE RECENT PASSING OF RONNIE MILLER, KNOWN TO HIS MANY FORT WORTH FANS AS TANYA LYNN. RONNIE WAS A CLOSE FRIEND OF MINE. LIKE ME, SHE WAS BAD DRAG BACK WHEN DRAG WAS GOOD, WHICH MADE HER A SUPER STAR BY TODAY'S STANDARDS.

AN ARMY BRAT, RONNIE WAS BORN IN ANCHORAGE, ALASKA AND WE FIRST CAME TO KNOW HER IN FORT WORTH IN 1972. SHE TOLD ME HER NAME WAS "TONYA LEE" BUT I DECIDED TO CHANGE HER NAME TO "TANYA LYNN" AFTER SEEING HER ILLUSION OF LORETTA LYNN. WE WORKED TOGETHER FOR MANY YEARS AT AUB'S, THE OTHER PLACE AND AT D.J.'S BEFORE WE WENT OUR SEPARATE WAYS IN THE 1980'S.

I TRIED TO KEEP UP WITH HER DECLINING HEALTH AND WAS HEARTENED TO KNOW THAT HER DEAR FRIEND, LEE WOLEBEN, HAD BECOME HER BUDDY AND PRIMARY CARE GIVER. THANK YOU, LEE.

MY SINCEREST SYMPATHY GOES TO RONNIE'S MOTHER, EVE, WHO WAS LOVING, UNDERSTANDING AND SUPPORTIVE OF BOTH RONNIE AND I AT A DIFFICULT POINT IN OUR LIVES; AND TO HIS SISTER, TAMMY.

IF TANYA TOUCHED YOUR LIFE, AS HE DID MINE, AND YOU'D LIKE TO REMEMBER HIM, A DONATION IN HIS NAME WOULD BE GREATLY APPRECIATED BY FORT WORTH'S AIDS OUTREACH CENTER. REST IN PEACE UNTIL WE MEET AGAIN.

ALAN GELLMAN, EDITOR

Tony Williams, Jr.

(December 15, 1962 - December 15, 1998)

Tony Williams, Jr. departed this life on Tuesday, December 15, 1998 after a brief illness. At the time of his death, he was employed as a Regional Sales Manager in the Houston Area. Tony was a well known promoter who along with local female impersonator Black Velvett formed the production company of BV&T Productions responsible for such pageants as Miss Southwest USofA, Miss Houston USofA at-Large and Miss Jefferson County. Tony was involved with the USA Pageantry System where he had been appointed Administrative Assistant. During his tenure with USA, he became the proud recipient of Business Manager of The Year and Best Regional Preliminary Award winner. All his USA "girls" bid him farewell and a restful destination. Tony leaves to cherish his memories his Mother and Father, one sister, a brother, four nieces, two nephews, Grandparents, three aunts, two uncles and a host of loving relatives and friends. Services were held on Friday, December 18, 1998 at the St. Monica Catholic Church.

YO! JOIN US FOR WEEKLY CELEBRATIONS OF DIVERSITY

Why be tolerated, when you can be accepted & affirmed !

Sponsored by the Bethany Community Church, worshipping God freely and openly in the Afican American worship tradition. Come and be with us as we not only accept you for who you are but affirm you for who God made you to be!

Just as you are. God loves, accepts and cares for you! All are welcome!!!
