LIVE LARGE. THINK BIG.

from the editor

Hey, Gabbers!

It's hard to believe that all of the really big parties and events of early summer are already over, and we're now reduced to willing away the dog days of the season lying by a pool or jetting-off to some exotic location in search of or with a significant other until Splash and Dallas and Ft. Worth Pride celebrations.

That's not to say that there aren't some pretty special happenings going on around Texas - including Kristine W's appearance in Houston and Cece Peniston's visit San Antonio. It's just that the plethora of perfect parties isn't quite as frenetic as the pre-Independence Day/Pride period. You might remember that we featured Kristine on our cover last week, and this week have an exclusive interview with the one and only Ms. Peniston for your reading pleasure.

Then there's that smart Red Hot Party in Austin next Friday at Austin's OCH. It's a big fundraiser for a great cause and we've got the details for ya right here.

We've also got an interview with Dallas' very own Ivana Tramp, she of the lipstick and lashes set plus the Ft. Worth Coronation as well as a host of our usual features that you've come to know and to love since we've been your entertainment guide throughout the Lone Star state.

So, until next week, keep your sunscreen on and your glasses filled and we'll see you out!

All the best...

Knight Fall:

Ledger's Swan Song May Be Finest Performance

by Robert Stahl

The Dark Knight, the newest installment of the recently resurrected and wildly successful Batman franchise opens next week, and everyone is buzzing about Heath Ledger's performance as the Joker. Will Ledger's death heighten public curiosity, causing the film to be this summer's biggest blockbuster?

In January, the 28-year-old actor's death from an apparent overdose of prescription drugs shocked the nation. A young Hollywood sensation and heartthrob, Ledger had appeared in films such as The Patriot and A Knight's Tale before winning the respect and admiration of gay fans after his moving performance in Brokeback Mountain. With the completion of the Dark Knight, Ledger seemed poised on the edge of superstardom.

Comic book and movie fans alike began eagerly anticipating Ledger's sinister interpretation of the Joker after trailers for the movie debuted on the internet last year. In the clips, Ledger's "Clown Prince of Crime" is disturbing and menacing: stringy green disheveled hair atop a deathly chalk-white visage, grimace twisted inside a red smear smile. This Joker is cruel, frightening; equal parts Charles Manson and Hannibal Lecter, and very similar in feel to the psychotic antagonist portrayed in Alan Moore's 1988 best-selling graphic novel The Killing Joke.

Internet rumors of a posthumous Oscar for Ledger began swirling after Rolling Stone film editor Peter Travers' critique of the Dark Knight called for Ledger to be honored with the Academy's ultimate trophy. The only other posthumous award in Oscar history was for Peter Finch's role in 1976's The New Work. In 2006, Ledger was nominated for his performance in Brokeback Mountain, but did not win.

Before his death, Ledger told reporters that the performance was taking a psychological toll on him. He found himself unable to sleep, and claimed to be emotionally and physically exhausted. Upon hearing of Ledger's passing, Jack Nicholson, who played the Joker in 1989, cryptically remarked, "I warned him."

If pre-sales are any indication, the Dark Knight will be bigger than Inuy 4 and Iron Man. According to Fandango, tickets to the movie's midnight premier sold out three weeks in advance, causing many theaters to tack on a 3am viewing. Fandango also reports that sales for the film in this stage of the sales cycle are tracking stronger than Spider-Man 3, which set records last year for the biggest opening weekend ever.

BALLE DAINE LEDGER OLIVIAN ECKHART GYLLENHAAL FREEMAN

THE DARK KNIGHT

At Zeus Toys and Comics, fans gobbled up $90 Joker dolls bearing Ledger's likeness. "We sold out within an hour," said owner Richard Neal, "and I've heard reports of them selling for double at conventions." Neal sees this as a sign that the movie will be huge. "People are talking about the Dark Knight. There seems to be a lot of interest. It's as if Ledger's death has brought a darker, more sinister edge to the film."

In the end, Ledger's untimely and very public death may be the lure that entices moviegoers to see this film, will forever be Ledger's cinematic grave-stone. Like rubberneckers at the scene of a horrible automobile accident, we are compelled to look, seduced by the danse macabre. For no matter our station in life, the dance of death unites us all.

We heard that you were in Pageants? Do you ever miss your old pageant days? Where do you keep your crowns?

I keep my crowns at my mother's house. I loved doing pageants. But every time I get on stage for the "girls", it is like doing a pageant because the "girls" love the artist to do the most. I am talking about all the sparkle.

How did you get discovered?

Doing background vocals for a rapper on A&M records.

We heard that Manny Lehman had a part...

Absolutely, he was the one that discovered me.

What's your favorite thing about being an entertainer? And, do you enjoy touring...

The perks are nice :) It gives me a chance to do

Who or what inspires you?

Real life. The emotionalism of every day.

Do you see yourself branching out into other medias?

I say why not? I would like to do more films (have done some independents). I do voice-overs as well.

Ever see yourself hosting a talk show or doing an onscreen love scene?

I never say never. I see myself being a talk show host rather than seeing myself nude on the screen, but again, never say never.

You've been doing this now for a few years...how have the changes in how media is delivered impacted you and your career?

Everyone's music, movies, etc., is being downloaded, shared in one form or fashion. But for me, with ring tones and iTunes, it's actually been beneficial for my sales.

Would you rather be rich or remembered?

I would rather be both. LOL

What's next for you?

Continuing to travel. Releasing "Finally 2008 - remix in Australia". Working on new projects, expanding my business, and would really like to have a child.

Ever been to San Antonio before?

Yes, am looking forward to coming back.

Made In Brazil

Brazilianizing the world, one day at a time.

Whenever a new media platform insinuates itself into the public discourse, it always starts out with an incomprehensibly huge number of creative, artistic and interesting avenues of expression that make everyone shake their heads and wonder how in all that is gay we ever got along without them to begin with. It happened with movies, literature, newspapers and, of course, television.

During the nascent first days of that new media, artistes and artists, directors and the directed, writers and printers all join together to produce films, books, stories and shows that elevate whatever that media platform is to epic heights of quality and integrity...until the almighty dollar is introduced, when suddenly all artistic efforts and ethic flies completely out the window and we are forced to endure an overwhelming litany of such pabulum and pulp that the senses become numb and any hope of enlightenment or even enjoyment is lost forever.

Such, needless to say, is the case with the Internet and, in particular, with blogs of the gay and homosexual variety – and, regrettably, such is the case with Made in Brazil, an effort that glorifies all that emanates from that glorious country and endeavors to convert those that may not be suitably impressed with all that it possesses to cross over to a new way of thinking that makes Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro the epicenter of the known universe.

To quote the creators of the site, Made in Brazil “collaborates with magazine editors, designers, photographers and agents in terms of establishing links between foreign and Brazilian businesses; as well as providing reliable and up to date (sic) news about the latest trends in the country. The site also offers consulting to travel agencies and tourists.”

In other words, the site endeavors to make money....which is not a bad thing, certainly, but definitely a tad bit oppressive vis-à-vis the alluded to creativity that was always the hallmark of the blog process. And make money it does, with advertisers as diverse as The New York Times, Netflix, Smucker's, Yellowbook.com, Hertz and Mazda – and with glowing reviews and recommendations from Brazil's top newspapers: Folha de Sao Paulo, O Globo and Jornal do Brasil.

MIB is certainly popular, no doubt about that – heavy-hitters like Hertz and Mazda don't just advertise with ANY gay blog, ya know. But, it's that very popularity that has made it just one more cookie-cutter website appealing to the greatest number of visitors simply to make poucos reais. It's no longer about the quality or the interest of the content – it's about the number of times its primary banner refreshes.

Of course, it wasn't always this way. Made in Brazil used to be a favorite site of mine simply because it provided unique content about a place that happens to be a favorite of mine. In becoming mainstream enough for The New York Times, however, its creators have removed any appealing information and become simply one more outlet for companies to pursue our disposable income.

Address: madeinbrazil.typepad.com

Work-safe? Nope. Não, nunca...the site is so gay that even Sean Hayes sometimes blushes when he reads it.

Bookmark? Yeah...there's some original content, making it worthwhile – and it does focus on all things Brazilian...which, if you're anything like me, is definitely prima where the men are concerned.

Loadability? Rápido.

Radisson Hotel Fort Worth South 100 Alta Mesa East Blvd., Fort Worth TX 76134 817-293-3088

Regent Empress XXIX
Angela Aaron-Winchester

Emperor XXIX
Jeffery McGuire

Angela...

How long have you been involved in the court and how did you become involved? I met Jimmy Smith, New Year's Eve 1987. Jimmy introduced me to the Imperial Court through his personal involvement. My participation was slow in the beginning, but quickly grew to full time participation.

Describe what the court does. The Imperial Court is a 501(c)(4) organization who raises funds for those in need by making cash donations to charitable organizations that provide hands on assistance.

What do you think is the best thing about being in the court as a member? It is an opportunity for people to meet as volunteers and help those who can't help themselves by raising funds, usually a dollar at a time. It provides worthwhile social activities that can often be a lot of hard work, yet fun and exciting. Many long term friendships are generated through such activity.

And what's the best thing about being the reigning Monarch? The great feeling that I am making a difference in someone's life. The glitz, glitter, karm and fun we all have when we dress up and play the part of a monarch is exciting, but nothing can beat the heart felt warmth that is shared with fellow volunteers when a job is done well.

How much money do you raise and who do you give it to? When you are raising funds for charity, you never know how much it might be. Our community is incredibly giving when it comes to helping others. Each year is successful, no matter what their total end of the year figure may be. We have raised in excess of a million dollars over the past 30 years. Each year charitable organizations from our 9 county realm are nominated and voted on by our membership. Those who are added to our charity roster for the upcoming year, become our beneficiaries.

What's been your most gratifying moment this year? The fact that this years active general membership and support of numerous members of our College of Monarchs has been incredible as well as having 3 qualified candidates to step into our shoes. It proves that our organization is strong, hard working and respected.

What are you going to do after your year is up on Saturday? I am making preparations for the Austin Coronation, which is coming up next month. I will encourage as many as possible to travel with our new monarchs in a show of support for them and our organization.

What advice would you give the person who follows you? Be true to yourself and the organization. Many people will offer their advice, much of which is on a positive note, but don't be swayed from what your heart and mind tell you is the right decision.

Anything else you want to say? This has been a terrific year for the Imperial Court with the aid of many great volunteers and the support of a very positive minded and giving community. Emperor Jeffery McGuire and I have worked well together and become very close friends. I am proud of our accomplishments and proud of Jeffery as an elected monarch who stood strong for our organization. Thanks and God Bless to each and everyone of you.

and Jeffrey...

How long have you been involved in the court and how did you become involved? I have been involved in the Court for 5 yrs. I was introduced to the Court by Taylor Vaughn, a past Empress Dallas, Tx. She always did her Labor of Love show and I was known her "Live Singer". I am guessing there weren't many people who sang live back then. LOL

Describe what the court does. The court's function is to do variety shows to raise money for charities here in the Ft Worth/ Arlington area. All of the money that we raise each year is given back to our charities at the end of the year.

What do you think is the best thing about being in the court as a member? The best thing about being in the court as a member is the love and friendships that you build while doing something great for those that are in need of help. The one's that are involved in or with the court have become a very special part of my life and has become my "chosen family".

And what's the best thing about being the reigning Monarch? The best thing about being the reigning Monarch is being able to go to other Coronations and build friendships with other Courtiers that will probably last a life time. I have met so many neat and interesting people while being Emperor. I wouldn't change it for the world.

How much money do you raise and who do you give it to? The amount of money raised is different from year to year. Each reign strives to make as much as possible so that they can give back more at the end of each reign. The money is given to charities that the Court membership votes on. There is a list of charities that we help out and the final decision is based on what the Members vote.

What's been your most gratifying moment this year? My most gratifying moment this year was when I put out a challenge to everyone. I had told them that if we raised 2000.00 at one particular show, I would shave my head. We raised 2500.00 that night. Myself, the Emperor of Dallas and 4 of my members shaved their heads that night. It was truly amazing how everyone came together and stepped up to the plate. Thank you guys. BALD IS BEAUTIFUL!

What are you going to do after your year is up on Saturday? I am going to rest some. I am sure that I will miss being Emperor but I am not going any where. I am very much apart of this organization and my heart is very strong for what we do. So, will get some rest and then be ready to help support the new monarchs.

What advice would you give the person who follows you? Just be yourself, follow your heart and don't let anyone at all sway your decisions. Have fun and take care of yourself.

Anything else you want to say? It has been an awesome journey to be the Emperor of FTW/ Arlington this year. I had lots of dreams and they have all came true. I have been blessed to have a Angela Aaron- Winchester as my Empress this year. We had so much fun and that is what it is all about. Thank you Angela for making this year an incredible year for all of us.

Gab salutes the Ft Worth Court and all the courts from around the country who are here this weekend for such a marvelous event.

Red Hot

Steve Higginbotham
does it again...

"The Best Independent AIDS Fundraiser"

-Austin Chronicle -2007

It was 17 years ago in the middle of the July heat and Fred & Roy, who were then the owners of OCH, asked Steve Higginbotham to put together some sort of benefit. "I was driving in to work and my A/C was out in the car and all I could think of was heat, so that's really where to RED HOT name came from," says Steve.

He continues, "I chose Project Transitions for several reasons. It was local. There was no funding for it at the times so they were truly in need, and it was also a project that was near and dear to my partner. And when he passed away this event just took on an even more special place for me."

Project transitions offers transitional housing and support in a compassionate and caring environment serving people with HIV and AIDS. Roosevelt Gardens, Highland Terrace and Community Housing are transitional housing programs and staff social workers help residents apply for permanent housing and achieve their personal goals.

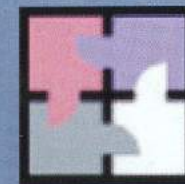

Higginbotham, who has been a bartender in the gay community for 35 years, started in 1972 fresh out of the Army in New Orleans, came to Texas and managed the Mining Companies in both Dallas and Houston and eventually moved to Austin, where he's been a fixture for many years at OCH. As someone who's served millions of drinks to thousands of loyal customers in his career, he shares his lament at the great loss we have suffered at the hands of HIV, noting that a huge percentage of his friends and customers seemed to just vanish in a matter of months back in the early days.

Last year, Steve points out, RED HOT hit the quarter million dollar mark and he's extremely excited about what's already happening this year. "We even got a check for 2000 dollars from Walmart this year!" He exclaims.

The party starts on Friday the 18th at 5PM with a silent auction from 5-9, the Austin Baptist Women will also be on hand, and so will the cast from "Altar Boys." They will also be auctioning off dates with some OCH's hottie bartenders. Then of course there's that LAVISH buffet.

Steve notes that this year's Red Hot is in Memory of former OCH entrepreneur Fred Fine and Pierce Runnels, who had been instrumental in the event for many years.

In the drag room with

Ivana Tramp

15 Years...and counting!

From former titleholder, drag queen mud-wrestler, live internet talk show hostess, face on Oprah and currently Mickey's game show hostess, Ivana Tramp has a lot to talk about since her debut nearly 15 years ago as a female impersonator at the Rose Room.

So what are you doing these days?

I am hosting Mickey's Game Shows three nights a week. Monday is Queen for a Night... it's like Jeopardy. Tuesday is "Smarter than a Drag Queen", Wednesday is "Family Fuss," based on Family Feud. And I do Reito Sundays. Each night has a cash prize and ticket giveaways and it's a lot of fun.

How did you get your start?

I was in college, and short $100 for rent, so my friends got me to enter the Donna Day Amateur Contest at the Village Station as a dare and for money. I was 22 and had never done drag or been to a gay bar. I won, and next week I came back as a guest and then was hired as a cast member.

Since your start in female impersonation, what changes have you seen?

When I started there weren't that many mainstream Hispanic entertainers in Dallas. Being a Latin girl in a big platinum blonde wig I think was a little shocking and confusing for some people at the time, and people were like 'who does she think she is?'. I think in the past, it was big hair, costumes, beaded gowns. Now it's who can look more like a female. Like less clothes, more silicone and smaller hair.

Any words of advice for aspiring performers?

First, have fun; always try to reinvent yourself and stay current; embrace the change and thankfully have been able to keep up with the competition. Talk to your audience before, during and after your performance and make it a personal experience for them.

What causes are close to your heart?

I believe what goes around, comes around, so benefits have always been important to me, and I believe it's important to give back. Getting the message out about safe sex to the younger generation is important to me, so I like helping HIV/AIDS organizations. I also support Valiente and the work they do in the Hispanic community.

Tell us a secret.

When I was five years old, I used to put on my mom's clothes and heels and use a shirt over my head as hair and stand in the shower. Then I would pull the curtain open and start performing. My mom thought it was cute, and I knew then I wanted to be a performer.

What do you fear?

That the time could come when I stop loving what I do. Thanks for your interest in this old Latin girl's story. See ya at the shows. Grrr!!

CARMEN MIRANDA

Time to Samba with the Brazilian Bombshell!

If you're in the mood for something completely homo to watch in the form of motion picture entertainment, then grab your fruit hats and shake things up with the Carmen Miranda Collection, out now as a 5-DVD set from Fox Home Entertainment.

Paying tribute to one of the best-loved and most colorful performers from the canon of Fox Musicals, the Carmen Miranda Collection features five of the iconic Portuguese star's most popular films, including Doll Face, Greenwich Village, If I'm Lucky and Something for the Boys, debuting on DVD for the first time. The collection also includes a newly remastered version of The Gang's All Here.

A pop culture icon whose influence remains to this day, Miranda gained her fame popularizing the samba, donning elaborate headdresses made of fruit and wearing her trademark sarongs. Full of song and dance, the films in this collection represent Carmen at her best, offering hours of camp & fun.
